ABBOTT-LAMPLEY

Although Margaret and Harold have lived in Birmingham, Al. for the last forty years, Du Quoin is where they were born. Margaret was born Aug. 22, 1924 to Nettie (Brayfield) and Jesse Lampley on a farm about 5 miles east of town near the old Arthur School. She attended this school until she was 9 years of age, when her parents divorced. She and her mother moved to Greenwood Addition and she attended Wheatley School and about that time joined the Christian Church. At 13 she lived in Pinckneyville for a year when Nettie married Robert Pressword from there. They moved back to Du Quoin where she finished school. In high school her favorite activity was being on the Magnavox staff for three years, being co-editor her senior year.

Harold was born Apr. 22, 1921 to Lillie May (Parr) and Ocie Abbott. They had come to Southern Illinois from around Carbon Hill, Al. to find work in the coal mines. Harold was the 3rd child of their 10 children. One brother, Lloyd, and one sister, Mrs. Don (Vera) Ruby, Sr. still live in Du Quoin.

Harold spent a year in his teens working in Alabama. He spent 6 years in the C.C.C.'s and 3½ years in the Army. After his return from service he married Margaret and they went to Alabama to live. He started to work as a molder in a foundry, and 23 years later he was promoted to supervisor, a position he held until his retirement Jun., 1983.

Harold and Margaret Abbott

Since 1948, they have both been active in the Birmingham Gospel Assembly Church, where Margaret has been Church Librarian for about 16 years. She has been a weekly volunteer at a branch of the public library for nearly 6 years. She still has one sister in Du Quoin, Mrs. Lyle (Maxine) Wheatley, who is librarian at the Du Quoin Gospel Assembly Church. Harold has a sister, Mrs. Emil (Imogene) Cook in Joliet who is Head Library director over 2 libraries for the city.

Margaret and Harold have 3 children, Renick, Lilburn, Ga.; Pamela, Birmingham,; and David, in Cheyenne, WY. They have 3 granddaughters and 3 grandsons.

David knew that his mother's 9th grade English teacher, Louise (Flynn) Underwood lived in Cheyenne. When he met his wife, Evelyn, he mentioned it. As it turns out, Evelyn had her as a 9th grade English teacher too. (He was stationed there in the Air Force.) Evelyn teaches English and Drama at the same Jr. High now.

When Margaret was graduated from school, she was awarded a character scholarship to Eureka Christian Church College. Due to her mother's illness she was unable to use it. However, in 1970, she went to business college one year. But her proud day was on Mar. 27, 1987, when she enrolled in Jefferson State Junior College near her home for a course in Library Science! Miracles do happen!

APPUHN

Henry Appuhn (1829-1901) came to the United States from central Germany. He was married and lived around Hecker, Ill. Three of his sons were William, Henry, and August. The Appuhn family arrived in the Old Du Quoin area around 1880. August Appuhn was an artist and moved to California: he had two daughters. Herman and William both married Heberer sisters and remained in Old Du Quoin. The sisters were the daughters of John Heberer and Johanna (Rausch) Heberer who were also of German descent. The children in this Heberer family were: Mary (Mrs. Herman Appuhn), Emma (Mrs. William Appuhn), Ida (Mrs. Charles Eichhorn), Molly (Mrs. John Zoller), O'Tille "Tilly" (Mrs. Robert F. Shook), and William Heberer, a bachelor.

Herman Appuhn (1855-1909) and his wife Mary raised two daughters, Tillie and Clara. William Appuhn (1861-1939) and his wife Emma had seven children: Herman, John, Albert, William, Laura, Flora, and Helen.

William Appuhn bought acreage in Old Du Quoin where he was engaged in farming. Some of the land was not very fertile, so to supplement his income, William sold the mineral rights to some of the land to the coal mining company and the ground was undermined. The Appuhn home was a two story log house just south of Old Du Quoin. The seven Appuhn children attended Purdy School. They had to learn to speak English there because the family spoke German at home. The teacher was puzzled by the fact that these children could count very well by 5's and 10's up to 250 but could not count from 1 to 10 by ones. Then it was explained that the children had been playing Pinochle since they were small and knew how to keep score very well.

When World War I arrived, the Appuhn sons were involved. Herman, the eldest was not in the service due to a farmer's exemption. John and Albert served in Europe where their knowledge of German was an asset. William Jr. had not yet gone overseas when the armistice was signed. Bill, however, retained his service ties by being in the Reserves and was activated during World War II. He was stationed in Hawaii when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor.

The Appuhn children married and had a number of children. Herman Appuhn (1891-1974) and his wife Blanche (1892-1968) had no children. Herman was a farmer, coal miner and worked at a slaughterhouse. John H. Appuhn (1894-1932) and wife Veronica (1894-1974) had one son, Maurice Appuhn. John was a farmer. Albert "Swattie" Appuhn (1896-1957) married Maude Grubb (1898-1979) and had four children: Virginia Appuhn Yates (1920-1952), Lyle "Cotton" Appuhn (1921-1973), Jack Appuhn, and Bernella "Susie" Appuhn Stocks. Albert was associated for many years with the B.F. Goodrich Tire Company. William Appuhn Jr. (1898-) and his wife, Gladys, from New Madrid, Mo., had no children. Bill graduated from the University of Illinois in Accounting, worked for the IRS, then opened a successful accounting firm in 1929 in Quincy, Il. He has been active in the firm until recent years and is currently living in Quincy. Laura Appuhn (1901-) became the wife of Frank Struck and bore two daughters: Florence Burmeister and Emma Jean Grosse. Laura is living in St. Louis where she and her family have lived for many years. Flora Appuhn Farthing (1904-1932) had no children and her sister Helen Appuhn (Mrs. John) Seibert (1908-1961) also had no children.

APPUHN-FLAVELL

Lyle W. "Cotton" Appuhn was born Nov. 8, 1921 to Albert "Swatty" and Maude (Grubb) Appuhn. The name "Cotton" was attached to Lyle when he was young due to his extremely blonde hair. Mary Appuhn was born Mary Olive Flavell on Sept. 16, 1921, the first child of Lyle D. and Celeste (Naumer) Flavell. Both Mary and Lyle attended the Du Quoin schools and graduated in the Du Quoin Township High School Class of '39. They were married on the 4th of July, 1942 while they were both students at the University of Illinois. After graduation, "Cotton" was inducted into the Army. He became a Captain in the Field Artillery and served in Europe until 1946. Besides serving bravely in the midst of the German invasion, he was also known in the service as an unhittable fast-pitch softball hurler.

After the war, Mary and Cotton settled in Du Quoin to raise their family. Cotton went into the tire business selling B.F. Goodrich tires as his father "Swatty" had been doing for years. Cotton specialized in mine tire business as the Southern Illinois mine industry was expanding. In the 1960's he built the Du Quoin Tire Mart to handle both tire sales plus appliance and electronic business. Cotton did innumerable good deeds behind the scenes in behalf of his friends, church, and community; a good example of which was his donation of land to the Du Quoin Khoury League in the early 1960's, on which the two northern baseball diamonds were built. As usual, virtually nobody in Du Quoin knew anything about this, because that is how he always wanted it. While Cotton was in World War II, Mary worked at the Du Quoin Packing Plant, which was begun by her grandfather, Jacob Naumer. Mary has been very active in Du Quoin over the years with many organizations, especially the Girl Scouts. She currently serves on the Marshall Browning Hospital Board, United Way Representative, and served on the Du Quoin Grade School Board. Mary is very active in the Du Quoin Presbyterian Church. She is also an avid bridge player. Cotton died in 1973 and Mary ran their business until 1979 when she sold it to her son, Bill. Mary and "Cotton" raised three children: Bob, Nonnie, and Bill.

Robert Flavell Appuhn (b.4-15-48) is married

Mary and Lyle Appuhn

Jan received her Master's degree from the University of Illinois and is a speech teacher at Danville High School. Bob and Jan have lived in Danville since 1977 where their daughter, Katherine Ellen, was born 6-3-81.

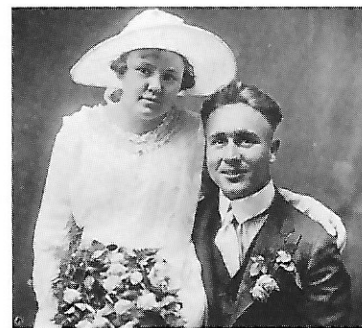

Nancy June "Nonnie" Appuhn (b.7-14-49) married Wilburn Patrick "Pat" Kane (b.12-16-46) on 8-30-69. Pat was born in Herrin to Wilburn and Maurine (Folkel) Kane. Nonnie recently received a Master's degree from the University of Missouri at Columbia and is currently working at Boone Hospital as a medical social worker. Pat also received a Master's degree at Univ. of Missouri and is head of the adolescent treatment center at Charter Hillside Hospital. Pat & Nonnie live in Columbia with their two daughters, Kristin Ann Kane (b.9-23-75) and Maria Celeste Kane (b.7-25-78).

William Lyle Appuhn (b.3-15-54) is married to Virginia Jean Emling (b.4-6-54), daughter of Robert J. and Marion (Genesio) Emling. Bill is the owner of the retail business, Appuhns, which was started by his father as Du Quoin Tire Mart. Virginia works with her husband in their Du Quoin business. Bill recently repurchased one of the original cabins at Du Quoin City Lake that was earlier owned by his grandfather, Albert "Swatty" Appuhn and was modernized in the 1960's by Bill's father, Lyle "Cotton" Appuhn.

APPUHN-GRUBB

Albert Appuhn was born in Du Quoin, 1896 to William and Emma (Heberer) Appuhn. He was the third son and third of seven children. Albert was best known by the name "Swattie" which was derived from the German word for headcheese, Schwartenmagen.

After the war, Albert and Maude had a country store west of the Appuhn family homeplace. Albert also worked at the coal mines. He started selling B.F. BAKER-JACOBY Fredrick Conrad Baker, born in Germany in 1822, at Lippe, Detmold, Leyden Hausen north of Westphalia. He was a farmer's son and herded the family's cattle near Detmold with Charlotte Deppe who later married August Jacoby, whose granddaughter, Mary Jacoby married George W. Baker.

Fred Baker and some friends came to America circa 1850. Not much is known about his activities after his arrival except that he helped in building the "Covered Bridge", a well known landmark near Chester, Il. completed in 1854.

On Feb. 27, 1856 Fred Baker married Caroline Lively. He had bought some farm land about half a mile from the Perry and Randolph Co. line. This spot was known as "Baker Hill." Fred Baker built a log house. Ten children were born to this couple. Three daughters and four sons lived to be grown. Caroline Baker died Jan. 1, 1876 and in 1882 Fred Baker married Mary Anna Davis.

By the time George Baker married Mary Jacoby June 12, 1907, George's older brothers and sisters had left Perry Co. His sister Mary had died in 1899. Fred Baker deeded his farm to George with the stipulation that George provide his father and step-mother a home. George built a bungalow to house his bride and his father and step-mother. Fred Baker died July 13, 1908. George and Mary's first child died Aug. 16, 1909.

In 1921 George Baker sold his farm on Baker Hill and moved to the Burke farm north of Cutler. It was better farming land and near Galum Creek bottom lands. The Bakers lived on the Burke farm until George Baker retired in 1942.

Tragedy struck when early on Mar. 24, 1928 the mother died of a cerebral hemorrhage leaving seven children, the youngest two and one-half years. For Alice the eldest who planned to teach, the future looked bleak. It meant a delay but correspondence courses and passing the State Teachers' Examination permitted her to teach in 1930. The Baker children got their elementary and secondary education in the Perry Co. schools: six of them graduating from Pinckneyville Community High School.

The depression hit when the young Bakers were ready to seek employment. Alice was teaching in Perry Co. but her brothers and sisters found work in Michigan. In 1944 Alice and her father moved to Percy where she had been employed to teach. She had taught in rural schools for eight years; seven years in Perry Co., one year in Washington Co. She retired in 1972 after teaching thirty-seven years.

George W. Baker's daughter Camelia was born Mar. 20, 1916. She married Murrell Steele Nov. 1, 1938. She died Mar. 31, 1980. She was George Baker's only child to become a farmer. With a

Martha and Rev. Cletus Baker

P.C.H.S. Diploma and a Lindley Scholarship she chose to be a farmer's wife. She learned to operate farm equipment and nursed to health sick and injured farm animals. She loved to cook. She made many beautiful quilts and hooked rugs.

George W. Baker's son Cletus was born Feb. 10, 1922. On Feb. 14, 1953 Cletus married Martha Hawks. He graduated from Tarkio College and Pittsburgh Xenia Seminary. He served churches in Pennsylvania, Ohio, and in St. Louis. He was in the Presbyterian Ministry for thirty-nine years and is still serving. — Submitted by Alice A. Baker

GEORGE BAKER

George Fredreck Baker was born in Perry Co. Oct. 15, 1913 to Mary Jacoby Baker and George W. Baker, the fourth of eight children. His boyhood was spent on their farm north of Cutler.

He enjoyed fishing in the creek which ran thru the farm, and when a summer rain caused it to overflow, George, his friend Spud (Walter) Alexander, and brother, liked to take the wash tubs from the back porch and go rafting. During the wheat harvest the threshing machine went from farm to farm. The ladies set a splendid table to feed the threshers, and everyone worked together.

One night when George was fourteen he was awakened and sent to get a doctor for his mother who was very ill. Although he hurried as fast as the horse could go, she died before he could return. For years he felt guilty for being unable to get help for her.

Wayne and Diane Baker, holding Wesley and Ashley

A favorite task was taking milk to the Cutler Creamer, getting a bar of delicious ice cream, and stopping at F.M. Nortons store.

George and his brothers and sisters enjoyed evenings spent at Frank and Jessie Spragues, playing checkers, eating cookies, and hearing about "The Good Old Days".

The first car was a big event. Bob and George went to Sparta to drive home the Model T Ford. There was no drivers education in those days, and unlike horses, the car didn't know the way home. They ran into a ditch, and George's arm was broken. By this time the Tilden Picnic, The Fourth of July in Steeleville, the Pinckneyville Fair, the Sparta Fair, the Du Quoin Fair, and many other exciting events were now accessible to the youth in Perry Co.

George attended Cutler High School and graduated from Pinckneyville High School. He spent two years in the Civilian Conservation Corps. In 1937 he married Florence Steele of Percy, and they moved to Michigan to find work. He was employed by the Spring Air Mattress Company for thirty years. He is now retired and lives at Holland, Mi. He had six children. Melbadene Baker Hop of Phoenix, Az., who has a daughter, Autumn. Captain Wanda Baker, who served in Korea and in Germany before her death in 1967, in the Army Nurses Corps. Allen Norman, lives in Holland, Mi. He has two children, Charles Allen and Jennifer Lynn. James Dale, who was killed in a school bus accident when he was five. Twin sons Wayne and Warren, were born in 1954. Warren lives in Muskegon, Mi. Wayne and his wife, Diane, are Missionaries in Papua, New Guinea for New Tribes Missions. They have two children, Wesley Adam and Ashley Hope. — Submitted by George Baker

The Oct. 14, 1925 birth took place on the Lydia Burke farm about one and one-half mile north-east of Cutler, the mother being 43 years of age and the father 52. When Henry was two and one-half years old (spring of 1928) the mother died. The father never re-married and as a family convenience Henry was sent to school with brother and sister at the age of four, starting at Devinney school in the first grade in Sept. and becoming five in Oct. The one room school provided an eighth grade education followed by three years at Cutler high and then bussed to Pinckneyville for the senior year graduating in 1942 at the age of sixteen.

Henry spent the summer of 1935 on his Aunt's (Etta Baker Hart) farm in Maeytown, Il. and the Summer of 1938 in Michigan with his brother Rob-Overseas duty also took him to the islands of Ani-Wetok, Uthili, Guam, Tinian, Siapan and Oahu. He returned to the States from Pearl Harbor on the USS Marine Adder landing at San Francisco in March of 1946, then on to Ft. Sheridan by troop train for an Honorable discharge on Mar. 23, 1946.

Henry worked nearly a year at his pre-war job and then went into communication work with Western Electric until getting laid-off in 1950. He then worked as an Electrician for Continental Motors in Muskegon, Mi. for five years returning to communication work with Michigan Bell Telephone from where he retired after 30 years.

Henry married Irene Ruth Bol from Grand Haven, Mi. in Nov. 1949 where they built a house and made their home in that community. Three children were born to Irene and Henry - Ronald, Edward and Charlene. Irene died in Sept. 1962. He re-married in Dec. 1963 to Evelyn Bouws (a widow) who had two sons Donald and Robert. This union brought two more children to the family, Perry (named after the county of Henry's birth) and Karen. ROBERT BAKER

Robert Lee Baker was born on a farm in Perry Co. Oct. 6, 1911. He was third child and oldest son of George Baker and wife, Mary (nee Jacoby). The farm site was between Cutler and Percy, one quarter mile east of the Perry, Randolph Co. line. The house site was between the W.C.&W. railroad and the Old Shawneetown Trail, now Highway 150.

He remembers starting to school at Cutler in 1917 when World War I was raging in Europe. When the dirt road was muddy, he and his sister, Alice, and neighbor kids would walk the railroad track to school. He recalls going past Barnard mine, one mile west of Cutler, and seeing the blackened miners hoisted out of the shaft at quitting time and the coal hoisted and dumped from the tippie. One of his favorite amusements, unknown to his parents, was picking up chunks of unspent carbide discarded from miners' lamps and using it with a little water to blow corks from bottles and sinking it in mud to form miniature volcanoes. Memorable also were the pleasant times he had picking dewberries, wild greens and asparagus with his step-grandmother, but what a shock when he stepped barefoot on a huge black snake unearthed as he was following the furrow behind his father's plow. Other things of interest were the transient peddlers, the gypsies who camped in the nearby woods and a few covered wagons headed west.

About 1920 his father sold the Baker farm to avoid foreclosure and moved the family to the Burke farm, two miles north of Cutler. This area, known as six mile prairie was inhabited mostly by people of English and Scotch and Irish descent. The nearest neighbors were the Spragues and Alexanders. While living there he and brothers and sisters attended Devinney, a nearby one room country school. Robert grew up on this farm, helped with the milking and chores and soon was working the land and doing other heavy farm work. He remembers seeing some prairie chickens and fishing and swimming in the brooks in spare time. He attended Cutler High for three years and graduated from Pinckneyville High in 1930. Life since included working his aunt's farm in Monroe Co., the Civilian Conservation Corps and caretaking summer homes in Michigan starting 1937, war work in Chicago starting 1941. Met Gertrude Pooley of Peotone, Ill. and they married May 2, 1942. Served two years in the U.S. Army beginning Apr. 4, 1944, including duty in France and Germany. In 1946 he moved his family to Michigan. His work since then, before retirement in Oct. 1976, was in a furniture factory, construction and house building and 24 years for Chris Craft Boats in Holland, Mi.

maroa lodge. He was a member of the Christian Church. He died on July 24, 1927, in Tamaroa.

M. LOUETTA TREECE BARBER

Mary Louetta Treece Barber (born on Dec. 4, 1872, in Benton, Il.) was a very literate and eloquent lady, often speaking or reciting at club meetings. She was the secretary of the Tamaroa Branch of the National Red Cross in the 1910's. She was appointed chairman of the Perry Co. Fair Price Committee (formed to combat the high cost of living), in Feb. 1920. A woman of her time, she later wrote, "Senator David A. Reed - speaking to a Woman's Club recently - told them that the United States would have been over-run by immigrants: 2,500,000 would have come in 1925 but for the law that keeps them out.

"Arthur Brisbane thinks the law is bad - as a number of states could absorb and usefully employ 2,500,000 real workers. Further stating - 'It is a foolish generation that keeps out useful men and women we ought to have and need.'

"Back in the 70's (1870's) when wages were a dollar a day you could afford to use these unskilled immigrants for such work as paving and pipe laying. Today that work is being done by machinery to replace hand labor . . .

"There is, however, a crying need for domestic servants here. The immigration law is working hardship upon the housewife of America. Servants are demanding prices that cannot be met by all, and it is working hardship and sometimes actual suffering upon the mothers in families who are living in moderate circumstances . . ."

Of folklore she wrote: "... An exhaustive account of folklore would be equivalent to a complete history of the thoughts of mankind - It is thought; the genuine thought of deep, rude, earnest minds, untamed thoughts, to be tamed later . . . there is something in the Norse system of folklore . . . that representation they have of their 'Tree of Life.' . . . Its boughs are histories of nations. The rustle of it, is the noise of Human existence, onward from the old. It grows there, the breath of Human Passion rustles through it. - the storm winds howling through it like the voice of all the gods. It is the Tree of Existence, - Beautiful, altogether beautiful and great - The Machine of the Universe . . ."

Louetta married Cicero Barber of Tamaroa on Jul. 7, 1896. They had three children: George Bell, Helen Claire, and Nancy Willard. Louetta died on Apr. 1, 1960.

JACOB BARTLE

Jacob Bartle was born in Germany and came to the United States at the age of six. He lived in St. Clair Co. until 1865, when he came to Perry Co. and located on a farm near Tamaroa. He was married to Louise Thompson Bartle and they had six children. Elsie, who died in infancy, Effie, G. Edward, Walter, Elvis and Wilma.

In 1892, Jacob moved his family to Pinckneyville and purchased the Meat Market of Henry Kaiser. With his three sons, he built a very respected business called at that time, "J. Bartle and Sons, Meats". After four years the eldest son, Ed (who had married Ada Suitor) decided to open a business of his own. He operated a Grocery Store (and General Merchandise) on S. Main St. until the time of his retirement.

At the time Jacob assumed ownership of the Meat Market in 1892, Walter was 15 and Elvis only 13. In the very earliest days of the firm there was no electricity. A team of horses pulling in circles was the means of grinding. The refrigeration consisted of a large room with an overhead loft into which each day hundreds of pounds of ice was loaded.

The business grew and prospered. When Jacob retired, the business became Bartle Brothers Meats and Groceries. Walter was in charge of livestock and the slaughtering. Elvis was in charge of cutting the meat and running the store.

The store was originally located on the South East corner of Walnut and Water Streets. After 25 years at this location, Jacob bought the building at 124 Water St., and here on the "South Side of the Square", Bartle Brothers occupied a prominent position until it closed in 1967.

Walter had two sons, Dean and Ted and Elvis one, Bob. As the years went by, all three of the sons joined their fathers in the business and carried on the same respected tradition.

During the depression, when many families in Pinckneyville actually faced going without food, Walter and Elvis gave unlimited credit. Some people thought them foolish, but they felt a responsibility for - and had faith in - their fellow-man. That faith was well-founded. It took many years, but almost all of the money was repaid. In one case, the man who owed the money had passed away, but his son, remembering where their food came from in those black days, paid back every penny.

For three generations, Jacob Bartle and his descendants have been active in and loyal supporters of their Church and their Community. It was Bartle Bros. who gave the property to the City of Pinckneyville upon which the City Lake is located.

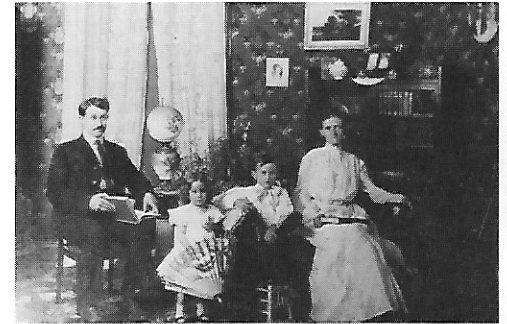

Jacob Bartle's descendants are: 1. Effie Bartle Smith (married Elmer Smith). Their children were Agnes, Emma, and Walter. 2. George Edward Bartle (married Ada Suitor). Their children are George Bartle (deceased) and Helen Bartle Nesbitt (married Kenneth Nesbitt). 3. Walter Bartle (married Minnie Gergen). Their children are Kathryn Bartle Davis (married Charles Davis), Dean Bartle (married Golda Keaton), and Howard (Ted) Bartle (married Virginia Barth). 4. Elvis Bartle (married Ina Sawyer). Their children are Minta Jean Bartle Hemphill (married Charles Hemphill), Wilma (Billy) Bartle Berg (married Bob Berg), and Robert Bartle (married Virginia Morgenstern). 5. Wilma Bartle Cook (married Joel Cook). — Submitted by Wilma "Billy" Bartle Berg

BAUDISON-GIACOMO

On Dec. 16, 1873 Giuseppe Tommoso Baudison was born in Cuneo, Italy. His parents died when he was quite young, leaving him and his brother, Tom, orphans. Their sister had died when she was three years old. Around 1890 Giuseppe and a friend John Vesco came to New York. They took a ship to New Orleans where they worked in the sugar cane fields. Their friend, John, didn't like working in the fields, so he moved up to Southern Illinois to work in the coal mines. He wrote back for his friend, Giuseppe, to join him. John soon got tired of the coal mines, also, so he moved up north to Michigan to work in the iron mines. Giuseppe soon followed. He didn't like Michigan because it was too cold. He returned to the coal mines of Southern Illinois and changed his name to Joseph Thomas Baudison so it looked more American.

On Oct. 16, 1900, he married Magdalena Giacomo, in Perry Co. They lived in Willisville, then Cutler, then Du Quoin, then Sunfield, then Paradise Prairie where he traded his farm for some land just north of Pinckneyville which is still in the family today. Their eldest son, Peter Clement, was born on May 16, 1902. Their other children included John, Marie (Epplin), Margaret (Morski), George, Isabelle (Hutchings), and Ina (Epplin). Joseph then spent the rest of his life threshing, farming, and sawmilling.

Peter Clement, who preferred the name Clem, married Anna Margaret Kellerman on Aug. 28, 1928. Like his father, Clem, farmed, threshed, and sawmilled for a living. In later years he was known for his tractor steam engine that he showed at local events. He was also one of the founders of the American Thresherman's Association. Their family consisted of five children: sister Clara Marie - born Nov. 26, 1930; Joseph August - born Jul. 20, 1933; James Henry - born Apr. 19, 1937; Leo George - born Apr. 30, 1939 and died Dec.

In the late 30's he updated his tractor to a large rubber-tired tractor. He also bought a threshing machine to help make a living for his family. He threshed wheat, oats, and cowpeas for people in surrounding communities. In 1952 was the last season he threshed wheat and oats. He hulled cowpeas for a few more seasons.

FRED FRITZ BECK

"I'm just an ordinary man. I just like to be doing something." This quote by Fred (Fritz) Beck is taken from Illinois magazine, January-February 1984. It is exactly the way Fritz lived his life. A simple man with a pioneering spirit who, from the beginning, strove to make Perry Co. and his home community of Conant a better place to live.

Fritz is the eldest son of A.F. and Caroline (Schrader) Beck. He was born in Perry Co. in 1890.

Fritz, father A.F. and brother A.H. worked with the state and county to get a paved road, from Illinois highway 154, down to their community of Conant.

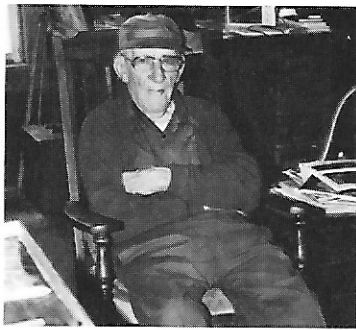

When electricity was a possibility in the 1930's, it was Fritz who worked with others and the Rural Electrification Administration to bring power to the area. He became one of the founders of Egyptian Electric Cooperative of Steelville.

During the 1950's, Pinckneyville's Rural Fire Protection District was formed. Again, Fritz was there. He aided, not just from the beginning, but until the 1980's as their treasurer.

In 1955, the American Thresherman Association was formed. Fritz was involved in the formation of this organization and helped bring the American Thresherman Show to Pinckneyville in 1957. He served on their board of directors until the late 1970's, when he was made a lifetime member of the Association.

These were some of the organizations that Fritz was dedicated to most of his life. He devoted many hours to each.

For employment, Fritz started early in life by operating his own steam engine and threshing machine. He traveled over many parts of Perry Co., threshing for others. He also operated a garage in Conant for several years.

In 1933, Fritz took over complete operation of Beck's Grocery, after the death of his father. In addition to operating the store, Fritz served for 25 years as postmaster and as an agent for the Missouri Pacific Railroad. During those years, he also served at various times as deputy sheriff and justice of the peace. He was also involved with the Conant Coal Company. During World War I, he served for two years, stationed in Kentucky.

In 1854, Fritz's ancestors first settled in Perry Co. Fritz spent his life trying to make it a better place to live. At present, there remain only a handful of Becks to carry on the family name. Those surviving ancestors take a great deal of pride in all that their uncle accomplished in his life. Included in these ancestors are; a sister-in-law Mrs. Carl (Iona) Beck, nieces Marjorie Beck and Loraine Beck, nephews Donald Beck and Kenneth Beck, and great-niece Marilyn Beck.

FRED J. BECK

Fred J. Beck was the grandson of George and Elizabeth Beck who immigrated to this country from Germany in 1853, having settled west of Pinckneyville in Perry Co. He was born in Pinckneyville in 1864, the only son of Barbara Beck. She died in 1865 and was buried in the Galum Baptist Cemetery west of Pinckneyville. In Feb. 1887, he married Rosina Brostmeyer and to this union seven children were born; Christina, Minnie, Lydia, Edward, Emma, Anna, and Louis.

In his early life, he operated a small coal mine north of Pinckneyville and also a saw mill. For many years, he owned and operated the Beck Hardware store on the Square. He was a charter member of the Trinity Lutheran Church in Conant, Il. Later he moved his membership to the Zion Lutheran Church in Pinckneyville.

His first wife died in 1922, and was buried in the I.O.O.F. cemetery, in Pinckneyville. Later he married Ricky Kiehna Brandt who also preceded him in death. She was buried in Post Oak Lutheran cemetery in Campbell Hill, Il. Fred died in 1938 and was buried next to his first wife in the I.O.O.F. cemetery.

His daughter Christina married Otto Roethe, and their children were Carl, Ervin, Mildred, Herbert, and Walter. Minnie married Theodore Wagner, and their children were Olga, George, Paul, Wilma, and Joann. Lydia married Otto Frederick, and their children were Norma, Mildred, Homer, Howard and Edward. Edward married Bertha Mayer, and their children were Virginia, Ru-bylee, Marie, and La Joy. Emma and Ann never married. Louis married Martina Dierks, and their children were Hubert, Rose Marie, and Darlene.

The descendants of the Fred J. Beck family have continued with a family reunion and friend get-together at the Pinckneyville fairgrounds since it was first held in Sept. 1938.

LEONA WHITSON BENBENEK

Leona Ruth (Fulk) Whitson Benbenek was born Jun. 24, 1924 east of Du Quoin in Perry Co. She was the third child of John and Veva (Robbins) Fulk. Candy parties were enjoyed and on the Fourth of July, home made ice cream and soda was a special treat.

In 1940 Leona married Edward Whitson, son of Enmers and Bessie (Russell) Whitson, from Tennessee. Three children were born to this marriage, Joy (b. 8-11-41), John (b. 9-9-44), and Jerry (b. 9-9-46). Edward Whitson is deceased.

In 1950, Leona married Joseph Benbenek, son of Joseph and Mary (Fiala) Benbenek. Joseph Sr. was from Austria and Mary from Czechoslovakia. They met and married in St. Louis, Mo. Three more children were born to Leona, Janet (b. 9-17-52), Jeffrey (b. 1-20-56), and James (b. 10-30-57).

Joy Whitson graduated from Pinckneyville High School, Southern Illinois U. Carbondale and has a master's degree from the University of Illinois. She is a librarian at Collinsville High School, where she has been employed for the past 20 years. MARY HOLDER BERTHOLD

The backroads had always been a favorite place to be for Mary from the earliest times she could remember. During her childhood, Sunday driving and exploring were often regular summer events for her and her family, and she supposed that there were places in Perry Co. and Southern Illinois that must look like no other places on earth. These were the wild, desolate hills and plains, barren and moon-like, often laced with run-off gullies and pools of water in unnatural colors. Here were the remnants of strip coal mines before the time of land reclamation. The countryside of Perry Co. now is beautiful in a natural way and coal mines put the land back the way they found it.

There was no hospital in Pinckneyville in 1953, so Mary was born in Du Quoin — just a twenty minute drive from Pinckneyville where her parents and grandparents lived. She and her two brothers attended public school in Pinckneyville. There were many memorable events for Mary. She enjoyed school, friends, and nature — often collecting rocks and butterflies on long exploring hikes. For recreation she and her family and friends would often go swimming at the Pinckneyville Lake or to a movie in Du Quoin or to the Drive-In in Sesser. Mary's brother, Joe, could remember a time when Pinckneyville had a movie theatre, but it had long since closed by the time she was a child.

Mary and Bob Berthold with daughters Melinda and Marissa

She attended Eastern Illinois U. and the University of Illinois. After graduating in 1975 she returned to Pinckneyville to get married at the First Baptist Church where she and her family were members. She and her husband Bob Berthold moved to St. Paul, Mn. while he attended Luther-Northwestern Seminary. During his third year of Seminary they moved to Alaska, to a small Eskimo village called Wales on the Bering Strait. Their first child was expected in Apr. of 1978, and so they returned to Illinois for the birth of Melinda Beth at Pinckneyville Hospital. After a few short weeks they were back to Alaska to finish the internship year. After a final school year in St. Paul, she and her husband moved to Hannaford, N.D. in 1979 to minister in a two-point parish. A second daughter, Marissa Dawn, was born in Valley City, N.D., in 1982. They moved to Jamestown, N.D. in 1984 to serve St. John's Lutheran Church. And in 1986 they moved to Carrington, N.D. to jointly serve Trinity Lutheran Church. Her husband Bob is the pastor and Mary is serving as the Christian Education Director.

Perry Co. may be far in miles from Carrington, N.D., but it is ever near in heart for Mary because her parents live there — still in the same house where she grew up. Her brothers, their wives, and their children are all close by also, and yearly visits home to Pinckneyville are joyful reunions. —

BLAIR-SHAW

Bessie Shaw was born June 18, 1911 in rural Perry Co. to Samuel and Amelia Shaw. During her teenage years, Bess lived in Pinckneyville with her uncle and aunt, Frank and Libby Campbell and cousin Marjorie Campbell (Jung) in order to attend Pinckneyville High School. She completed her studies in three years and then attended Southern Illinois Normal (present day S.I.U.) at Carbondale for one year and was a certified teacher at age eighteen.

Bess then returned to rural Perry Co. and taught at the North Six Mile Prairie one-room country school until she married Myles Blair from neighboring Randolph Co. June 10, 1933 at her parents' farm home in their parlor under a hanging kerosene lamp which had been brought to Illinois from her grandfather Bird's home in Crawford Co., In.

Bess and Myles then resided in Percy where they raised three children; Myles Lester, born in 1935, Margery Hartman, born 1936, and Virginia O'Connor, born 1944. All three were born in the old Hiller Hospital in Pinckneyville, and all three currently reside with their families in the village of Percy.

Bess's husband Myles and his father John Blair farmed more than three hundred acres of land about a mile east of the Randolph Co. line, north of present day Rt. 154. They also ran a sawmill there and made railroad ties which Myles hauled to Mount Vernon.

John and Myles threshed wheat, oats, and rye over a wide area of farms between Sparta and Cutler. They were among the first in the area to use tractors for belt use rather than for engines. Their threshing crew was made up of twenty-one men. They worked a ten to fourteen hour day and received two dollars a day and their noon meal for wages. Farmer's wives and womenfolk would put on a big "feed" for the men, bringing out huge bowls of food and pitchers of drinks to a long table, usually set up outside the house under a shady grove of trees. Myles met Bess in this way when his father's threshing crew threshed at her father's farm.

The next Perry Co. teaching Bess did was at the Jamestown one-room school. She taught there around 1950 for several years, then taught at Pinckneyville Rural School District No. 205 school for several more years. She then transferred to Percy Grade School and taught there until her retirement at age fifty-seven. She died in 1974 at the age of sixty-three years.

BLAISE-FOUTCH

Harold Blaise was born on 12-19-31 in Makanda, Ill. to Rev. Louis Blaise and Nova (Dillon) Blaise. He was raised on a farm next to the current location of Giant City State Park. Harold attended Fly School outside Makanda where his father would sometimes teach. The Blaise family were farmers and Rev. Blaise was the preacher at Makanda Church. Harold had one brother Maurice and two sisters, Mary and Sue. Harold sang with the Little Egypt Barbershop group for years and also with several Gospel Quartets in the area. Harold has been involved in many occupations during his life. He spent many years as a car salesman with various dealerships in Southern Illinois, then went into the carpet laying business until 1979. Since then, Harold has been the appliance repairman at Appuhns store in Du Quoin, where he is the lonely Maytag repairman.

In 1959, Harold married Roma Crain Foutch, daughter of Grover and Esther Crain of Crainville. Roma was raised in the Pinckneyville area along with her brothers and sisters, Denzil Crain, Dennis Crain, Jean Robinson, Belva Birkner, and Jack Crain. BLAKELY-TYLER

Robert Tyler and Lulu Campbell were married in Murphysboro on Jan. 1, 1909. They lived with his mother, Nancy, until her death and then they bought out the other children and continued to live on the 120 acre farm in mid-eastern part of Perry Co. (TWP 5-1).

Halene was born there in December of 1909. They never had much money but were never cold or hungry. They raised a garden and picked dewberries and blackberries. They also had turkeys and chickens; and how well Halene remembers going out into the fields in the evenings to hunt the turkeys and get them into the pens for the night. From the big garden they had a lot of food to can for the winter. They killed hogs and cured enough meat to last through the year. Her granddaughters couldn't understand how meat could be kept without a freezer. Her father farmed and as soon as she was big enough, she went to the field to help. She knows he had the cheapest weed-killer around, when he went to the field to plow corn he would say, "Now you get a hoe and come with me and cut the weeds between the hills of corn while I plow". She doesn't know that she wanted to, but she didn't tell him she wouldn't do it.

Halene went to the Benton Road one room school. The teacher boarded with the Tyler's and so Halene walked to school with her.

Her mother sewed clothes for her, cut from her own. Since she was the only child all the chores fell to her. As a very small girl she started ironing, at first with a toy iron and then with the real one, washed dishes, mowed grass, as well as helping in the field, garden, kitchen and other household work.

She married Harry Blakely on Apr. 20, 1945. He farmed and worked in the coal mines. She kept the house and farm going while he was off to work. Their son, Richard, was born Oct. 23, 1950. He attended the Consolidated 208 School the year it opened in 1956 and later Tamaroa town schools. She served as a Board Member at 208 in the 60's and was a Tamaroa High School Board Member for three years about 1966. For ten years she was also a United Methodist Church District Officer. Her first airplane ride was in 1977 when she flew to Las Vegas and then went by car to visit in California.

Her son, Richard, married Janet Hagene on Apr. 20, 1970 and has two daughters, Tricia, age 12 and Shannon, age 8. They attend St. Bruno's school in Pinckneyville where they live. When the granddaughters come to visit her and her companion, Pebbles, the collie dog, they like to play in the old jewelry box and hear stories and play with the neighbor children, Mike and Marilyn Woodside.

BLANCHARD- LATHROP

A native of Carbondale, Pa., Townsend Blanchard came to Perry Co. in 1856 at the age of 24 and bought a farm three miles south of Tamaroa. The following Apr. he went to West Virginia, and was married to Rosamond Ophelia Lathrop. Journeying by steamer to Cincinnati on their way to Illinois, they purchased a Bible that he later said caused him to "change masters."

After a few years on the farm, he and his brother, Alvah, opened a general merchandise store in Tamaroa. The partnership was dissolved by mutual consent and each entered his own business. His store was very successful, serving customers from a large part of the county. He retired in 1882.

About 1880 he became president of the 17th Sunday School District, which covered several counties. After his retirement, he took a small organ and traveled by horse and buggy throughout the district, organizing Sunday Schools and visiting homes, all at his own expense. He was an elder in the Presbyterian Church and a leading member of the State Presbytery. The Rev. William M. Maxton wrote that Townsend was a missionary who was "an influence for all that is noble and strong in the making of manhood." The Blanchard home was always open for the entertainment of ministers and evangelists; it provided a "prophets' room" for the visitors.

In 1907 the Blanchards celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary at their home in Tamaroa. Ice cream, cake and coffee were served to about 75 guests. A newspaper article said, "The silvery haired bride was becomingly attired in a dress of cream nun's veiling, and, equally with the groom, carried her years well."

He was in good health on his 85th birthday. One week later he was taken ill. During his illness he sang, many times, "On Jordan's Stormy Banks I Stand and Cast a Wistful Eye, to Caanan's Fair and Happy Land, Where My Possessions Lie." He also repeated many passages of scriptures each day until his death on Feb. 5, 1917, at the age of 85 years and 17 days.

The Blanchards had seven sons and two daughters. Three sons, Ward, Howard and Lathrop, preceded him in death. Surviving, in addition to his wife, were two daughters, Mrs. Sam (Nettie) Haines and Mrs. Herbert (Mary) Doolittle; and sons Harry, George, Mark and Nelson. Rosamond Blanchard died in 1929 at the age of 91; her obituary contained this: "The little spark of goodness in many people has more than once been kindled by the kindly interest shown by Mrs. Blanchard and her late husband."

The store business remained in the family two more generations. Harry, George and Mark ran general stores in Tamaroa many years. A son of Mark, also named Townsend, owned the Home Grocery in Tamaroa for about four decades. The widow of that Townsend Blanchard, Anna Jackson Blanchard, is living in Du Quoin.

BLYTHE-FONES

The oldest family story of the Blythe family is that one of the female members died aboard ship en route to America, from Germany, and was buried at sea.

Orval's grandfather was from somewhere in Kentucky. He was Reverend James Blythe. James and his wife, Margaret Martin, settled in Perry Co., North East of Tamaroa where he farmed and pastored twenty one different churches, some as far away as Cutler. William Blythe, Orval's father, also farmed the same area and in later years had a large herd of Shetland Ponies. William, being among the generation to see the introduction of the automobile, had the foresight to ask his son's teacher what was to become of the exhaust that cars were putting into the air.

William and his wife Clara Nehrkorn raised five children on their farm. William's son Orval started working in under ground coal mines at an early age, as a mule driver. Being small of build and very agile saved his life many times during rock falls and run away coal cars lost from other drivers. Orval Blythe married Mary Fones and they bought a farm south west of Winkle where they raised Black Angus cattle. He also did public work as a bricklayer. Orval and Mary had four children, Jennifer, married to Chuck Carson, David married to Emma Jean Mohr, Charles married to Kathy Springs, and Roy married Cynthia Schumaier. All three boys became bricklayers and all four of the children live next to one another on the south west corner of the original farm.

BLYTHE-MOHR

Emma Jean's great-grandfather, Adam Mohr, immigrated to America from Greschergentum Heston Darmstatt in 1848. He married Elizabeth Schweble and eventually settled in Illinois. From their son, George Mohr, who married Charlette Muller, came Edward P. Mohr, Emma Jean's father. Ed and his wife, Emma Walkenhorst, reared twelve children near Denmark. In 1963 Emma Jean and her father moved to Campbell Hill. In 1971 Emma Jean married Orval David Blythe and moved back to Perry Co. Later, Ed moved to Pinckneyville.

David's great-grandfather was Reverend James Blythe who moved from Kentucky to Tamaroa and was married to Margaret Martin. Most people called him Rev. or Preacher Bly and he pastored twenty-one different churches, his circuit taking him from Tamaroa to the Cutler area.

David never had the chance to meet his great-grandfather but by happen-chance in the late 1970's he met a man named Sam Stout and his wife Flo. During the introductions Sam asked,

David, Joshua and Emma Jean Blythe

"you wouldn't happen to be related to old Preacher Bly, would you?" Well, it seems that Sam and Flo had been married by Rev. Blythe sixty some years earlier.

James and Margaret's son, William, married Clara Nehrkorn and they had a pony farm north-east of Tamaroa.

William and Clara's last born was Orval William Blythe, David's father, who married Mary Fones. Mary's great-grandfather, John Fones, married Lydia Lively, daughter of the only surviving Lively of the Indian massacre in Washington Co.

David's parents moved onto a farm of 315 acres, two miles south of Winkle in 1952. Here David attended one of the last "old time schools". In 1967 he served the Army at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. and in 1968 fought in Vietnam with the 39th Engineers.

In the early 1970's David and his brother Charles became the first known people to descend to the very bottom of Kinkaid Cave. This was done while crawling half submerged in water.

David and Emma Jean built their house south of Winkle in 1970. Later, they integrated an old Log cabin into the structure which is now their rustic family room. The cabin initially stood along the West bank of Beaucoup Creek just below the entrance of Galum Creek.

David has been a masonry contractor all of his working years and Emma Jean has worked in retail lumber yards since High School.

Their only son, Joshua Edge Blythe, attends 5th grade at Pinckneyville.

The whole family enjoys history by participating in the 18th century reenactments of the fur era mountain and plains rendezvous.

DR. JOHANNES JULIUS BOHEIM

Julius Boheim was born in Leipzig, Germany, on 16 July 1865. He was the second son of Dr. Edward and Augusta Hartman Boheim. His brothers were Rudolph Ferdinand, Joseph Martin and Gustav Ehregott Boheim. His sisters were Lydia, Julie, Clara and Marie Magdalene Boheim. Julius served in the German Army (b.d. 6 Comp. 2 Grenadier Regt. No. 101, under Kaiser Wilhelm Konig v. Preussen). As family tradition dictated, his eldest brother, Rudolph, became a doctor of medicine, following in the father's footsteps. Julius wanted to become a doctor as well, but it was his duty as second son to become a Lutheran minister. While pursuing his theological studies Julius sat in on classes at the medical school and so impressed the professors that they persuaded his father to allow him to pursue a medical degree as well. Julius received his M.D. from the University of Leipzig. Julius was also known for his swimming ability at the University. He immigrated to America in the late 1800's. The ship upon which he was traveling shipwrecked in the waters of the English Channel but he continued to America. Dr. Boheim graduated with honors from Marion Sims College of Medicine in St. Louis. While living in St. Louis he tutored the Mayor's children in German. Following graduation Dr. Boheim traveled around the United States, looking for the right place to settle. He decided to return to the Mississippi Valley because of the climate. With such hot, humid summers and cold, dry winters, people would certainly be sick and he would be able to build a successful practice. Dr. Boheim came to Du Quoin just before the turn of the century, opening an office in the Parks building above the West Side Drug Store. Dr. Boheim had many interests in life beyond medicine. He spoke seven languages fluently and was an avid reader. He loved chess and music and played several instruments. In a short time Dr. Boheim became friends with Thomas Wilson of St. Johns, proprietor of Wilson's Store, and they shared talk of music and played their violins together. Dr. Boheim married Tom's daughter, Isabelle "Belle" Eddington Wilson Coker, a young widow with a small son, (see Coker bio.) on 15 Nov. 1904 in St. Johns. In 1905 they moved into their first home, a spacious new residence in the late Victorian style, at 223 E. North street, in Du Quoin. Here Dr. Boheim was able to indulge in horticulture, one of his favorite hobbies. It is said that he had fresh flowers on his desk every day of the year. He loved his new homeland and flew the American flag at his home daily.

Dr. Johannes Julius and Isabelle Eddington Wilson Boheim

In 1908 a daughter was born to Julius and Isabelle, named Isabella Jane. She attended the public schools in Du Quoin, advancing two grades and completing high school at age 15. At 16 she attended Lindenwood College for Women in St. Charles, Mo.

Dr. Boheim returned to Europe several times, visiting family in Germany and doing post graduate work in Vienna, Leipzig, London and Edinburgh. He also did work in New York City. He had a passion for travel. Dr. Boheim died suddenly of a heart attack in 1930. He is buried at the IOOF cemetery in Du Quoin.

Belle Wilson Boheim, who had been a stunning young woman known for her excellent sense of humor and her baking ability, spent the latter portion of life confined to a wheel chair, having lost a leg to diabetes. She died as a result of that disease in 1936.

Having postponed marriage to care for her mother, it wasn't until 3 Sept. 1938 that Isabelle married James Scott Templeton, M.D. of Pinckneyville, a former friend and colleague of her father and the physician who had cared for her mother. He was sixty-seven years old; Isabella was thirty. (see Dr. J.S. Templeton bio.)

He bought a farm east of Tamaroa in Township 4-1. He then went back to St. Clair Co., rented a railroad box car and moved all his possessions here. He continued farming, raised vegetables for market and established a cherry orchard. Being a skilled gardener, he had an outstanding flower garden.

BOQUILLON

In 1893, Emil (1867- 1917) and Virginia LeBrun (1873-1951) Boquillon came to America from France. They settled in Percy and in 1900 moved to Pinckneyville where Emil was a coal miner and Virginia ran a grocery store. They had five children; Virginia "Minnie" (1892-1963), Vella (1893-1962), Amelia (1897-1968), Emil "Buck" (1899-1968), and Charles (1902-1981). Minnie married George Benedict, Vella married John Berst, Amelia married Ollen Gossett, Emil married Irene Smith, and Charlie married Dora Huth.

Minnie and George Benedict operated a Grocery Store located on the corner of South Main and East Parker Streets in Pinckneyville.

During 1932, Amelia and O. L. Gossett started the Pinckneyville Ice Plant on South Douglas Street. In the same vicinity, Buck had a Filling Station and Charlie owned the Hollywood Cafe. A fire in 1943 destroyed all three businesses. Buck and Charlie rebuilt the Ice Plant as partners. In 1944, Charlie bought out Buck and ran the business until his death in 1981. Dora is employed at MCA located east of Pinckneyville.

Buck and Irene had two children, Virginia (1923) and Buddy (1924). In 1942, Virginia married Bernie Weithorn (1921-1979). After serving in the US Air Corp, Bernie returned to Pinckneyville to enter business with his father Edward. In 1950, Bernie and Virginia moved to Chester to manage the second Dime Store. In his forties, Bernie left business and became a teacher, later, a school administrator.

Bernie and Virginia had two children, Bernie Jr. (1944) married to Judy Higgins and Julie (1949). Bernie Jr. works for SIU-C and Julie teaches at Trico High School. Virginia married Bub McCrary from South Dakota in 1983 and now lives in Texas.

BOQUILLON-HUTH

Charles Boquillon and Dora Huth were married in Arkansas on Mar. 11, 1943. Charles is a son of Emil and Virginia Boquillon and Dora a daughter of William Henry and Mary Unterfer Huth.

Charles and Dora owned and operated the Pinckneyville Ice Plant. The plant was built by O.L. and Amelia Gossett in 1932. Charles began operating the plant in 1944 after purchasing it from Amelia. The plant ran three shifts, 7 days a week. In the early days it was powered by diesel to freeze the ice, later it was converted to electric. An enormous vat was filled with brine, salt water. Into the vat was lowered steel tanks which held drinking water which was to be frozen into three hundred pound blocks. Into the tank was put core tubes to make the ice clear. This needed to be checked frequently. After the ice was frozen, workers then pulled the tanks and took the 300 pound blocks of ice and inserted them into a scoring machine which divided them into various sizes of blocks. The whole plant was floored with oak wood flooring, because any other material would freeze up and not allow the ice to slide easily. Ice was stored in a freezer storage room until sold.

The ice was sold to individual customers at the plant and also home deliveries were made. At the time of ice boxes, Charles would deliver daily to homes throughout Pinckneyville in his white International pickup truck. Wholesale ice dealers bought ice from the plant to resell to customers in their towns such as Nashville, Percy, Du Quoin and Swanwick. When cost of running the plant became too high Charles bought ice from the Murphysboro Ice Plant to resell in Pinckneyville. The plant closed in 1981 due to Charles' failing health.

Dora worked at several factories in the community of Pinckneyville, more than a half century during the years 1926-1987. When Decca manufacturing company built their plant east of town in 1957, Dora was one of the first employees Decca employed. She first was a press operator, for 7 years. At the presses, vinyl pellets were preheated to 270 degrees Fahrenheit, then molded into plastic-like chunks, the approximate size of hockey pucks. Dora related, "It was a very hot job!"

The chunks, fed into the hissing steam presses and fitted with labels, were pressed under 40 to 100 tons of pressure to form the records. Excess vinyl along the edges was trimmed away before the records were stacked for inspection.

Then Dora bid for a testing job which she has held for 23 years as of 1987. The testing was done in a tiny soundproof stall, 5 feet by 5 feet. As testing was done Dora listened for pops, ticks, scratches and other imperfections that may show up on newly pressed long-playing and 45 rpm recordings. During a given shift she heard the latest tunes. During the time that she was employed at Decca it became known as MCA. Dora informed an intruder from the Chicago Tribune one day on her working world. "I enjoy my job because I love music and it keeps me in the groove," the article stated. The article also appeared in 2 St. Louis newspapers and in several Southern Illinois newspapers. The plant manager at MCA is Darrel Conder.

As a member of the First Baptist Church of Pinckneyville Dora worked in the Sunday School Department and was a member of the Church Choir for a number of years.

Charles and Dora built a lovely brick home at the corner of East Chester and Douglas in 1959. Charles Boquillon died in 1981 with interment in Mueller Hill Cemetery.

BOST-CREWS

Johannes Bast, an educated German father of fourteen children, is found in the history of Buck's Co., Pa., 1740 to 1754. It is assumed they left there in the fall of 1754, to settle in North Carolina on Adams Creek in present Cabarrus Co. Johannes died in late 1777, his wife, Susanna Catharina, was still living in 1787.

Their children were William, Anna Maria, Leonhardt, Maria Catharina, John, Elias, Margaretha Barbara, Elizabeth, Jacob, George, a daughter (name unknown), Dorothy, Christina and Margaret.

The name Bast was anglicized to Bost and should not be confused with the French Huguenot of the same name, Bost. The Bast family was ardent Lutheran and when British soldiers tortured the St. John's beloved pastor, (he later died from the unhealed wounds), the family took a very active part in the revolution. Five sons became soldiers, including John.

John Bost, son of Johannes and Susanna Catharina Bast, was born in Buck's Co., Pa., Aug. 23, 1743. He married Catreena Shuford, daughter of John Shuford of Catawba Co. He died in 1793, and she died in 1797/98. Because of their early deaths the young children were scattered. They were Conrad, John Jr., George, Catharina, Jacob, Elizabeth and David.

The son, John Jr., born in 1777, was apprenticed after his father's death. He married Rachel Lipe in Cabarrus Co. but lived in Rowan Co. He was the father of twelve. Ten of the proven children are Levi, Henry, John III, Daniel, Alexander, Hiram Allen, Jesse, Eliza, Catherine or Elizabeth and Sarah.

Hiram Allen changed his first name to William and came to Illinois after becoming age 21. He probably was following his brother Alex or Levi when he came to Montgomery Co. Later he came to Perry Co.

William Allen was born Dec. 15, 1826, in Rowan Co., N.C., died Mar. 13, 1900 at Murphysboro, Il., burial at Central Cemetery, Jackson Co., Il. He was one of the first to die in the new hospital. He first married Lucretia Robinson in 1849. They lived 3/4 mile north of present day radio station WDN, on the west side of highway 51. She died at the age of 22, after the birth of a son, John, and was buried at their home. William Allen later moved to Desoto, Il. and had a flour mill there.

He next married Amanda Crews, daughter of Banester and Frances Robinson Crews, in 1854. Ten children were born to this couple. They were William Allen, who married Dora Varner; Edward married Delia Norman; George W., married Alma Boucher first, second, Lou Walmaster; Ibson, who left home after a family argument and was never heard from again; Rachel, married George Bradley; Anna, married Eli Moon; Jane, died young; Alden Hardy, married Lizzie Schrader; Ruth, married Will Doerr; Manning, married Grace Mayfield; and Daniel, married Josie Rheinheimer.

William's biography is in the old "Randolph, Jackson, Perry and Monroe Counties" book.

Dora May Varner Bost was the daughter of Jesse and Olive Orr Varner, granddaughter of Russell and Eleanor Winans Orr. These last two people were descended from such people as Andre Melyn, who married in 1576, was the son of Lambert of Antwerp; Andre's son, Cornelis, Patroon of Staten Island; John Winans, born 1640, married in Connecticut; Henry Rolfe, born 1515 in England; Jan Delong, born in N.Y. about 1690; Stephen Russell, England, Burgess to parliament in 1395; William Orr, born 1755, county Donegal, Ireland, a descendant of John Rogers, the Martyr, and many other family names. Adam and Anna Marie were married in Baden, Germany in 1842.

The Bounert children were Emma Theresia, born in 1871 and died in 1872. Elizabeth Gertrude, born in 1873, married John McDonald and later married William "Will" Patton, who was a furniture store operator in Marissa, Il. and farmed near Tilden, Il. BOWLIN

Rodney Bowlin (1784-1836 Henry Co., Va.) married Trisa (Tricy) Harriss in Rockingham Co., N.C. Both are buried in the Old Du Quoin Cemetery. They were the parents of seventeen children, the seventeenth died in infancy.

The Bowlin farm, 3½ miles south of Du Quoin, was first settled by Rodney in 1832. This was the 40 acres east of the railroad that was homesteaded from the government. After Rodney's death, Tricy sold the farm in 1847 to her son, John Anderson (b. 1820 in Smith Co., Tennessee) who was married to Amanda (Taylor). They were the parents of eleven children, four died in infancy. The seven that lived were: Sarah, Melissa, Malcom, Thomas, Derilida, Alva, and Massasoit. John A. was elected Constable of Du Quoin soon after his marriage and re-elected time after time until he had served almost 30 consecutive years. He was a steadfast Democrat and in 1890 made his marvelous race, which placed him in the state legislature from this district, making him one of the famous "101". He died Aug. 28, 1908. He and Amanda are both buried in the Old Du Quoin Cemetery.

The old home stood west of the present one and the survey for the railroad ran through the middle of the house. The present two-story house was completed by I.C.R.R. in 1852.

The 40 acres west of the railroad, entered by the government on May 2, 1850, was signed by Zachary Taylor, President of the U.S.

In 1897 John A. deeded the farm to his son, Massasoit, who was born on Dec. 13, 1858 and married to Lula (Schroeder). They had one child, a son, Louie Kenneth.

Massasoit and Lula Bowlin, Louie and Viola

Massasoit and Lula started their married life in a log cabin 125 yards east of the old home. Louie was born in this cabin Aug. 9, 1888. When he was a small tot, they moved to Jackson Co. and lived on a farm for about nine years. They came back to Perry Co. and settled in the old homestead.

On Oct. 6, 1913 Louie took as his bride, Viola (Lockhart) and they lived in the home place until they retired and moved to DuQuoin. Louie farmed, milked cows, raised hogs, and worked at White Ash (Security) mine. Viola was a dedicated farm wife milking cows, selling cream, butter, eggs and chickens — not to mention putting up hay and gathering corn. They had two children. Howard (b. Aug. 27, 1914) married Helen Newborn. They had three sons: Roger, Bruce, and Duane. Jessie (b. Apr. 27, 1917) married Jake Hammel. Jake and Jessie live on the home place now. They have two sons, Larry and Ronald. Larry and wife, Wilma, have two children, Bethany and Kyle. Ronald and wife, Gayla, have three children: Cynthia, Kristi, and Jonathan.

Massasoit and Lula were wonderful grandparents to their two grandchildren, Howard and Jessie. Howard loved to go fishing with his grandpa or just sit and listen to him tell of his boyhood. Such as, when his mother would take him and a wagon load of wool (to be washed) about 8 miles to Little Muddy Creek and come home the next day. Lula was special to Jessie and the bond and closeness between them was the reason Jessie always shared her girlhood secrets with Grandma Bowlin. — Submitted By Jessie (Bowlin) Hammel

GEORGE BRANUM

George Branum (1886-1970) was born in Eagle of St Johns to a coal miner, Thomas and Lydia Branum. The Eagle of St Johns got its name from the Eagle Coal Company located there. When he was 5 years old his father was killed and his mother was faced with the responsibility of raising George and his two sisters: Sara Jane and Margaret. His grandmother had a great part in his rearing.

He started working in the coal mine in 1898 when he was 12 years old. In 1900 the family moved to Tamaroa where he worked in the Red Onion Mine.

In 1904 he married Rachel Plumlee, one of the four daughters of William and Belle (Anderson) Plumlee. They were the parents of seven children, and enjoyed 59 years and 6 months of married life, Rachel dying June 22, 1963.

In 1910 when hopping a train to go to DuBois to inquire about a job, his foot slipped and he fell under the wheels, losing a leg.

This adversity turned him to the ministry. He preached in the Free Will Baptist Church (now Grace Baptist) at Tamaroa until 1918. In 1919 he left the Free Will Baptist Church, after establishing the South Side Baptist Church in Christopher, and was ordained by the Christian Church. He then left the mines and Perry Co. for 10 years.

His first pulpit as an ordained minister was at Onarga, Il. He then moved to Kansas where he preached for various churches: Kanarado, Lenora, Phillipsburg and Oakley. During these days he started holding evangelistic services, plucking his banjo and singing. He also entertained with the musical saw and flexatone. All of which contributed to his becoming known as the "singing evangelist".

In 1929 he returned to Tamaroa and found the Christian Church closed, with its doors locked, the grass growing high in the yard and the old members attending other churches in the town. With the help of a few faithful members, he opened the church, cleaned it up, mowed the grass and started services. He preached there for 17 years. He also preached at Friendship until his retirement in 1961. He passed away May 26, 1970 at the age of 84 while living at the Fairacres Nursing Home in Du Quoin.

His seven children were: Florence (1905-1969), married Fred Ewers; Eva (1910), married Dr. S.S. BRAYSHAW

The first doctor in Perry Co., Dr. Joseph Brayshaw, arrived in Illinois in 1822 from England after teaching school 2 years in Maryland. He married Elizabeth Pyle, who migrated here from Kentucky, following the 1811 earthquake. He began riding circuit from 5 miles west of Old Du Quoin, through Pinckneyville and Mount Vernon His fee was money, seedling trees, eggs, over-night lodging for him and horse, or sometimes nothing at all.

On one circuit nearing Mt. Vernon, Joseph decided to return home for week-end rest. As he rode into Muddy Bottoms he thought "What a lonely place to meet a highwayman!" He dismounted, removed his horses bridle, hung it on the saddle horn, cut a good billy-club from a sapling, remounted and rode on in twilight. As he neared the middle of the long pole bridge across Muddy River a tall lanky figure emerged and lunged for the bridle. Dr. Joseph swung his billy-club hard grazing the would-be criminal's head, and rode on at a gallop.

Sunday morning as neighbors assembled for worship at Highbank School they had a tall visiting "preacher" with head well bandaged. Joseph declared he recognized that lanky figure but the adventurer "preacher" never came to have the doctor dress his wound.

Clifford and May Adams

Joseph reared 2 sons, Helvitus and Carlyle. "Vish" left Illinois. Carlyle married Millie Campbell and reared 3 sons and 5 daughters. Carlyle and sons owned Brayshaw Bee Hive factory during the late 1800's, northeast of present day Racquetball Club. Sons (Millard, Will, Frank) got what education local schools provided: namely, Highbank (8 grades) Ward (ninth grade) Old Du Quoin Female Seminary (higher grades) then attended Battle Creek College, Michigan. Millard became a physician, Will an orchardist, Frank a photographer. Will remained a life-long Perry Co. resident. Millard and Frank homesteaded 5 years in New Mexico. In 1911 Frank, with wife Rose Cardey, returned to Du Quoin by 1300-mile covered-wagon trek to become truck farmer who supplied grocers with produce for more than 30 years.

Frank's little daughter May drove team and wagon zig-zag down unpaved, muddy Main Street to help him deliver orders to merchants. They very seldom met an automobile, but street carnivals often caused delivery problems.

May Brayshaw taught in St. Johns in 1922 then married Linder Lemmon, a mine hoisting engineer. She taught 23 years at Du Quoin Seventh-day Adventist School. There, son Richard Lemmon and grandson Ronald were her pupils. She spent 7 years teaching at Tamaroa, Aledo and Chicago. While teaching 4 years in Alton she married Clifford Adams (12-18-66).

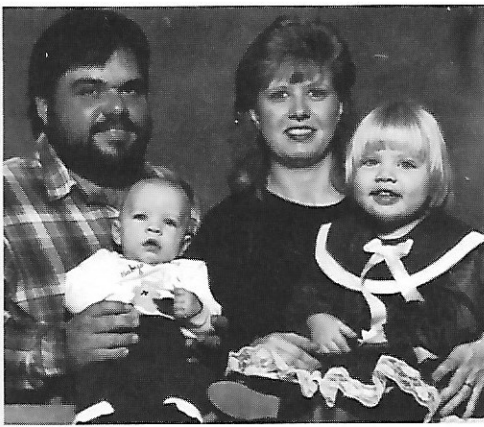

May's son, Richard L. Lemmon, born and reared in Perry Co., was T/Sgt. (medic) in World War II, now teaches jet classes at George Air Force Base, Victorville, Ca.

Dr. Joseph, Carlyle, Will, Frank and May were all horticulturists, bee-keepers and naturalists; raised silkworms, bees, berries, orchards and gardens on land once owned by Joseph, now known as Brayshaw Organic Gardens on South Wells Street Road where stands the family cemetery with 40 Brayshaw relatives and friends.

BROSTMAYER-KRISEL

Baltasar Brostmeyer was born in Germany near Kusel. As a young man, he came with his parents and settled near Meadville, Pa., in Mercer Co. He married Anna Chadarina Krisel, (who also came from Germany in 1854), about Jan. 1, 1855. On Dec. 25, 1855, Anna Gertrude, (Annie), was born. Two years later in 1857, Henry was born and on June 6, 1859, Louis W. was born. Their stay in Pennsylvania was very short.

In 1860, Baltasar and Anna (with the three children) set out for Illinois in a covered wagon. When they reached the Ohio River, they loaded their belongings (including the wagon) on a boat or raft and came down the Ohio River to Cairo, Ill., and then up the Mississippi River to East St. Louis, Ill. There they put the wagon back together again and drove to Belleville, where they lived until they were able to rent a farm southeast of New Athens. While living there, a son, George, was born, died in infancy, and was buried in a cemetery east of the farm.

The family lived there a short time, and then they bought a farm in Perry Co. and lived in a log house there for a while. On May 27, 1864, Anna Rocina was born. On July 11, 1867, a son, Frank, was born, and Christina Anna was born Apr. 3, 1869.

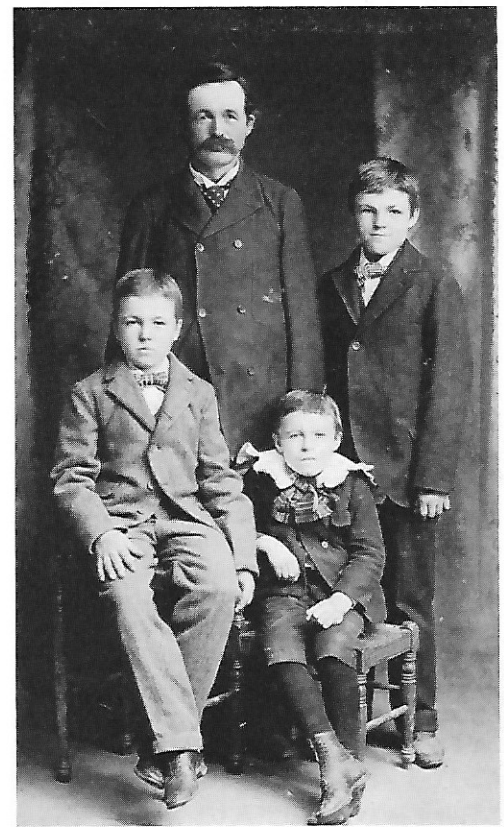

In 1868 or 1869 the family outgrew the log house. Baltasar and Anna decided to build themselves a new brick home. They made their own bricks (out of clay from the farm), baking them right there on the farm. This house is still standing (it is on Highway 154, five miles west of Pinckneyville and 1/2 mile west of the Conant Road), and is still in good condition. It is about 118 or 119 years old now.

In 1871, another daughter, Emma Elizabeth, joined the family and on May 9, 1873, the youngest daughter, Francis Mary (Fannie) was born.

Baltasar (died on Mar. 18, 1892) and Anna (died Feb. 12, 1898) along with their children: Anna G. (Dec. 25, 1855-Dec. 15, 1942), Francis (May 9, 1873-Feb. 17, 1958), Frank (July 11, 1867-Sept. 21, 1918), and Christina (Apr. 3, 1869-June 27, 1913) are buried in the Galum Baptist Cemetery a short distance from the family farm. Lewis W. (June 6, 1859-June 20, 1939) is buried at the Hopewell Cemetery. Henry, who died in Mar. 1938, is buried at the Galum Presbyterian Cemetery. Anna Rocina (Rose) Beck (May 27, 1864-Apr. 14, 1922) was buried in the Pinckneyville City Cemetery. Emma Elizabeth Fredicci (1871-July 10, 1938) is buried in North St. Louis. — Submitted by Euclid Brostmeyer

BROSTMAYER-LAMBERT

Louis W. Brostmeyer (June 6, 1859 - June 20, 1939) was born near Meadville, Pa. At the very young age of one year, Louis, along with his father, Baltasar and mother Anna, his brother Henry and sister Annie, came by covered wagon and by boat to Southern Illinois.

Louis W. Brostmeyer and sons, Adam, William and Ed

Louis met and married Bertha Lambert (Jan. 13, 1866 - Sept. 11, 1900). On Aug. 18, 1888 their first son Adam J. was born. Their second son William Louis was born Dec. 9, 1890 and their youngest son Edwin O. was born Oct. 13, 1893.

During the spring or summer of 1900, Bertha became ill, suffering from goiter. On Sept. 11th she passed away, leaving three small boys and her husband behind.

Around 1905, Louis and his sons took over a General Merchandise store in Pinckneyville. They operated the store for a few years, sold out, and went back to farming. They lived about 1 mile north of Pinckneyville on the banks of the Beau-coup Creek. Many people from Pinckneyville went out to the Brostmeyer's to fish, boat ride, or just have a picnic.

In 1919, Louis sold his farm north of Pinckneyville to his sons and bought a farm one mile west of Denny Station. He lived there until his death in 1939. He and Bertha are buried at Hopewell Cemetery west of Pinckneyville. — Submitted by Euclid Brostmeyer neyville Hosiery Mill for several years. Their son, William Euclid (Bill) was born on Aug. 3, 1958. Six years later on Dec. 29, 1964 their daughter, Carol Ann, was born.

In 1959, Euclid and Betty decided to start dairying. They built a large milking parlor, silo, and loafing barn. They started to milk in the parlor Jan. 15, 1960. They have been dairying ever since. Euclid, Bill, and Betty keep busy milking the 50 holsteins. Most of them are registered and they farm their own ground and some rented ground.

Carol went to 204 Grade School, Tamaroa High school, and SIUC for two years. She received her associate degree in Architecture Technology. She was a cheerleader several years. Carol worked for Pabst Design Group in St. Louis, Mo. for two years before returning to Perry Co. to live.

Mar. 26, 1982, Bill married Melissa Feltmeyer at St. Paul United Church of Christ in Pinckneyville. July 8, 1985, Amanda Marie, their first child was born. She had a rare syndrome and passed away at home on Oct. 9, 1985. Amanda was buried at Mueller Hill Cemetery on Oct. 11, 1985.

Oct. 11, 1983 was a very frightful experience for the family. They had finished milking in the evening, but were still in the barn about 9 p.m., when an Air Illinois Airplane circled two times and crashed one-fourth of a mile from home. Betty was the last person to see the airplane as it passed over their house and then crashed killing all ten aboard. There were three crew members, a two year old boy and his mother, two professors from SIUC, two from the Chicago area, and one from California on the Air Illinois Airplane that crashed.

Carol married Donald Fred LePere at St. Paul Church in Pinckneyville on Sept. 27, 1986. She is living on Route One, Ava, Il. with Donald and his son Willie. Carol is employed at Stiles in Carbondale as Assistant Manager of art and drafting supplies. Don is a custodian and watchman at Trico Elementary School, where Willie attends.

Euclid and Betty are members of St. Paul United Church of Christ in Pinckneyville: they don't belong to any organization because their cows keep them busy. They hope someday to sell the cows and have a vacation for a few days. They enjoy some fishing, their antiques, and traveling.

JOHN BUCHCANON

In 1861 three brothers left their home in Boness, Scotland to mine coal in the United States. They came in a Mormon ship. The State of Illinois was in need of men to mine coal. Industry was growing. Many railroads were being built, and needed coal to fire their locomotive boilers. That is why a Mormon ship was at 'Boness, Scotland' for the Port city of New Orleans, La. of the U.S. It was on this ship that the three brothers, Malcolm, Alexander (Sandy in Scotland) and brother John, changed their name from Stenners to Stanhouse. Stenners was their name in Scotland.

As they came to New Orleans with a friend named John Buchcanon they were told they couldn't land at New Orleans as New Orleans was seceded from the Union; the brothers turned back to New York and came to Illinois by train. John Buchcanon along with two other men bought a boat and sailed to Du Quoin. John wanted (Edward Ward Stanhouse) to help him sink "White Ash Mine" but Mom didn't want to live near the mine on account of the mud and the children going to school.

When John sold his mine he received $90,000. He and Mrs. Marshall Browning (her husband a coal operator) donated the $90,000 to build the Marshall Browning Hospital in Du Quoin. It was said that the Brownings put in their will that no miner or anyone in need be denied service in the Browning Hospital.

John Buchcanon, born 1840 and died in 1905 lived with Hazel Lollis family, daughter of Frank Lollis and Minnie Margurite Stanhouse. Hazel married Dan Stein.

John's money (that he had left) was stolen out of a lock box, but was returned after John's death and Judson Nelson (Attorney General) was to locate cousins in Scotland. He was buried in IOOF Cemetery in Du Quoin.

Sylvester Calvetti was 10 years old when he came to America 84 years ago (1903). His father, John Calvetti, had left Italy about 1893, 10 years before sending for his wife, Periana, and son, Sylvester. Before settling in Du Quoin they lived in Sandoval. Coal mining was abundant and Sylvester started to work at the age of 15, with little schooling. His mother, Periana, washed clothes for other miners to pay their debts.

Upon moving to Du Quoin, John opened a tavern, "The Black Diamond", located where Rolando's is now. In the tavern Sylvester learned to march and salute from Spanish American War Veterans.

World War I sent Sylvester to 13 countries. Upon returning, he opened a garage on Park Street east of Hickory, where experimentation with jet engines was done.

Sylvester and Joe Bianco started Du Quoin's first taxi service, using New Moons and Marmons. They wrote the following slogan for their business, which was used on their business cards: "Here's to that man, the taxi cab man, Who drives you here and there, whenever he can. He drives you in the rain, he drives you in the snow. If the taxi cab driver told you half of what he knows, It would start such a gale, and keep in force, That half the wives would sue for divorce. but to me, my dear customer, just pay me my fee, And I'll be deaf and dumb and unable to see." (Bianco and Calvetti).

CAMPBELL

Early to Perry Co. was John Campbell, born in Scotland, ca 1765. He first emigrated to America during the Revolution, settling first in North Carolina. Here he married Rebecca _____, ca 1797, and six of their nine children were born there.

Around 1812 he moved to Tennessee, stayed for 5 years; and again, following the frontier, moved to Old Du Quoin in 1817.

He is described in an 1883 Perry Co. history — "John Campbell came in 1819 — was a blacksmith, erected a shop and began smithing that year, — and was the first of his tradesmen in the precinct. — with Elija Wells he began the manufacture of plows, a very useful and much needed article". In the 1953 "Centennial Edition" of The Du Quoin Evening Call, an article described John as a "former ruler of Scotland" and a "king". It is possible he was a clan chief, (there is no King John in Scottish history). The occupation of blacksmith is the most likely.

He died in 1834 and is buried in a small cemetery near Old Du Quoin that is said to bear his name. Probate record of his will includes a bill for $3.00 for his oak coffin, made by Paris Hickman.

Silas Campbell (1838-1864) - killed in "hammer throw" at the Highland Games in Old Du Quoin

After his death and property division, wife Rebecca went to live with son Lewis. She died in 1855.

In 1859 his sons Washington and Lewis traveled to North Missouri where rich and abundant land was said to be available. Returning the same year they reported this true, with Lewis buying a section of land in Missouri. Washington decided not to go, but many neighbors decided to go; and they later built the communities on this part of the Great Plains. Their churches, schools, some of their homes still stand, memorials to their adventurous spirit.

Lewis Campbell (1814-1891) left Perry Co. for Worth Co. in Northwest Missouri in 1860. The covered wagon train included four sons, one daughter, son-in-law, and wife, Sarah Hogg, member of another pioneer Perry Co. family. Left behind was eldest son Silas (1838-1864) whose tragic death occurred shortly thereafter from injuries received from "throwing the hammer" in local Highland Games.

The trip to northern Missouri took six weeks, and family stories include accounts of attacks by panthers and bushwhackers. They reached Allendale (founded 1855) where Lewis built a large log cabin, the site of which is still family owned. Later, as each child married, he gave them 80 acres and a log house. In 1869 Lewis built a large two story farm house which still stands, and in which he died in 1891, a prosperous and respected member of the community.

The homestead passed to his son Chester (1848-1936) who had married Louisa Jane House in 1870, daughter of A.M. House (1826-1905) who was a son of Jacob House, also early to Perry Co. Chester and Louisa enlarged the house which was the center of family gatherings.

Their memories of family history were the ties back to Perry County's early days.

On Chester's death the homestead passed to son Frank (1894-1972), to his son Calvin (1918-) and to his son Graham (1949-1986), in whose estate it is now held.

Other Perry Co. families migrating to northern Missouri in the 1850-60's included Drys, Lipes, Pyles, McElvains, Woods, House, and others. Their contribution to development of communities was immense. Lawrence Dry and A.M. House both donated land, built churches and schools in their parts of the county in Missouri. They and the others are still remembered with love and respect.

In modern vernacular it could be said that the Allendale community of Worth Co., Mo., is "Perry County West". — Submitted by Calvin C. Campbell, Colonel, U.S. Army Ret.

COKER

In St. Johns, Il. on 24 June 1895, Wilson Perkins Coker, son of Augustus Duff Coker and Isabelle Eddington Wilson, was born. A sister, Sarah B., born July 25, 1893, died Aug. 2, 1893. He was the grandson of Judge John Coker of Washington, D.C. The Cokers had settled first in Tennessee and then on to Hamilton Co., Il., after leaving South Carolina where they had emigrated to from Somersetshire, England. The Wilson family had emigrated from Northumberland, England to Pennsylvania before coming to Perry Co.

After Wilson's father, "Duff" Coker, died, his mother married Dr. J. J. Boenheim of Du Quoin. A half-sister, Isabella Jane, was born Feb. 16, 1908. Wilson graduated from the Du Quoin High School. In Pinckneyville, on 4 July 1922, he married Bonnie Berniece Cowens (11 Jan. 1899 - 7 July 1962). She was the daughter of William P.

Wilson and Bonnie (Cowens) Coker

Cowens and Sophia Elizabeth Schroeder. Bonnie and Wilson were the parents of two children, Isabelle Sophia (1926) and William Wilson (1928).

While living in Du Quoin, "Doc" Coker was an owner of the Egyptian Garage. He was a 32nd Degree Mason and a member of the Du Quoin Elks. Wilson was active for many years in the American Legion.

Early in their marriage the Cokers lived in St. Louis where "Doc" was manager of the 18th Street Garage, but they returned to spend many happy years in Pinckneyville. In 1939 the family moved to Murphysboro, Il. where Wilson became Manager of the Illinois State Employment Office. His wife, Bonnie, disliked leaving her home town where she had been active in the Eastern Star, P.T.A., Girl Scouts, Women's Club and the Methodist Church. Living in her parents' home and being surrounded by family and friends was one of her greatest pleasures. The Cokers returned often to be a part of their Seven Couples' Club and Cottage Club and to spend time in their cabin on Hiller's Lake. Days "at the lake" were never forgotten.

Wilson William, "Bill", Coker (1928 - 1982), an educator and published musician and author, graduated from St. Louis Institute of Music, studied at Eastman School of Music, received a B.M. degree and his M. M. Degree from Yale University and a D.M.A. from the University of Illinois. He taught at Hartwick College after his marriage to Donna Sue Cardwell of Murphysboro. Dr. Coker later was an Executive Assistant to the Director of Lincoln Center, but he missed teaching. He became Chairman of the Department of Music at Fresno State University. Bill and Donna returned to Southern Illinois where he was Chairman of the Music Department of Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, until his death. Among his many awards were: twice recipient of Ford Foundation Fellowships; a Koussevitsky Prize Winner and winner of the 43rd Annual Publication Award of the Society for the Publication of American Music.

Isabelle Sophia, "Coe", Coker (1926) studied at Washington University, where she met and married (8 Nov. 1946) John Louis Brown of University City, Mo. In the fall of 1950 they became students of Central Baptist Theological Seminary and in 1951 returned to St. Louis, where John was to become President of Ben Hur Construction Company.

Four children blessed their home: John, Jr. (Skip), William Wilson (Bill), Richard Dean (Rik), and Cynthia Lynn (Cindy). The boys attended the Community School in Ladue, Mo. and later the three children graduated from the Ladue Schools. Cynthia graduated from Wentzville, Missouri High School as Valedictorian. 1962 - 1970 "Skip" was a student at Missouri School for the Blind. Bill's love of history directed him to The Citadel, where he completed his "plebe year", and later graduated from the University of Missouri. In 1973 he married Nancy Kathleen Beard of Lake St. Louis, Mo. He is now a Vice President of Ben Hur Construction Company. Rik graduated from the University of Kansas and continued graduate studies at Tsukuba University, Japan. He married Aiko Asato of Tokyo, Japan, in 1983. Rik is President of Infosys America, Inc. "Cindy", a graduate of the University of Missouri, is a law student at Washington University.

Great-grandchildren of Wilson and Bonnie Coker are: William Wilson, Jr., Matthew David, Jacqueline Yumie, Blair Elizabeth, and Jennifer Ayumi Brown.

Wilson Coker, soon after his retirement in 1969, moved to Frontenac, Mo. to live with his daughter, son-in-law and grandchildren until his death (20 Oct. 1975). Wilson and his family had in 1972 moved to Lake St. Louis, Mo. The Coker family left Perry Co. — but their love for it remained with them always.

In 1860, there were only three men in that Kentucky town who dared to vote for Lincoln. Although not then a naturalized citizen he enlisted in the Federal Army in 1861, becoming a member of the 3rd Kentucky Cavalry. He was discharged in 1864, when he came to Perry Co. and married

COOK-WIGGS

In the early 1800's, during the potato famine in Ireland, millions of people died, while others emigrated to the United States.

At about this time a young Irish woman discovered that she was carrying the child of her Irish boyfriend who had come to the U.S. in search of a better life. She decided to see if she could find him and came over shortly afterwards. She soon found herself penniless and without hope. In Pennsylvania she was hired as a maid in a well-to-do family and soon met the butler, a man named Cook. They were married in Pennsylvania before moving to Kentucky with the family. In Mayfield, Ky. a son Thomas Jefferson Cook was born.

Thomas became a Methodist preacher as well as a cobbler and saddler. General Ulysses S. Grant was so impressed with his saddle making that he purchased a saddle from him before the outset of the Civil War and used it during the war.

Thomas married Amanda J. Sullins, whose family lived in Illinois. She refused to live in Kentucky, a state that might fight against her family. Thomas heeded her plea, so taking a few of their possessions they came into Illinois. Before leaving, Thomas freed his slaves and told them they could have the possessions they had to leave behind. In the ensuing confusion the house caught fire and burned to the ground. Thomas, his wife, the two babies (Kate and Sadie) and his mother (who would never forgive him for what he was doing) could only watch. The 30 mile trip was dangerous because Union troops were moving through the area. Upon arriving in Illinois they settled in Johnson Co. On Oct. 4, 1869 their first son, William Franklin Cook, was born.

On Feb. 6, 1869, in New Burnside, Il. Anna Elizabeth Wiggs, the daughter of William and Mary (Cox) Wiggs, was born.

On Feb. 17, 1895 William Franklin Cook and Anna Elizabeth Wiggs were married. This marriage lasted 21 years, until August 15, 1916, when William lost his life in a tragic mine accident. Anna never remarried - went on to raise their nine children - passing away Sept. 26, 1959 and was laid to rest beside her husband in Odd Fellow Cemetery in Du Quoin.

The nine children were: Lucretia J. (1896-1955) and Claude Tine (1898-1974) born in New Burnside. Maude E. (1900-1983) and Everett Lee (1902-1965) born in Parker City. Harry Preston Cunningham, the only child of George Ellington and Rosa (Faris) Cunningham, was born Apr. 12, 1896, west of Pinckneyville in the Conant area. He attended Van Brunt Grade School in Township 5-3. When he was seven years old his mother died, and he was raised by his father, his paternal grandmother, Elizabeth (Yates) Cunningham, and his older half-sister, Pearl (Cunningham) Pyatt. He became the operator and later the owner of the family farm, where he spent his entire life. In Aug. 1918, he was drafted into the United States Army. The Armistice ending World War I was signed on Nov. 11, 1918, and Harry was discharged the end of Dec. 1918. He became a member of the American Legion.

On July 19, 1918, in Pinckneyville, Harry married Martha Jane Smith. Martha, the youngest of the ten children of Thomas Moore and Elizabeth Ann (Stevenson) Smith, was born Feb. 22, 1893, in the Bigham School District east of Cutler. Presbyterian Church, and reared their family there. Harry was an elder and trustee of the church for many years, and Martha is active in the Galum Missionary Society. They were also interested in community affairs. Harry served on the Van Brunt and Pinckneyville High School Boards and on the Agricultural Conservation Service Board. Martha was a member of Perry County Home Extension for many years.

The Cunningham's saw many interesting changes in their lifetime. They first traveled and farmed with horses and eventually watched in wonder as the space flights became a reality. One of their great experiences was obtaining electrical service for their farm. Only those who have lived without the benefits of electricity can truly know how much convenience, saving of labor, and comfort electrical power brought to the rural people of Perry Co. Harry volunteered long hours with the Egyptian Electric Cooperative to help bring power to their area.

They were a part of a persevering generation. They raised their family during the tough years of the Great Depression of the 1930's, and that was in itself a hard-fought struggle. Martha, as did many of her peers, saw her husband and son serve in World War I and II respectively. Some of their grandsons have also served in the military.

Harry P. Cunningham died July 30, 1979, and is buried in Galum Presbyterian Cemetery. Their family farm, as were many others in that area, was sold to Southwestern Coal Company. Martha J. Cunningham now resides at 108 East Parker Street in Pinckneyville. — Submitted by Elizabeth Heisner

CZAYO-KONARCIC

John Czayo was born Jan. 19, 1873, in Dolna Zubreca, Trestna, Orava Austria-Hungary. He had one sister, Juliana. His mother died when he was a small child. His father remarried so there were some half- brothers. Because of a cruel step-mother he left home when he was six years old and farmed out taking care of geese and sheep. As he grew older he worked as a mender of wares and then as an assistant in a blacksmith shop. When he was twenty-one it was compulsory for him to enter the military service. The army life was very rough and the soldiers received cruel treatment.

While training in Budapest he met Mary Konarcik and they were married in Budapest on June 16, 1898. When army life became unbearable he left the service and found his way to America. He worked in the coal mines of Providence and Marshwood, Pennsylvania about 1901. Later he found work in timberlands around Ashland, Wisconsin. He sent for his wife and three-year old son, John. The voyage was very rough especially for second class passengers and the little boy almost died during the trip. They were finally joined together in Ashland, Wi.

When John Czayo and his friends heard about the coal fields in southern Illinois, he and his friends' families packed their belongings and bought their passage in a box car to Du Quoin, Il. about 1904. He continually worked in Perry Co. coal mines around Du Quoin until June 30, 1938, when he was forced to quit due to pulmonary tuberculosis, now called miner's asthma or black lung. Although he worked in the deep pit coal mines for 34 years under the adverse conditions of those times, he was not allowed a pension or the benefits of black lung.

Mary Konarcik was born in Polhora, Ustia, Orafska, Austria-Hungary on Dec. 19, 1879. When she was seventeen years old she left home to work in the city. She worked in Budapest as a hod carrier; however, because the lime caused sores on her hand and legs, she quit that work and worked as an assistant dressmaker. When her husband left to go to America she made a living for herself and son, John, by making ladies hats and repairing them.

John and Mary Czayo received their naturalization papers in the City Court of Du Quoin, Perry Co., Il. on Jan. 16, 1915.

Their family consisted of eight children, Anthony, John, Mary Ann (Hestand), George Mark, Joseph Francis, Anna Mary, Christopher and Frank Edward. Anthony died in infancy. John lived 26 years and Christopher died after 6 months.

John Czayo died June 21, 1960 at 87 years of age. Mary Czayo died on July 3, 1939, at 59 years of age due to cancer. — Submitted by Childs

DUCKWORTH

This is the ancestry of Irene, Harry, and Eugene Duckworth who lived on Randolph Street in Pinckneyville, Il.

The first Duckworth of this line to emigrate from England to New Jersey was John Duckworth in 1684. However, the first Duckworth of this lineage to migrate to Perry Co., Il. was Aaron B. Duckworth, who came to Pinckneyville, in Mar. 1882.

Here follows the line from colonial days to the present.

1. John Duckworth 1684 - New Jersey.
2. William Duckworth (dead by 1727/'28) and his wife, Grace, of Burlington Co., New Jersey.
3. William and Mary Wright Duckworth were married Dec. 6, 1731, in Burlington Co., New Jersey.
4. Aaron and Elizabeth Johnson Duckworth. Both were born in New Jersey, but by 1788 had settled on George's Creek, Allegany Co., Md.
5. Aaron and Anna Beam (Beem) Duckworth. Aaron was born in New Jersey, but died in 1850 in Licking Co., Oh. These two were married in Allegany Co., Md., in 1805.
6. Michael Duckworth (June 18, 1813 - Dec. 5, 1863) and his wife, Mary Nancy Burner Duckworth, both of Licking Co., Oh.
7. Aaron B. (Jan. 7, 1837 - Feb. 7, 1906) and Elizabeth Crusen (Dec. 22, 1837 - Jan. 13, 1913) Duckworth were our grandparents. This is the Aaron Duckworth who migrated to Perry Co., in Mar. 1882, and made his home in Pinckneyville.

Harry, Eugene and Irene Duckworth

This Aaron Duckworth was a millwright. He came from Licking Co., Oh., (where he was born) via Terre Haute, In., and Shobonier, New Athens, and Johannesburg, Il., where he had owned and (or) operated mills. His last mill was The O.K. Mill in Pinckneyville. It was located just north of the I.C. tracks and west of Grant Street. His home was south of the I.C. tracks and east of County Road.

The children of Aaron B. and Elizabeth Duckworth were: William, Emma Jane Gruner, Frederick, Harry Weston, Viola Estella Hancock, and Amolia (Molly) Johnson. Of these children, only Emma Jane (wife of George Gruner) and Harry Weston made their homes in Pinckneyville.

8. Harry Weston Duckworth (Apr. 10, 1871 - Sept. 18, 1959) was our father. He and our Mother, Alta Irene Williams Duckworth (Oct. 4, 1871 - Sept. 22, 1936) were married Apr. 19, 1898. Harry Duckworth will probably be best remembered (business wise) as Sec'y of the Pinckneyville Building and Loan Association. Our parents gave us a kind, loving, and Christian home. We, their children, are: Irene, a retired school "marm"; Harry, retired, lives in Nashville, Il.; and Eugene, deceased.

Harry married Marion Veatch and they have one daughter, Harrie-Jane, who lives in Chicago. Eugene married Bernice Parrish and their daughter, Thelma Jean Cole Steininger lives in San Diego, Ca. Her children are Susan, Robert, and Charles Cole and Laura Steininger. —

CHIEF JEAN DUCOIGNE

Jean Baptiste Ducoigne was born Jan. 20, 1750 and was baptized at the mission of St. Ann of Fort Chartes, two days later, as shown by the records at St. Louis University. His father is identified only as De Couagne and the mother as Elizabeth Michael Rouensa, a savage, meaning "Indian". The priest was J. Gagnon, who was buried at Fort Chartres and then was moved to Prairie du Rocher.

The name Ducoigne possibly came from a noble Norman family, du Coigny, which means "of the corner". The "du" signifies nobility. Possibly, Chief Ducoigne was a descendant of a wealthy merchant family of Montreal. Many young men came from that area to explore, find adventure and, possibly, their fortunes, in the territory that became the United States.

The Kaskaskia and Tamaroa Indian tribes had moved southward since the late 1600's because of maurading enemy tribes. By 1720, they had made their way to the area of present day Kaskaskia and numbered about 600. They relied heavily on the advice of the Jesuits, who had been their spiritual advisors for about 50 years. The Jesuits also tried to make the Indians self supporting by farming.

Ducoigne was only 17 years old when he became a chief of his tribe. According to Commissary Edward Cole, the young man did not drink and was very well behaved, with the possibility of becoming one of the great chiefs of the country. When the Jesuits were banished from this country, liquor and disease took its toll on the tribe and in 1765 they were counted as 150 warriors and their families. Hostile Indians constantly raided, killed and kidnapped. Ducoigne went south to the Arkansas River and asked to be adopted by the Quapaw tribe, but this was interrupted by the Revolutionary War. The Kaskaskias began to harrass the British to aid their country. In 1778, Ducoigne joined George Rogers Clark. He tried to get the Peorias to assist Clark, but some went to the British side. Ducoigne's tribe supplied venison for the troops and Ducoigne himself became a valued messenger. In May, 1781, Ducoigne was with Captain John Rogers. Thomas Jefferson wrote to Ducoigne in June, 1781, asking him to restrain the Indians from killing, as the battle was between the English and the colonies. Jefferson did say if the English killed Indians then they could revenge themselves. At the war's end, in 1783, there were only about 50 Kaskaskia left. There was no local law and Ducoigne and his people had gained the hatred of many of the tribes for siding with America. Ducoigne and his people had been promised much for their friendship and their help. However, little ever came their way. If other Indians killed their people, they were not to strike back, so little by little, more of their numbers were killed. By this time the trader was moving farther west and liquor was one of the products he brought. Ducoigne begged in talks and letters, for the authorities to keep the traders away from his people and to stop the steady stream of settlers from taking their land.

In 1803, the remnants of the Kaskaskias and the Shawnees engaged in a battle from Old Frankfort to the Big and Little Muddy area, near the hunting camp of the Kaskaskias. The losses were great for the once powerful Kaskaskia tribe. Many women and children also died in this battle. This was the end of the hunting camp.

The white man took over the area and a settlement began. Treaties were drawn up, which took most of the tribe's land, leaving them only two reserves, one of 350 acres and one of 640 acres. A house was built for the chief and in 1804 Ducoigne requested horses and fences. He continually asked for teachers for the children, both for their religious and mental growth. By 1807, Ducoigne was thoroughly disgusted by the constant raiding and killing by others. He had sharply replied to Michael Johes, registrar of the land office at Kaskaskia, "Yes, when I meet an Indian I must stand until he shoots me down and then make a defense, and thus lose my life and the lives of my people." The promised protection never happened, and as Indian killed Indian, the way was made clear for the white man.

Chief Ducoigne was buried on Aug. 6, 1811, at the Kaskaskia Church with the militia under arms. His two sons, Louis and Baptiste were present.

Records show Ducoigne's wife to be Marie Helene, the daughter of Gabriel Cheamou-renia. The son, Joseph was born in 1783, and the second son was born in 1785. Louis Jefferson married Therese and they had a daughter, Helele, 1804. It appears Therese died as Louis then had a wife, Marie Madeleine, baptized.

Louis Jefferson became the second Chief Ducoigne. He signed treaties as such sometime prior to Oct. 1830 and left five in his family. It was in 1833 when the tattered remnants of the once powerful and proud tribe were loaded into wagons and taken to a reservation. Later they were moved to Oklahoma. A statement of Ducoigne's made in a speech of 1797, had indeed come true for himself and his people. "My friends and brothers, consider we are like the grass in the field, we are here today and gone tomorrow." — Submitted by Inez Eisenhauer

DUNCAN-MARLOW

Sam, a well-known local businessman, came to Perry Co. over 100 years ago as a very young lad and lived in Tamaroa, Il. until his death Nov. 1, 1954. Samuel Tilden Duncan was the youngest of four children born to Mary Martha (fondly known as Aunt Mollie) Dobbins Duncan (12/17/1844-1/3/1935) and Benjamin S. Duncan. His birthdate was May 16, 1876, and birthplace

Shrewsbury, Md. according to some records, but he cited Norristown, Pa., stating that it was close to the Maryland-Pennsylvania line.

His maternal relatives, the Dobbins, migrated to southern Illinois shortly after his mother's marriage, but his own family remained in York Co., Pa. However, soon after Sam's birth the family did move to Tamaroa, where several of his mother's siblings had settled. Shortly thereafter, somewhere in the 1880's, his father, Ben, deserted the family.

Sam's brother, Charles, and sisters Sue and Maud, grew up and left home in order to seek jobs. Sam was left with the responsibility of supporting his mother. He quit school and got a job in the local general store, Blanchard's Dry Goods Co. Many of the local farmers were Polish and he learned enough of the language in order to serve them. This was the beginning of his climb to become self-educated and eventually a very successful businessman and local politician.

In 1910 he was elected Sheriff of Perry Co. and the next year on Oct. 27, 1911, he married Miss Edith Marlow at the Presbyterian parsonage in Pinckneyville. The bride was the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James T. Marlow of Tamaroa.

The couple set up housekeeping in the residence previously occupied by the groom and his mother, the latter having gone to St. Louis, Mo. to live with her daughter Maud, Mrs. George Delling. Subsequently the young couple bought a larger home next to Edith's parents. On Oct. 14, 1913, a daughter Katherine was born and on Mar. 12, 1920, another daughter, Helen, joined the family.

Sam had his own business for years as a feed and grain merchant at a place commonly referred to as the "Feed Store". This was located in the same building as and next to Marlow's Drug Store. The family suffered financial setbacks following the 1929 depression. The First National Bank failed in 1933 and as a stockholder Sam was required to put up money. Their home burned in the winter of 1933 and the responsible broker had not renewed the insurance policy, as was the standing arrangement. Daughter Katherine had just started Medical School at the University of Illinois in Chicago.

Subsequently, because of a heart condition Sam was forced to give up the "Feed Store" and during Franklin D. Roosevelt's administration served as Postmaster. This was followed by a job as bookkeeper at Menard Penitentiary at Menard, Il.

Katherine graduated from Medical School in 1937 and in 1939 married a schoolmate, Louis Elliott Tebow of Peoria, Il. Upon receiving his M.D. degree Dr. Tebow joined the Navy and served in both World War II and the Korean War. To this union were born a son Duncan Elliott, July 10, 1945, and a daughter Mary Ellen in 1949. Dr. Tebow died Oct. 27, 1958. Katherine, along with her son and daughter and their families, reside in the Washington, D.C. area.

Helen graduated from Washington University in St. Louis with a degree in Business Administration and became employed in the business office of her Alma Mater. Following Sam's death Edith divided her time between the home in Tamaroa and at Helen's apartment in St. Louis. Edith passed away July 7, 1963, 12 days short of her 73rd birthday. Both Sam and Edith are buried in the Marlow-Duncan lot at the Tamaroa Cemetery.

John's paternal grandparents were M. Arthur (1886 - 1940) and Florence Olive (Wilks) Dunn (1890- 1949). Arthur was a self-employed businessman and assisted in the first Dunn Bros. in the West End Store area. These grandparents are interred in City Cemetery.

John's great-grandparents were William Edward (1844 - 1910) and Lucy Avarella (Gordon) Dunn (1846 - 1912). William was a shoemaker and a veteran of the Civil War, having served in Co. G, 12th Illinois Infantry. He worked with his sons, Harry and Arthur, in the first Dunn Brothers. Other sons included John D., Edward, and Kirby. These great-grandparents are buried in City Cemetery.

John Dunn Family

John's great-great-grandparents were Arthur (1812 - 1895) and Mary (Smith) Dempsey (1812 - 1898). Arthur was born in Dublin, Ireland and studied for the priesthood, but was never ordained. They were married in Ireland. "Granny Mary" was short and stocky, with bright red hair, rather rough and outspoken. On the ship to America, immigrants cooked over open fires on the deck. Potatoes were the main diet, being rolled down a trough to passengers twice a day. One man kept getting in line in front of Mary and taking all the potatoes. Finally, she lost her temper, grabbed his pot and said "I'll thro ya' domned ole pot in the ocean," and did! Mary was a bit of Ireland transplanted in a new world. After arriving here in 1835, they looked for a place "like unto the old country" and when they saw "Three Mile Prairie", they said "this is it". They were given a land grant by the U.S. Government. Arthur worked as a plasterer and practiced medicine. He used herbs to treat others and also was a faith doctor. Their children were David, William, Robert, Jane, Sarah, Mary, Bell, Minnie, and Arthur. Mr. and Mrs. Dempsey are buried in the Old Chapman Cemetery.

John Arthur Dunn served in the Armed Forces, including a tour of duty in Germany. In 1969, he married Theresa Ann, daughter of Paul and Rosalee Thompson of Manhattan, Ks. They both graduated from SIU-Carbondale with marketing and accounting degrees. John worked at Dunn Brothers in Pinckneyville and is now an accountant at Chester Mental Health. Teresa is a representative for Waddell and Reed Financial Services. Their children are Andrea Beth (1971) and Tiffany Anne (1974).

Bonnet". Mrs. Seibert, nee Susan Fontaine, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. K. Fontaine who had earlier served as Pastor in the St. Mark's Ev. and Reformed Church in DuBois, also led the group singing of the following songs, "A Bicycle Built For Two", "Surrey With the Fringe On Top" and "Let Me Call You Sweetheart". She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Lee Bowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Alva Eater spent their entire married life on this third generation owned farm about 5 Miles NE of Tamaroa with the exception of the few last years of their lives.

Henry Eater was the first owner of this Homestead land and it was obtained during the Presidency of Martin VanBuren.

Henry was born in Pennsylvania in 1805 and at the age of eighteen started Westward. He stopped near Columbus, Ohio but found the growth of poplar timber so great he decided to travel on to the prairies of Illinois. He settled about 5 Miles NE of Tamaroa and went to work to build a house.

In 1827 Henry Eater and Elizabeth Hunter were married and they lived there until their deaths. They were buried in the Hatcher Cemetery near DuBois.

Henry and Elizabeth were the parents of five children but all passed away in early childhood except Jonas (1833 - 1910).

Jonas Eater and Judith McLaughlin were married in 1855 and made their home on the old homestead. They were the parents of eight children, namely: John, Abby, J. W. (Buck), Martha, Dan, Ella, Charles and Alva the youngest, who became the owner of the homestead and moved there after the death of his parents. Jonas and Judith were buried in the Salem Cemetery near Mt. Vernon.

Alva farmed the land with his horse drawn machinery across the fields and also taught school for 13 years in the one room country school house of Red Brush, his home school district, and Hopewell, in the district west of their home.

Alva and Nellie (Rice) Eater were the parents of five children Idene (Everett Stockton), Edna (Robert Casper), Lora (Herman Rusch), Dey and Noel. Alva and Nellie were buried in the Tamaroa Cemetery and the old Homestead passed into the ownership of others.

Mr. Thomas Eaton owned and operated a Planing Mill and Wood Works on East Park in an area just east of the railroad. His son, Harry, graduated in 1900 from the new high school on South Washington Street. After that he attended Blackburn College in Carlinville. He then became associated with his father in business.

In 1909, Mr. Harry Eaton met Miss Ella Schroeder, (1887), from Chester, Il. She was in Du Quoin attending a teachers' meeting at the time. She was a devoted wife and mother, and worked in numerous ways for her church—the Presbyterian. She was always ready to help in many ways with ill and dying relatives, church members, and friends. Following the devastating tornado of 1925, she worked long hours at the hospital and for many weeks following.

EDWARDS-COOK

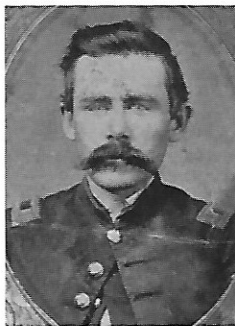

Calvin Edwards and Fannie Edwards, his wife, are listed as two of the ten members who, in 1837, formed a small Methodist Society in Pinckneyville. There have been Methodist Edwardses in Pinckneyville ever since.

Calvin Edwards was born in Athens, Vt., May 19, 1782, the son of "Deacon" William and Temperance Huntington Edwards. In 1814 he and his wife, the former Fannie Cook, with five children joined the westward migration into Ohio. After a stay of about four years they moved on across the river to Shawneetown, Il., and finally settled in Pinckneyville in 1835. Calvin and two of his sons, Alonson and Veloris farmed adjoining lands bought from the U.S. Government in Sections 23, 24 and 25, Twp.5S, Range 3W. From his purchase Alonson gave to the Trustees of Beaucoup Lodge #159, I.O.O.F., the "old" part of the present City Cemetery. The first stone in the cemetery is that of Harriet Matilda Brown Edwards, Alonson's first wife.

Calvin and Fannie's third son, William, ran a mercantile business in Pinckneyville until about 1843 when he went into the practice of law. From that time until the death of William's grandson, William Ozro Edwards in 1937 there was an Edwards practicing law in Pinckneyville.

While the family lived in Shawneetown, Calvin's son, William, had married Juliet Malvina Brown, a sister of his brother Alonson's wife. Their oldest child, Cordelia, married Lewis Hammack who became a lawyer. Descendants of these Hammacks are well-known in Pinckneyville.

William and Juliet's second child, Mortimer Clay, after graduating from Pinckneyville schools,

Mortimer Clay Edwards

spent two years at Masonic College in Lexington, Mo. Returning to Pinckneyville he entered the office of his brother-in-law, Lewis Hammack, and commenced the study of law. In 1860 Mortimer married his cousin, Harriet Maria, the daughter of his Uncle Alonson. Also in 1860 he was admitted to the Bar, just as the Civil War was breaking out. Mortimer raised a company of volunteers, was elected its leader and commissioned a 1st. Lieutenant, later winning promotion in the field where his men affectionately referred to him as "the little captain". This group of Perry Co. men became Company C. of the 81st. Regiment, Illinois Volunteer Infantry, and performed valiantly in many battles of the war. In 1869 Mortimer Clay resumed his law practice in Pinckneyville, serving as State's Attorney both in Perry Co. and in Kansas where the family sojourned from 1885-1888, taking up government lands near the town of Harper.

M. G. Edwards died on 21 Jan. 1905. A quotation from his obituary in that week's Pinckneyville paper says: "As a Mason and Grand Army man he was always at the front rank, and as a member of the M. E. Church no one doubted his sincerity or Christianity. As a citizen and lawyer he was clean, competent and trustworthy in every particular and at all times."

William and Juliet made yet another contribution to Law in Illinois. Their youngest son, William Wirt Edwards, after graduating from McKendree College in 1873 taught there for some years and, in 1911, founded the Lincoln College of Law in Springfield, Il. and was its Dean until his death in 1930. — *Submitted by (Mrs. Gilbert H) Jean M. He entered practice in Pinckneyville with his father, Mortimer Clay Edwards who died in 1904. William O. served as City Attorney for many years, as County Attorney for the Illinois Central Railroad, on the Legal Ethics Committee of the Illinois Bar. He was an active Mason, a president of the School Board, and the first president of the Pinckneyville Rotary Club.

Etta Root Edwards was the first president of the Pinckneyville Women's Club. Like her husband, she was interested and active in many civic organizations in the Methodist Church and, through the P.T.A., helped to organize the first community Hallowe'en celebration. Her major interest, however, was the Temperance cause, and she served for a term as State President of the W.C.T.U.

William O. and Etta Root had two children, Margaret, born in 1900, graduated from the University of Illinois and kept up an active interest in education, the American Association of University Women and the League of Women Voters. She married, in 1931, Dr. Jarvis Burner, a Professor of Romance Languages at the University. They spent some time in Mexico and later in Lebanon, Ill., where Jarvis became Librarian at McKendree College where Margaret's parents had met.

Gilbert H. Edwards, born to William and Etta in 1904, graduated from the University of Illinois Medical School in 1933 and returned to practice in his home town. In the days when there were few "hard roads", and when the nearest hospital was in Du Quoin, he still found time to sing in the Methodist choir and to take part in many civic activities. He was the first president of the Pinckneyville Lions Club. During World War II "Doc" enlisted and served for 3½ years, including 1½ years as a Flight Surgeon in the South Pacific. In 1945 he came home to build, with Drs. Jim and Gene Stotlar, the Medical Arts Building from which he could "supervise", with much interest, the building of the Community Hospital. A General Practitioner, Gil's first love was obstetrics, and he served as secretary, then president of the Illinois Ob. and Gyn. Society, as well as holding both of those offices in the Southern Illinois Medical Society.

In 1969 Dr. Gil and his wife, Jean (nee Maxham) retired to Fort Myers Beach, Fl. where he died in 1973. None of their children live in Perry Co. now. Jane (Johnson) is living in Mountain View, Ca., doing computer imaging in Silicon Valley; Bill and his wife, Ruth, live in Coshocton, Oh., where he is Soils Physicist at the Department of Agriculture's oldest Hydrologic Experiment Station. Mary Ruth (Caldwell) is directing Walnut Hill Methodist choir in Dallas, Tx., where her husband, Phil, is Software Consultant for Control Data Corp.; Martha is singing in the chorus of Chicago's Lyric Opera and is soloist at Chicago Temple.

Jane's four children and Bill's three have all been to Pinckneyville and know it as the family home where six generations of Edwardses live and left their marks. — Submitted by Jean M. Edwards

They farmed and lived in several places. At the first, a farm north of Vergennes, their children Herman, Karl and Gertrude were born. From there they moved to an 80 acre farm between Royalton and Mulkeytown. Here their daughter, Ida, was born. In about 1900 the family resided near Dowell. In 1906 they moved to a farm on the "Dowell blacktop" when son Edward was three months old. There was a log house here which later had a four room addition. Here the family remained until Josephine's death in 1966. Both are remembered as very fine kindly people.

Their children are Herman, who married Mary Endres; Karl Henry, married Elizabeth Endres; Gertrude, married John Schneider; Ida, married Adolph Endres; Helen, married Leo Schneider; and Edward George, married Irene Petry.

To help enlarge the family income, Josephine kept a large garden, where she raised and sold vegetables, including rhubarb and gooseberries. Edward raised hogs and then butchered and sold the meat in Du Quoin. Josephine was, according to some, the finest bread baker in the county. As another source of income the mother and daughters baked eight to ten loaves of bread most days.

One story recalled by Josephine was, that as a 16 year old, she begged her father to go to Tilden with her father to sell pick handles which he had made. She wore a flannelette dress, which was lined, and a shawl about her shoulders as protection from the cold. They had traveled in a two horse hack to Tilden and were horrified when one horse fell dead. They were told to remove it or they would be fined. After taking care of the disposal of the animal, the pick handles were sold, adjustments made to the hack tongue so one horse could pull it and they headed home. Josephine did not ask again to go along on these trips. During construction of Sacred Heart Catholic Church, Edward and son, Herman, cut trees and hauled trees to a saw mill in Vergennes, with mules and a wagon. The trip started early in the morning and often they returned at eight o'clock at night.

Josephine also delivered many babies in the old days. Such help was not available for her when her son, Karl, made his arrival. Husband Edward went on horseback to a neighbor to fetch help and by the time help arrived, so had Karl.

Edward and Josephine were both devoted members of Sacred Heart Parrish. He died Sept. 10, 1934 and Josephine died Dec. 30, 1966. Both are interred at Sacred Heart Catholic Cemetery. (See Karl and Elizabeth Eisenhauer).

Sept., 1919. From Mar. 3 until Sept., Lizzie cooked for 9 or 10 men daily, as the house and large barn were constructed. The house cost $1,268 and the barn $1,068.

Karl loved farming and his farm animals, especially his horses. Lizzie was an avid gardener and a fine quilt maker. days spent at Grandpa and Grandma's. In 1969 they built a new home in Du Quoin on Mulberry Street where they spent their remaining days. Karl died Mar. 3, 1973, and Elizabeth died Mar. 9, 1986. EISENHAUER-SCHAEEL

George Jacob Eisenhauer, (called Jake) came to the United States from Bavaria, Germany, at the age of eighteen. According to custom, the inheritance would go to George's elder brother, Wilhelm. Since opportunities were almost none for a young man to make his fortune in Germany, George was determined to come to America. Lacking funds to do this, he left the family and went to the ship docks and managed to get himself on a ship by working his way across the ocean. He was first located in the St. Clair area, where so many of the German immigrants of that period settled.

He married Mary Magdalene Schael and they became the parents of seven children, Jake, born 1852, married Barbara ?, Joseph, Lizzie, married ? Miller, John, married Lisa Epplin Knapp, Edward, married Josephine Bangert, Henry, married Gusta ?, and George, married Elizabeth Schneider.

George became a naturalized citizen of the United States at Belleville, St. Clair Co., Ill., on Oct. 31, 1864. Mary died Oct. 24, 1874.

George Jacob Eisenhauer

George second married Elizabeth Schneider Mann, July 31, 1877, at Hecker, Ill. Their children were Maria, who died at age 5, Karl (Charley) Lee, Frederick Albert, who married Rose Moschenross, Otilia, twins, John Otto and John Leo, Valentine and Helena. The last four died of diphtheria within eleven days of each other.

About 1867 George bought a farm located approximately 3½ miles north of Vergennes, which had a one room log cabin. In a short time he built a two story frame addition, to better accommodate the large family. The older boys helped with the farming and George concentrated on truck gardening and raising animals for butchering. Among things the garden produced was cabbage, which was made into sauerkraut, put into barrels and taken to Du Quoin for sale. Hogs were butchered and from them was made sausage and other meats for sale.

George Jacob was born Mar. 14, 1831, died Sept. 28, 1904. Mary was born May 10, 1829 and died Oct. 24, 1874. George Jacob and Mary Magdalene are both buried at Sacred Heart Catholic Cemetery, Du Quoin, Ill.

EMLING

The Emling family is indebted to the late Herman Conrad Emling. On the occasion of his 80th birthday, Dec. 16, 1974, he with the help of his daughter Bessie Hastings Emling wrote of his life in Perry Co. Included were his early recollections of his grandfather, William Conrad Emling.

"Grandpa Conrad came to this country from Germany when he was 17. It was around 1844 and there was a war over there which he didn't believe in. We don't know whether he came through Chicago or not (there are Emlings in the meat business there now), but he did work around East St. Louis for awhile. He sold eggs for .06 a dozen and once fell off a log into the water carrying ten dozen eggs! He came down to Perry Co., Ill. and rented Ozburn Hill and other land along the west side of Beaucoup Creek and farmed it. (North of the Pinckneyville - Du Quoin Airport). Later he crossed over to the east side of Beaucoup Creek where most of the German people lived. He married Emma Wehl, who was part French and two of their little boys are buried in the House Cemetery west of Beaucoup Creek and Highway 52."

Wm. Conrad Emling

Herman Emling goes on to say "Grandpa Emling owned a team of oxen and sometimes when my Pap was trying to drive them as a little boy they would lie down in a mudhole and he couldn't get them up. It would make him cry but he'd keep on until he got them up and on the way to the field again!"

The Family attended a little German Lutheran church in their community. Herman recalls that a Mrs. Hahn played "Nearer My God to Thee" and "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" in the German church. "That church is gone now but the cemetery with German inscriptions on the tombstones is there. It's southwest of Du Quoin on to the southwest of McElvain cemetery." Not all of the Emlings remained Lutheran, and today you will find Emlings on the rolls of many churches in Perry Co.

To the union a William Conrad Emling and H. Emma Wehl six sons and one daughter were born. Two young sons died, but five children lived to adulthood. They were Frank, Louis, Jacob, William, and Minnie. Today there are many descendants of Emma and Conrad Emling living in Perry Co.

On Apr. 28, 1915 John married Magdalena "Lena" Mann (b.10-8-1891) daughter of Ernest and Mary (Reheis) Mann. Both John and Lena were lifelong residents of Perry Co. John was raised west of Du Quoin while Lena grew up with the Mann families in Old Du Quoin. Upon graduation from Du Quoin High School in 1912, John taught at a one room schoolhouse for one year at Cudgetown and two years at Old Du Quoin. John and Lena bought their home and farm just south of Du Quoin in 1920. There they raised five sons along with crops and animals. The farm still stands today but now is in the middle of a fast growing area between the fairgrounds and Southtown Shopping Center.

Lena took piano lessons from Alice Thing in return for housework and she went on to give lessons at her own home. John played the fiddle and on occasion they would play together for barn dances in the area. Lena died 3-21-1937 at the early age of 45, leaving John to raise their sons. John spent many years as a rural mail carrier delivering mail with a horse and wagon to rural Du Quoin residents. The horse "Coacher" knew the route so well, he would stop at every box on the route automatically, whether there was mail or not. John retired in 1950 after 30 years of service. During 1956-1959, John served as Perry County Commissioner and was always a staunch Republican. On Nov. 14, 1953, John married Thelma Mann, sister of his wife. She passed away 9-24-69. John was also a big Du Quoin sports fan, spending many hours watching his sons and grandsons participate in Du Quoin athletics. He served as the baseball coach for his sons' teams at the old Majestic ball fields in Clinch and also for the "Mail Carriers" at the southtown diamond located in what is now Fair Acres subdivision. John was active until his death at the age of 90, on May 9, 1983.

John and Lena Mann raised an entire basketball team, five sons: Ernest, Russell, Roger, Maurice and Robert.

Ernest Emling (b.7-28-1916) is the eldest son. Ernie currently lives at the Emling homestead and is very active in Sacred Heart Catholic Church. Ernie has been a farmer for many years and spent some time working at the Du Quoin Packing Company. Ernie is well known for the fine orchard that he grew on the Emling farm. The orchard was originally started by his father in 1928. He sold peaches for many years with the sometimes reluctant help of his nephews. When an exclusive subdivision was built nearby, the street Orchard Lane was named due to the proximity to the orchard. See biographies of other sons elsewhere.

EMLING-NEAL

Russell was the second son born to John and Lena Emling. He attended the Sacred Heart School and the Du Quoin High School. He was active in sports including baseball, basketball and horse shoe pitch. He was known as the "friendly man at the window". Edna was employed as a Clerk-Typist for 20 years with the State of Illinois. Both are now retired.

Sandra also is an assistant coach for girl's soft ball and pursues bowling. ENDRES-SCHWEND

Michel Endres, born Sept. 9, 1854, was the son of Antone Endres and Josephine Daner. Very little is known about the parents. When Michel, called Mike, was fourteen years old his mother went out to buy groceries or medicine. They lived in Fayetteville, St. Clair Co., Il., near a railroad track.

After a long time Mike, who was watching the other children, became worried and went to look for her. He found her lying on the ground dead, presumably from a heart attack.

The father, Antone, had died previously. Antone, Josephine and a 22 year old son, are buried at Fayetteville, in the Catholic cemetery. After the death of Josephine, the children were scattered about in other homes to be raised. Mike went into the home of a Mr. Holsinger, who was going to see that Mike be sent to school and get his religious (Catholic) training. Up to this point Mike had never been to school. In return for this schooling, (probably one year) he was to work for Mr. Holsinger doing farming and threshing for a year. The relationship turned out so well that Mike stayed much longer.

Mike was 25 years old when he married 21 year old Caroline Schwend. When their daughter, Annie, was the baby of the family, they loaded their belongings in a high wagon and traveled from Highland, Il., Madison Co. to Jackson Co., Il. It was cold enough that Caroline would get out of the wagon and walk to get warm, rubbing her hands together to restore circulation.

After living at three or four places, Mike bought 40 acres of land from the railroad at a cost of $1 an acre. He cut trees, hewed logs and built a log cabin. The floor was only dirt at first. Later another room was added and a small porch was built. This property later became the Joe Schaeffer home.

Mike lost one forty acre plot when he could not complete the payments. However, through hard work and perseverance, he and Caroline eventually owned 280 acres.

Mike was described by his daughter, Elizabeth Endres Eisenhauer, as a very kind father and good to his children. The mother, Caroline, was the disciplinarian of the family. She, like all of the women of her generation, made the family clothing. She enjoyed making quilts and loved gardening. Mike loved farm animals and enjoyed raising them.

Mike had one brother, Joseph, who died at 22, and four sisters, Mary, who married Adolph Bauer; Teresa, who married Antone Engler; Katie, who married Charley Mueth and Ann, a Notre Dame nun.

Mike Endres died Apr. 28, 1931, Caroline died Feb. 5, 1943. Both are buried in Sacred Heart Cemetery, Du Quoin, Il.

Their children were Annie, who married John Martin; Joe, married Addie Heulesman; Emma, married Joe Epplin; Ida, married Oscar Eisenhauer; Adolph, married Ida Eisenhauer, Mary, married Herman Eisenhauer, Elizabeth Catherine, married Karl Henry Eisenhauer. (See Karl and Elizabeth Eisenhauer).

EUBANKS-MOODY

Eileen Marie Moody (7-9-1920) was brought to Du Quoin (July 1929) by foster parents Ted and Gay Moody. They bought a roadside food stand at route 14 and 51 and named it Moody's. There Eileen grew up, going to Du Quoin schools and graduated from DTHS in 1938.

Henry and Annie Mann of Old Du Quoin became part of Eileen's childhood memories when they took a young girl to town Saturday evenings to watch a movie while they parked on Main Street to watch and visit with shoppers till the 8:00 p.m. Saturday closing time. Edwin Hartsock, owner of Hartsock's Dairy, and wife Mabel, included Eileen in some of their family activities. Mabel took Eileen to Sunday School with her children Charles and Ara Jean. Spinster sisters Callie and Allie Thing (aunts of Gay) showed Eileen how life was in rural America. Callie milked a cow, separated the cream and made butter and cottage cheese. Eileen remembers being given a taste of the warm foamy milk. Callie made garden, smoked meat and sold eggs and butter. She also had a rug loom and made rag rugs to sell. Allie, lame from infantile paralysis, kept house, cooked, ironed, sewed for others and gave piano lessons using a crutch and cane.

Moodys prospered during the 1930's and the Great Depression. Sandwiches, chili, soda, ice cream, gas and oil were sold. Curb service was offered and open 24 hours. It became a truck stop as well as feeding the area residents and tourists. Approximately 1940, a dance floor was added and Moodys became a spot for teenagers to congregate and dance to the big band music recordings on the juke box, also, teenagers from Dowell and Elkhaville came to dance. The Wye was a center for recreation with taverns and dance floors for adults.

Eileen left Moodys about 1943. After World War II, Eileen met and married Ellsworth Edison Eubanks (9-1-1945), a nine year army veteran with overseas duty in England, where his maternal grandparents came from. Elzie (6-10-1917), son of Ora Ellsworth (1890-1958) and Kitty Maye Barber (1891-1975) Eubanks. Two children joined this couple, Julie Mae (4-12-1947) and Duane Ellsworth (20-1-1949). The family became members of First Christian Church, Disciples. Keith Alan Pynon (12-15-1966), son of Julie, married Tara Phyllis Koonce (5-19-1966). They gave Elzie and Eileen two great-granddaughters (to date) Ashlee Nicole (1-31-1985) and Wendi Jo (11-18-1986).

In addition to marriage and motherhood, a big event in Eileen's life was finding her natural siblings, a brother and five sisters in 1960. She learned she was born in Potter, Ks. to Lynn and Stella Harless and named Julia Cleve Harless. Her roots are deep in Perry Co. and is known as Eileen Eubanks. Two hobbies have enriched Eileen's life: A love for reading and after retirement, bird watching and feeding in the winter months.

EWING

Mr. and Mrs. Ewing came to this country about 1840, from Ireland, the county Donegal "where taters are small", following the great potato famine. They came to America by way of the Gulf of Mexico and up the Mississippi, landing at Chester. They brought with them their seven children. One of them Isabelle, died while they were at sea, but they were able to keep her body hidden until they landed at New Orleans where they buried her. The other children were: Mattie, Sarah, Jane, Mary Ann, Margaret and Robert. Through the influence of the Rules family, who were friends from Ireland, they came to Pinckneyville, where they made their home.

Mattie married Bill Kelly, perhaps while still in Ireland. Their children were: Maggie Baker, Minnie Kung, Will K., Bob, Mattie Righam, Sarah Berg and Emma. One daughter died in girlhood.

Sarah had quite a thrilling romance. She was preparing to marry one man when "Uncle Jake Durringer" found it out. He thought she was too good for this man, so he simply carried her away and married her himself, before she could elope with her intended. Uncle Jake was a shoe-maker and a boat-maker. They lived in Pinckneyville several years where their children were born. They were: Frank, Bob, Will, Jake Jr. and Emma Burton. The family moved to Texas when Jake's health failed and he had to quit his trade. Little Jake was killed by lightning while working there. None of that family ever came back to Illinois.

Jane married Stuart Armstrong and went to California. Their children were: John, Mollie Vandergriff, Zoe Rennee and Sade ?

Robert died young and is perhaps buried at Galum.

A double wedding occurred when Mary Ann married James Tyler, a Civil War veteran and Margaret married Frank McQuaid. Margaret's children were: Lewis, Theodosia, Nell Hamilton, Cora Margaret, Frank, Matt and Henry.

FEIK-CHAPMAN

Great-grandfather Friedrich Feik came to the United States in the summer of 1860 from Bledesbach, County Kusel in the Rhineland-Palatinate in Southwestern Germany, when he was 28 years old. He had been separated from the Royal Bavarian Army in Mar., 1860. He emigrated because of the prospect of having to do further military duty. The Bavarian passport he carried was valid for one year visit and it listed him officially as unmarried and unemployed. By 1863 he was married to Philipenia Yung, also from Bledesbach, settled in Perry Co. as a farmer, and his first child was born. Eventually the family would have eight children: Peter, Fred, David, Caroline, Theodore, Daniel, Anna, and Charles (Karl). The family farm was Northwest of Pinckneyville and just West of Mueller Hill Cemetery. He would remain on his farm until as an elderly widower he would go to live at his daughter, Caroline Clark's home at nearby King's Switch until his death in 1914.

The other Perry County great-grandfather was William A. Chapman, born in Wilson Co., Tn., in 1846 and brought, as a child with his sister Sarah, first to Washington Co. and later to Perry Co.

In Feb., 1864, William A. Chapman enlisted in the 48th Illinois Infantry Regiment as a recruit and served until he was mustered out with his company at Little Rock, Ar., in Aug. 1865. Back home in Perry Co. after the Civil War, he married Malinda Thomas, the only daughter of George and Parmelia Thomas, and became a landowner and farmer in Township 4-2 west of Tamaroa. William and Malinda Chapman had a family of seven surviving children: Dora, Mary, Oliver, Ezra, Sophronia, Maud, and Joseph.

The Feik and Chapman families became related when Theodore Feik and Dora Chapman, both born in 1872, were married. They first made their home on a farm Northwest of Pinckneyville near the Illinois Central railroad tracks and within the old Beaupou School District. About 1918 or 1919 their farm and neighboring farms were bought to make way for an explosives factory that was never built. The family moved to another farm Northeast of Pinckneyville on the White Walnut Road. Theodore and Dora Feik had two surviving children: William and Caroline.

William Feik was born on June 1, 1911, on the original family farm. He was a coal miner, working at the #5 and the #6 mines in Pinckneyville and a farmer. Although he never farmed a large acreage, he was always an efficient farmer and made up for the size of his operation.

In 1939 William Feik married Mary Davis, an elementary school teacher from rural Williamson Co. near Marion. She has, except for a short time in Williamson Co. spent her entire teaching and school supervision career in the Perry County Schools. Among the schools were Round Prairie, Cross, Nation, and finally # 212 Community Consolidated School as Principal and Superintendent. William and Marie Feik had one son, Lance, the latest member of the Feik family still residing in Perry Co. — Submitted by Lance Feik

ELSIE MAE FELTMEYER

Elsie Mae Feltmeyer, a native of Perry Co., Il., was born on Feb. 28, 1908, daughter of Major and Louisa Stockton, and granddaughter of William Carroll Stockton.

William Carroll married Mary Meyers in Fulton, Ms. on Dec. 22, 1847. He was a farmer. William C. served in the Union Army in the Civil War. Quite an interesting account surrounds his service in that war. On Dec. 19, 1862, he volunteered at Corinth, Ms. and was assigned to Company B. First Regiment Alabama Cavalry. Apparently he had made it known abroad that he was not sympathetic to the rebel cause and would not serve in the Confederate Army, and the Rebels sought to take him into custody. Knowing that they were seeking him and that his life was in danger, he decided to leave Mississippi and told his wife, Mary, to meet him "across the line", apparently meaning Tennessee, for the border wasn't too far away. He escaped through the canebrake and the rebel soldiers soon came to his house looking for him. It is reported that they found Mary milking a cow, and when the Rebels couldn't get Mary to tell them anything, they shot the cow and burned the house. Mary took the children, and with a wagon and team, headed for Jackson, Tn. She was expecting a child. William C. had joined the Union Army and was in camp. Somehow he learned of his wife's predicament and went—without permission from his officers—to their aid. William was afraid he would not get permission to go, so he went ahead without permission. Later he returned to camp and was discharged because of a serious asthmatic condition. After the Civil War, or thereabouts, William and his family came to Tamaroa, Il. William Carroll died Aug. 29, 1868 while repairing a porch (the roof), he fell and broke his neck. Most of the Stocktons migrated to Tamaroa during the Civil War.

Elsie is presently in Senior Manor Nursing Center at Sparta, Il., and William Nelson died Nov. 13, 1957.

HENRY FELTMEYER

Henry Feltmeyer was born Nov. 11, 1903 in the White Walnut district, the son of Wm. and Louise Feltmeyer. His father died when Henry was 15 years old. He farmed and worked at various jobs in Perry Co. and Knox Co. until his marriage in Feb., 1935 to Lena Reinhardt. Her parents were Mike and Bena Reinhardt. They lived in the Van Brundt district where Lena started first grade at age four.

At the time of their marriage, Henry moved to that area southwest of Pinckneyville and began farming with his father-in-law.

Henry was very active in getting the REA electrical service into this area. He and several other men worked very hard and without any pay to clear the right of way where the poles and lines were placed.

Henry and Lena also raised livestock. One of the most exciting times was when one of his cows gave birth to triplets.

There were three children in the Feltmeyer family; Shirley, Roberta, who died at age 15 months, and Richard.

The family was active in and attended the Galum Presbyterian Church, which was not too far from their home.

Upon graduation from high school, Shirley worked for a year in Springfield, Il. She returned to Pinckneyville and worked as a checker at the Gann and Bender grocery store. In 1957 she went back to school and became a medical technologist. In 1958 she married Ronald Doerr of Murphysboro, Il. They moved to Mattoon, Il. and had one son, Steven. Dr. Doerr died in 1971 and in 1974 Shirley married John Burton. They have a daughter, Sara and still live in Mattoon, Il.

Richard, born May 25, 1943, helped his dad farm and worked at Decca Records after he graduated from high school. In 1963 he enlisted in the Navy and served four years. After that, he attended diesel mechanics school and upon completing that moved to Galesburg, Il., where he still lives. He married Patsy Guenther, also of Pinckneyville, in 1966 and they have two sons, Arron and Nathaniel.

Henry and Lena continued farming until they retired in 1967. They now live in Pinckneyville and celebrated their 52nd. anniversary this year. After moving into town they attended the St. Paul's Church of Christ. They are active in Senior Citizens groups and various volunteer services. — Submitted by Shirley Burton

FLYNN-COOK

Edward and Celeste (Cook) Flynn were raised two doors apart on Du Quoin's Keyes Street at the turn of the century. They were married Mar. 6, 1904, moving to their first home on Hope Street, one block away. In 1910 they moved to a farm three miles southwest of town, but returned to the Hope Street home later, and in 1922 bought 401 E. Keyes Street, where they spent the rest of their 50 years together.

In town they were active in many areas. "Less" was a department superintendent in Sunday School in First Baptist Church. Ed taught young men. She was President of Woman's Club, active in Rebekah Lodge and during World War II was on the Rationing Board. Ed was a 25 year School Board member at DTHS, a 50 year member of IOOF, worked with Boy Scouts, was on Marshall Browning Hospital Board for many years, and was a daily visitor at the hospital. They were both avid sports fans and seldom missed a high school basketball or football game.

Their first child, John Owen, was still-born Apr. 23, 1905. A few weeks later Ed was lone survivor of an explosion in the Davis mine. He was county assessor, city and county treasurer before returning to mining, following a miraculous recovery from severe burns.

Ed put himself through Scranton School of Mining by correspondence and became successively a mine examiner, manager, county inspector and state inspector. He was devoted to mine safety and in 1955 was honored by United Mine Workers for 50 years without an accident.

Ed and Less have three other children; Louise

Edward Flynn, Celeste, Charles and Louise

(Underhill), Edward and Charles (Chuck). Edward Flynn early became an excellent trombonist, playing with the city band and local theater orchestras as a teen. This was fortunate since he died of an undiagnosed malady during his freshman year at college.

Chuck married Minnie (Burton) of Whittington May 1, 1936. He earned bachelor's and master's degrees at University of Illinois and in 1937 left editorship of Du Quoin News to join the School of Journalism faculty at UI. Later he was assistant to the president of UI for 19 years and in 1983 was honored as "Outstanding Citizen of Illinois" by the Boy Scouts of America.

In 1975 Chuck retired at the University and became editor and vice-president of Champaign News-Gazette. He and Minnie have a son Michael of Scottsdale, Ar., and a daughter Diana (Racine) of Sycamore, Il. There are seven grandchildren.

Louise received her AB degree from Georgetown College, Ky., in 1930 and began teaching freshman English at DTHS. Fourteen years later she joined the American Red Cross in St. Louis during W W II, then migrated to Cheyenne, Wy., where she taught junior high school English 16 more years. In 1971 she married Charles Glenn Underhill.

Louise is the author of six books of poetry, the first of which was published in 1977. In 1980 she and Chuck published a cook book. In that year Louise received Georgetown's Distinguished Alumna Award and Chuck was named to a similar honor at UI. In 1981 Louise was named Wyoming Press Woman of the year in a National Federation of Press Women.

FOENS-LIVELY

John A. Foens came to southern Illinois from Virginia and established his home three miles from Cutler. His wife, Lydia Lively was the granddaughter of old John Lively the first white man to live in Randolph Co.

He and his wife had three children, Mary, who married "Mix" Bigham, and lived in Kansas; Sarah married Robert F. Wilson and lived near Baldwin, Il., and John, married Elizabeth Vorderbugge and lived in the Cutler area, near the father's home.

Mrs. Foens died when the youngest child, Sarah, was quite young. She lived with a family in Steeleville.

Mr. Foens was a farmer, and had an "eye to the future". He bought sections of land from the Federal Government for $1.25 per acre and sold the land to neighboring people who wanted it. One of the people buying land from John A. Foens was the Rev. Michael Harshaw, who bought the land where he lived. He later donated the land to the village of Cutler, the area upon which the main part of Cutler is located.

During the Civil War he served in the army. He had a severe case of Small Pox, while stationed in Missouri not far from St. Louis. The disease settled in the bone marrow, causing a great disability. He was discharged and given a half Pension of eight dollars a month. He was really unable to take care of himself and his neighbor, our grandmother, walked to his home and dressed the sores which he had. She wrote the Government requesting that he be given a full pension of sixteen dollars a month, which was granted.

At his death he was laid to rest in the family cemetery on his farm. Later when the strip mine bought the land, all the graves in the cemetery were moved to the Cutler Cemetery. — Submitted by Everette and Pearl McClure

FONES-TAYLOR

Albert George Fones, b. 3-16-1888, d. 7-23-1970, married Opal Maude Taylor 12-26-1913. She was born 12-20-1895, d. 2-1967. Both are buried at Cottom Cemetery.

Albert was born in Cutler area to John Rolf Fones, b. 8-9-1853, d. 2-1904. John Rolf married Elizabeth Henrietta Voderbrugge, b. 1-3-1868, d. 4-11-1932. John Rolf's father was Peter Fones, a native of Prussia.

Albert grew up as a farm hand and at age sixteen he moved to Galesburg, (Knox County) Ill. He married there. He continued to farm there until the late 1920's moving back to Perry Co., settling near Cutler.

The depression was in effect and farm work was scarce, so Albert did carpentry and miscellaneous work.

The family moved again into the old Halleck Mansker place in south Four Mile next to the Walkenhorst school, where some of their children attended; at this time Albert worked on W.P.A. projects; also he purchased a new small mill from a Kansas City factory (Belsaw). It had a shingle making attachment on it, which was unique in the area, and many farmers roofed their barns and sheds with his shingles. Mr. Fones bought the mill with nothing down and $10 per month. The mill was located on the Walkenhorst farm. It soon paid for itself and Mr. Fones then bought a Fordson tractor and equipment and was back in the custom farming business.

Albert and Opal never really retired, contributing a lot of family life to Perry Co. Many families are permanent residents, Senator Ralph Dunn and family, Orval Blythe and family, and also the William Ferguson family.

Albert and Opal Fones had a family of fifteen children, three died in infancy, Alice in 1936, Ken-

A relative of Albert Fones, John A. Fones, a farmer by trade, was issued a deed by the Federal Government in the year of 1839, for a tract of land that he farmed. In 1847 he sold the land to Reverend Michael Harshaw, who pastored the Presbyterian Church called "The Mound Church". A few years later he donated the land for the site of the village of Cutler.

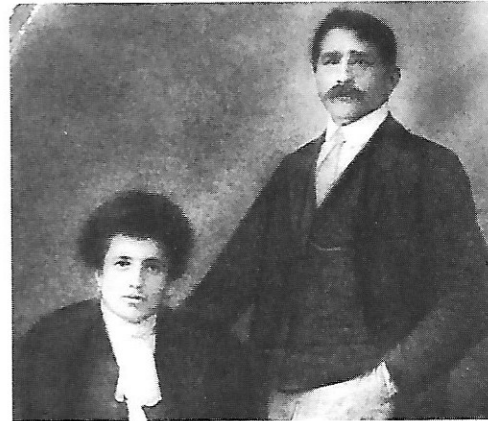

While serving in the Union Army during the Civil War, John contracted smallpox, was discharged as handicapped with a pension of $8 monthly. He is buried in the Cutler Cemetery, reinterred there from his farm by Coal Corp. He was b. 11-17-1807, d. 6-17-93. — Submitted by Louis Walkenhorst

FORTH

The name, Forth, is a very old one, dating back to 1066, when two Forth boys came to England in the Army of William the Conqueror, from Normandy, France. From these two men the family descended. Both men were knighted and given vast holdings of land.

The first Forth came to this country in 1623, but returned to England. In 1635 John Forth and George Forth, sons of Sir William Forth, arrived in Virginia on the ship Globe, out of London, and became farmers and traders. Great-great-grandfather, Josiah Forth, came to the Ohio River Valley and took up farming in Logan Co., Ky. after 1792. He and his four sons, Larkin, (birth and death unknown), William Allen (1806-1878), Robert Tillman (1814-1886) and John (1812-1889), moved to Posey Co., In. and in 1835, Robert Tillman moved to Wayne Co., Il., John and William Allen following. They raised large families. Among the three brothers they had 75 children: Robert had 25, John had 27 and William 23.

One of William Allen's sons, Zachariah Taylor, farmed in Wayne Co., Il. In 1866 he married Elvira Damon Wheeler (nee Chapman), a widow with two children. They had eight children of their own. They moved to Perry Co., Il. (circa 1875) and settled in St. Johns, where Taylor worked in the salt works. Their children were William Sherman and Millicent (twins) (1867, Wayne Co.), Millie died in 1885 and William Sherman 1950, Robert Taylor, (Wayne Co. 1870-1935), Louis Riley (Wayne Co. 1872-1901), Francis Marion, (Perry Co. 1884-1890). Sarah Elizabeth, (Perry Co. 1875-1885), Amanda Alice (Perry Co. 1879-1951). LuArtie Ollie (Perry Co. 1882-1910), step-children, Mary Catherine, (Wayne Co. 1861-1936), Johnetta Jane Wheeler (1864-1953).

Frank T. Forth Sr., Mildred Forth Stevens, and Hazel Elmata Forth

Son of Taylor and Elvoria, Robert Forth, married Sophia Eskins in 1896. They had four children—all born in Perry Co. Hazel Elmata (1900-1983), Fleeta Roselia (1912-1912), Virginia Mildred (Stevens) 1914—), and Frank Taylor (1918—).

In 1957 Frank Taylor married Barbara Smith (nee Farris) in Los Vegas, Nv. They had two children, Frank Taylor, Jr., born in Santa Monica, Ca. (1958—) and Terri Lorraine, born in Brigham City, Ut., (1960—). Teri married Richard Diaz in 1981 in W. P. Beach, Fl. They have one son, Richard Diaz, Jr., born 1983—).

Frank Taylor resided in Perry Co. most of his life. He moved back to Du Quoin, Il. in 1970. One year ago he moved to Louisiana, where his sister and brother-in-law, Colonel William S. Stevens (Army Retired) and Mildred Stevens now make their home.

Sherman and Mildred Stevens are genealogists for their family and have made several trips to England doing research, have traveled extensively in many states in our country, and have collected much interesting data on the Forth family. All data in this article is a matter of record. Both are members of LDS Church.

So the family of Forth is not only an old one in America, but an old family in Perry Co.

The remains of the crash were not found until nearly 5 years later.

Grant asked him if he was doing anything at the time. Rev. Froese said he was assisting his pastor at Belleville and he was conducting Sunday-School Services at a saw-mill camp back in the woods. He went through many hardships during the following winter because the roads were very bad to get to the saw-mill. At times the car would be left stuck in the mud and dence. One wasn't able to buy a new car until a few years later, which made buses and trains a very popular means of transportation. On Jan. 12, 1954, one son was born to this union, Stephen Allen.

GENESIO-SMITH

Dempsey and Irene Genesio have been lifelong residents of Perry Co. Dempsey worked for many years at Perry Co. coal mines servicing machinery, on the dragline and pumper. In the mid 50's he served as a Perry Co. Deputy Sheriff under Joe Shirk. Also in the 50's, he bought a farm east of Du Quoin which once was the site of the McDonald's brickyard which supplied brick used in the Du Quoin area at the turn of the century. Dempsey spends much time out there these days. Irene spent her years caring for her husband, children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren. Due to the fact that Irene was only 5'2" tall, one of the great thrills for her grandchildren was to get taller than Grandma. Irene passed away Jul. 4th, 1983 just prior to a family picnic. Dempsey and Irene had four children: Marion Irene (Mrs. Robert J. Emling), Charles Noal Genesio, Virginia Lee (Mrs. Donald C. Willi), all of Du Quoin, and Naomi Jean "Beegie" (Kimmel), now of Florida. They also had fifteen grandchildren and fifteen great-grandchildren with four more on the way.

Dempsey Noal Genesio (b. 4-7-1909) is one of two sons of Barney and Rosa Genesio. Barney Genesio was born on 12-31-1870 in Pretligone in northern Italy. He came to the United States at the age of 15 with a female relative and baby who were joining her miner husband. They first moved to Kansas then to the Christopher area before Barney settled in Du Quoin. Barney worked in the Du Quoin coal mines for years and died on 5-18-53 at the age of 82.

Dempsey's Mother, Rosa Genesio, was born Rosa Brooks on 11-29-1876 in Franklin City to James Noal Brooks and Sarah (Dye) Brooks. James Brooks came to the area from Tennessee in a covered wagon while Sarah Dye was originally from Franklin Co. Jim and Sarah settled in Du Quoin where they were engaged in farming and had a woodlot. They had five other children besides Rosa; Joe Brooks, Della Brooks, Tom Brooks, Bertie Trogolo, and Nancy Jane Cook. Rosa died 5-31-56.

Dempsey Genesio had one brother, John Thomas Genesio (b. 11-29-05, d. 5-5-52), also a coal miner. John married Ruth Roper (now Hayer) to which two daughters were born, Dorothy (Mrs. Ronald Gilley) and Bonnie (Mrs. Ben Milam). Both Ruth and the daughters live in the Marissa area.

Irene Genesio was born Eleanor Irene Smith on 5-11-1907 to George Perry Smith and Carrie (McDonald) Smith. Irene's mother died when Irene was still small, so her brothers and sisters would take her to school with them and the teacher would comb her hair and help watch after her. Irene's family lived close to the Slawson School west of Du Quoin.

Irene's father, George Smith, was born 11-2-1871 to Noah (1835- 1904) and Rowena (Miller) Smith (b. 1847 in Ohio-1910). George had five siblings, Emma (Bullock), Mamie (Adams), Otto Smith, Harry Smith, and Roy Smith. George was a coal miner and died in 1953.

Carrie McDonald was the daughter of Joe and Sarah McDonald. Carrie was born in 1877 and died at an early age in 1911. Carrie's mother was a full blooded Indian that was left in Du Quoin to be raised by the Killingsworth family as the Indian tribe moved west on the "trail of tears". Carrie's mother was named Sarah but known as Sally. Carrie's brothers and sisters were: George, Jim, Bub, Aaron, Sis (Mrs. Joe Johnson), and Nora (Mrs. Doc Miller).

George and Carrie Smith had four other children besides Irene; Alva (married Hazel Moore), Thomas (married Marie Fox), Velma (married Frank Rudloff), and Ida (married Charles Rudloff).

GEORGE-RICHERSON

Emma Richerson George (b. 6-5-1906) has lived in Perry Co. the majority of her 81 years. She and her husband, Arthur William George (b. 7-29-1901, d. 1-30-1963) raised a family of 9 children in the section of town known as Greenwood Addition, at the end of East Olive Street in Du Quoin. Times were hard for a family of that size, but "Art" managed to support his family by hauling with his truck, driving a taxicab, and farming some acres, owned by Paul Bernard of Mt. Vernon, that were located near the old Majestic Mine property. He also ran a mine called the "Little Jewel" near St. Johns, Il. and was employed at the Majestic Mine.

Emma is the daughter of Jake and Amanda (Craig) Richerson, and Art's parents were Arthur W. and Ida May (Foster) George, all primarily from Perry Co.

Their 9 children are Jacob Dwight George (b. 11-19-1922) of Phoenix, Az., who married Esther Puckett. They have 8 children: James R. "Bud" George (b. 6-5-1924) of Phoenix, Az., who is married to Marian Gilliam; they have 5 children, Charles Arthur George (b. 3-10-1926) who married Mary Louise Quinn, and they have 13 children, Robert Glenn George (b. 1-5-1928) of Bloomington, Il., who married Delores Shelton, and they raised 4 children, Billy Dean George (b. 11-27-1929 d. 7-1971) who married Glenna Breeze and had 4 children. Billy then was married to Judith Watts and they had 3 children, Donald Lee George of Orange Park, Fl., (b. 11-19-1931) and his wife Ella, have 2 children, Rosalie (b. 5-27-1934), the only daughter, married Raymond Palmer of Du Quoin, and they have 3 children, Gerald Laverne "Butch" George (b. 9-28-1938) and Gail Roznowski, have 2 children; Tommy (b. 9-20- 1946) married Dixie Walls of Effingham, and they have 5 children. To this family has been born 49 grandchildren, 53 great-grandchildren, and 3 great- great-grandchildren. All but one of the in-laws are primarily from Perry Co., and all still consider Du Quoin "home" whether they reside in Perry Co. or elsewhere. Times have changed, and are maybe easier now, but the earlier days in Perry Co. have made many fond memories for this family.

Emma Marie George

GEORGE-ROZNOWSKI

The George's were one of five families on Jackson Street Road in Du Quoin back in 1964, when it was still "country", and have enjoyed watching it being built up, but also mourning the loss of "country" living as residents moved farther out.

Gerald Laverne "Butch" George (b. 9-28-1938) is the seventh son of nine children of Arthur W. and Emma (Richerson) George of Du Quoin. He graduated from Du Quoin grade and high schools, and received a degree from Rend Lake College. "Butch" has been involved in carpentry most of his life, and is currently a building contractor.

On June 28, 1959, Butch married Gail Kay Roznowski (b. 10-1-1940), the only daughter of Frank E. and Louise (Williams) Roznowski of Du Quoin. Gail has one brother, Edward Lee Roznowski. Gail also graduated from Du Quoin parochial grade school and Du Quoin high school, and has been an office worker in the past, currently employed with the Department of Public Aid in Du Quoin. From their marriage two children were born: Lori Ann (b. 3-22-1961) who in 1982 married Kevin G. Leehy (b. 10-4-1959) who resided in Elkhville, Il., and Michael William George (b. 2-1-1963) named after great-grandfather Michael A. Roznowski and grandfather Arthur William George, both of Du Quoin. Mike and Sarah Elizabeth Hestand (b. 10-9-61) were married in 1983, and have two children, Brittany Gail (b. 8-17-1983 in Pinckneyville) and Jami Aurelia (b. 1-6-1987 in Pinckneyville.)

The Georges are happy to be Du Quoin natives and feel Perry County has been a good place to raise a family. Friends, relatives and neighbors like those found in Du Quoin and the surrounding area are what make some of life's happy and cherished memories. One of the family's favorite pastimes is reading "Harking Back" from 100 years ago that began not too long ago in the local newspaper. Articles from life in 1886 forward really bring home the changes of the time - especially the problems residents experienced keeping loose animals out of the city park, along with the high cost of watering city streets to keep down dust!

GERRISH-SAMS

Mary E. Sams Hepp Gerrish (b. Dec. 4, 1948, in Du Quoin, Il.) the fourth child of Walter Dale Sams and Anna Lou (Nickolson) Sams of Pinckneyville. Grandparents were Jack Sams and Cora (Wilkerson) Sams of Pinckneyville, and I. B. Nickolson and Orma (Owens) Nickolson of E. St. Louis, Il.

He came to America with an older brother, John. He first settled on a farm in St. Clair Co. near Baldwin, Il. Later he and his wife moved to Perry Co. He purchased land from the government near Conant, Il. He paid five dollars an acre for his farm. The first home he built was a 20' x 40' constructed of log. The back logs were pulled to the house by horses. There was a large fireplace about ten feet long. He and his wife Christina raised five children. He was one of the founding fathers of St. Pauls United Church of Christ in Pinckneyville. He founded the Gerstenschlager Family Cemetery on one half acre of his farm in the early 1840's. Lots were not to be sold but given to family and friends. Through four generations this cemetery has been maintained by the family. The first burial there, being that of one of his farm hands, killed in a farming accident. He also gave the county permission to bury a 'John Doe' there, that was found dead in a road ditch.

After they died the family farm was handed down to son, Henry Gerstenschlager, born 1855 died 1934 and his wife Catherine (nee Anthes) 1859-1940. They tore down the old house and built a new house there in 1912. They raised nine children there. One son, Raymond, was struck and killed by lightning when he was only 19. In the spring of 1908 they lost three grandchildren to diphtheria.

Another son, Henry William Gerstenschlager, born 1889 died 1953 served in the army during World War I. While serving at Brownsville, Tx., he was arrested on suspicion of being a German spy. After being identified by his commanding officer, he was released. Thus, he was nicknamed "Heinie". While in service he met and married Estella Chloe Siegel (1892-1970). They were married in Hickory, N.C., Catawba, Co. in 1918. They returned to the farm at Conant. During the depression they moved back to North Carolina. At this time he found work as a carpenter. Later moving back, he worked at various jobs; carpentered for Kimmel Lumber Co. and was also a Merchant Policeman in Du Quoin. He moved back to the farm to help his parents. Estella and Henry had four children, Albert Raymond 1921-1965, William Henry 1922-1943, Harold Wesley 1929 and myself, Betty June 1933. I was born there and the last Gerstenschlager born in the old farm house. Later in 1935 or 1936 my grandmother, then a widow, sold the farm and went to live with a son in St. Louis.

We moved to Old Du Quoin then. I started school and my father worked at the Magestic Mine there.

May 23, 1970, Betty Gerstenschlager and M. Thomas Hasty were married in Joliet, Il. His parents were Lillian and Melvin Hasty of Joliet. Charles C. Glover, great-grandfather of Belle Glover Kuhnert (Mrs. Herman Otto Kuhnert) was born about 1799, place not known. The 1820 census of Randolph Co. shows him to be a male 21 years or more. Proof of death was made by John Lynch, who with E. W. Login served as administrators of the estate.

Richard Glover, son of Charles, was born in Randolph Co., Mar. 11, 1824; he was a volunteer in the Mexican War. He died Apr. 28, 1881, after a lengthy illness, and is buried in the Holts Prairie Baptist Church Cemetery, east of Pinckneyville.

Wash Glover was perhaps the first man who made shoes in Pinckneyville. One of our old pioneers in 1829 took a piece of leather to Wash to have a pair of shoes made. The first pair burned on the shoe last and ruined, after that he took another piece of leather, cut out another pair, then ran away. It is not known what relation he was to Carolyn Marie Bahre, daughter of Charles Edward and Otillia Keiner Bahre, and Russel Joseph Greer, son of James Elmer and Aurora Stanton Greer, were married Sept. 18, 1935, at St. Paul Evangelical Church in Pinckneyville, Il. Reverend Martin P. Schoedel officiated. Bridesmaid was Ruth Bahre, sister of the bride and groomsmen was Aaron Greer, brother of the groom.

They started housekeeping on a farm one-fourth mile East of the Cudgetown School, in a three-room house, newly built.

To this union were born five children (two girls and three boys); Dale Russel, Marion Bahre, Janet Ruth, Carolyn JoAnn and Charles Everett.

Russel and Carolyn both attended and graduated from Cudgetown School District #37.

Russel engaged in farming and in 1939 started working at United Electric Fidelity Coal Mine west of Du Quoin, Il. Their children attended Cudgetown School also.

As the mine was moving their stripping operations into the Cudgetown area, the farm where Russel and Carolyn lived was sold to the coal company. So they set about finding a new home. They looked at many places both in Perry and Jackson Co., finally deciding on a one hundred sixty acre tract a mile and one-half southeast of Swanwick, Il. In Mar. 1950 the deal was closed and they started building a new house. The basement was finished and frame work done and all under cover, but no inside work done by Christmas 1950.

On Jan. 13, 1951, Russel, the father and husband, was killed in a boiler explosion in the tippel of the mine.

Carolyn was left a widow, with five children ranging in age from six to fourteen years old.

Carolyn and the five children decided to finish the house and on Aug. 1, 1951 they moved into their new home near Swanwick.

Dale had attended Du Quoin High School his freshman year. After moving to Swanwick he and the rest of the brothers and sisters attended and graduated from the Pinckneyville Community High School.

The family started and built a dairy herd that finally grew to forty milking cows. They also kept about a hundred head of sows and fattening hogs and two hundred and fifty head of laying hens completed the farm operation - plus growing corn, beans and hay.

The five children took care of the farm while finishing grade school and high school with Carolyn, the mother, as a working manager.

When the youngest son Charles E. graduated from high school, he decided to enter the Army. The four older children were already married and gone from home.

In 1962 it was decided at a family meeting to sell the farm to Janet and her husband.

Carolyn, the mother, found employment, first at the Pinckneyville Community Hospital, and then at Lincoln, Il., working for the State of Illinois in food service at the mental health facility at Lincoln.

The Rick Greten family of Rt. 2, Pinckneyville, includes Rick, his wife Cynthia and their two daughters Alisha (6), and Lindsey (1).

Cynthia, formerly Cynthia Anderson of Pinckneyville and before that Tamaroa, has a family history, much of which is based in Perry Co. as is Rick's mother's side, the Krupps. Cynthia's mother and father are Richard and Vera (Chapman) Anderson of Pinckneyville. Vera's parents are Herman and Alfie Chapman of Houston, Tx.; formerly a farm couple from north of Tamaroa. Dick Anderson's parents were Kelly and Winnie (Rice) Anderson of Tamaroa. His grandparents on his mother's side were Charlie and Nellie (Thompson) Rice. Nellie was originally from Round Prairie as was Rick's grandparents.

Round Prairie is a name used years ago for a part of Perry Co. northeast of Pinckneyville about 7 miles, and slightly southeast of Todds Mill. It was mostly centered around a school which was attended by all the folks in the neighborhood for many years. It has now been replaced by a residential trailer after being closed in 1952.

Rick's parents are Herb and Loren (Krupp) Greten of Nashville. Lorene was raised in the house in which Rick and his family now live. Loren's father, Harry Krupp was also raised in that house. The farmstead was first settled by Jacob Krupp and his wife Amelia (Hanniburger) well over a hundred years ago. Jake came from Austria and lived with his wife and family in a large cabin on the spot where the woodshed now stands.

The house where Rick and his family live was built in 1916 by Fred Krupp, Rick's great-grandfather and was completely remodeled by Rick and Cynthia in 1979-80. The one picture included with this text shows Fred Krupp, (sitting), his wife Sophronia (Cross), his sons Harry (left), Ralph (center), and Jessie (right-standing). This photo was taken in about 1918. The other picture shows Rick, Cynthia, Alisha and Lindsey in front of the same house as it looks today.

The Greten's thoroughly enjoy living on the farm and feel secure living in a home framed with red oak from the woods east of the farm. They hope they may keep the memory of Round Prairie alive through this brief story. — Submitted by R. J. Greten

HAMILTON-RUSSELL

The youngest of nine children of E. E. and Edna Hamilton, born June 8, 1900, Dwight Lyman Hamilton came into the world with the new century. Being the youngest in a large family, he declared later, he never saw his mother until her hair was snow-white. Dwight grew up on the family farm south of Pinckneyville. He attended the Brick School for eight years and then joined his father and brothers on the family farm. He grew up in the Galum Presbyterian Church which he attended most of his life.

When Dwight was a young man in his teens, his father gave him a ten-acre plot on which to grow a crop of his own. The profit from ten acres of wheat he grew on that field enabled him to buy a trombone, which he learned to play on his own. After a time he was able to join the town band, and he played trombone in this band for concerts and marching events for several years. The bandstand was on the north-east corner of the courthouse lawn, and the band gave concerts nearly every Saturday night through the spring and summer months.

Dwight's sister, Clara, was in school at SINU in Carbondale, and she met a girl from Jackson Co. who she introduced to her little brother. The two became an item. Dwight and Lura Myrtle Russell, 12-11-99, daughter of John and Minnie Russell, were married in Nashville, Il., on June 7, 1924. Dwight, at that time was employed by the Pinckneyville Milling Company, but shortly after their marriage, the mill closed, and he went to work as a farm-hand for Edward Hincke.

On Oct. 25, 1927, their son, Glen was born. Dwight continued to work for Mr. Hincke until he started to farm 80 acres, owned by Pringle Anderson, with a team of horses and few tools. The 1930's drought and depression stopped the farming effort, and the family moved into Pinckneyville. Dwight worked several jobs in the mid to late thirties until he bought a truck and started custom-hauling for local farmers and stock dealers. For several years, one of his best customers was a mule buyer out of Belleville. He would go to several farms, loading the stubborn critters until he had a load . . . he being able to handle the mules better than most.

In 1943, Dwight started driving a school bus for Pinckneyville High School, and for 25 accident-free years he continued to drive that bus while, between bus runs and during the summer months he did general carpenter work in the area.

Lura Hamilton had been a school teacher before marrying Dwight, and during World War II, she returned to teaching for a time at the Lower Arm School east of Pinckneyville.

Dwight Hamilton died on Apr. 11, 1969, while he was transplanting a tree to the grounds of the First Presbyterian Church, where he was an Elder. Lura Hamilton followed him in death on Dec. 8, 1975.

HAMILTON-TEMPLETON

Dr. J. Scott Templeton paid a visit to the small home just south of Pinckneyville where Dwight and Lura Hamilton lived. The occasion was the imminent birth of a son, Glen. The date, Oct. 25, 1927, marked the date-of-birth of Dwight and Lura's only child, and the year marked the laying of the concrete on Illinois Route 13, making the highway and the son contemporaries.

Glen grew to high school age in the area south of Pinckneyville. He attended school, first in the old Brick School District for 3½ years, then to Pinckneyville District 50 to finish elementary school days. He graduated from Pinckneyville High School in 1945, where he finished 8th in the 1945 class in academic rank and also lettered in football and track. He attended Southern Illinois U., lettering in football, track, and cross-country, and graduated with a BS in Education in June of 1949. He returned to SIU for advanced degree work and received an MS in Education in June 1956. The following year, Glen joined the faculty at Pinckneyville High School. At PCHS he taught industrial arts classes, concentrating in the areas of drafting and electricity/electronics. Later he started a photography program and continues to teach in this area. He was head football coach from 1951 through 1958 and assisted in basketball, track, and football for over 20 years. Marjorie, after her marriage, has been both a mother raising a family, and a secretary. She worked for several years with the Home Advisor and later at Pinckneyville, District 50, where she also worked as a teacher's aide. She is active in the affairs of the First United Presbyterian Church where she holds the office of Deacon. She is a happy grandmother, who enjoys the visits of her four grandchildren.

ANTHONY STEWART HAMILTON

During the 1840's, Anthony Stewart Hamilton, born Apr. 13, 1823 in Kentucky, moved to Perry Co., along with his cousin, Woods S. Hamilton and family. As a youth and young man, Anthony Stewart lived with his cousin . . . his name and the names of the Woods S. Hamilton family appear on the Perry Co. Census of 1850. They settled in the area south of Pinckneyville in what is now mined-over land of the Pyramid Coal Company.

In 1856, Anthony Stewart Hamilton married Jane Brown Kimzey, widow of Robinson Kimsey who had been killed in a timber accident two years earlier. From this marriage three children were born: John Smith Hamilton, Ephriam Elijah Hamilton and Louella Hamilton. Anthony Stewart worked as a farmer and carpenter. He died on Aug. 10, 1874.

EPHRIAM ELIJAH HAMILTON

Ephriam Elijah Hamilton was the second son of Anthony Stewart and Jane Hamilton. He grew up on the family farm south of Pinckneyville and learned and practiced the trade of carpentry from his father. He also worked on the family farm.

E. E. Hamilton married Edna Hughey on Oct. 16, 1879, and they were the parents of nine children: Alva, who died as a young man; Jennie, who died as an infant; Glenn, who died as a child; Jessie, Elmer, Ethyl, Louis, Clara, and Dwight. Ephriam Elijah, helped by his sons, farmed 80 acres south of Pinckneyville and also worked as a carpenter. At least one of his descendants still has some of his carpentry tools.

The Hamilton farm was located about three miles south of Pinckneyville, following the road which parallels the Illinois Central tracks toward Murphysboro. Those who know the site can still find the old well on the property. In the late 1920's the Hamilton family sold their land to the Pyramid Coal Company. The south forty acres was the second farm mined out by Pyramid when it first started its operation.

Ephriam Elijah was born Sept. 19, 1856 and died Mar. 24, 1935. His wife, Edna (Hughey) Hamilton was born on Jan. 8, 1859 and died Mar. 4, 1944.

He grew up roaming the woods, lakes, and streams of Perry Co., and he still retains his love of the out-of-doors and the hunting and fishing skills he learned as a boy.

Scott progressed through the Pinckneyville school system, graduating from Pinckneyville High School in 1973. He was active both in athletics and music. He won several awards as a trombonist, participated in the high school musical stage productions, and competed in football and track. He is the second son and third child of Glen and Marjorie Hamilton. "Dike", as he is known among his friends and relatives, was eight years younger than his brother, and consequently, gained an adventurous turn which surfaced in his spending a considerable amount of time in the out-of-doors. Dike learned to fish and hunt at an early age, catching his first three-pound bass at the age of five and going on from there to become one of the better local bass fishermen.

Dwight graduated from Pinckneyville Community High School in 1979. He participated in both music and athletics during his high school days. He played football all four years, starting as a defensive end and tackle his senior year when the team had a 7-2 win-loss record. LEWIS HAMMACK

Lewis Hammack was born 16 Nov. 1825, Warren Co., Tn. died 10 June 1941. He married 7 Apr. 1851 Cordelia Edwards, born 1833, Shawneetown, died 14 May 1872, leaving three children, Elizabeth Jane, William and Charles Lewis. Cordelia was the daughter of Calvin Edwards.

Lewis was two years old when the family came north to Illinois. He grew up on the farm, and like most farm boys in that time period, received a limited education in the subscription schools. He remained at home until June 1846, at which time he volunteered for service in the Mexican War. After his enlistment expired he returned home and went to school 15 days - then taught school in Pinckneyville. In 1848 he was solicited to run for Circuit Clerk. He consented and was elected, serving one full term. In 1852 he was a candidate for the same office on the Prohibition ticket and was defeated. Dr. Jones, a close personal friend encouraged him to study law, and without his knowledge, procured his license to practice law; the date of which was 7 Feb. 1853. He studied diligently and acquired a thorough knowledge of the law. He had a few cases in the first court term held after his admission to the bar, and at every subsequent term they increased and he was soon in the possession of a large docket. His specialties were of the chancery side of the law and real estate.

In 1861 he was a candidate for Circuit Judge and also in 1863, but lost both times. He was defeated the last time by only twenty-seven votes, by Judge Mulky who later became a Supreme Court Judge.

Like all other frontier settlers, they built their sod shanty and lived for the necessary time to acquire a title to their claim. They remained in Kansas, from 1886 until 1897 when they returned to Illinois. They left Kansas because of William's health. When they came back to Illinois they purchased 80 acres of land in Section 23, Twp. 5, Range 3 West, built a log house and moved their small family in. At that time they had three children. After the birth of their fourth child, George; they bought 40 acres adjoining the eighty they then owned, and built the house where they were to live until it burned in 1939.

Following the purchasing of the adjoining 40 acres, William stocked the farm with Berkshire hogs and accumulated a large herd, but hog cholera came to the County. Although every effort was made to protect the herd, when a man came to see about buying some pigs for replacing the ones he had lost, and spread the disease to William's herd. They lost all but one sow and that ended the breeding of hogs and was a great loss to the family. William then turned his talents to the breeding of Jersey cattle and was very successful in that endeavor. In 1920, of the possible state records (27) the Hammack Herd held 9 of them. William re-

HAMPLEMAN-REA

The history of the Perry Co. Hamplemans is traced to Hessie Castle, Germany, 1732, when George Hampleman was born. George was born the son of "Lord" Hampleman. He was not permitted to marry Margarette Duffy because she was a peasant. They journeyed to America by arranging with a company for transportation who would in turn sell them to parties who would pay their fare. After landing in Richmond, Va. in 1752 George was sold to a tobacco planter and Margarette to a cotton planter. The time of their servitude was 4 years.

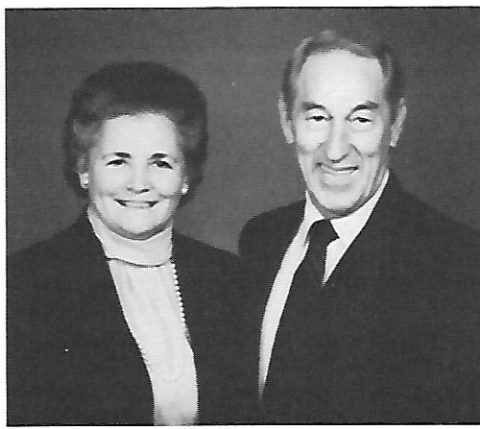

They returned to Richmond, Va., where they were united in marriage at the Little Old St. John's Episcopal Church in 1756. This is the church where Patrick Henry would say "give me liberty or give me death", in his famous speech before the Revolutionary War.

George was a weaver by trade and lived near Phil., Pa., and fought with the Colonial Army, being present during that memorable winter at Valley Forge. He eventually settled in Clark County, Oh. in 1808. He lived with his son George II and engaged in farming and livestock business until his death in 1842 at the age of 110 years, 5 mos. and 29 days.

The livestock business brought his grandson, Henry Foster Hampleman to Perry Co. The Hamplemans bought cattle in the "west" and herded them back to Ohio, allowing them to graze and fatten on the lush prairie grass on their trek back to Ohio. Henry F. appreciated the prairies of Illinois so much that he bought land and settled 5 miles s.e. of Tamaroa near the present Hitt road, in 1840.

He met Minerva Ann Hull, at the Nine Mile Baptist Church and she became his wife Sept. 25, 1842. In 1853 a total of 30 members including Henry F. and Minerva Ann organized what is known as the Paradise Baptist Church, Henry F. and Minerva Ann were charter members, and he faithfully served as deacon until his death in 1876.

Henry F., a faithful democrat, served Perry Co. as Judge 1861-1965. Nine years later and two years before his death he would have a grandson born, Arthur Arsdale Hampleman, who would serve Perry Co. as Commissioner 1926-1935.

Arthur Arsdale Hampleman married Idra Belle Hitt May 29, 1899. To this union were born five children, Glenn now deceased, Russell, Carl, Irene now deceased and Claude.

JOSIAH E. HARRISS

Josiah was born May 5, 1833 in Paradise Prairie, Perry Co., Il., and he died in 1897. His father was John Garrett Harriss (1812-1893) and his mother, Cynthia Wells (1813-1877). Josiah's grandfathers, Johnson Harriss (1769-1869) and Elijah Wells (1784-1868) were among the founders of Primitive Baptist Church in Paradise Prairie. Josiah became church moderator and was called Elder Josiah Harriss. Meetings were held one Sunday a month. On open Sundays, Josiah became a circuit rider, holding services in adjoining counties to the East. He would sometimes have to start out on Saturday morning, ride horseback through rain and mud all day to reach his destination. After Sunday services, he'd ride all afternoon and part of the night arriving home early Monday morning. For this, his pay was often 25 cents, or a jar of honey, or some other foodstuff.

William Jennings Bryant of Salem, Il. was a friend of the Harriss family. If his visit coincided with the church meeting, he would be guest speaker at the services. The music in the Primitive Baptist Church was singing only — no musical instruments! All of the seven Harriss daughters loved to sing and Olivia was especially loud. Their two brothers, Will and Jeff, claimed they could not do their school homework because of the singing.

On Dec. 20, 1852, Josiah was married to Elizabeth Caroline Jones (1835-1907) the youngest daughter of William (1799-1835) and Nancy Jones. Elizabeth's paternal grandparents were Matthew Jones (1774-1855) and Rachel (Gallegly) Jones (1779-1865). Matthew and his very large family moved to Perry Co. from Bedford Co., Tn. about 1828.

Josiah and his wife raised the following children: Julia A. (1853-1940) married Eli Webb; Sarah Melita (1855-1937) married Stephen Washington Johnson; Mary Frances (1857-1878) married Elijah T. Webb; John William (1860-1943) married first, Lina Taylor, and second Patsey Boatwright, and third, Lucy Hammond; Nancy Jane (1862-1942) married James F. Manis; Jefferson Monroe (1864-1934) married Rebecca Stewart; Louisa (1866-?) married James W. Dunn; Olivia L. (1869-1968) married Francis M. Hitt; Edna L. (1874-1896) married Charles E. Hitt.

Josiah made his living as a farmer. His home was about ¼ mile east of the church, and one of his fields was on the north side of the church yard. One Sunday morning he was plowing this field when it was time for services; he tied the horses to the fence, preached his sermon, then returned to his plowing. A Harriss Reunion has been held each summer until 1980 — attended by the descendants of Josiah and Elizabeth Caroline — many of whom still live in Perry Co. —

ELIZABETH HAGSTON HARTLEY

Andrew Hartley and Elizabeth Hagston were married in the Rothwell Weslega Church, where she was a teacher, in Stanley Lane End, Nr. Wakefield, Yorkshire, England. They were the parents of 15 children, raising only nine. Andrew was killed in the mine. Elizabeth came to America Oct. 7, 1905 with her four youngest children: Joseph,

Elizabeth Hagston Hartley

Annie, Anis and Fred. They settled in Eagletown, just north of St. Johns. Her brother came with her. Joseph (Joe) left his wife, Frances Wood Hartley, and two daughters, Jessie Wood and Linda Mae, in England to come later. (see Joseph Hartley)

Annie married James Waller of Du Quoin. They moved to Benton, where Ila Waller Hering was born. James was killed in a mine yard accident in Benton. Later she and her sister, Anis, married brothers, John and ? Bond. They all moved to California.

Fred married Ruth Baxter of St. Johns. They had three children: Eugene, Lucille Preston and Ruth Hickem. Fred passed away in Oct. 1952. Ruth is still living on Park Street. She celebrated her 90th birthday at the Methodist Church last year. — Submitted by Gladys Porter

HARTLEY-WOOD

Joseph Hartley came to America, from England, in 1905 with his mother, Elizabeth, leaving his wife and two daughters, Jessie Wood and Linda Mae, to come later. In a few years his wife, Frances Wood Hartley, with the two daughters came to America. Two children, Andrew and Gladys, were born in Du Quoin.

Jessie married Leonard Rice from Sunfield and have two boys, Joe Dale and James Harry, all living in Du Quoin.

Linda married George Campbell. Their three children are: Hershel, Wilma June Lowe and Richard.

Andrew was sent to Coyne Electric in Chicago. He married Ida Meredith. Their two daughters are: Frances Young and Patricia Aeds, living in Carbondale. Andrew had to go West for his health.

Gladys married Howard Porter. Their two children are: Melbourne Lee and Carolyn Jane Wilson.

Joseph (Joe) attended night school and received his "Naturalization" papers in Du Quoin City Court on Jul. 14, 1914.

Joe worked at the Majestic Mine and was secretary of the Local for 12 years.

He rode the coaches to and from the mine. He always left something in his lunch bucket for Gladys to eat.

Joe was a board member of the U.M.W.A., with an office in Du Quoin along with R.T. McAlister and Beaves Sanders. Sometimes he had to go to St. Louis or Chicago to arbitrate some cases and grievances for the miners. If he had to catch an early train, he wouldn't leave the house until he heard the train whistle. When the train stopped in Centralia for a while, he would eat breakfast in a restaurant where his aunt, also from England, worked.

His wife, Frances, attended the Adventist Church south of Du Quoin and drove a horse and buggy. At the age of 36, she passed away during the "Flu Epidemic" of 1918. Later their father took them to the Methodist Church in Du Quoin.

The Hartley homeplace was 317 East Olive, a short street going to the Ice Plant, where they bought drinking water in 5 gallon jugs. Gladys remembers playing under the street light. She also remembers going over to "Naumers" for butter, sausage and other dairy products on Saturdays.

Joe was always planning and taking the children places. Once five car loads traveled to St. Louis to go to the zoo. He was always taking them to the woods. He would buy a packer of ice cream and a case of soda. When the 4th of July came he would buy a tub full of fireworks and everyone came to watch. One day, Gladys asked him if he would like to go back to England to see his brothers and sisters. He answered only to say "Hi and Goodbye". He never missed England. Andrew and Gladys had a popcorn stand in the window next door to Knauers Drug Store. On Mar. 18, 1925, as Gladys was walking to open up she heard people talking about a tornado that had struck DeSoto. Myrtle, her stepmother's folks lived there. Myrtle's mother and brother were killed and the farm swept away. Trees had to be cut away so that they could be buried.

Joseph (Joe) died in Oct. 1941.

In 1970 Jessie and Gladys spent a month in England visiting relatives, staying three days in London. — Submitted by Gladys Hartley Porter

C. HARTSOCK

The farm has been in operation since the early 1850's. First by Edwin Burbank who came from Boston Massachusetts and settled a homestead. Edwin's daughter married Charles Hartsock, one of a family of nine who migrated from Pennsylvania in the early 1850's.

The family started west during the Gold Rush of '49 and one by one dropped off along the way to settle down. Charles Hartsock's father was Peter, who had five sons, one being Charles. Charles married Eva Burbank and moved to the present site after Eva's father's death around 1900. They moved with five children, Fred, Emma, Ada, Tillie, and Edwin (1895).

The family struggled as did all families about that time. Edwin Hartsock served in the American Expeditionary Forces and was discharged and came back to the farm. The farm was small and not being able to sustain a family, one of Charles and Eva's girls hired out to families in Du Quoin, working for 50¢ a week. She brought home the money and gave it to her father to feed the livestock. Edwin went to Security Mines to have employment. Edwin married Mabel Clair (Pittman) on Mar. 3, 1920 and they moved to the present farm site. After ten years of mining, he decided it was not what he wanted to do. Edwin always liked livestock, so he bought two Holstein cows from Arthur Mann who was a local dairyman with excellent cattle. Starting out with quality livestock, Edwin started a milk delivery route in Du Quoin. One by one he added animals and the delivery route expanded. At that time there were several farmers who bottled and delivered milk, and there was intense competition between them. Improvements were slow and many hours of labor were required with dairy animals. The days were long and the work was hard. He and Mable got out of bed at 4AM and worked until dark every day.

Edwin and Mabel had two children Charles and Ara Jean. In 1946 Ara Jean married Harold Rice who moved on the farm.

Harold assisted with the management until the death of Edwin Hartsock, in Mar. 1955. After 1955 Harold Rice and Charles Hartsock operated the Farm and the name H&R was born. At present Harold and his two sons, Rudy and Charles are operating the farm. It has grown to the present size of around 600 acres and many improvements have been made. At the present time there is a herd of 300 Holstein cattle. Many good things have happened at H&R and the progress made can be contributed to hard work and black and white cattle.

Although at the present time the future of farming is uncertain, the land has sustained the family for over 100 years.

CHARLES H. HATFIELD

The following is an edited version of an autobiography by Charles, written by him just for his family in the latter part of his life. He passed away June 22, 1942.

The flood which covered Cairo, Il. in 1857 must have been like "the time of Noah". My parents, David DeCamp Hatfield and Jane Markham Hatfield, with their three children, Laura, Mentor and Clarence, escaped the churning waters through a second story window.

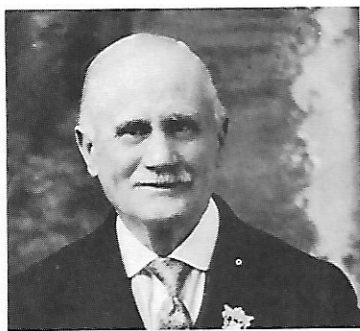

Many families had already fled the area with quite a number going north to Carbondale, Il. Father felt impressed to leave the area also. Going to the Illinois Central Railroad, he asked for tickets for the furthest point with what money he could give the agent. The amount carried his family to Du Quoin, Il.

On Oct. 19, 1858, I, Charles Howard Hatfield, was born in their first Du Quoin home on Division Street. My brother, Schuyler, was born in 1866.

I was a regular attender of school. My first teacher was Mrs. G. Y. McClure. My grades were good at all times. In 1877 I was accredited the honor of graduation by the principal, John B. Ward, having completed the courses assigned.

During young manhood, I worked a while with my father and brother at the carpenter trade. Later, I accepted a clerkship in the general merchandise store of Nettleton Bros.

After two years of wooing, I won the hand of Martha Burnett "Nettie" Cundiff from Ashley, Il. We were wed by Rev. John Powell of the First Baptist Church of Du Quoin May 15, 1883.

Charles Howard Hatfield

We were blessed with seven beautiful children, all born in Du Quoin: Robert, Maude, Laura, Hazel Lela, Nell and David.

After a short illness we lost our little Hazel when she was in her second year.

Nothing that loving hands and tender care could do was able to keep our wife and mother with us long. She passed away after surgery on Thanksgiving Day, 1910.

It was soon evident that our home without a mother was indeed a serious and perplexing situation. Having lived twenty-seven happy years together, I felt no disrespect to "Nettie's" blessed memory to seek another to be our companion. After several months of courtship, Margaret Winters accepted me as her husband. We were wed on June 2, 1912.

David volunteered for duty in World War I. Before his return in 1919, we had lost another of our flock. Lela passed away during the flu epidemic.

I have served my Lord at the First Baptist Church since I was baptised in 1881 and have been affiliated with the Hope Lodge of the I.O.O.F. for over 50 years, joining them in 1880.

My office skills gave me good employment during my working years having worked for P.D. Mifflin & Son, Jupiter Coal and Mining Co. and lastly, in the offices of the Majestic Mine.

Now, having been permitted to see all my living children married, with children of their own, and having had the pleasure of their companionship, what more of life could man ask!

ORADELLE MALAN HAVEY

Oradelle, oldest daughter of Edward and Lillian Pyatt Malan attended Pinckneyville High School, graduating at age sixteen as salutatorian of her class. She had been an avid reader since age seven with an excellent memory.

From the age of ten she was her father's helper wherever he needed her. At age fifteen he taught her to drive the Model T Ford, so he could send her on errands and eventually to do the daily banking.

She attended Park College at Kansas City, graduating at age twenty with a degree in Social Studies, English, and Education. Despite the Depression, she had three attractive job offers. She accepted the one at Pine Mountain Settlement School in the Cumberland Mountains of Kentucky. It turned out to be the most exciting and challenging of her five jobs during an eighteen year professional career.

After Pine Mountain, back in Saint Louis she did family case work, investigative case work, then several years of teaching second grade (not her favorite occupation) and finally back to social work at the Saint Louis Y.W.C.A. for eight years.

In 1942 she met Joyce L. Dale, a man already in uniform, and became engaged to him in February, 1943. The following month he left on a troop train bound for N. Africa.

During the war years working at the Y., she dealt with short term cases — unwed mothers, runaways, stranded service wives, drug addicts, and camp followers. She also served as chaperone at the U.S.O. dances in the ballroom.

She occasionally had time for speaking engagements on Pine Mountain Settlement School. It was at one of these, Saint Louis University, that she met her future husband, Simon J. Havey who was finishing his education there.

After they were married, Oradelle continued to work at the Y. until Susan Jeanette was born, then going back half-time when Susan was ten months old. Simon got a position as a school principal in Belleville, Ill., and they moved into a large house, converting the upper floor into an apartment.

At sixteen months Susan, a beautiful, alert, normal child became ill from a measles shot. Oradelle quit her job and stayed at home to care for her — the beginning of a thirty-one year period.

Oradelle tried to live as normally as possible, joining clubs, making friends, and developing two latent hobbies — horticulture and drawing house plans. She designed and replanted her yard and after twenty years of drawing house plans for others, designed the brick Williamsburg house in which she lives. The house lends itself beautifully to Oradelle's antique furniture, most of which she refinished herself — another hobby that has spanned almost fifty years.

Simon retired in 1971 because of health and died in April 1981. Susan is now in Murray Center at Centralia, Ill. and Oradelle is handling business, traveling, reading, socializing, and still learning. — Submitted by Oradelle Malan Havey

DONALD and RUBY HAYES

Donald (Don) Hayes was born in Du Quoin Mar. 19, 1912, to William Richard and Ethel Jeffers Hayes. He attended and graduated from the Du Quoin schools. His father was one of the Grand Theater owners and a pretty young girl, Ruby Alberta Wright, who sold tickets, caught his attention. On the pretext of walking his two little dogs he would stroll to the theater and court the young lady, whom he later married.

Ruby was also born in Du Quoin on Oct. 29, 1914, the daughter of Burt and Ellen Wright. A few years after Don and Ruby married, they made their home in one of the two mansions at the Du Quoin fairgrounds.

Eugene (Gene) Hayes and his family occupied the other fairgrounds mansion. Eugene Jeffers married Leah Essick, daughter of Augustus W. Essick, who was editor of the Du Quoin Evening Call. They had two children, Jane and W. R. Hayes II. Jane and Dr. Robert Rader of Cobden have two sons, Jeff and Bill. W. R. and Carolyn Hayes of Aspen, Co., have four daughters, Barbara, Julieah, Carolyn and Kristin.

Don and Ruby Hayes were the parents of two children, Don William, born in 1942 and Carole Jean, born in 1947. Don William and Jean Hayes have two children, Donna, born in 1969 and Don, born in 1970. Carole married Norman Hill. (See Norman and Carole Hayes Hill.)

Both Don and Ruby had an interest in saddle bred horses, which they frequently showed. Gene and father William were interested mainly in the standard bred horses. It had been a dream of William R. Hayes to acquire the classic of all harness races, The Hambletonian, for the Du Quoin State Fair. Through the efforts of his two sons, this dream was finally realized in 1957, five years after the death of W. R. Hayes.

After Gene's death in Mar. 1964, Don became president of the Du Quoin Coca-Cola Bottling Company.

Don and Ruby died tragically on June 24, 1967,

W. R. and ETHEL HAYES

In 1865, two brothers, Tom and Ted Hayes, left England with Pennsylvania as their destination. They brought with them a knowledge of the bottling of carbonated beverages. After a few years they came to Du Quoin and started a soda water bottling business. Their first plant was located on S. Hickory Street. Ted left Du Quoin and Tom then took over the business. Tom Hayes married Mary Henke in 1873 and they had three children, Catherine, William Richard and Laura. Will was born in 1877. The family moved to the corner of Reed and Chestnut, where he converted half of a stable behind the house into a bottling plant. Since the business was small, Tom also worked in a coal mine near DuBois. While timbering a shaft, Tom was killed. Mary was left with the burden of supporting herself and three children. She kept the business going with the help of a brother William Henke, who had a grovery store in town. He would deliver the soda in his grocery wagon.

When Will Hayes was eleven years old, he decided he could help out by delivering soda water after school and on Saturdays. They had a two-wheeled cart made which held five cases and for the next four years the boy pushed the cart up and down Main and Division Streets, selling and delivering "pop."

By the time Will was fifteen years old, his mother had saved enough to buy a horse and wagon and to expand the plant with a brick two-story addition to the stable bottling room.

After Will graduated from high school in 1895, he turned all of his energy to building the business. In 1904, Mrs. Hayes turned the business over to Will and moved with her two daughters to California. Will moved into the St. Nicholas Hotel. In that same year he started making Perfection Ice Cream in the old ice plant building. By 1906, a new plant was built on Olive Street in connection with the ice cream and ice plant.

In 1907, Will married Ethel Jeffers. They were parents of Eugene Jeffers Hayes and Donald Maxwell Hayes.

The biggest step in the entire history of the company was taken in 1913, as this was the year the Coca-Cola bottling franchise was secured. In the ensuing years, Will bought plant after plant.

The Midwest Dairy Products Corporation was organized in 1926 and ice cream plants and milk plants were built or acquired in Missouri, Arkansas, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana and Illinois. Midwest had a total of forty-four branches when it sold in 1947. The Bottling Works became the Du Quoin Coca-Cola Bottling Company, the 6 bottle carton evolved, ice coolers changed into electric coolers, and new products were introduced as the plant progressed.

Will had interests other than the bottling business. In 1906, the Majestic Opera House was opened. Some of the finest productions of the legitimate stage were brought to this theater. Soon after the advent of the 'flickers', as movies were called then, the firm of Reid, Yemm, and Hayes was formed, eventually to include nineteen movie houses. These later sold to Fox Midwest Theater.

In 1923, Will Hayes and several other local businessmen, formed the first Du Quoin Fair Board, bought thirty acres, built a small grandstand and held the first Du Quoin State Fair. In 1929, the first night stage attraction ever offered at a fair was presented from the Du Quoin State Fair stage. The present grandstand and mile track were built in 1945 and 1946.

On Oct. 11, 1949, the formal opening was held for the new bottling plant, a truly unique building, which today is no longer used for bottling, only for storage. Over 7,000 visitors toured the plant in the two days of its opening. It was acclaimed as among the finest plants in the world.

William Hayes died Sept. 10, 1952. His son, Gene, became the president, and son, Don, became the vice-president. Gene died in Mar., 1964, and Don succeeded as president. Tragedy struck on June 24, 1967, when Don and his wife, Ruby, were killed in a private airplane accident. Gene's son, William R. Hayes II, became President and Don's son, Don W., became the vice-president.

Within a few years the plant was sold to a new owner. A few years later surviving members of the Hayes family sold the Du Quoin Fairgrounds.

HERBERT DANIEL HEATH

Son of Pleasant Anderson Heath (1865-1932) and Sadie Annie (Jackson) Heath (1878-1950), Herbert Daniel Heath was born in Mound City, Il., Aug. 23rd, 1903. He was the oldest of 7 children; brothers, Earnest, Walter, Carl, Gilbert, and sisters, Rose and Mildred. His paternal grandparents were James Solomon Heath (1836-1915) and Mary (Childers) Heath, and they lived near Woodberry in Warren County, Ky., in the fork of Green and Warren Rivers. James worked as a tool-maker in the Navy Shipyard at Mound City until joining the Union Army. At the end of the war, he returned to work there until retirement. Mound City was also the site of a large three story brick building that originally housed the Marine Hospital, where thousands of wounded soldiers from both the North and South were brought by hospital ships up the Mississippi and Ohio rivers for treatment. Nearly 3 thousand of them are buried under crosses marked "Unknown" in the National Cemetery, just West of town; the largest cemetery of this kind in the state. As a small boy, Herbert often played in the old hospital building with the children of the caretaker family who lived there. It was vacant at the time, after housing a large unsuccessful furniture factory.

His maternal grandmother, Victoria Anna (Henry) Jackson was born in West Virginia, and had brothers, Jim, Dave, Howard, Sam, Will, Charles, and a sister Susie. She later married Thomas Gorman, from England, who worked in the coal mines at Tamaroa and DuBois, Il. Later she married William Plumlee, a night policeman in Du Quoin, a widower with 2 small children about the same age as her daughter, Sadie. Their names were, William (Billie) and Birdie. Birdie married Raleigh Burkett of Christopher, Il. And Billie grew up to become a popular and well known showman, and comedian.

Pleasant Anderson Heath, married Sadie Jackson at Anna, Il., 2-18-02, and they moved to Mound City, Il., in the fall. He was a timber contractor most of his life. At one time, he was sent to Chicago by a wealthy employer to purchase an automobile as soon as they were first available. Thinking that he should have some driving experience, he had it shipped by rail about half way home to Decatur, Il. At that time there were no road maps, or marked highways, and very few bridges. He had to open and close rail fences, and ford creeks along the way, but required help only once, and that was in Du Quoin, where a team of mules had to pull the car through the Main Street, where the coal wagons had cut deep ruts in the mud.

Herbert D. Heath

The Heath family moved to Kennett, Mo., in 1915. And when the grandmother visited them in 1920, Herbert returned home with her to Du Quoin, where he did electrical contracting until employed by Southern Illinois Light & Power Company, (now Illinois Power) and sent to Percy, Il., where the first 24-hour electric service was being installed in Percy, Cutler, Steeleville, Willisville, Ava, and Campbell Hill. On Apr. 20th, 1924, he married Nellie Irene Clotfelter (1902-1984) from Hillsboro, Il. There were no children. In 1934, he was transferred as manager, from Percy to Chester as district manager. Then, June 1st, 1941, he was transferred to Du Quoin as district manager. He was retired 9-1-68, after working out of the Sparta headquarters as the assistant to the service area manager for his last 3 years. He has been a member of Rotary International since August, 1934, and once had a perfect weekly attendance record of 35 years. On Dec. 23rd, 1986 he was presented with the prestigious Paul Harris (founder of Rotary) Award, which is the highest single award bestowed by Rotary International. He is also a past president of the Chester and Du Quoin clubs.

HEISNER-FELTMEYER

Leonard H. Heisner was the oldest child of William V. and Leona Mae (Uhles) Heisner. Leonard was born Nov. 11, 1895. He attended Round Prairie, Cross Baird, and Walkenhorst Schools.

About 1915 Leonard picked corn in Iowa to earn ninety dollars, to purchase a new top buggy with hard rubber tires to court his future wife. Leonard was short (5 ft. 5 in.) and Iowa corn was very tall then. Leonard had difficulty reaching the ears. He fastened a board across the front of the wagon extending out the left side. The board would push the two rows of stalks over so that he would be able to reach the ears without stretching.

In 1916, while living with his parents on a farm in Four Mile Prairie, he went to work as a fireman on the Illinois Central Railroad (East St. Louis Division). Four years later he was promoted to engineer and worked until 1952, when a series of heart attacks forced his retirement.

On Oct. 24, 1917, he was married to Mary Katherine Feltmeyer in the Evangelical Church in Pinckneyville by Reverend Ed Brink. Mary was born Aug. 2, 1897, the fourth child of Charley Joseph and Sophia (Schmalriede) Feltmeyer. Mary attended White Walnut School located on the edge of her father's farm.

On Apr. 27, 1918, Leonard entered the military service and in twenty-eight days was sent to England and on to France. On Nov. 3, 1918 their first child, William Charles, was born at Charley and Sophia Feltmeyer's farm in White Walnut. On Nov. 11, on Leonard's birthday, the Armistice was signed ending World War I. On May 22, 1919, he was returned to the United States and discharged immediately. Leonard returned to his job on the railroad. He and Mary moved to East St. Louis where three more children were born: Norma Eileen Welch (July 23, 1920 - Dec. 12, 1941), Mildred Irene Davis (Mar. 26, 1922), Leonard Junior (Mar. 17, 1925).

Leonard and Mary with their family would drive to Pinckneyville from East St. Louis to visit their parents in their Model "T" tudor sedan. The trip would take most of a day because roads were all dirt except through the towns, where they were paved with bricks. In May, 1925, they moved to Pinckneyville where two more children were born: Marie Elizabeth Stanton (July 16, 1926 - July 4, 1980) and Betty Ann Simms (Oct. 30, 1928 - May 23, 1980).

In Oct., 1931, Leonard and Mary purchased and moved their family to the John T. Matson farm in White Walnut District. On Mar. 24, 1935, another son, Nelvin Webster, was born. They also raised another son as their own. He is Eldon Merle Bigham (July 8, 1942), the youngest of the eight children of William Leslie and Ernestine (Heisner) Bigham. Ernestine, Leonard's only sister, died Nov. 11, 1942, when Eldon was four months old.

At the start of World War II they moved back into Pinckneyville because the oldest son, William, who was operating the farm, was drafted into the military service where he served in the Army Air Corps. The second son, Leonard Junior, was attending Pinckneyville High School and enlisted in the Marine Corps upon graduation.

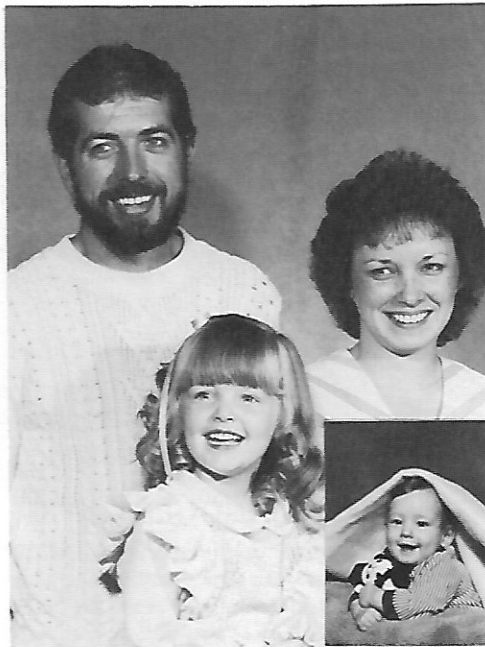

Leonard and Mary were members and raised their family in the Evangelical Church. Leonard served on the Consistory of the church, and the White Walnut School Board. He was a charter member of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post #3959, with two sons also members.

Leonard and Mary have two sons and one grandson holding or having held County office in Perry Co. William C. was elected to three terms as County Treasurer and served from 1970 until retirement in 1981. Leonard J. is serving his second term as County Commissioner. Robert Erhardt Heisner, youngest child of Leonard J. and Marilyn Sue (Place) Heisner, is serving his first term as Circuit Clerk.

Leonard H. Heisner died Oct. 13, 1970 and Mary K. Heisner died Mar. 5, 1984. They are buried in Mueller Hill Cemetery. — Submitted By Wm. C. Heisner

ORVAL GLENN HELVEY

"Go out past the honey stand . . ." was a common phrase used for many years by Pinckneyville people when giving directions. "When you pass the honey stand, you're almost there" was a phrase used by travelers coming to Pinckneyville. The man behind this landmark was O. Glenn Helvey.

Orval Glenn Helvey was born Dec. 19, 1902, the second son of Cyrus and Elizabeth Sanders Helvey. He was raised in one of the poorest sections of the United States, Hadley, Mo. Torn by family problems and the divorce of his parents, he moved to Illinois with his father and older brother Guy, at the age of 12.

He began his coal mining career when he was 16, working with his father at Number 5 Mines in Pinckneyville. Most of his life he worked for various mines within 40 miles of Pinckneyville.

Glenn Helvey (1973)

Glenn returned to Reynolds Co., in the foothills of Mo., to take Eunice Martin as his bride on Sept. 24, 1926. They returned to Pinckneyville, Ill. to make their home in Quinn Town. To this union were born five children: Harold, Wanda (Slusher), Albert, Evelyn (Rushing), and Paul. Mrs. Helvey died on Jan. 24, 1937 with double pneumonia, leaving Glenn a widower at the age of 34.

During Jan. 1938, Glenn and his children began construction of their new home in Diamond Town; a home where he would live the rest of his life.

Glenn was a man who enjoyed life in the outdoors. He wrote that his parents said his second step must have been in pursuit of a bee. He followed that pursuit and started beekeeping in 1921. It was his dream to be a full-time beekeeper — a dream he wouldn't realize until all of his children were grown and married and he had retired from the mines.

The art of beekeeping is too detailed to include here; but the process ends with extracting the honey from the combs, heating it to a high temperature, and putting it into jars. Most of this work was done at the "honey house", the building just north of Glenn's house. Hours of hot, hard work by Glenn, relatives, and neighbors resulted in pure, sweet honey.

The fruits of his labors and sweat were enjoyed by hundreds of people. Shortly after WWII, Glenn opened a self-service honey stand next to the highway which ran by his house.

This "honey stand" became a landmark to the people of Pinckneyville, Perry Co., and travelers of Illinois.

Ill health forced Glenn to sell his honeybees and retire in 1973. A hobby turned career had lasted 52 years. The "honey stand" no longer exists. It was removed by the same sons who helped built it after Mr. Helvey's death on Aug. 30, 1981.

The memory of Glenn Helvey will live on in the hearts of those who knew him, especially his family: Harold and Geneva Eaton Helvey, their sons Larry and Ronald and grandchildren Bryan, Susan, Kristen, Jeanna, Rhonda and David; Orval and Wanda Helvey Slusher, their children Douglas and Melissa Slusher Rheinecker and grandchildren Michael, Timothy, Leslie, and Zachary; Albert and Kathy Kramer Helvey, their daughters Joyce Helvey Millington and Kaye Helvey Mercado and granddaughters Melinda Lark and Alicia Skye; Ira and Evelyn Helvey Rushing, their children Janice, Kyle, and Laura (A son Parry died in 1965); and Paul and Gloria Hutchings Helvey, their children Jill Helvey Hampleman and Daniel and granddaughter Courtney.

Glenn was one who loved to share the things of nature with others, and he did so with three generations of his offspring. He was an honest man who loved fishing, bird watching, wood working, playing washers, but most of all his honeybees. Glenn Helvey will always be remembered as "Mr. Honey Man." — Submitted by Melissa Rheinecker, Granddaughter

June 23, 1902 in Perry Co., Ill.), daughter of Benjamin Sprague and Sarah Buckingham; were married in Chautauqua, N.Y. In Apr., 1838, (three weeks after their marriage), Hiram and Sarah left New York and started for Illinois, along with Sarah's older sister Julia Ann Skinner, her husband Lucius, and their four children. They traveled the first fifty miles by wagon then traded the horses for a flat boat. After loading all their belongings, including the wagons, on board they floated down the Allegheny and Ohio Rivers to Shawneetown where they were met by friends who provided horses to pull the wagons to their new home in Nine Mile Prairie (now Old Du Quoin). Upon arrival, Hiram built a one room log cabin where they lived and where their three children were born - George Edward Hinkley (b. 1840), Sarah Margaret Hinkley (b. Nov., 1847) and Mary Frances Hinkley (b. 1842, d. Feb. 6, 1918 in Santa Maria, Ca.). In 1855, the Du Quoin Female Seminary was built on land adjacent to Hiram's farm and his daughters and sons attended.

In 1913, they returned to Perry Co. for a visit and while here Howard got Whooping Cough and they were unable to return to Ca. for some time, so they decided to stay in Illinois. They bought a farm just across Little Muddy River in neighboring Franklin Co. where Hiley and Lizzie lived until 1971, when they moved into "town" (Mulkeytown). They lived there until their deaths. Their daughter Maud and her husband James Hertel still live in Mulkeytown as does their daughter, Norma, and her family. Their son Howard and his wife Emma (Bossle) Webb live in Christopher, Ill., for the first factory, and manufactured trailers in that facility for one year. Joseph, along with his father and one other employee, worked through the first winter in bitter cold, using a small fire of wood scraps for warmth. In May of 1969, the first enclosed factory was completed. Consisting of 5,500 square feet and with 5,000 square feet additions each year for the next five years, the production facility was brought up to 30,000 square feet with 32 employees. Joseph designed, manufactured, and marketed mobile homes, double wides, modular houses and various types of office trailers during this period up to the date of this writing.

Joseph is a descendant of the early settlers of Pinckneyville. His great-grandfather, John Keene, served as mayor in the 1930s. Joseph's great-grandfather was Phillip Gruner, founder of Gruner Hardware in 1854.

Joseph found the following to be true: Success is a great joy, but failure and despair is a great teacher. Nothing can be accomplished without faith, and Love that is not expressed in action does not exist. Persistent hard work is the only lasting road to worldly success, and the greatest beauty lies in a common wild flower.

HOTTES

GEORGE JACOB HOTTES SR. (26 Jan. 1840-3 June 1911), a brother Phillip and possibly other siblings, came to America, from Hessen Darmstadt, Germany in about 1849, landing in Philadelphia, Penn. He lived for some years in the Lensburg, Darmstadt area of St. Clair Co., Illinois. He married Christina Kiem (30 May 1841-25 Jan. 1918) of Elsass Alsace, Germany on Sept. 11, ?.

The family grew to nine children — AUGUSTA died in infancy; ANNA MARGRAIATE (John Fouth of Marissa); CATHERINE (Henry F. Winter of Lensburg) later of Perry Co.; JOHN (Anna Maria Rurhart); GEORGE JR. (Sophie Dierks); MARY (Frank Graul); SOPHA (William E. Ottenad); LUCY (John Lehr); JACOB (Ida Catherine (Jung) Yung).

In 1898 the family moved to a 240 acre farm in the Matthews area of Perry Co., Il. Four of the older girls, Anna Margraiate, Mary, Sopha and Lucy married and stayed in the St. Clair Co. and St. Louis, Mo. area but the others came settled in Perry Co. Catherine and Henry Winter with small son HENRY and soon to be son JOHN, had moved to the Matthew area the year before.

Jacob (8 Sept. 1880-18 Feb. 1952) and Ida (16 Aug. 1884-22 Feb. 1956) were married 12 Aug. 1905 in Pinckneyville. They settled on 120 acres of the original 240 acre homestead, in the small house built by Jacob, George Jr., and John. To them were born three sons LOUIS GEORGE (28 Feb. 1907); Walter JACOB (12 Sept. 1909); and HAROLD GEORGE (29 June 1914). They were members of the St. Paul's German Evangelical and Reformed Church, presently the St. Pauls United Church of Christ in Pinckneyville. Ida's grandfather LOUIS (Jung) Yung Sr., being a foundling father with eleven other German speaking families in the surrounding Pinckneyville area. Ida was confirmed in German in 1898.

Jacob was a farmer by day and played the fiddle for wedding dances, barn raisens, and Saturday night entertainment. On Sunday afternoon there were baseball games, with all the young people coming for miles around, to a field near their home. Jake was umpire and the boys played enthusiastically. Jacob and Ida lived all their lives in Perry Co., and having passed on are buried in Mueller Hill Cemetery, not far from Ida's girlhood home.

Louis Hottes married Anna Weil (2 Sept. 1905) on 4 Aug. 1930 and settled on a farm near the Walkenhorst school area, West of Matthews. In 1935 a new home was built, after a fire destroyed the older home of the last owner, who promptly left for California.

As a progressive and very hard working farmer, Louis purchased limestone by the train car load, which was delivered to the Pyatts station near the water tower, then hand shoveled on to trucks, then again hand shoveled out the back, on to the field. One of the first to own a 1939 Harvester M, with two sets of wheels, steel for plowing, and rubber on the road. A 3-bottom 12" plow and a McCormick grain binder, all a big improvement over the 2 and 4 horse teams used for plowing and harvesting before. Electricity didn't come to the farm until late 1946, however the house and barn were wired two years before just waiting.

Louis's original homestead was 260 acres but thru the years, one 40 after another was added, cleared of brush, large trees blown out with explosives, smaller ones grubbed out with a matic, ditches filled and made into productive land. The use of lime, fertilizer and crop rotation did much to see crop yields improve. Before his retirement in 1976, Louis had accumulated 800 acres and in 40's and 50's it was one of the biggest farms in Perry Co.

There are 14 male heirs of the Hottes name living in Perry Co. all coming from George and Christina, and another hundred others thru the daughters. Jacob's son Louis, Louis's son Harvey and Harvey's sons Perry and Paul are still farming in the Matthews, Galum Creek area.

JACOB HOUSE

Jacob House, born Aug. 1, 1795 in N.C. and his first wife, Elizabeth Freeze, born 1799 in N.C., and ten children emigrated from Rowan Co., N.C. to Perry Co. in 1832. They cleared land and built a log cabin two miles north of Du Quoin. Two more children were born to them in Il.; Catherine (1834) married William R. Needham and Wiley (1835) married Malinda Orton. The other children were: Lydia (1818) married J. Wiley Quillman; Peter (1820) married first Mary E. Smith, second Elizabeth Smith and third Elmira Robinson; Alexander (1821) married first Latitia Robinson, second Susan Dailey; John (1823) married Minerva Orton; Elizabeth (1825) married John M. Robinson; Archibald M. (1826) married Mary Jane Carner; George (1827) married Rachel Robinson; Lucretia (1829) married first a Robinson, second William A. Bost; Jacob (1831) married Martha Robinson.

The one room log cabin had a stone fireplace and a sleeping loft. Later a lean-to was added and served as a kitchen. In 1840, Jacob, Betsy and twelve children lived in this cabin. School was through the woods several miles away. The dogs accompanied the boys to school; if the dogs struck a trail, school was forgotten! If the hunt took them far from homes, they spent the night in hollow logs with the dogs at their feet to keep them warm. School was skipped so often they received very little education.

Betsy died in 1852 and was buried on the farm about ¼ mile west of the cabin. This plot later contained 20 to 30 graves and was known as the House Cemetery. In 1854 the I.C. Railroad was constructed between the cabin and the cemetery, under protest by Jacob.

On Nov. 2, 1852, Jacob married Leah Dry (widow of Weston Jenks) and daughter of John F. Dry. Leah's three teenagers, Elizabeth, Rebecca and John W. Jenks moved into the cabin with their Mother. One night Elizabeth eloped with Jackson A. Dry, Leah's youngest brother. She crawled out the loft window, over the top of the lean-to and onto the horse Jackson had led over for her. It was a cold, stormy night and Elizabeth was not missed until daylight when tracks in the mud next to the lean-to were found. Leah grieved, especially on stormy nights, wondering where her daughter could be.

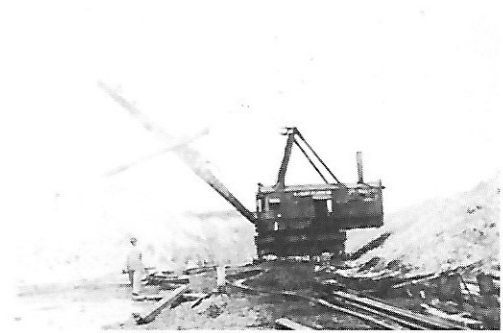

Jacob and Leah had a son, Thomas Rolland (a/k/a Rollie or T.R.) born July 14, 1854. After Jacob's death, Thomas took care of his Mother until she died in 1891. In 1873 Thomas had married Sarah, the daughter of neighbors, Abraham and Nancy Lipe. To them were born Fred E. (1874), Charles O. (1876) and Ida (1891). Thomas built a six room frame house thirty feet north of the log cabin in 1882 for $800. In May 1916 Sarah died of cancer; Fred died, unmarried, in 1928; Charles, who had married Esther Mathis, died in 1944. Ida married William J. Johnson in 1916; she died in 1985.

In May 1924 Thomas married Frances Hamilton, the widow of William F. Hamilton of Paradise Prairie. Thomas died Mar. 15, 1938.

Jacob House was of German descent, and the family name was "Haus" in Germany. — Submitted by Genevieve Rainey

HUGGINS

Among the families on the 1800 Census for Abbeville District, South Carolina, were those of David Huggins, his brother, Robert, and their brother-in-law, John and Mary Jane (Huggins) Lively. Soon after this census was taken all three families migrated to what is now southern Illinois where their descendants pioneered Washington, St. Clair, Perry and Randolph counties. David and his brother-in-law settled in Covington Township, Washington Co., where the Lively family, except for one daughter, were massacred by the Indians in 1813.

Robert Huggins' children proliferated Perry Co., and Jennie (Lively) Caudle's descendants clustered around Sparta and Chester in Randolph Co.

The genealogies of these three pioneer families are large and complex. Hundreds of their births and marriages fill the pages of the oldest court house records; their grave stones are the most numerous in the original burial grounds. As late as 1987 there are still to be found countless men and women with names like Darter, Mitchell, Caudle, Willis, Zang, Meng, Virgin, Harris, McLean, Bridges, Huggins and Smith, to name a few, who trace their lineages back to either David or Robert Huggins or to their tragic sister, Mary Jane (Huggins) Lively.

Oral family tradition has consistently nurtured the myth that the father of these three Huggins siblings was a young drummer boy who served in a South Carolina regiment during the Revolutionary War. There are, on the official record, the names of sixteen known Huggins males who served from South Carolina, and one of these, a David Huggins, even served in the Fifth Regiment as a drummer. To date, however, the hard documentary evidence for proving this connection has not been found. If and when the required proof is established the several DAR and SAR Chapters throughout Southern Illinois could be substantially enlarged by Huggins descendants. — Submitted by Earl Richard Smith Captain, U. S. Coast Guard, Retired

RELMOND CALHOUN HUGGINS

R. C.'s father, David (1820-1877), was an itinerant minister of the Baptist Churches in Washington and Perry Counties from 1845 to 1877. Part of his territory included Swanwick Creek, Delum and Pinckneyville. He "would walk from Washington Co. to churches as far away as Ava to preach." David helped organize the Nine-Mile Baptist Association, Beaucoup Baptist Church, and was the 7th pastor of Pinckneyville First Baptist Church.

Three of David's children lived in the Pinckneyville area: David Monro (1860-1951), Etta Bell (McClurken, 1872-1940), and Relmond Calhoun (1873-1958). R. C. moved to the area as a young child after the death of his parents. He and David shared a cabin in the woods six miles north of Pinckneyville. R. C. told this story of an incident that happened: "Something kept getting in the cabin which had no glass in the windows. One night

Dave loaded a shotgun and put it next to the bed. (Then he left for some reason.) R.C., still in the cabin, heard him returning through the woods. He locked the door and bolted it — then crawled into bed. After knocking at the door and yelling for "Rel," he went around to the windows. Rel looked up, aimed the shotgun and said, "Now I've got you!" Dave's answer, "Rel! It's me — it's me!"

R. C. worked for the Illinois Central Railroad for over fifty years.

In 1899 he married Ethel Smith (1879-1938). Mary Kellerman Huggins, their daughter-in-law, said her parents, Henry W. and Etta Redfern Kellerman, knew R. C. and Ethel when they were courting and that R. C. was a "distinguished looking young man" and Ethel was a "black-haired beauty." To this union was born: Mabel (Norris), James O., Orville O., and Relmond D.

He and Ethel established their life-long home on Grand Street in the southern part of Pinckneyville. — Submitted by Mary Kellerman Huggins and Dorothy Huggins

HULL-STOCKSTILL

Richard Anderson Hull, born 1775 in North Carolina, married 1 Apr. 1807, Nancy Stockstill, born 1787, Baltimore, Md., died 1879, Perry Co. Richard Hull died 30 Dec. 1838. Richard and Nancy met in Madison Co. Ky. when they stopped on their way from North Carolina to supply themselves with salt. There were salt springs a few miles south of Richmond. Richard had taken the southern route from N. C. They were married in Richmond. Nancy's father was not present to sign the marriage bond and her uncle signed for her.

In 1830 Richard and Nancy left Warren Co., Tn. and traveled the thousand miles to Perry Co. with twelve of their thirteen children, their oldest having married Benjamin Hammack. Their names and dates are as follows: Sarah who married Benjamin Hammack; Rebecca, born 7 May 1809, married Samuel Etherton; Zebedee, born 10 July 1810, married Fannie Pyle on 2 Feb. 1839; Lucinda, born 9 Mar. 1812, married on 27 Oct. 1833, Abner Rice. She died 2 Nov. 1881, Abner was born 23 Feb. 1810, Hopkins Co., Ky. and died 3 Dec. 1884 in Perry Co.; Elizabeth, born 31 Aug. 1813, married on 28 May, William Keeling; Delpha, born 23 Jan. 1816, married on 6 Feb. 1834 to Samuel H. Eaton; Benjamin, born 23 May 1817, died 17 Aug. 1847; Polly, born 6 Mar. 1819, married (1) John Gore 13 Nov. 1842, (2) Neely Perry: Major, born 20 Feb. 1820, died 25 May 1891, married, on 22 Sept. 1842 to Margaret Rogers, born 3 Sept. 1844, died 15 Dec. 1875; Thomas, born 3 Apr. 1821; Nancy Minerva, born 8 June 1822, married on 25 Sept. 1842 to Henry F. Hampleman; Richard, born 20 June 1825, died 24 Dec. 1850; Rachael, born 31 July, married on 25 Dec. 1845, to G. W. Murphy.

None of their sons remained in Perry Co., after their marriage but the daughters all married men who remained in Perry Co. for many years. There are, no doubt, many who can trace their ancestry back to the daughters of Richard and Nancy Hull.

Richard came to Tennessee a year after the organization of the State, it being separated from N. C. No records were found showing that Richard purchased any land but he owned several parcels of land. Having come into the territory soon after the Seminole Indians had been driven out, he laid claim to lands which were formerly held by the Indians. It appeared that all he had to do was to find the land, obtain a proper description of the boundaries and enter the property in the county office. Many entries were found which had been made by Richard and transactions were found indicating transfer of land from Richard to others but no purchases of land seems to have been made by Richard. He was noted to be an excellent hunter. The house in which he and Nancy lived and reared their family was near the home of the nephew of the noted Daniel Boone. This nephew was named Daniel and for many years it was thought that Richard had been neighbor to the "famous" Daniel.

Their movement from Warren County, Tn., to Perry Co., Il., was in itself an extraordinary adventure. One thousand miles by wagon, with 12 children, the oldest only about 14 years old was quite an ordeal. They were indeed a hardy family and were adventuresome.

Gill in 1878 and resided on S. Mulberry. They had 3 children, Lucius Daniel, George and Gertrude (twins). In 1892, they moved to N. Washington St. where they lived until their deaths in 1924. Gertrude married Atty. H. F. Kimmel and lived in the home with them. To this union were born 2 daughters, Patricia Ann (Sellers) and Gloria Gertrude (Robinson). Gert Kimmel continued to live and work in Du Quoin for many years at the Illinois Public Aid offices. Howard Kimmel had preceded her in death in 1933. She moved to a retirement home in Pontiac, Il., in 1971 and died at the age of 94. They are all buried in the I.O.O.F. cemetery in Du Quoin. All were active in the Presbyterian Church.

Lucius was a graduate of Sherwood Music School in Chicago and moved to New York after graduation to teach piano. One of his first pupils was the son of Thomas A. Edison. He was the author of a book "It shall be done unto you", a technique of positive thinking. During WW II, this book was condensed into a pocketbook form to be used by servicemen.

Peter Gill, who lived in Elkhville, was the grandfather of several other Du Quoinites. His son, Benton, was the father of Augustus (Gus), Kate, Nelle and Theodore Gill. Theodore married Minnie Horn and had 1 son, Ted. Nelle married Frank Van Keuren who owned a grocery store for many years. They had 1 son, June, who was a judge in Cook Co. and later practiced law in Du Quoin. — Submitted by Gloria K. Robinson

J. O. HUNTER

James Oscar ("J.O.") Hunter (b. Apr. 1872-d. Feb. 1934) was born in Mulberry Grove, Il. Upon finishing the eighth grade, he took the then customary teacher's examination, passed it and then taught elementary school for several years. Later he went to Gem City Business College, Quincy, Il. After his graduation, he was bookkeeper for a Round Rock, Tx. cotton broker. Returning to Il. in the late 1890's he started a general store in the Rice area.

"J.O." and Elizabeth ("Bessie") Carson (b. Oct. 1876 - d. Aug. 1925) were married in Oct. 1901, two days before her birthday. The Hunters had eight children, all were delivered at home by Dr. T. J. Holman, the local country doctor and Mrs. Agnes Rice, local midwife. All eight got at least a college education. In 1920, one graduated from 8th grade, one from high school, one from college, and one from medical school. In brief, the children were:

Roy B. (Jan. 1903 - Dec. 1961) married Margaret Mitchell. Assumed charge of store and farm on "J.O.'s" death in 1934.

Floyd D. (Aug. 1904-May 1978) married Ruth Rich. Became a Physician, served in U.S. Army during W.W. II in N. Africa and S. Italy.

D. Fay (Nov. 1906-Aug. 1986) married Howard Farrar. Helped him through medical school.

Esther F. (Aug. 1908) married Robert Gafford. Became a Medical Technologist.

Dwight C. (Feb. 1910-Dec. 1970) married Clara Broyles. He was a long time employee of Aluminum Company of America.

Paul H. (Dec. 1912) married Mary Crow. Became a Research and Development Chemist for Union Carbide Corp. awarded 7 U.S. Patents, also one pending.

Irene M. (Jan. 1918) married Harold Gilmore. She became a Medical Technologist, her husband a Mortician.

Dale O. (Dec. 1919) married Juanita Alexander. He became a Dentist, served in U. S. Navy, WW II.

About 1910 "J.O." and Bessie undertook moving their store and house across a brook and fields to a site about one quarter mile away. The new location was to become the cross roads of the Pinckneyville-Nashville road ("Black Diamond Trail") and the Tamaroa-Swanwick roads. The moves were accomplished with both buildings on wooden rollers and powered by teams of horses. Business went on as usual as the store rolled slowly along. Damage to the store's contents was slight; one ceramic dollhead rolled off a shelf and broke.

J. O. Hunter Homestead 1909, with Elizabeth, Esther, Floyd, Anna, J. O., D. Fay, and Roy Hunter.

In 1924, the Hunters gave acreage from their farm to the Concord Baptist Church for the sites of a church, parsonage and a cemetery. The Hunters were Reformed Presbyterians ("Scotch Covenanters") members of a church in Oakdale eight miles away. The location of the new Concord Church, parsonage and cemetery was diagonally across the crossroads from the store.

Also, in 1924, a car loaded with hoodlums from the St. Louis area stopped at night in front of the store. They broke in through the front door and went to work on opening a six foot tall safe in the rear of the store. "J.O." cut short their work. He shot with a 48 caliber Colt's revolver from behind a nearby outbuilding, through the back wall of the store. He hit the front of the safe. Paint was knocked off the safe by the bullet, but the slug was never found. (Could one of the thugs have carried it away in his body?) The "workers" ran out, leaving all their tools. They fired several shots, one breaking a window in the house. They roared off in the waiting car and into the night. — Submitted by Paul H. Hunter

HURT

Sam Hurt (b. Aug. 5, 1888) carried on the advertising business following his father's death. He also worked at the Majestic and Grand Theaters.

On Thanksgiving Day in 1911 Sam married Cenie Yancy (b. Oct. 1, 1888), who possessed great musical talent. She would sing along with slides shown at the Lyric Theater.

They had six children. All four daughters: Virginia Metten, Maxine Wilks, Pauline Foster and Vivian Hurt live in Du Quoin at this time. Sam Jr. lives in Coal Valley, Il. and Marlin lives in Indiana.

Sam Hurt died Sept. 14, 1966.

Clarence Hurt (b. Sept. 17, 1896) had the advantage of learning much about show business as he also helped his father at the Majestic Theater. He possessed artistic ability, and so added sign painting to his advertising.

He served in the Army during World War I, then returned to advertising and theater following his discharge.

In 1920 he married Dorothy Leonard (b. Aug. 3, 1904) and went to live in Oklahoma City until he was called home due to his father's illness.

On two occasions (1921-22 and 1924-25) he lived in St. Louis working for a company that constructed stage scenery. In 1925 he returned to Du Quoin and began an advertising campaign for the Du Quoin State Fair. When the grandstand was built, with its huge stage to present night shows, he was made stage manager and afterwards constructed the first scenery used there.

Through the years he operated the C. E. Hurt Sign Co. In 1943 he painted an Honor Roll on the west side of the Van Keuren building with names of all persons serving in WWII.

Clarence had great love for the theater and so directed many productions sponsored by various organizations for the benefit of community projects. There were many Little Theater plays given at the Lyric, the Lions Carnival, the Du Quoin High School and the Grand Theater. These covered everything from patriotic pageants, comedy, minstrel and drama.

HURT-PRESSWOOD

John William Hurt was born in Benton, Il. Dec. 21, 1859. He was the son of William Henry and Eusebia Ann (Bidwell) Hurt, who were married Oct. 7, 1858 in Franklin Co.

When his father went to serve in the War between the States young John was brought to Du Quoin by his mother, where relatives were residing.

Being an enterprising young woman she was soon taking baked goods to sell to troops passing through on Illinois Central Railroad. The father never returned home as he contracted measles and died. The mother continued to earn a living by buying and selling property. When the war was over she married John Siddon, also a Civil War veteran. They had 2 sons: David and Abel.

When Mr. Siddon died, the two sons, now grown, went with their mother to Homestead, near Pocatello, Id. Mrs. Siddon died in 1911 and her body was returned to Du Quoin for burial in the Odd Fellows Cemetery.

As John William grew up he showed great musical ability. He had a fine singing voice (as did his mother) and could play all sorts of stringed instruments. Along with other young men a quartette was formed which provided entertainment at various functions. He later traveled with road shows and circuses.

Returning to Du Quoin he met Christina Presswood (b. May 14, 1866), the daughter of Martin and Rachel Ellis (Chappel) Presswood, all born in Perry Co. They were married Jan. 21, 1885 in Pinckneyville and built a home at 29 S. Maple Street in Du Quoin. All of their children, 5 boys and 2 girls, were born there. The first 2 boys died in infancy.

Christina, an excellent gardener, raised vegetables on every bit of available ground. These along with fruit from assorted trees and a grape arbor supplied much of the food for the growing family. One pear tree was still bearing fruit when Christina died in Apr. 1941.

John W. conducted an advertising business after marriage. He erected billboards and contracted to distribute all sorts of hand bills and pamphlets - that being the method of advertising in those days.

He was also interested in politics and served on the Board of Aldermen - 1895 until the turn of the century.

When the Majestic Opera House opened in 1906 he served as stage manager with his oldest son, Sam (b. Aug. 5, 1888), as helper. Many of the finest stage productions, enroute from Chicago and St. Louis, made overnite stops in Du Quoin to perform at the Majestic as it had facilities to accommodate them. Special trains brought people from surrounding towns to see the shows, as there were no highways to travel in those days. Light opera, vaudeville and later moving pictures were shown there. The stage was also used for graduations, school plays and contests.

Since the building was originally a mill, the view of the outside certainly didn't prepare the audience for the lavishness to be seen within - truly a work of art.

MARLIN HURT

In Dec. 1950, along with Norris Bierman who owned Artcraft Press, he started a weekly newspaper called "Main Street" with Lou Ozburn as photographer. In May 1951, the name was changed to "The Chieftain". The last issue was printed the week that C. E. Hurt died, Oct. 15, 1951.

Surviving are three daughters: Betty Lockeby, who returned to Du Quoin following retirement, Janelle Miller of Redmond, Wa., Mary Dike of Virginia Beach, Va. and a son Robert W. Hurt of Bradley, Il.

Marlin Hurt (b. May 27, 1902) taught himself to play saxophone. Along with others he formed Monte Carlo Orchestra. They made their radio debut from Omaha, Ne. in the 1920's. Marlin teamed with Ted Roy, another Du Quoin native, in 1927 to broadcast from station KMOX as the Delicious Apple Boys. From there to join the Tom, Dick and Harry trio on WGN. Progressing up the ladder Marlin's big break came when he introduced "Beulah", the colored maid, on the Fibber McGee and Molly program. A natural born mimic, he early learned German, Italian and Negro dialect. When given his own "Beulah" Show, which aired on Sunday nights, he introduced other characters using those dialects.

Marlin died suddenly Mar. 21, 1946 at the height of his career. Burial was in Beverly Hills Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

On Sunday Mar. 24th a memorial program was presented in the "Beulah" time slot by many radio celebrities with whom he had worked. Many Du Quoin friends gathered to hear this fond farewell.

HUTCHINGS-KUHL

Bill Hutchings (b: 11-30-1910, Perry Co.) and Helen Kuhl Hutchings (b: 8-12-1927, Perry Co.) were married 2-27-1946 in Pinckneyville. They have two children: Janet Elaine (b: 8-9-1947) who married Robert Amelunke from Florida, and Janelle Ann (b: 8-2-1952) who married Michael Smith from Pinckneyville. They have one grandchild: Rachel Elizabeth Smith (b: 9-25-1972). Bill and Helen have lived in Perry Co. all their lives, but their ancestors have come from all four directions, north, south, east and west to settle here.

Bill Hutchings' father was Richard Hutchings (b: 10-4-1873, d: 5-28-1943). Richard's parents were Frances Marion Hutchings (b: 4-9-1842, d: 2-1-1900) and Rachel Lanora Corr (b: 11-25-1850, d: 9-18-1923). Frances is believed to have come from Missouri. Rachel was the daughter of James Corr who came to this country from Dublin, Ireland. He landed in New Orleans but later moved up to Illinois to escape the breakout of yellow fever.

Bill Hutchings' mother was Lanora Ann Rice (b: 5-1-1888, d: 8-2-1954). Lanora's parents were Thomas Jefferson Rice (b: 1-31-1852, d: 6-11-1928) and Nancy Romane Fulton (b: 1-1-1858, d: 4-1-1907). This Rice branch of the family tree also has a Hutchings branch on it as Thomas Jefferson Rice's mother was a Hutchings. These Hutchings first came to Illinois in May, 1816 when two brothers, John and William Hutchings, while traveling with their families from Tennessee to Missouri, stopped due to the illness of a child in the party. The stop was to be permanent as the child died, and the families never made it any further. The most famous of these Hutchings was John R. Hutchings. When Perry Co. was formed in 1827, he was one of the three original commissioners elected in the first election and responsible for selecting the building site of the first court house. The story goes that a big basket dinner was held by the people of the county and each of the three commissioners placed a stake in the ground.

The one who got the most people to stand around his stake won. John R. Hutchings ended up with the most people around his stake. The city of Pinckneyville was then laid out in the lots around the court house.

Helen Hutchings' father is August Theodore Kuhl (b: 2-12-1905). Theodore's parents were August Frank Charles Kuhl (b: 2-17-1878, d: 7-13-1969) and Anna Bertha Hubler (b: 9-6-1883, d: 1944). August Frank C. Kuhl was born in Steinburg, Germany and came to this country with his parents through the Great Lakes from Wisconsin down to Illinois.

Helen Hutchings' mother is Edna Elsie Glenn (b: 12-8-1905). Elsie's parents were Mathew (or Madison) Elmer Glenn (b: 8-27-1882, d: 1917) and Phebe Ellen Porter (b: 10-8-1885, d: 11-10-1966). Mathew's father was James Glenn, born in Dery Co., Ireland, and served in the Illinois Infantry from 1862-1865. Mathew's mother was half Cherokee Indian. Phebe's parents came to Illinois in a covered wagon from Kansas. — Submitted by Janet H. Amelunke

IBENDAHL-AYRES

Calvin F. Ibendahl, a native of Oakdale, Il., came to Tamaroa, Perry Co., after he purchased the B. G. Roots homestead (Kimzey Place), from Browning Robinson in Mar., 1958.

Calvin farmed alone that first year, tearing out hedgerows and improving the drainage of the farmland.

In Dec. of 1958, Ibendahl drove to Tucson, Az. where he married the former Jean Ayres and brought his bride back to the Perry Co. farm. The two had met five years prior to their marriage as classmates at the University of Illinois.

The couple launched into a farming enterprise of sizeable proportions. Fresh out of Ag School at Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, Calvin was among the first farmers to try minimum tillage and then no-till. He built a farrow-to-finish 80-sow capacity hog facility complete with automatic waterers, overhead feeders controlled by a time clock and flushing waste system.

He continued to improve soil fertility and drainage. He installed a grain handling system and built storage bins with a 97,000 bushel capacity.

For five years, Calvin rented the 110 acre Irl Hampleman farm in addition to farming his own 580 acres plus 94 acres still owned by Robinson's son. He also bought the adjacent 67 acres from Bill Lemmon. Efficient farm management, use of the latest technology and equipment enabled the Ibendahls to conduct their farming operation without employing help.

Meanwhile, Jean, a school teacher, did substitute teaching and taught one year at Du Quoin Township High School. She authored PORK PRIMER, a 200 page textbook about pork. She and Calvin were both active in pork associations and other farm organizations, including the Perry Co. Farm Bureau, Cooperative Extension and Lincoln Farm Business Management. Jean was a director of the National Livestock and Meat Board, Vice-President of American Agri-Women and president of Illinois Porkettes (Pork Association Women) and Illinois Women for Agriculture. She presently serves on the Illinois Agricultural Leadership Foundation and is a Community Ambassador for Southern Illinois University, Carbondale. She has also been consultant to the USDA during the Carter and Reagan administrations. She is secretary of the Perry Co. Public Building Commission.

The Ibendahls have moved to their property and restored a log cabin and the one-room Roots School. These buildings and their 12 room, antique-filled home are open for tours by appointment. The house was built by Roots in 1856.

During the 1960's the Perry Co. Historical Society met regularly in the Ibendahl home. Many of the county artifacts are housed in the one-room school.

In 1984, the Ibendahls gave their $1.1 million farm to Southern Illinois University. They kept the home, school house, log cabin and four acre yard. The yard is landscaped and contains 40 kinds of trees native to southern Illinois.

Both the Ibendahls are listed in "Who's Who in the Midwest."

Their travels have taken them to the Caribbean, Russia, China, Japan, Europe, Australia, New Zealand, Tahiti, Hawaii and Guatemala.

Calvin is a veteran of World War II and the Korean conflict.

The Ibendahls are active member of the Pinckneyville Methodist Church. They are leaders of the DuBois Pioneers 4-H Club.

ING-MARLOW

John Ing's parents, Joseph (1822-1862) and Ursula (Martin) Ing (1821-1890) lived in Tamaroa, Il. Joseph was a Lieutenant in the U.S. Army during the Civil War and was killed in 1862. They were the parents of two children: John and Lydia.

John Ing (1854-1905) and Rebecca Marlow (1860-1945), the daughter of Samuel and Annie Marlow, were married July 21, 1878. They made their home with his mother, Ursula, in Tamaroa. John was an Engineer on the I.C. Railroad. He bought a farm in Holts Prairie in the neighborhood of Rebecca's parents, where he was a farmer and carpenter, building a new home for his family. When building the house there was great urgency to get it finished before the arrival of the expected baby, but they were too late; a baby girl, Madge, was born in the barn where they were living while building the new house. Two more children were added to the family here, making a total of 6.

Ira (1879-1931) married Eva Brown, and they had five children: Orville, Harold, Oren, Madge and Fay. Ira was a farmer before moving to Pontiac where he was a guard at the State Prison.

Ward (1882-1930) married Carrie Robinson and they had one son, Milton. Ward worked in the American Car and Foundry in St. Louis.

Joseph "Joe" (1884-1959), whose third wife was Margaret Westbrook, had three daughters: Mildred, Mary Lee and Joan. Joe worked in the law enforcement field.

Madge (1888-1972) married Leo Holden, a carpenter. They were the parents of three daughters: Geraldine, Gwendolyn and Gladys. Madge worked at Marshall Browning Hospital and at Pope's Shoe Store in Du Quoin.

Lester (1892-1966) was a teacher. About 1918 he went to Rosebud, S.D. to a Sioux Indian Reservation to teach. There he met a nurse, Eva Boggess, who became his wife. They were the parents of four daughters: Rebecca, Barbara, Virginia and Dorothy. They later moved to California where he was a Route Salesman for Jewel Tea Co. until his retirement.

Mildred "Millie" (b 1903) married Hardy Norris Jan. 16, 1948, who passed away Nov. 20, 1981. Hardy was a man of many talents: grocery business, Postmaster, law enforcement at State, County and Municipal government, and others. He had a hobby of collecting clocks. Millie did various jobs as a housewife. Her adopted grandson, Mark H. Norris lives nearby and sees to her needs. At the age of 83, Mildred is the last surviving member of her generation, of both the Samuel Marlow and the John Ing families. When Mildred was 2 years old her father passed away and was buried in the Campbell Cemetery. After Mr. Ing's death Rebecca married J. T. Warren in 1910. Through his influence, Rebecca, Mildred, Lester and his wife found the Church of Christ. Millie is still a faithful member of the Du Quoin Church of Christ. Rebecca passed away in 1945 and was buried beside her husband. — Submitted by Mildred Ing Norris

GEORGE W. INGRAM

George Washington Ingram was born July 16, 1886, in Effingham Co., Il. Following a stint of railroading out of Terre Haute, he went to work for the Hallidayboro Mine near Elkhaville. On Dec. 3, 1912, in Murphysboro, he married the former Maude Davis (6-11-91) and settled in Elkhaville. In 1918 shortly after he was hired by the Illinois Central Railroad, he moved his family to Du Quoin.

At that time, George Melbourne (11-22-15) and Laura Nadine (12-26-16) were not old enough to go to school but Nina Evelyn (9-18-13) was immediately enrolled in the Wheatly Elementary School. Being new to the railroad, Mr. Ingram was given assignments which took him to Centralia, Bluford, and various other points on the IC system. Sometimes his family went with him. All of his children however completed their elementary and secondary educations at the J. B. Ward School and the Du Quoin Township High School.

Upon completion of studies at the Normal College in Carbondale, Nina married Donald E. Brummet of Du Quoin on Dec. 12, 1936. They moved to Vandalia where they raised a family of three: Don Carroll (1-5-38), Tonya Ann (William F.) Braun (12-29-50), and Mary Dell (3-14-53). Both Nina and Don are deceased.

After attending Brown's business college in Centralia, George Melbourne moved to St. Louis, Mo. in May 1938. He served as a pharmacist mate 1CL in the U.S. Coast Guard from June 1942 to Dec. 1945. On Apr. 3, 1943, he married Ruth Helen Stuhlman. Upon discharge from military service, he became a sales representative in the pharmaceutical field, traveling throughout the midwest. In 1957 he formed a partnership which operated a small manufacturing concern for the production of wire products. When the company was sold in 1975, he opted for the "good" life of doing what he wanted to do when he wanted to do it. He and Ruth reside in St. Louis, Mo.

Nadine, who attended Normal College in Carbondale and business college in Decatur, left Du Quoin in 1937 to marry Judson E. Harriss, a former Du Quoin resident. They still reside in Los Angeles, Ca. Their children - Linda DeJue (Sam) Kesler (6-15-42) and Mark Ingram (10-28-45) — also live in California who was born Apr. 30, 1912 to Maude (Tyler) and Elton King in the rural Tamaroa area. She attended school in what is known as Paradise Prairie and grew up in that area.

George W. Ingram, who retired from the IC Railroad as an engineer in 1959, died July 8, 1967. His wife, Maude, followed him in death on Sept. 20, 1968. Both are interred in Elkhaville Cemetery #1.

WILLIAM JACKSON

Construction of the Illinois Central Railroad brought William Jackson to Perry Co. in 1854. He secured employment on the tracks between the Sunfield and Perry County coal mines, saving his first $100 which was later invested in land. He became a prominent farmer, with an imposing residence on U.S. 51 at Sunfield, and also manufactured bricks that were sold throughout Southern Illinois

Born at Eaton, Leicestershire, England, he emigrated to New York in 1852 at the age of 20. He had only enough money to go to Syracuse. There he alighted from a train and found employment pulling weeds from an onion patch. His brother, Thomas, who lived in Grass Lake, Mi., learned of his misfortune and took him to Michigan where he engaged in farming and railroading for about two years.

William decided to seek his fortune in California and joined a group heading there. In New Orleans, the treasurer of the group absconded with their funds, causing William to abandon his plan of going West. Loss of money was not his only misfortune; he was stricken with typhoid fever in New Orleans. He realized he must leave the boggy lands of the South, and he boarded a steamer, landing at Memphis. He found the Tennessee climate congenial, but could not become reconciled to slavery as it then existed. He pursued his course northward, arriving at Cairo, where he learned about the Illinois Central construction. With three Irish companions he proceeded afoot along this new track, stopping at Du Quoin.

On Feb. 25, 1855, he married Elizabeth Morgan. Their first home was near Old Du Quoin. About a year later, they moved to the Sunfield home of her parents, Abram and Sarah Morgan. They had five children: twins who died in infancy, Sarah, William A. and Minnie.

William Jackson cleared thousands of acres of land for farming near Sunfield. He also manufactured the brick for many important buildings, including the Perry County Courthouse, private homes and sidewalks in nearly every town in Southern Illinois

He died at the family home on Sept. 5, 1912. His funeral was one of the most largely attended in the history of the county, according to the Du Quoin newspaper. The obituary said he was a friend of the poor, and at his funeral were many whom he had befriended and given employment. His wife died in 1918 at the age of 84.

Their daughter, Sarah, married Henry Kimmel, and they had one son, Jack. Minnie married Arthur Hoge; they had two children, Jackson and Fannie. William A. Jackson married Anna Pyatt; they had three children, Pyatt, Mary and Anna. The only surviving grandchild of William Jackson is Anna Jackson Blanchard, who lives in Du Quoin. Surviving great-grandchildren include Mary Dean Patterson (daughter of Pyatt Jackson), and Gene, Bob and Mark Blanchard.

RUBY JACOBY

Ruby (nee Holman) Jacoby was born Apr. 6, 1923. Her father, William W. Holman was born in Pinckneyville, Perry Co. His Father, Daniel stowed away on a ship and came from Germany to Illinois. Her mother Isabelle K. Holman was born in Collinsville, St. Clair Co., Mar. 18, 1880. She married William W. Holman in Sept. 1894. She was the daughter of Ellen and Lewis Clark. Lewis Clark died at the age of 42 and Ellen took in laundry and did housecleaning to support her family. Isabelle went to work for a family that had an invalid gentleman in the household. She was eleven years old at the time. The pay was small but it helped her mother keep the family together. Later, Ellen married Samuel Kneedler and had at least two more sons. She had at least five children during her first marriage. It is rumored that before Ellen died at the age of one hundred three that she had purchased a lot in a cemetery in Perry Co. where she wished to be buried, since she knew that some day Isabelle would likely be buried there. There were already grandchildren and great-grandchildren buried there. She said "No way do I wish to be buried by Sam".

Ellen's wish was granted and about the year 1947, she was buried there, but after Isabelle was killed by a train in 1968 and was buried in that cemetery, one day when two daughters of Isabelle went to the cemetery, they discovered their Grandmother's body was gone. When they consulted with the Overseer, caretaker of the cemetery, they learned that Ellen's son had her removed and placed by his father. They expressed their wishes and left. There was one other, a daughter left at that time. She died this past year at the age of 100.

Isabelle and William Holman had sixteen children, of which they raised twelve. Two died at birth, two at an early age. Nine are still living, Edith, George, Irene, Elizabeth, Florence, Lawrence, Quentin, Cleopatra and Ruby who was the youngest. Deceased were Ruth, Charles and Hannah Jane, babies Bertha and Kenneth.

William Holman worked on the railroad in the late 1800's, Coal mines, served as Justice of the Peace in 1912, Washington Co., moved back to Perry Co. in 1936 to Cutler, where Ruby attended the North Six Mile School and graduated at James-town.

Ruby married Arthur A. Jacoby and they moved to Decatur, Il. in 1939. There Arthur worked for CBQ, Ramsey Roofing, Caterpillar and other construction jobs, except for the years 1944 to 1946 when he served in the United States Navy in the South Pacific during World War Two. When the LST he was on pulled into Guam, he set out to find one brother Elmer who was stationed there. He found him plus another brother visiting from Tinian Island. Rather unusual.

Ruby and Art had two premature babies in 1938 and 1939 that died shortly after birth. They had three more children, Arthur, Jr.; Carolyn Jean of Decatur and Cerro Gordo; Barbara of San Francisco, Ca. — Submitted by Ruby Jacoby

John Herschel met Mary Braden while she was teaching at the Wylie School and "boarding" with his Uncle John and Aunt Emma Jenkel. John Herschel and Mary rented property from the Atlas Powder Company, then Viers, and Ed Mueller, and in 1920, rented the "homeplace" that was owned by the Atlas Powder Company. On July 24, 1924, John Herschel purchased the "homeplace" and sixty acres from the Atlas Powder Company, and a few years later, an adjoining sixty acres, all in Perry Co., T5S,

Henry Jenkel and John Herschel Jenkel, about 1917

R3W, S10. John Herschel worked in the coal mines for twenty-six years, first at No. 6 Underground Mine, then Pyramid Strip Mine, then Dowell Underground Mine, and finally No. 5 Underground Mine, and farmed all his life. His wife, Mary, always had a garden and did a great deal of canning. Many quilts, afghans, and comforters were made as gifts to her children and grandchildren. Mary's memory for facts, names, and dates was remarkable. They were the parents of three sons: Herschel John (1918), Dean Ellis (1922), Lloyd Braden (1929), and one daughter; Laura Jane Jenkel Ogilvie (1933).

John Herschel Jenkel died at his home on Dec. 23, 1952, at the age of 58 years, 11 months, and 8 days. His widow, Mary, remained on their farm until she died in the Pinckneyville Community Hospital on Sept. 8, 1986, at 90 years and 6 days. She had lived in her Perry Co. home for sixty-five years. Both, John Herschel and Mary, were life long Perry Co. residents, and were members of the Oak Grove Baptist Church. They are buried in the Mueller Hill Cemetery, Pinckneyville.

JENKEL-LACY

Ira Christian Jenkel was born in Perry Co. on Jan. 16, 1890 to Henry and Margaret Reisinger (Refer to Fritz Jenkel). They lived north of Pinckneyville near the Wylie School District where he attended school.

In 1909 he married Helena Evelyn Lacy. Her parents gave them 35 acres on which they built a 2 room house. As their family grew, they added more rooms. After her brother Harry Lacy passed away they purchased 35 adjoining acres from his widow, which happened to be Ira's sister, Ida Jenkel Lacy. Ira spent many winter months clearing this land before it was farmable. Possum Branch ran through the farm providing sand and gravel which he hauled to Pinckneyville and Quintown. He received $2.00/load and tried to haul 3 loads a day. Many of the other things he did to provide for his family were cattle and horse trading and mowing right of ways for the railroad between Pinckneyville and Freeburg. He also worked irregularly for 40 years in an Underground Coal Mine and Pyramid Strip Mine.

The City of Pinckneyville had its water supply from Beaucoup Creek. As the city grew they needed more water, so in the early 1940's they purchased Ira and Helena's farm to make a reservoir. To make this lake they dammed up Possum Creek. The Jenkel's received $100/acre.

Pet and Ira, Harold, Ernestine, Velma and Myrtle

They relocated 4 miles East of Pinckneyville near the old Holts Prairie Baptist Church site and the Lower Holts School. He eventually acquired 220 acres by purchasing part of the Harriss, Stookey and Willie Willmore farms.

Helena's parents were Henry Clay and Christina Schmidt Lacy from Louisville, Ky. She had 2 brothers and 3 sisters. Although her name was Helena, she was always referred to as Pet. This came about from being her fathers favorite. Pet was a very devout Christian of the Baptist faith. She attended Oak Grove Church and was always willing to provide Sunday dinner for the Pastor and his family. Many times she went without to help people in need and give to Missionaries. When they moved east of town they attended Holts Prairie Church until they passed away. They had 4 children: Ernestine Hope Rushing (1910); Velma Jane Huth (1912); Myrtle Doris Meyer (1915); Harold Morris Jenkel (1921). One of the childhood memories was when the girls wanted a piano so bad they pretended to play and sing on the window sills. So their dad sold a cow for $80 and bought them one! He said all he could hear then was Trum-A-Loom. To her many grandchildren Pet was always special. She could make up a poem, sing songs, and was always happy and fun to spend summer vacation with.

Ira passed away at age 84, and Pet at age 90. Both are buried at Holts Prairie Cemetery.

JOHNSON-HARRISS

In the fall of 1897 Stephen Johnson moved his family to a rented farm about 5 miles south of Tamaroa from their home in Franklin Co., Il. In 1902 they moved to a farm 2½ miles east of Du Quoin where the younger children attended the Ebenezer school, taught by their sister, Elizabeth. Later they moved to a farm west of St. Johns and attended the St. Johns' school, taught by their eldest brother, Joe.

Steve and his wife, Melita Harriss Johnson (1855-1937) raised seven children: Joseph H. (1878-1955) married first to Dorothy Kennedy, second to Zelma Mitchell; Elizabeth (1881-1980) married Hiram M. Webb; Stella (1883-1922) married Avra Harriss; Eli W. (1885-1918) married Belle Bryant; Della (1887-1979) married Chas. Pflanz; Carlie (1889-1918) married Chas. Gaerig; William J. (1891-1962) married Ida House. (See J. House)

Steve was three when his father, James G. Johnson (1829-1857) of Saline Co., Il., died leaving three small children. His mother, Martha Jane Barnfield, daughter of George and Mary Williams Barnfield, lost the struggle to keep her family together — Steve was indentured to "Mun" Webb of Franklin Co., Il. Indenture meant Steve lived with and worked for the Webbs until he was 21. At age 21, he received a Bible, a suit of clothing and a horse. Steve was lucky; the Webbs were kind people. Steve's paternal grandfather, Stephen A. Johnson (1800-1850) had a small tobacco farm west of Galatia, Il. — as did his father, James. His grandmother was Elizabeth Garland Johnson (1798-1854).

Steve was very proud of his wife and children; he gave them security and love that he missed as a child. It was a happy family, prone to play-tricks, and laughing at everything. When small they walked to a one-room school about three miles away. Melita would bake a pan of cornbread and Steve would take it and a bucket of milk on horseback to the school so the youngsters would have a warm lunch. They were hilarious the day Steve spilled the milk over himself and the horse when he dismounted. Steve laughed with them. The children claimed they were raised on sorghum molasses and cornbread. One could tell when he neared the Johnson place by the sorghum buckets on their picket fence.

Sassafras tea was accredited with thinning and purifying the blood. Melita's doctor offered to doctor her entire family for a fee of six dollars a year if they would all drink sassafras tea for the month of Feb.

In the fall of 1927 Steve missed the curve west of Old Du Quoin, his model A Ford turned over, breaking Melita's hip. She recovered in a hospital bed in their living room. Steve slept on a day bed in the living room to be near her. On the night of Dec. 2, 1927, he died in his sleep. The clock stopped at two fifteen, which was taken as the hour of his death. Steve faithfully wound that clock each night before retiring — that night he must have felt poorly and neglected it. — Submitted by Genevieve J. Rainey

KEENE-O'NEIL

These brief lines in Perry Co.'s history are provided in grateful tribute and respect for the love and care that Malachi Keene and Mary Honora O'Neil Keene gave to their family. Those of us who knew them personally as parents and grandparents felt the warmth of their love and continue to realize their influence on our lives

Malachi Keene was born in Perry Co. in 1876, the twelfth child of John C. and Nancy B. Keene. He married Mary Honora O'Neil Aug. 11, 1895, and was ordained as a Baptist minister in 1906. Mal and Nora (Honora) lived most of their married life in Pinckneyville; however, two brief periods were spent in other states. They lived in Azusa, Ca. 1906-1907 and in Tampa, Fl. 1920-1921. They also lived in Marion, Il. 1924-1925.

Mary Honora was the daughter of Michael and Virginia O'Neil and was born in Pinckneyville in 1878. The family later moved to a farm northeast of Pinckneyville. The parents of Mal and Nora are presented in other articles in this book. (See articles on John C. Keene and Michael O'Neil.)

Malachi Keene was first and foremost a Baptist minister. During his life he preached hundreds of sermons and pastored several churches. At one time he was field representative for the Carmi Baptist Orphanage, and he was continually active in the Nine Mile Baptist Association, serving in several capacities.

During those days, a minister often had to look to sources other than his ministry for sufficient income. Nora and Mal had a family of five sons; therefore, these two people used their own initiative to generate an adequate income. Malachi built a store on S. First Street in Pinckneyville and entered the grocery business. Nora was constantly at his side and ran the store much of the time, especially during his absences, as well as taking care of a growing family. At one time, these two owned two stores in Pinckneyville and had an interest in a third. Without his wife's help, Malachi would have been seriously handicapped in his ministerial activities. But in all her work Honora was always the dignified lady. Eventually they turned the two stores over to two of their sons. Later Malachi entered the real estate and insurance business. During this time it was possible for Honora to devote her time to her family and to certain church activities.

As parents, Malachi and Honora were strict, loving, kind, and fair. As a result they produced a very closely-knit, cohesive family: all for one and one for all. Their children were all boys: Enos E., Elmer L., Glen Curtis, Neil B. and Roland. The mother of this family passed away in 1952.

Later in life Malachi Keene married Emma Rich, and he passed away in 1962. — Submitted by Roland Keene

JOHN C. KEENE

The Keene family honors John Culverson Keene and his son, John C. (Carlton) Keene. These are the people who established the Keene family in Perry Co.

John Culverson Keene was born in Virginia in 1798. He probably descended from the Virginia Keenes, the first of whom came to Virginia c. 1630. Early in the 1600s, one Thomas Keene married Elizabeth Gosnold in Earleshall, Suffolk, England. The Gosnolds were connected with the Virginia Company, and Thomas, the son of Thomas Keene and Elizabeth Gosnold Keene, came to Virginia around 1630. In 1631 he moved to Kent Island in the Chesapeake Bay, where he married his wife, Mary. Their eldest son, William, was born there in 1642, and the family returned to Northumberland Co., Va. in 1649 or 1650. They had three other children: Susan, who married John Garner; Thomas, who probably migrated after 1661; and Matthew, who had two daughters. John Culverson Keene could have descended from Thomas, son of Thomas and Mary Keene of Kent Island.

William Keene, son of Thomas and Mary Keene, continued to live in Northumberland Co., Va., married Elizabeth Rogers, and died in 1684. This couple had six children. Elizabeth, born in 1669, married into the Lee family. Anne married a man named Metcalf. Sarah was born in 1678. William, born in 1665, and John, born in 1671, presumably migrated. It is interesting to note that Hannah Keene, born to William Keene and Elizabeth Rogers Keene in 1676, married John Bushrod, and their daughter, Hannah Bushrod married John Augustine Washington, brother of George Washington. Hannah Washington became the mistress of Mt. Vernon until George Washington married Martha Custis. John Augustine Washington and Hannah Bushrod Washington had two children: Corbin Washington, who married Hannah Lee, and Bushrod Washington, who married Julia Blackburn. Upon his death, George Washington gave Mt. Vernon to his nephew, Bushrod Washington. In turn, Bushrod Washington, who had no children, gave Mt. Vernon to his nephew, John Augustine Washington II, son of Bushrod's brother, Corbin Washington, John Augustine Washington II gave Mt. Vernon to his son, John Augustine Washington III, who died in 1861, giving Mt. Vernon to the nation. Thus, after George Washington, all the private owners of Mt. Vernon had descended from Thomas and Mary Keene of Kent Island.

It could be that John Culverson Keene was the grandson or great grandson of William Keene, born in 1665, or John Keene, born in 1671, both of whom were sons of William Keene and Elizabeth Rogers Keene, and both of whom are presumed to have migrated from Northumberland Co.

At any rate, John Culverson Keene, born in Virginia in 1798, was married to Sarah Wells. They were living on a farm in Sumner Co. near Gallatin, Tn., some twenty-five miles from Nashville, in 1827, when John C. Keene was born. When John C. Keene was fifteen years old, the family moved to a farm in Perry Co. north of Pinckneyville. John Culverson Keene and Sarah Wells Keene had four additional children: Lemiel, who married Rebecca Rippey; Johnson, who married Jane Pitchford; Jane, who married Jim Murry Provack, and Nancy, who married Sam Cormack. Sarah Wells Keene died c. 1850. Additional children of John Culverson Keene were: Maston, who married Elizabeth Carry; William, who married Mary Stevenson; Kathryn, who married Levi Presswood; Annie who married Daniel Holman; Amos, who married Rhody Taylor; Howard, who married Frankie Taylor; and Ed, Hardin, and Millie; fourteen children in all.

John C. Keene continued in farm work north of Pinckneyville. Popularly known as "Jack", he raised the first flagpole with a team of oxen in front of Perry Co.'s first courthouse. He professed faith in Christ at an old-fashioned camp meeting held near the Gravelly Ford on Beaucoup Creek and was baptized by David Huggins into the fellowship of the old Swanwick Baptist Church (now Oak Grove) in 1847. He married Nancy Burdine Smith, daughter of Willis Smith and Phoebe Taylor Smith, on Nov. 21, 1850. John C. Keene served in Company D of the 110th Illinois Infantry during the Civil War, 1862-1865.

John C. and Nancy B. Keene had the following children: Sarah Elizabeth (1853-1936) who married W. B. Martin; Thomas H. (1855-1947) who married Martha Keene; John Willis (1859-1942) who married Annis Reisinger; Pheba (1857-1907) who married Henry Houghland; William E. (1861-1934) who married Charlotte Luben; Clementine (1868-1965) who married Creed Smith; Benjamin F. (1871-1953) who married Mollie Baker; Francis (-1949) who married Frank Boze; Mary (1851-1924) who married Joshua Tipton; Malachi (1876-1962) who married Mary Honora O'Neil; and Charles E. (1880-1907) who married

Mae Burlison. Two infant sons, Jackson and Joseph, died during the Civil War.

John C. Keene died May 2, 1917, at the home of his son, Malachi. His wife, Nancy, had preceded him in death in 1889. At the time of his death, he had sixty-two grandchildren, sixty great-grandchildren, and two great-great-grandchildren, thus giving the Keene family a solid start in Perry Co., as well as elsewhere. — Submitted by Roland Keene

JOHN W. KEENE

John Willis Keene was born in 1859, the fourth of thirteen children born to John C. Keene and Nancy B. Keene. He died in 1942. John W. Keene was married to Annis Reisinger, who was born in Meggs Co., Oh., in 1861 and passed away in 1916. This couple lived in a two-story home built on forty acres two miles north of Pinckneyville purchased from the Illinois Central Railroad Company. John W. was engaged in farming and stock raising until they moved to Pinckneyville where they had built a new home on Jackson Street. Annis died in 1916, and he later married Kate Rule.

John W. Keene served as the mayor of Pinckneyville for 12 years, 1919-25 and 1929-35. During this time, he brought the city completely out of debt, and he also brought the city its water treatment plant which immediately did away with the muddy water people had come to expect from the water taps.

Along with nineteen other men, John W. Keene built Pinckneyville's first light plant and ice plant, located where the present power transformer station stands. People were charged 90¢ per month for their electricity.

Ice was manufactured in Pinckneyville until the late 1930s. It was produced in 300-pound blocks, scored so that a person with an ice pick could easily make two 50-pound or four 25-pound cubes. In the early days, people had metal-lined, wooden "ice boxes." These ice chests were well insulated and had good handle-locks on the doors to make sure the doors were closed so that no heat could enter from the outside. The "ice wagon" came around daily so that people could replenish the ice box. Naturally children gathered around the ice wagon in the hopes of getting a treat, consisting of extra chips of ice that resulted from making smaller blocks out of the 100-pound blocks. As a matter of fact, the delivery man usually made sure there were enough of these chips to go around.

John W. Keene, civic leader and church leader, bought his first automobile, a Model T Ford, in 1915, to facilitate his activities. His family accepted Christ and became members of the Oak Grove Baptist Church or the First Baptist Church in Pinckneyville.

Nine children were born to John W. and Annis Keene: Bertie (1881-1960) married Al Hill; Jesse (1885-1931) and Minta (1885-1966), Jesse married Grace Lynch and Minta married Willie Dempsey; William D. (1888-1973) married Cecelia Lynch, later Beulah Hart; Nona D. (1891-1972); Edith (born 1893) married Cal Gruner; Dempsey (1896-1956) married Edith Taylor; Verne (1899-1969) married Frank Steinle; Stanley R. (born 1902) married Wanda Kelley. — Submitted by Stanley R. Keene

THOMAS HENRY KEENE

Thomas Henry Keene, born (3-3-1855) to John Culverson (Jack) and Nancy Burdine Smith Keene in Gallatin Co., Tn. The family moved to Perry Co. when the children were small. John C. Keene's father had homesteaded land in Perry Co. Thomas, the eldest son, though still a boy, cut windows in the log cabin home so his mother could have more light while cleaning wool or weaving cloth from which she made their clothes. He used oiled paper instead of glass for the windows. A fireplace was used for heat and cooking.

Thomas and Martha Jane Keene (2-1-1860) were married (9-28-1876). To this union six children were born; Oscar Auda (1-8-1879), Maston Culverson (Pete) (1881-1947), Joseph (1880-1896), Ora Viola (1883-1942), Alta (1885-1904), and Jennie (1887-1897).

Thomas, with the help of his family, cleared the original eighty acres of their farm. He did carpenter work and contracted in Pinckneyville and the surrounding area. When a death occurred Thomas was asked to make a casket. He would build a casket, then Martha would pad and line it for use.

Martha was good to everyone. A small band of Indians located on her home place near a natural spring. The Indians communicated with signs and motions to tell Martha what they wanted. If they asked for chickens to eat she always told them yes, then the Indians would run the chickens down. The Indians lived there about three years.

The family were members of the Oak Grove Baptist Church. After most of the family had grown up and left to make homes for themselves, Thomas and Martha with daughter Alta moved to their home on Beaucoup Street in Pinckneyville.

Ora Viola (8-22-1883) and Carl William Kuhnert (1-1-1877) were married (8-24-1898). Two daughters and a son were born to this union; Cecile Mae (7-27-1900), Charles Thomas (5-12-1902) and Pearl Flossie (3-21-1904). The couple lived on a farm near her home where they farmed. After about four years they bought a house in Pinckneyville and moved there. Carl worked in the mines and also did carpenter work.

Carl enjoyed hunting and fishing. The family happiness wasn't to last. Carl was badly hurt by a slate fall in the mine, never to fully recover. He came down with pneumonia and passed away (8-22-1906) leaving his wife and three children.

Martha was ill for months when she died (7-11-1923) at Ora Viola's home. After Martha's death Thomas mostly made his home between two of his grandchildren, in the homes of Cecile M. Kuhnert Valentine or Charles T. Kuhnert. Thomas Henry Keene died (4-13-1947) and was interred in Oak Grove Cemetery beside his wife Martha. — Submitted by Cecile M. Valentine

KEINER-TELKEMEYER

George Keiner was born to Henry and Caroline (Woll) Keiner on Nov. 3, 1891, at the Keiner homeplace west of Du Quoin. He attended the Cudgetown School. As a young man he worked as a farmhand for prominent farmers of the area.

Marie Telkemeyer was born to Fred and Lena Telkemeyer on July 18, 1897, at the Telkemeyer homeplace a mile north of Sunfield. She attended Roots School. She, too, worked as a housekeeper for various families in Du Quoin.

They were married on July 9, 1916, at the St. Johannes Church. At that time it was quite appropriate to celebrate a marriage with a charivari. Family, friends, and neighbors came to the bride's home ringing cowbells, clanging dishpans and tincans, firing guns, etc. The loud noise continued until the young couple came out and welcomed them into the house. The Sunfield band also played at this affair.

George and Marie lived for about three years with Mary Keiner, a widow, and her baby northeast of Du Quoin. In 1918, a baby girl named Mildred Caroline was born to the Keiners. The next year they bought a part of the Keiner farm and the family homeplace west of Du Quoin. When they moved they drove their cattle down the Main Street of Du Quoin. They moved the chickens and hogs by wagon at night.

In 1921 a son, Henry Arthur was born. At this time, George worked at the Jewel Mine west of Du Quoin and with the help of Marie they also farmed.

A few years later when the mine closed they built a hip-roofed barn and went into the dairy business, too. They and other farmers hauled the milk to Rushing's Dairy where it was pasteurized and delivered to townspeople.

In 1924, when Marie's sister, Lena, died and left two little girls, Eileen and Dorothy Morgenstern, ages 1½ and 3 years old, they took them into their home to care for them. When their father, Arthur Morgenstern, remarried he took them back to his home. Just before Christmas that year the Keiner's two-story home burned to the ground. In the Spring of 1925 a new five-room bungalow was built at the same place.

Both of their children were baptized and confirmed at the St. John's Evangelical Church. They attended Cudgetown and Slawson Schools. Mildred graduated from D.T.H.S. in 1935 and a few years later married Herman Hirsch.

Henry graduated from Lincoln Electric Welding School in Cleveland, Oh. He served four years in the U.S. Navy during W.W. II and reached the rank of Aviation Metalsmith 2nd Class. He married Inez (Miller) Bailey.

In 1944 due to the death of Marie's sister, Minnie, the Keiner's again took three of her youngest children, Norma 2, Jerry 4, and Alex 6, into their home to care for them. In a few years the two boys joined their family and Norma was cared for until her marriage to Jack Lee.

The United Electric Coal Co. purchased all of the farm except the homeplace in early 1944. At that time they had a public auction to dispose of all farm machinery. They never owned a tractor or modern machinery. All farm work was done with horses.

In the years to follow they raised chickens and worked a large garden. They always took great pride in the neatness of their home and surroundings.

George passed away on Sept. 21, 1974. Marie is still living and for the past 9 months has been a resident of Fairview Nursing Center.

KEINER-WOLL

Heinrich W. Keiner was born in Werdorf, Germany, on May 11, 1849, to Wilhelm C. Keiner and Sophie (Kern) Keiner. As a young man he served in the Franco-Prussian War. After the war, since there was such a shortage of farmland in Werdorf, he came to America around 1882.

On Aug. 18, 1885, he married Caroline Woll who was born in Bavaria, Germany on Aug. 3, 1861, to Heinrich Woll and Margarethe (Zede) Woll. It is not known when she came to America, but records show she was confirmed in the St. Johannes Evangelischen Kirche on Apr. 14, 1878.

Their marriage took place in the same church by Rev. Siegfried.

They spent their lifetime on a farm 3 miles west of Du Quoin.

Eight children were born to this family. Otilla born July 4, 1886, married Charles Bahre and they lived in the Cudgetown area northwest of Du Quoin most of their lives. They had 3 children - Carolyn, Ruth, and Charles K. Tillie died on Sept. 27, 1973. Interment was in McElvain Cemetery.

Minna L. was born on Mar. 6, 1888, and married John Bruder. They lived southwest of Du Quoin. Farming was their livelihood. They had no children. Minna died Nov. 16, 1974, and was buried in McElvain Cemetery.

Otto H., born Oct. 25, 1889, married Ellen Mann. He was a carpenter and farmer. They spent their lifetime on a part of the family farm west of Du Quoin. Two sons, Raymond and Arthur were born to this union. Otto met a tragic death on Sept. 30, 1935. A car smashed into the back of the hay wagon when he and his sons were coming from the field. Burial was in Sacred Heart Cemetery.

George H., the fourth child, was born Nov. 3, 1891. He married Marie Telkemeyer and lived on the other part of the family farm. They had two children, Mildred and Henry. George died Sept. 21, 1974.

Fred E. born Sept. 17, 1893, married Clara Kunkel. They lived on a small farm west of Du Quoin and besides farming he worked at Keiner's Feed Store. They had two children, Evelyn and Frederick Gene. Fred died on Mar. 2, 1964.

Adam C. was born Nov. 7, 1895, and married Gladys Harriss. They, too, lived on a small farm west of Du Quoin. Adam was one of the founders of Keiner Feed & Produce Store. They had two daughters Marjorie and Patsey. Adam and Fred were both W.W.I. veterans. Adam died May 27, 1960. He, George, and Fred are buried at Sunset Memorial Park.

Herman W., born Apr. 13, 1897, married Theresa Koss. They lived in Du Quoin and had no children. Herman was the other founder of Keiner's Store. He died Jan. 26, 1943, and was buried at Sacred Heart Cemetery.

Margaret, the youngest, was born Apr. 9, 1900. She worked as a clerk in Du Quoin stores. She married George Adams of Effingham. Margaret is now a resident of Fairacres Nursing Home.

All of the children were baptized and confirmed in the St. Johannes Church. They all attended the Cudgetown School.

On May 12, 1903, Caroline died suddenly while helping chase a calf in the barnlot. Heinrich died of a heart attack May 18, 1915. Interment for the couple was at McElvain Cemetery.

KELLER

Nancy Ann Ellison Keller was born Aug. 15, 1948 in a small community called Cottonwood in Gallatin Co., Il. She was the first child of Lawrence and Mary Ellison. As an amateur genealogist, she can trace her beginnings to the late 1700's.

Records show Nancy's great-great-grandfather, James S. Ellison (b. Oct. 7, 1797) came from North Carolina where he was born. From what we can find, it appears he was married twice during his lifetime. He and his first wife, Drewsilla, had nine children, the last of which was Nancy's great-grandfather. He and his second wife, Franca had an addition six children. When James came to Illinois, probably in the 1830's, he was listed as quite a prosperous farmer in Gallatin Co.

Born in Gallatin Co., Il., Nancy's great-grandfather was John William Ellison. His first marriage to Laurie Carney produced two children, a son and a daughter. After the death of his wife, he married Michiel Elizabeth Ann "Lizzy" Patterson (b. 1858) and had nine children. John William served in the Civil War as a Corporal in the Union Army in the 29th Infantry.

Elbert Ellison (b. Nov. 29, 1892), the youngest son of John W. and Lizzy Ellison was Nancy's grandfather, Stella Myrtle Quick (b. June 8, 1895) became his bride in 1916. They had three sons; Herbert Hoover, George Hubert and Lawrence Elbert, and one daughter. It was not until 1986 when Lawrence (in his 60's) learned of the sister who had died at birth. A favorite story revolves around the time Stella lost her gold wedding band. Being so upset over it's loss, the family and friends unloaded a wagon full of corn - an ear at a time - until the ring was found. Her great-granddaughter now has possession of that priceless heirloom. Stella died in 1936 and Elbert or "Eb" to his friends, met and married Lillie Williams in 1938. Stella, Eb, and Lillie are all buried at Asbury Cemetery in Gallatin Co. where they spent their entire life farming the land.

Katrina, Nancy and Ronald Keller

The first of the Ellison descendents to reside in Perry Co., Il., Lawrence Elbert Ellison (b. May 16, 1924) married Mary Elizabeth Reeder (b. Apr. 1, 1923) on Jan. 17, 1948. They had four children: Nancy Ann, Lawrence Steven, Stella Jean, and Thomas Richard. He also adopted and raised as his own, his wife's two daughter's from a previous marriage, Pearl Eva and Joan Marie. Lawrence's occupations have included farming, lumberyard work, oil field experience, auto mechanics, factory worker and currently his own washing machine repair shop in Du Quoin. It is often said of Lawrence that "he never meets a stranger," and "he always looks for the good in those he meets."

Having lived in several Southern Illinois towns, including Cottonwood, Norris City, Enfield and McLeansboro, the Ellison family moved to Tamaroa in Perry Co. Il. in Aug. of 1965. Nancy completed her senior year at TCHS in 1966. The following year, she married Ronald Arthur Keller (b. Mar. 13, 1945). In 1974, their only daughter, Katrina Leeann was born in the Carbondale Memorial Hospital.

After moving to Du Quoin in 1975, Nancy and Ron eventually built a home south of Du Quoin, where they now reside. Nancy works as an office cashier for Wal-Mart in Du Quoin, while Ron is employed by Consolidation Coal near Pinckneyville. Katrina is a student at J. B. Ward Grade School in Du Quoin. They enjoy fishing and camping and are members of the American Thresherman's Association. Nancy and Ron are both certified EMT's and work with the local ambulance service. Nancy enjoys genealogy and learning more about her and her husband's ancestry. — Submitted by Nancy Ellison Keller

KELLER-BRAMBLETT

Robert Charles Thompson Keller (Nov. 22, 1825-Nov. 23, 1919) married Ellender Nellie Bramblett (Apr. 5, 1825-Nov. 28, 1885). They lived for a few years in the Keller-Town community in Bedford Co., Tn., where he was born. Nellie was born in the state of Georgia but came to Tennessee with her parents as a young girl. They sold their farm and moved to Perry Co., Il. about the year of 1850, settling in the Paradise Prairie community approximately 6 miles east of Du Quoin, Il.

Their moving process was very simple, by this time they were the parents of three children. Nellie rode a horse, carrying the youngest in her arms with another one secured on the horse she was riding. Robert had the other child on the other horse along with a few living supplies.

They raised six children, 3 boys and 3 girls, who married and raised families of their own. When they were married and started homes of their own their parents, Robert and Nellie, gave each of them 40 acres of land.

The family of Fred G. and Leota J. Keller on 50th Anniversary, 1970

They were charter members of the Paradise Missionary Baptist Church approximately two miles from their home and are buried in the church cemetery. The original church building was a rather plain building which was replaced, in about 1909 or 1910, with a larger and more decorative church and seating considerably more people. It also was a frame building, which was hit by lightning and burned in the summer of 1945. The present church building is a beautiful stone structure, standing approximately eight miles east of Pinckneyville on State Route #154.

Their oldest son, John A. Keller, fought in the Union Army of the War between the States, and was a prisoner of war in the Andersonville Prison, where, it was reported, those who were sent there received some rather cruel treatment. When he was released, he bought his breakfast, which was a cup of rice, for which he paid $1.00, but he said it was well worth it to him.

The children of Robert and Nellie were: John A. (Civil War veteran), Joseph N., Sophia, James B., Isabell, and Rhoda Tula. These children have all passed from the stage of action, along with their married partners, as well as the grandchildren and most of the great-grandchildren.

KELLER-ELLISON

Ronald Arthur Keller and Nancy Ann Ellison were united in marriage on Apr. 16, 1967 at the Missionary Baptist Church in Tamaroa. Their only daughter, Katrina Leeann made their family complete on May 31, 1974 when she was born in the Carbondale Memorial Hospital in Jackson Co.

Ron is employed as a foreman at the Consol B.S. #2 Coal Mines near Pinckneyville. He is a certified EMT/A in the State of Illinois and has volunteered his services with the ambulance service for sometime. Ron also enjoys fishing, woodworking and is a member of the American Thresherman's Association.

The son of the late Arthur Philip Keller (b. Oct. 4, 1915) and Madge Clarinda Clampet (b. Dec. 26, 1919), Ron was the third child of ten children: Arthur Philip Jr., Phyllis Madge, Ronald Arthur, Eugene Louis, Patricia Elaine, Charlene Kay, Donald Edward, Carol Joan, Raymond Michael, and Lee Ellen. Ron's father, Art worked at the Tamaroa Home Lumber Co. For many years and also served as the town's mayor until his death. Madge, his mother was a school teacher in her early years and a treasured babysitter to many working mothers after her teaching ended. Louis George Keller (b. July 18, 1864) and Clara Eliza Hester (b. May 30, 1876) were Ron's grandparent's on his father's side. His grandfather worked on the railroad in his early life until he became almost totally blind at about the age of thirty. Ron remembers that, although blind, he could still chop wood with an axe and use a bucksaw as well as anyone. He loved smoking a pipe, using tobacco grown in his own garden in Tamaroa. Blacksmithing was also a job he performed with excellence.

From what we are told and have records to, Ron's great grandfather, Henry Louis Keller (b. Jan. 5, 1817) came from Darmstadt, Hessen, Germany and his great-grandmother, Christine Ekhert Keller (b. Oct. 12, 1827) from Mushelstadt, Germany. Both died in Perry Co., Il. and are buried at the Round Prairie Cemetery NW of Tamaroa. No stones remain as hogs destroyed their grave-stones in the early 1980's. No one is quite sure when they arrived in America, however; their first son Philip Lewis was born in 1848 in St. Clair Co.,

F: Carol, Raymond and Ellen Keller. B: Phyllis, Ronald, Eugene, Patricia and Donald Keller (children of Madge and Arthur Keller)

Il. Also added to this union were Mary, John, Louise, Louis George (Ron's grandfather) and Catherine.

Henry Louis Keller had three brothers and one sister that we are aware of. We think that Adam settled in the Philadelphia area. Christine became lost from the family, although a man by the name of Pete Ming from Monroe Co., Il., claiming to be her son, passed thru our area in the 1930's. Peter spent his life in and around the Tamaroa area and was affiliated with the Odd Fellows Lodge. John's whereabouts remain a mystery.

On Ronald's Mother's side of the family, his grandparents were Raymond Lloyd Clampet (b. Jan. 1, 1900) and Lela Marie "Granny" Taylor Clampet (b. Mar. 7, 1899). "Granny" is remembered well in the Tamaroa area and could be seen in the 1970's driving a horse and buggy from her house to town to do errands or to visit family and friends.

Ron, Nancy and Katrina are now residing south of Du Quoin in the Brookshire Subdivision where they built their home a few years ago. Katrina is a student at the J. B. Ward Grade School while Nancy is employed at the Wal-Mart Store as an office cashier. — Submitted by Nancy Ellison Keller

KELLER-LATIMER

Benjamin Henry Keller and his wife Mary Jane Latimer were married 27 Mar. 1851 in Bedford Co., Tn. and had moved to Perry Co., Il. by 1853. Their son James Robert Keller, who was my great grandfather, was born the 29th of Oct. 1854 in the Paradise Prairie area of Perry Co. They were the sons of Rev. Reuben Kelley (1763-1815) and his wife Louisa (1770-ca. 1850). The Rev. Reuben Kelley's parents were Nelson Kelley, a Revolutionary War Veteran, and Elizabeth Jeffries. with her brothers and sisters moved to Perry Co. at the same time she and Ben did. Mary Jane Latimer Keller has an interesting family tree. Her grandfather was Witherel Latimer an ensign in the Revolutionary War from Connecticut. Her great grandfather was Colonel Jonathan Latimer from Connecticut, who fought at the battle of Bunker Hill. Jonathan's ancestry traces back to the Elder William Brewster of the Mayflower. Both Jonathan and his wife Lucretia Griswold Latimer trace their family lines back to William the Conqueror, Frederick Barbarossa, and the Emperor Charlemagne.

In later years, Ben and Mary Jane moved to Union Co., Il. while his brother Robert C. T. Keller and wife lived all the rest of their lives in Perry Co. Mary Jane died on 1 Nov. 1890 in Union Co. KELLER-RODMAN Arlene Rodman Keller was the fourth child of John A. Rodman (1882-1957) and Regina Herth Rodman (1887-1976). The other children were: Catherine, Gene, Elizabeth, Helen, and Regina.

John Rodman was a mail clerk for the railroad, and coordinator of the Du Quoin Khoury League. He was born in Benton, Il. His father B. F. Rodman (Benjamin Franklin) was a Baptist minister who traveled by horseback or mule to the communities of the area. He and his family ran the Du Quoin Baptist Book Store and then later the Carbondale Baptist Book Store. B. F.'s father, John A. Rodman Sr., was also a traveling Baptist minister. John Rodman (Arlene's father) was known as Pop Rodman. His mother was Lou Ward Rodman (Benton). She died in childbirth in 1884. John's step-mother, Elizbelle, was from the Arkansas area. She and B. F. Rodman ran the bookstore and lived at 201 S. Mulberry St. A home that was later owned by John's son, Gene. Benjamin Franklin Rodman was well known throughout the area for his "fire and brimstone" preaching.

Regina Herth Rodman was the daughter of William (Bill) Herth from New Athens and Hannah Gilenberg (Germany). Regina ran R. H. Rodman's Grocery. This store was located behind the family homestead at North Washington Street. Her father, Bill, was a butcher by trade.

Arlene Rodman (1915) married Joseph Roy Keller (1910-1970) from the Elksville area. They were the parents of seven children: John, William, Thomas, Mary, Frances, Suzanne, and Cynthia (1957).

Arlene is a member of Sacred Heart Parish. She has worked many years as a cook at the Maid Rite Cafe.

Joseph Keller was a welder at the Truax Traer Mines and then Consol Mines. He, in his younger days, played a farm league type of baseball in West Virginia, then in Du Quoin. He coached for many years the American Legion Baseball teams, was also involved with the Khoury League, and served as an umpire for the high school baseball teams. He was affectionately known as "Cigar" by the young men he coached.

ARTHUR J. KELLER

Arthur J. Keller was born in Paradise Prairie on Oct. 28, 1890, the oldest son of William C. Keller and Minerva Missouri Provart Keller. He had three brothers, Roy, Fred, (who still lives in Du Quoin) and Dyer. They lived on a farm near where the Du Quoin Packing Co. "Batch" is now located.

The sons all worked hard raising cows, hogs and chickens for their food. When crops were being planted and harvested they had to stay home and help so they did not go to school but part of the year. Arthur finished the 8th grade at Montgomery school at the age of 19. Besides helping his Dad he hired out on other farms for $18.00 a month. In the winter he butchered hogs and cows and peddled them out.

In 1912 he spent the proceeds from his crop, $25.00 on a diamond ring for Blanche Emeline Montgomery, the daughter of Marsh and Electa Youngblood Montgomery and on Feb. 23, 1913 they were married.

In 1917 they moved into Du Quoin and he worked at the old Security mine and later at the White Ash mine for $1.96 a shift. In 1917 he registered for the draft but was not taken because his first two daughters were small and he was employed at the mines and they needed the coal for the war.

In 1918 he quit the mines and moved to 702 E. Main where he and Blanche spent the rest of their lives. He went into the feed business on the corner of Park and Leonard and later built a new grocery store next door at 695 E. Park. He sold groceries there until the chain store came in and forced small businesses out. About 1932 he went to Chicago and took a course in the artificial insemination of livestock. He followed this breeding business in the spring and in the summer he took horses and mules and fancy show horses on the county fair circuit.

In 1949 he quit the horse business and started selling Rexairs, air conditioners and cleaners, which are now known by the name Rainbow. He loved selling and visiting with people and followed this business until his death in Feb. of 1986 at the age of 95.

Arthur and Blanche were members of the Methodist Church in Du Quoin and Arthur loved to sing in the choir. He was an avid Democrat and served as an election judge from 1912 until 1980 when he broke his ankle with a riding mower. Blanche died in 1974 and until they were hampered by her ill health they had enjoyed church, political meetings and visiting their family.

They had three daughters, Genevieve Gray of Indianapolis, Roberta Kunkel, Olympia, Washington and Ruth Crews of Du Quoin, ten grandchildren and 18 great grandchildren.

During the 1960's their delight was in keeping up with the basketball careers of their grandsons, Michael and Alan Crews.

KELLERMAN-BECHERLE

John Kellerman (1824-1917) immigrated from Germany as a young man. He settled in Monroe Co., near Columbia, Il. It was here that John met and married Mary Becherle (1834-1915). Mary was also a German immigrant, but only by the slimmest of margins since she had been born on the boat during her parents crossing to America.

John and Mary worked rented land near Waterloo, Il. Elizabeth (Lizzie Commuso) and Kaspar, the first two of their eleven children, were born here. John and family then moved to Perry Co. where, due to what was at the time described as "a disposition to improve his opportunities by means of unflagging industry and perseverance, and now ranks among the well-to-do farmers of this section", they eventually came to own one hundred and ninety acres of improved land, off of route 3 north of Pinckneyville.

Nine more children were added to the family: Herman, John, Henry (who died at the age of twelve), Kate (Fiek), Mary (Miller), Henry William, Frank, Peter, and Joe.

Henry William (1870-1936) lived most of his life in the vicinity of Pinckneyville where he was a successful farmer and lumberman, served on the high school board, and owned and operated a thrashing business throughout Perry Co.

After his marriage to Henrietta Redfern (1871-1930) in 1894, Henry and his bride established their new home in Pinckneyville. They remained there until five of their children: Raymond, Richard, Winnie, Willard (who died at the age of five), and Mary (Huggins) were born.

After the death of Willard in 1906, Henry moved his family back to the farm north of Pinckneyville where he engaged in farming, lumber, and threshing.

In 1911 Henry and his brother-in-law, Lewis Sterling, bought and operated a coal mine in New Athens, Ill. Those four years were the only time Henry lived outside Perry Co. During that time the last of his children, Ernest, was born and died.

The family moved back to the farm north of Pinckneyville (1915) where he and his sons were once again engaged in the occupations they did before.

He continued farming until his retirement in 1928 when he and his wife moved to their new home in Pinckneyville.

KELLERMAN-FONTANA

James Henry Kellerman was the second child and first son born to August and Catherine (Todd) Kellerman on Oct. 5, 1909. Jim served in W.W.II and later married Felicita Fontana, born July 10, 1920 to Guerino (William) and Linda (Dal Santo) Fontana of the Diamondtown area west of Pinckneyville. Before marriage Felicita worked as a clerk at the A&P and Daniels Grocery Store.

They were married May 4, 1946 at St. Bruno's Catholic Church in Pinckneyville. After marriage, they resided for a short while west of Pinckneyville. They then purchased the eighty acre farm and house where Jim was born and raised. Jim farmed and did custom threshing for people. He owned a wheat separator, pea huller and clover huller. Jim also ran a sawmill for a short time before joining the Laborers Union and working construction. Felicita stayed busy raising their four children. Stephen James, born Sept. 8, 1947; Margaret Ann, born Aug. 6, 1952; Marietta Linda, born Apr. 8, 1954 and Timothy Joseph, born Mar. 22, 1962. Felicita canned and froze most of the family food, was active in church work and was a 4-H leader. Jim and Felicita raised chickens, pigs and cows. Chickens were butchered and frozen for winter use as well as some being kept as laying hens. Pigs were butchered when the weather was cold so the meat could be sugar cured without danger of spoilage. Milk, butter and cream were also enjoyed along with home made bread, made fresh by Felicita at least once a week.

Timothy Joseph resides at home with his parents and is an avid sportsman, enjoying hunting, fishing and trapping. He belongs to the Laborers Union, The American Thresherman Association and attends St. Mary Magdalen Catholic Church in Todds Mill.

Marietta Linda married Danny L. Fann and they have two children: Erin Elizabeth, born Sept. 12, 1980 and Todd Daniel, born Dec. 12, 1983.

Jim and Felicita Kellerman

Margaret Ann married Don Michael Francois and they are the parents of Melanie Ann, born Aug. 1, 1979 and James Michael, born Apr. 28, 1984.

Stephen James married the former Ruth Suedmeyer and they have a son, Mark Alan, born Oct. 12, 1985. Steve is a member of the Laborers Union and is active in many organizations, the main one being The American Threshermen Association. Ruth is an R.N. at Washington Co. Hospital and enjoys counted cross stitch.

ANDREW KELLY

Andrew Kelly and family came to America and settled in Swanwick Township, Perry Co., Il. from Ireland in the late 1840's or early 1850's. This immigration to America was said to be caused by the Great Irish Potato Famine of the 1840's. Andrew, with wife Mary, and three children; Bridget, John, and Catherine came to the new land to find a new life. Their travels, with other Irish families, led them across the United States to Perry Co., for Andrew to start his own farm.

A few years later, on Nov. 3, 1854 Mary gave birth to a new son, Andrew II. In 1857 Mary gave birth to yet another son, William S. This increased the number of children to five in the Kelly family. On Nov. 13, 1873 the elder Andrew died in Perry Co. at the age of 55. His will, dated Oct. 2, 1873 is still on file at the Perry Co. Court House. The younger Andrew (Andrew II) would later find work on the expanding railroads that came across Southern Illinois. Andrew worked on what is now the Illinois Central Gulf line between Pinckneyville and Marissa.

In 1886, Andrew II married Janie Mae North, oldest daughter of Levi North and Nancy J. Huey North. To this union ten children were born, six who reached adulthood. Those children were; Andrew Levi, Grace, Joseph Clyde, Fern, Carroll H., and young Janie Mae.

Around the turn of the century the family moved to Marissa in St. Clair Co., for Andrew II and eldest son, Andrew Levi, to work at the Eureka Mine No. 1 in Marissa, Il. On Nov. 30, 1909 while at home in Marissa, in bearing her youngest daughter Janie Mae II, Janie Mae North Kelly died at the age of 41. Andrew II with family, would later move to Sesser, Il. in 1911 to work in the coal mines of that community. Andrew Kelly II died on Mar. 21, 1915 in Sesser, at the age of 60 years old. CHESTER A. KEYES

Chester A. Keyes, a wealthy man, came with his family to St. Louis from Chillicothe, Oh. An Old Du Quoin resident persuaded him to come to the Old Du Quoin area where he started a store and became the postmaster. He had purchased much land in 1853 and he, and Isaac Metcalf, planned a town in anticipation of the coming of the Illinois Central railroad. When the railroad was an actuality, Keyes moved his store and post office to the "station".

The Keyes family lived in a home they built at 136 North Washington Street. It was separated from Main street by an Osage Orange hedge. There was a peach orchard east to Line Street. There was a spring on the property which the Baptist church used for baptisms. In 1857, Keyes built a lovely brick home at the northwest corner of Park and Division.

Keyes obituary was printed in the "Du Quoin Tribune", dated May 13, 1869. "The death of Chester A. Keyes, at his residence in this city, last Saturday evening, although not unexpected, has caused a gloom in the minds of a large circle of friends, and especially the settlers of Du Quoin, who remember the public spirit and liberality of the deceased, toward those settling in this city, when but a few years ago, it was only a small village of a few inhabitants. Only twelve or fifteen years ago, he was the principal proprietor of nearly all the territory upon which our prosperous, wealthy and populous young city now stands, and it is mainly through his business tact and liberality that so remarkable an increase of wealth and population has concentrated here, he in many instances, having sold to actual settlers, ground and building material on long credit and at such reasonable figures as to enable very many to pay him from the profits thereby derived from the advance in price of the real estate so purchased and improved. He has ever been foremost in everything calculated to advance the prosperity and growth of Du Quoin having been connected with the earlier coal operations and furnished the money to start the first printing office and other important enterprises. He was nearly 64 years old at the time of his death. One of the pioneers has passed away, whose every impulse and feeling was that the city of Du Quoin should grow strong and prosperous, and in his anxiety to speed its growth and promote the morals, the pleasure and health of the citizens, he liberally donated the ten acre tract now known as the city Park, besides the lots upon which several of the various churches and the public schools now stand.

"Mayor McLean very properly issued the following proclamation, which was very generally observed, and the remains of the deceased were followed to the cemetery by a large audience which would have been greatly swelled in numbers but for the unfavorable weather. We understand the city council adopted appropriate resolutions of condolence:

"The funeral of Chester A. Keyes will take place this morning at 10 o'clock from his late residence. I therefore, request all business men to close their doors, and invite them to join in the last sad rites to the remains of the father and founder of the city of Du Quoin, who by his public spirited liberality in his lifetime has endeared his memory to every good citizen."

KILLINGSWORTH-FOSTER

Back in the early 1900's, a painting of Jesus standing by the door knocking, stood in the Beacon Baptist Church of Pinckneyville. It was painted by Dean Summers; a grandson of William Pleasant Boliver Calhoun Killingsworth, "Pleas".

Pleas Killingsworth (1898)

Blanche Killingsworth Summers, 1986

If Pleas had not pioneered to Pinckneyville the legendary painting may never have existed.

Pleas Killingsworth was the son of a Cherokee and a white trader. At seventeen Pleas and his cousin James, 12, fled the Indian wars of North Carolina. With only a cannonball gun, they followed the Indian route known as the Trail of Tears, to Perry Co., in 1851. Weary along their trek, the boys settled Hawkins Co., Tn., where they farmed for three years. They set out again for Perry Co., and with all their belongings in a wagon, Pleas and James crossed the Ohio River by barge, landing in Cairo, and traveled on upward to Pinckneyville.

Pleas married Sarah Foster of Perry Co. in 1880. They raised their family, farming in the nine mile district. Both were buried at the Nine Mile Baptist Church Cemetery. Their children stayed in Perry Co.

Unlike his father, Aaron Dwight Killingsworth, the youngest son of Sarah and Pleas, became a coal miner when he was 16, shoveling coal for 50¢ a day. During the winter of 1916 Dwight, a walker, and his nephew Earl Rich would walk three miles from the Wiley District to Winkle Coal Mine. Earl would shortcut through the woods on ice skates, trying to reach the mine first. He never skated fast enough, as Dwight was always at the mine waiting for Earl.

In the early 1920's Dwight worked at Biby's Coal Mine. He dreamed to see the coal industry prosper; he envisioned loaderheads and cutting machines. At night Dwight attended school to help his chances for becoming a mine examiner and boss.

The union wars between the AF of L and CIO during the thirties were tragic for coal miners.

Dwight was a staunch supporter of the unions, fully backing John L. Lewis.

Dwight, known as Skip to his fellow miners, became pit boss for Old No. 5 mine in 1937. It was run by trustees. At times the payroll was so small it would be evenly divided amongst the miners. Dwight didn't live to see the growth of the coal industry for at 56, he was killed in a mining accident at Peabody Mine. His sole surviving daughter, Wilma Belle Killingsworth Rigoulot, has seen his dreams come true.

The painting of Jesus was lost during a fire in the Beacoup Baptist Church. Blanche Killingsworth Summers, the mother of the young artist who painted Jesus, lived in Pinckneyville until 1927, when she quit her job at the knitting mill, where McDaniels Furniture now stands, and moved to Flint, Mi. At 91, Blanche still lives in Flint. Through her, a piece of Perry Co. history came to pass in the form of a painting. Although, the painting is gone it is not forgotten, nor is the Killingsworth place in Perry Co.'s history.

Roberta Pyatt Kimmel was the seventh child of James M. Pyatt and Harriet E. Brown. She was born Dec. 24, 1893 in the two story family home at Pyatt Station. Her parents moved there around 1890 and she was the only child born in their house. Paternal grandparents were Izzi Jackson Pyatt and Mary Jane Craig. Maternal grandparents John and Eliza Brown. Her father was a well educated man. The neighbors sought his counsel and called him "Judge."

Roberta loved to play games with her brothers and sisters. She attended the Osborne one room school at the Y, one-half mile from her home. Her first teacher was Ambrosia Adams of Tamaroa. Her second was her older sister, Jennie.

Jennie was transferred to a Pinckneyville school, where she and Roberta moved for Roberta's remaining years in grammar school.

Roberta attended high school in Du Quoin and lived with her aunts, Mary and Nettie, on South Washington street. Other cousins lived there at various times and their families sent food from the farm.

Roberta attended college for one year in Carbondale. She then went to work for the Du Quoin Wholesale Grocery Company doing office work and later became their bookkeeper. She lived with Aunt Nettie and paid $5 when she thought it was needed.

On Dec. 4, 1918, Roberta married Maurice Edward Kimmel of Du Quoin, son of Edward Kimmel and Harriette Alafair Kimmel. She was married at her parents' home at Pyatt's Station. She went from the ceremony to bed with the flu of 1919. Maurice traveled by train from Du Quoin until she recovered.

Maurice and Roberta moved to Du Quoin, where they eventually built a house at 105 S. Onstott. Maurice worked in his father's hardware

EDWARD KIMMEL

Edward Kimmel was born in Jackson Co. in Elkhaville, Ill. in 1850. His father Joseph came from Somerset Co. in Pennsylvania. He brought with him a fine breed of horses much bigger and stronger than those used for farming in the area. Consequently, he established a stock farm and a hauling business that moved large timbers and rocks used in building the I.C. Railroad throughout Southern Illinois.

He married Isabel Schwartz who bore him a son, Edward, in 1850. About a year later another son was born, but the mother and the infant both died shortly after the birth. Barely two years later Joseph, himself, died leaving little Edward to be reared by his uncle and aunt, Edward and Sarah Schwartz. Edward's inheritance was sufficient to provide him a good education in colleges in Carbondale and in Carthage, Ill.

In 1875 Edward married Alifair Onstott and moved to Du Quoin. Until their house was built the young couple lived with her parents, Elihu and Ann Onstott. The Kimmel home is still occupied at 203 East South Street.

Edward and his brother-in-law, Don M. Onstott, assumed the management and operation of the hardware store and "the Brick Mill" both of which Elihu Onstott had established. Eventually, Edward bought the store from the Onstott family. Edward and Alifair had five children. William A. - married Keturah Jones; Howard E. (Attorney) married Gertrude Humphrey; Fred (Dentist) married Ida Wright, they lived in Montana; Ruth Isabella (better known as "sister"); and Maurice E. married Roberta Pyatt.

MAURICE EDWARD KIMMEL

Maurice, son of Edward and Harrietta Alafair Kimmel, was born on Oct. 12, 1892 in Du Quoin. He was the youngest of five children and was born in the family home on East South Street, next door to his maternal grandparents' home. His maternal grandparents were Elihu and Ann Wells Onstott. His paternal grandparents were Joseph and Isabelle Kimmel of Elkhaville.

His education began at the Ward School and continued to Du Quoin Township High School, graduating in the class of 1911, a class of 29 students. He attended one year at University of Illinois and pledged Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

In 1914, he served in the U.S. Navy at Great Lakes, Ill. His time was spent in a detention camp and he was discharged as a meningitis carrier. He remembered slipping out of his tent one night to hear John Philip Sousa's band.

Maurice worked for his father in the Kimmel Hardware store on the corner of Mulberry and Main streets. He attended Gene Business College in Quincy and bought half interest in the hardware which he and his brother, Will, operated for many years. On Oct. 19, 1953, the store was sold to Louis Gremmels.

The Kimmel Corner was famous locally for its community water well, which for years had a hand pump and later a fountain installed by the American Legion Post.

Maurice was always active with hobbies. As part of his military training he studied wireless telegraphy at Harvard and maintained a station in his home for several years. He also raised pheasants and was a member of the American Legion Roy Mitchell Post and a drummer in the nationally recognized drum and bugle corps in the 1930's. In his later years Maurice's hobby was amateur photography. He worked to perfect his skill and obtained nearly professional quality work, winning many awards.

In 1953, he suffered a stroke and was forced to sell the hardware store. Even though partially handicapped, he found a new hobby in raising African Violets.

On Dec. 4, 1918, Maurice was married to Roberta Pyatt Kimmel. This union produced three children, Jean Alice (1919-1919), Joe Robert (1922-1985) and Harriette Jane (1923-).

Leonard apprenticed himself to a shoemaker, then moved to Naperville, Ill., where he ran a successful business. In 1879 he sold the business and planned to move to Arkansas. When he arrived in Du Quoin in 1880 on his way south, he found the city congenial and in need of shoe repair and cobbling and decided to stay. He continued the business until his death on Jan. 2, 1907. His shop was located on W. Main. He also had a cigar rolling business which employed four to five men.

Leonard bought a large plot of land on Linden St. where he built a fine home (which still stands at 209 N. Linden) planted an orchard and had an extensive vegetable garden. He enjoyed the woods and was reputed to be the best informed person on plant life in the area. He also had musical training and taught music to his children. At the Seventh Annual Commencement of the high school, May 6, 1892, the program reads: "Music by Knetzger's Orchestra." Seven children were born to Leonard and Beatrix: Charles, who went into the lumber business in Peoria; August, who with the youngest child Louis, wanted to see the world. As they both had musical training, they joined up with circuses and minstrel shows and toured the US and Europe. Other children included Adelaide, who married Casper Horn of Du Benjamin F. Koerner, the 5th child of Ignatius and Katherine (Mueller) Koerner, was born Mar. 30, 1901. Ignatius Koerner was born in Germany and came to America at the age of 3 years. On June 29, 1937 Ben married Lois Eileen Dry, who traces her family back to the Revelle, Maclin, Moore, and Harriss families, among others.

The first Revelle in Perry Co., Axum M. Revelle (1834-1936), arrived in 1864, following his father-in-law, Issac E. Maclin, who arrived in 1863 from Crockett Co., Tn. Axum was married to Susan Alice Maclin (1840-1917). Susan maintained a correspondence with a wide variety of friends and relatives in both the Confederate and Union armies. In Perry Co. she served her neighbors as a midwife, and was often gone from home for days at a time. Axum fought for the Confederacy during the Civil War, first as a cavalryman in the Stonewall Division, and later in the artillery. Two of his brothers fought for the Union.

Axum and Susan's youngest daughter, Martha (Betty) E. Revelle (1878-1976) married Frank E. Dry (1877-1938), a farmer living near the Nine Mile Church.

The Dry family arrived in America, apparently as indentured servants from Holland, between 1650 and 1700. John F. Dry arrived in Perry Co. in 1829. He married Nancy E. Harriss, whose father Jordan, grandfather Johnson, and great-grandfather Edward Harriss (a Revolutionary War soldier) all came to Perry Co. in 1829.

John and Nancy's son, Roberts M., was a rural mail carrier, and was unusually well educated for his time, being a college graduate. He married Anna V. Moore, who numbered among her ancestors four Revolutionary War veterans and a veteran of the War of 1812. Roberts and Anna's son was the Frank E. Dry already mentioned.

LAMPLEY-BRAYFIELD

Nettie Brayfield and her twin, Rettie, were born Aug. 21, 1885 in rural Sparta to Julia Ann Hiser and James Gillis Brayfield. There were several other children born to them, including two other sets of twins, Anna Belle and Eldon. Anna is the only one of all the children living. She is in a nursing home in Ardmore, Ok., and was 97 years old Mar., 1987. Nora and Louetta were the only other girls that lived in Du Quoin. Nora married Henry Kunze and Louetta's daughter was quite well known here, Lela "Dollie" Joslin. Eldon was a Church of God minister in Christopher for years. Alva "Cotton" Brayfield was the other brother. He was an avid fisherman. His son Donald is Assistant Fire Chief of Du Quoin.

James Gillis Brayfield was a Christian Church minister, and helped found a church near Tamaroa. He also taught music. Nettie belonged to the Christian Church also, until about 1939 when she changed to Gospel Assembly.

Jesse Lampley was born in Thompsonville, Ill. on Oct. 28, 1885, along with his twin brother, Neal. Their parents were Mary (Hatley) and Steve Lampley. His parents had both been married before, so he had two sets of half-brothers and sisters. She and her husband owned and operated "Winn's Canning Factory and Cider Mill", the "Home of NONE BETTER BRANDS". Uncle George was considered an eccentric by many people,

Nettie (Brayfield) Lampley

ple, such as even in his eighties he would challenge anyone regardless of age to a footrace, usually barefoot! Until his death when he was in his 90's, he somehow managed to get his age on his license plate. Margaret (Lampley) Abbott was always fasminated by his beautiful script writing. It inspired her to take some calligraphy courses a few years ago.

Grandpa Brayfield had a brother in Du Quoin that was perhaps better known than him, named George. George was better known as "Pattyryne" or at least that is the way it sounded. He was the constable, and it seems that during the trouble during the miner's and the Union, there was a publisher, Mr. Smith that used to include him in his articles.

When Jesse and Nettie divorced in 1934, she and Margaret moved to Greenwood Addition. A few years later she married a Pinckneyville man, Mr. Robert Presswood, and lived there for a year. Soon after that, Jesse married Katherine Lust, a member of the farm family for which he had been working.

Jesse and Nettie's children were 6, two of which still live in Perry Co., Mrs. Lyle (Maxine) Wheatley, Du Quoin, and Earl Lampley, Pinckneyville, Freda Carney, Midlothian, Ill., and Margaret (Mrs. Harold) Abbott, Birmingham, Al. (See Abbott-Lampley)

ALISTES LEONARD

Alistes Leonard was born in Nebraska in a soddy on Apr. 27, 1871, the son of Robert and Sarah Elizabeth 'Crawford' Leonard.

Along with a sister 'Mae' the family moved to St. Joseph, Mo., where the father was a cooper and a blacksmith, to rear their children.

With very little formal schooling most of his education was acquired through diligent study of books he had the privilege of perusing. He had a beautiful Spencerian handwriting which only one of his children (Marnice) inherited.

He early showed an interest in photography so by the time he became of age he had worked his way to Chicago learning every thing he could about taking and finishing pictures.

In the 1890's he was connected with a company that had a traveling studio set up in a railroad car. This would be moved via Illinois Central Railroad and located on a siding in various towns where they would stay for a time making portraits.

While, in Du Quoin, he saw a group of teenagers going ice skating. Among them was Lulu Mae Dunn (born July 19, 1878 in Franklin Co., Il.). She was the only daughter of a local Doctor D. Winton Dunn.

In 1902 when the Rolling Studio was located in Carbondale, he wrote the doctor asking for her hand in marriage. After they were wed they traveled on to Cairo, Il. where their first son, Alistes was born Feb. 9, 1903.

In 1904 Mr. Leonard established his own Studio in Owensboro, Ky. Four more children joined the family within the next five years. Dorothy, (Aug. 3, 1904), Justin, (Aug. 29, 1905), Hilda, (Feb. 5, 1907), and Marnice, (Aug. 23, 1908).

The family was moved to Du Quoin in the Spring of 1909 with a Studio set up on the 2nd floor of the Brookings Building.

Through the years, group photographs of grades one through eight were taken each year. Pictures were also taken of High School classes, Athletic Teams and other organizations in addition to Faculty Members and Students, many of which were used in the Flashlight - the High School year book.

Always interested in Athletic events when teams played out of town, Mr. Leonard's car was loaded with students to attend the games. Although he owned the car he never drove; that duty was taken over by Jewell Brown.

Sometime in the 1930's, the studio was moved to 2nd floor at 205A East Main Street where Mr. Leonard remained, actively engaged in business, until he became ill a few days before his death on Sept. 8, 1948.

D.T.H.S. Lettermen served as Bearers at his funeral: Joe Albers, David Green, Henry Justice, Enock Morris, Gordon Feazel and Gene Anderson.

Mr. Leonard's younger son, Justin, always was interested in photography so worked with his father until 1929. At that time he and Al Kennedy, who also worked part time for Mr. Leonard, loaded the car with photographic equipment and spent the next two years traveling from Indiana through the West as far as Kelso, Wa.

While traveling, Al Kennedy met and married his wife, Elsie, who was on the road with them for several months. Justin's brother, Alistes, also traveled with them for some time. For two years they enjoyed seeing the wonders of the West such as the Black Hills, Yellowstone Park, Rodeos, etc.

color artist, and married to a photographer, she now has the time to develop her talents in water color painting. She has taken several classes from Don Ross, a popular art teacher from Frankfort, Il., and many of her paintings decorate their home.

Ervin and Dolores have two sons, Ervin Jr., better known as Gene, a Technical Sergeant in the U.S. Air Force and is stationed at Jacksonville Air Force Base, Ar. where he lives with his wife Martha and their two cats. Dale Evan, their younger son, met his wife Joyce while the family was living in St. Clairsville, Oh. and currently resides

When they returned, Justin set up a Studio in Pinckneyville and Kennedy worked as retoucher for Mr. Leonard until he and his first wife started a studio of his own on North Division Street. They retired in 1974.

In 1935 Justin Leonard acquired a studio in Chester and closed the one in Pinckneyville.

An open house was held in his honor in 1985 commemorating his operating business on State Street for 50 years and his 80th birthday.

In addition to Justin, other children of Alistes Leonard still living include Marniece Whitlock of Mt. Vernon and Dorothy Hall of Du Quoin. Six generations, beginning with Lulu Dunn, received their basic education in the Du Quoin school system. Many began in the John B. Ward School and went on to graduate from Du Quoin High School. At the present time there is a sixth generation child attending the Wheatly School. A granddaughter, Betty Lockeby, also lives in Du Quoin, returning after a 25 year absence. LINZEE-BERG

Raymond Smith Linzee, Jr., better known by his high school nickname of "Barney" is the son of the late Raymond Smith Linzee, Sr. and Hazel Blakeslee Linzee. Ray, Sr. died in 1962 and Hazel in 1972. Ray, Jr. has one living sister - Janet Bizzell of Murphysboro. One sister died in infancy. A sister, Lois, home for summer vacation from Lindenwood College, died quite suddenly. His sister, Harrietta Palmer died in 1982.

Ray, Jr. is the Grandson of Eli and Eva Ward Blakeslee and the great Grandson of John B. and Majorie Ward.

Ray, Jr.'s mother, Hazel was always very proud of her ancestry. Her grandfather invented the Blakeslee Steam and Jet Pump which is used around the world. The Blakeslee men seemed to have been blessed with a natural mechanical inventiveness. They were of English descent.

In 1942, Ray, Jr. married Eula Berg in a double wedding ceremony. Eula's twin sister, Audrey, was married to Galen Davis at the same time. The ceremony was performed by the Reverends John H. Mauthe and W. M. Maxton at St. John's Evangelical (now United Church of Christ) in Du Quoin.

Eula is the daughter of John Theodore Berg and Eva Bowlin Berg. She is the granddaughter of Louis and Elizabeth Berg and John and Ida Bowlin. Eula has one sister - her twin, Audrey.

John Theodore Berg died in 1938 at the age of 34. Audrey and Eula were 13. In 1949, Eva Bowlin Berg married Herbert Glen Griffin who died in 1972. Eva died Dec. 1986.

Ray, Jr. served with the 9th Armored Group as a tank commander in the European Theater during World War II. It was while he was stationed in Germany that Ray III was born.

After the war, and the birth of a daughter, Diana, Ray, Jr. and Eula moved to St. Paul, Mn. for two years. Ray, Jr. worked for a life insurance company and traveled 38 states. A decision was made to come back to good "ole" Du Quoin and has never been regretted.

At Ray, Sr.'s invitation, Ray, Jr. and Eula started working in the Linzee Insurance Agency which was started by Ray, Sr.'s father, Charles Linzee in 1886. Ray III is now working in the agency and it is truly a family business. This 101 year old agency deals in all types of insurance - as well as real estate. Ray, Jr., Ray III and Eula are all licensed brokers.

Before coming into the agency, Ray III, or "Bo" as he is called, attended Quachita Baptist College in Arkadelphia, Ar. and Southern Illinois University, Carbondale. He also served 3 years in the U.S. Marine Corps. He married Diana Womack in 1970. Their marriage ended in divorce and he has custody of their two children, R.S. IV, who is 14, and Wendee, 12.

Diana Linzee married Charles Frederick, the son of Darrell and Esto Frederick of Du Quoin. They live in Boynton Beach, Fl. with their two sons, Matthew 14, and Benjamin, 13. Charles is director of Parks and Recreation for Boynton Beach. Diana, a graduate of St. John's Mercy School of Nursing is working at Bethesda Memorial Hospital in Boynton Beach.

Ray, Jr. and Eula reside at 343 North Washington in the home that was built by Warren Kingsbury in approximately 1873 and was purchased by Ray, Sr. in 1905 when he took his wife, Hazel, there as a bride.

LIPE-WALKER

George Thomas Lipe was born in the Woodward District of Perry Co. on Oct. 31, 1868. He married one of the Walker girls, Mary Logan Walker, on Dec. 31, 1896. The wedding was in the Walker farm home. They had 3 children: Geneva Neoma (Lipe) (Harvey) Dunn, Ina (Lipe) Danklef, and Maurice Walker Lipe. George spent most of his life on the family farm southwest of Du Quoin. He raised dairy cattle, farmed his crops with horses, and provided for his family.

He had two narrow escapes from attacks from his dairy bulls over the years. Only the courageous counter-attack by the collie dog (A direct "nose bite") saved him once, and a deeply implanted pitch fork by a hired hand, Ralph Crain, saved him the second time. The final attack gave him chest injuries that stayed with him the rest of his life. He died in his sleep at the farm home at 5:30 a.m., on Feb. 23, 1937. He was 69 years of age.

His wife, Mary Logan Walker was born on Sept. 4, 1867 in the Walker farm house, southwest of Du Quoin. Her death was a Aug. 5, 1956 at the Du Quoin Marshall Browning Hospital at the age of 88 years, 1 month, and 1 day.

George's great-grandfather, was Aaron Lipe. "Millie" Emelia Quillman (b. 1806) married Aaron Lipe. She was the daughter of Peter Quillman Jr. (b. circa 1775-d. prior 1809). Her mother was Barbara Misenheimer, the youngest daughter of Jacob and Margaretha (Reiter) Misenheimer who had come from Pennsylvania about 1778 and settled in the neighborhood of then Cabarrus Co., N.C.

Aaron and Millie had 9 children. Two died in infancy. The others were John Robert Lipe, Lydia Louise (Lipe) House, Melissa (Lipe) Arnold, William A. (Bill), Elizabeth (Lipe) Brownfield, Mary "Polly" (Lipe) Castilow, and Martilla Jane (Lipe) Arnold.

John Robert Lipe (b. 1825-d. 1844), Aaron's son, married Narcissa McLaughlin (b. 1829-d. 1909) from Missouri. Still seeking their fortune, "J.R." went west (Idaho) during the gold rush days, but apparently was not successful, and returned to Perry Co. They had a large family. Their children were Isacc, Marion Francis, Robert, Tillman "Tim", George Thomas, Mammie "Mame", Viola "Vie", Julia, Alma, Harriet, Vilena, and John R. Needless to say they could have used some new found gold. They lived in Perry Co. and sometimes in Jackson Co.

JONAS LIPE

Jonas Lipe was born June 9, 1790 in Mecklinburg Co., N.C. to Leonard Lipe and Barbara (Wentz) Lipe. On Aug. 4, 1809 he was married in Cabarrus Co., N.C. to his cousin, Esther Lipe. Esther's father, Jonas Lipe (1763-1843) was the eldest brother of Leonard. They were both Revolutionary War Veterans and sons of Johannes Godfried Leib (John Godfrey Lipe) and Barbara (Rudisill) Lipe who were married in York Co., Pa. Dec. 22, 1761.

The children of John Godfrey Lipe could not be sure of their birth dates because the only record was in the family Bible which was lost or destroyed during the war. The family was living in Mecklinburg Co., N.C. when Jonas and Leonard volunteered for service in 1780 and 1781 respectively. Jonas was a private in a scouting group, the Charlotte Company, for 12 months, and reenlisted for 3 additional months in 1781. Leonard joined the army under General Sumpter, and served as a private 10 months. He was in the battle of Eutaw Springs where a hole was shot through his hat.

Leonard Lipe and his eight children left North Carolina about 1818, stopped in Union Co., Il. a short time, then in Jackson Co., Il. a few years before settling in Perry Co. in the 1820s. Leonard's oldest daughter, Barbara (1795-1880) had married Daniel Dry in Montgomery Co., N.C. Mar. 21, 1815, and two of his sons, Leonard, Jr. (1801-1852) and Jacob (1803-1846) married Katherine and Rosena Davis, respectively, in Union Co., Il. in 1823. Leonard, Jr. stayed in Union Co., Il. Leonard, Sr., Jonas, Jacob, and son-in-law, Daniel Dry bought and cleared farms north and northwest of Du Quoin, Il.

Jonas and Esther Lipe were the parents of: Nancy (1811-1874) married William Staton; Leah (1815-1869) married John Davis; Isaac R. (1817-1883) married Julia Ann Lipe; Esther (1820-1896) married Joseph "Harvey" McElvain; Delilah (1822-1900) married Charles E. R. Winthrop; Abraham (1825-1907) married Nancy Yearian; Lydia A. (1832-) married first John C. Glover and second Isaac Cox. — Submitted by Genevieve Rainey

MARY LOGAN (WALKER) LIPE

Mary Logan Lipe was born (Sept. 4, 1867) in Perry Co. in township 6-2, in the farm home of William John and Elizabeth (Taylor) Walker. Mary married George Thomas Lipe, and was the mother of Geneva Neoma (Harvey) Dunn, Ina Danklef, and Maurice W. Lipe.

The Walker and Taylor families were typical of the early pioneer families in the southern part of Illinois. They arrived shortly after Illinois became a state.

The Walkers came from England to Holland to Pennsylvania to Kentucky and then to Illinois. Jeremiah Walker and the James Thompson family came to Perry Co., Il. during the 1820's. Jeremiah and Martha Jane (J. Thompson's daughter) Walker produced 10 children. They were Rachel A. Kimzey, William J., John E., Martha Jane, Peter "Pete" H., Casandra Hester, Elizabeth Evans, Simeon "Sim", Margaret L., and Mary A. A church was organized in their home Feb. 19, 1848. It was known then as "The Baptist Church of Christ at Four Mile Prairie". Elder Hagler was the first pastor and Jeremiah Walker the first Deacon. Jeremiah and his wife Martha Jane were buried on land owned by Pyatts (according to a 1974 discussion with Maurice Pyatt). Truax Traer Coal Co. moved those graves to Galum Presbyterian Cemetery when they stripped this area.

William J. Walker (b. Aug. 31, 1831 - d. Mar. 24, 1918) married Elizabeth Taylor (b. Jan. 1837, d. Aug. 12, 1907). Their children were: Solomon "Sol" T. William "Bill" N. Peter "Pete" H., Mary Logan Lipe, Hiram A., Roscoe Conklin, Blance E. McElvain, and Martha (who died at 18 mo. of age).

Corporal W. J. Walker of the 31st Infantry Regiment (Co. A), enlisted Aug. 15, 1861, was wounded at the battle of Belmont of Nov. 7, 1861 and lost his right arm at the shoulder. The 31st was organized at Cairo, Il., on Sept. 8, 1861 by Colonel John A. Logan, for 3 years of service. According to his grandson, Maurice W. Lipe, W. J. Walker almost bled to death before he was found. He remembered him as an elderly man with a beard, making big plans to attend the Reunion of the Civil War Veterans at Keyes Park in Du Quoin. When he returned from the war, he farmed, helped organize the Missionary Baptist Church, served as a Republican Perry Co. Commissioner, Vice-Commander of the Brookings Post No. 106-Du Quoin.

Mary Logan Lipe was proud of her father, but she was equally proud of her great-grandfather, Joseph A. Taylor and wife Edith Pyle. Both the Taylor and Pyle families had ventured into the new Illinois territory before it officially became a state. Joseph A. Taylor was born in 1804 in Tennessee. His wife was a year older but was born in Illinois. She was the daughter of Abner Pyle (b. 1778) and Sarah (Sally) Wells (b. 1788 at Greenville Co., S.C.) Sarah was the daughter of the revolutionary war veteran, Lewis Wells, now buried in the McElvain Cemetery (Du Quoin). Joseph A. Taylor held a deed signed by Andrew Jackson, Nov. 13, 1833 for SE.Q of NW.Q of sec. 25, Twsp. 6 of Range 2, W. of the 1st Principal Meridian. He had come to Illinois when 6 months of age (ca. 1805) with his parents who settled in Kaskaskia. Afterwards they were driven out by Indian uprisings and went to the state of Mississippi. Then as a young man he returned to Jackson Co. and married Edith Pyle. They moved near the Walker family in Perry Co.

Joseph and Edith had the following 10 children: Kizrah "Kesiah" Walker, Elizabeth "Betsy" Walker, Phoebe, "Pheby" Pyle, Electa "Lecty" Byers, Jenny Davis, Imriah (male), Elvira Gill, Sarah Vancil, Rebecca Jane Davis, "Jiles" (male), and one unknown lady who married a William Nedum.

Each of the Taylor girls received a substantial part of the homestead. Of course, "just to keep things in the family", "Betsy" Elizabeth married one of the Walker boys, William J. Walker, mentioned previously.

MAURICE WALKER LIPE

The ancestors of Maurice Walker Lipe have their Illinois beginnings in the southern part of Jackson Co. before 1818. They had moved to the north edge in time to become part of the south edge of the newly formed Perry Co. in 1827.

Maurice was born June 19, 1907. He lived his life within the history and boundaries of Perry Co., on the farm he was born on (except for a few years - Mar. 1934 to 1937 - that he and his wife and son (James Thomas Lipe), moved to a farm north east of Cutler, Il.). Then he died on Nov. 24, 1983 (3:14 a.m., on Thanksgiving morning at Marshall Browning Hospital, Du Quoin, Il.).

He met his wife, Vivian Elizabeth (Brown) Lipe, during her first year as a teacher at the Walker School, ¼ mile from his home. She was originally from Cutler, Il., and was boarding at the John A. Bowlin farm, ¾ mile east of the school. They were married June 14, 1930 by Rev. Brown in the Presbyterian Church Parsonage, Pinckneyville, Il. Their witnesses were Amos Brown (Vivian's brother) and Mary Preston both of Cutler, Il. Maurice and Vivian were married 53½ years. They had one son, James Thomas Lipe, born on Dec. 14, 1931.

The farm that he was born on, and later owned and operated is located 3 miles 'as the crow flies' south west of Du Quoin, (Sec. 25 & 26 of T.6S, R.2W). They started with a general grain and dairy farm. The dairy herd breed was Jersey. After loosing this herd to Brucellosis disease, he started again with a clean herd of Guernsey Cattle. As economics changed, especially in lieu of new expenses of remodeling to meet the new State Health Regulations, etc., Mr. Lipe switched to Polled Hereford Beef Cattle. Most of these years, of course, hogs and chickens were raised as a matter of logic.

During his life, Maurice and his wife saw many changes. They originally produced their own electricity with gasoline generators in the 'light house' a shed south east of the house. Batteries stored the power between weekly charges. They depended upon horse power to farm in the early years. Then Maurice learned to 'herd' the old light grey Fordson tractor with the big cast iron wheels and water bath air cleaner. The simple engines he learned to assemble and reassemble repeatedly. He depended upon some reliable dealers in Du Quoin, Murphysboro, and many other places in surrounding counties to keep the necessary parts in stock. His pride and joy was his purchased new International Super C tractor. It paid for itself many times over.

It was their house. One afternoon they decided that the dining room and living room of the house should not be separated by a wall and door. They proceeded to cut out the wall and put in a new arch. The new space provided a pleasant surprise to visiting friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Lipe and James

Maurice also worked several months at the New Kathleen coal mine. Later he worked on the United Electric Coal Co.'s Black Diamond Farm (West of Du Quoin). While there he looked after the cattle, worked three planting crews, worked in the orchards, etc. He made the large wooden signs that still stand (1987) on the south side of highway #152 just east of the main entrances.

He loved to reminisce about his uncles and aunts and cousins. Many of his grandparents were early settlers of Perry Co. His father was George Thomas Lipe (b. 21 Oct. 1868 in the Woodward District of Perry Co. - d. 28 Feb. 1937). Maurice's mother was Mary Logan (Walker) Lipe (b. 4 Sept. 1867 - d. 5 Aug. 1956). Her father had served under Gen. John A. Logan in the civil war, thus the middle name 'Logan'. George T. Lipe's father had also served in the civil war under John A. Logan, as had many of the other relatives and friends of the period, but that is another story.

Maurice had two sisters. They were Geneva Neoma (Lipe) (Harvey) Dunn and Ina (Lipe) Danklef.

A more complete genealogy would include studies into the families of Lipe, Quillman, Misenheimer, Reiterin, McLaughlin, Brown, Blanton, Walker, Daniel, Thompson, Norton, Taylor, Wilson, Pyle, Baldwin, Brashear, Wells Bates, and many other early families in this area of Illinois. Over the years, most of his relatives moved away from Illinois, or passed away. He learned more and more to love and appreciate his wife Vivian's brothers and sisters and their family members.

As a youth, Maurice attended the Du Quoin First Baptist Church, accepted Christ as his savior, and was baptized about 1926.

Maurice knew of the incomes that many of his friends derived from strip mining, but much of the history and memories that he fondly loved were destroyed in the process. He particularly was saddened by the loss of the farms. It was his hope that at least the land would be mostly reclaimed, but secretly knew the cost would be the 'bottom line'.

VIVIAN E. (BROWN) LIPE

A dedicated teacher to Perry Co. students for 40 years, Vivian Elizabeth (Brown) Lipe retired in 1973 and lives on the home farm with her son James Thomas Lipe. Her husband, Maurice Walker Lipe passed away on Nov. 24, 1983, in the early morning hours, at the Marshall Browning Hospital, Du Quoin, Il. Vivian and Maurice had been married for 53½ years.

Vivian E. Lipe was born in Cutler, Il. on Aug.

Vivian E. Lipe

6, 1907. Her father was James Leander Jr. Brown. (b. 14 Nov. 1862 in Randolph Co., d. 27 Apr. 1907 at home in Cutler). Her mother was Elizabeth Margaret (Craig) (Beggs) Brown (b. 11 Feb. 1872 in Lost Prairie, Perry Co., d. 15 Mar. 1938). There was Irish and English ancestry.

The widow Brown had 7 children to raise. They were educated in the Cutler Grade School. Vivian E. attended 2 years at the Cutler High School. Then she had to room at Pinckneyville, Ill., to attend the Pinckneyville High School. After receiving her diplomas, she attended the Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, Ill. and received a teaching certificate. Her first school was the Walker Rural Grade School. She was 19 years old. There was one room with about 38 students from grade 1 to grade 8. She was teacher, custodian, principal, etc. One of her brothers, usually Amos, would come over to escort her back home for week-ends or vacations. She boarded with John A. Bolin family on their farm $\frac{3}{4}$ mile from the school. Often, they would ride the "Wobble Crook and Wobble" (Tamaroa, Chester and Western Railroad). She met Maurice W. Lipe, her future husband that year.

The following year, Vivian returned to her home at Cutler, Ill. and taught 4 years in the town's grade school. Then she married Maurice Walker Lipe.

Her teaching career began again in the Woodward School in 1938, after her son had begun the first grade at the Walker School. She taught there for 6 years and then was employed by the High Bank School for 1 year. Then, her son having graduated to high school, she was employed at the Walker Grade School for 14 years.

Then, after 26 years of one room county school teaching (except for the 4 years at Cutler), she was hired into the Du Quoin Community Grade School at the Wheatley School. Vivian taught there for 14 years in the first and third grades. She retired in the spring of 1973 with 40 years to her credit.

In her early years she was raised in the faith of the Cutler United Presbyterian Church. She was saved and baptized into the First Baptist Church of Du Quoin in 1948. Vivian has been a faithful teacher in the Sunday School Department. She began in the intermediate department, taught 15 years, and has now been teaching in the adult department, Fidelis Class, for 23 years. This is a total of about 38 years.

Vivian E. Lipe and her husband were typical of the generation who lived through the depression days of the 1930's. Many today have heard that times were rough. But having lived through those times, they appreciated the blessings that came their way, were careful with their money and learned not to rely too heavily upon man's political and economic savvy. "It can happen again."

While she taught, her husband Maurice tilled the soil on their farm, milked cows, and raised hogs. They worked hard and made sacrifices to make ends meet and send their son to college to receive a Smith Hughes Degree to teach Vocational Agriculture.

Vivian had three stepsisters, Jemimah "Mima Jane" (Beggs) Nicholson, Susan "Susie" (Beggs) Smith Stanhouse, and Elsie Mae (Beggs) Leemon. Her brothers were Amos Leander Brown, George Robert Brown and Thomas Edward "Tom" Brown.

A more complete genealogy would include the families of Brown, Cunningham, McClure, Richmond, Craig, and Thomas.

LISENBY-LIPE

John Newton Lisenby, oldest child of Richard Carr Lisenby and Lydia Mulkey Lisenby, was born in 1855 in Kentucky. In 1858 they moved to Southern Illinois. For his last sixty years he resided in Tamaroa. In 1887 he married Mrs. Eliza Miller Lipe, daughter of John Miller and Katherine Heape Miller. They had two children, Worth, who died at the age of two, and Ray. Mr. Lisenby united with the Friendship Church under the ministry of J. J. Harris. Later he helped organize the Christian Church in Tamaroa and became one of its charter members and elders.

His maternal grandfather, John Newton Mulkey, was a pioneer evangelist who organized many churches in Tennessee, Kentucky, and Illinois. The first of his ancestors to come to America came to New Sweden, later New Jersey or Delaware, in 1836. From there the Mulkey family moved through Virginia, the Carolinas, Tennessee, and Kentucky, and in 1856 to Perry Co., Ill., settling four miles east of Tamaroa. Following them came several families, among them the Richard Carr Lisenby's, including John Newton Lisenby.

As a young man he was associated with several early pioneers of this area. He was employed by Mr. Fitzgerald, one of Southern Illinois' largest farmers and stockmen; by Mr. McLaughlin, whom he regarded as a second father; by William Hammack, one of Perry Co.'s citizens who made the gold rush to California in '49; and by R. H. Nicholson, a Tamaroa lumberman. Mr. Lisenby numbered among his teachers one of Illinois' best-known educators, B. G. Roots.

His life witnessed wonderful development in our nation - railroads, cities, inventions, highway. He passed away in 1939.

In 1910, his son, Ray (W.R.) (d. 1961), married Pearl Eaton (d. 1983), daughter of Richardson Douglas Eaton and Mary Smith Eaton. Their children were:

Ceola, eldest, m. Raymond E. Lee (d. 1984) son of Ralph Scott Lee and Augusta Williams Lee. They had three children - Carol (m. Leroy Lindquist) whose children were David and Sonya; Robert (not married), and Jane (m. James W. Wilson).

LUTHY-HEMMER

Audrey Jane Hemmer Luthy (b. Mar. 9, 1936) in Dowell, Ill., is the second child of Joseph Edward and Frances Jane Vancil Hemmer. A sister, Mary Louise, died in infancy. Joseph Edward was the third Joseph Hemmer to live in Perry Co., in the rural area west of Du Quoin. He was one of ten boys and three girls born to Joseph Hemmer 2nd. and Louisa Stein Hemmer. Nine of these thirteen children are now buried in the Sacred Heart cemetery; as are the parents and grandparents.

Audrey Jane married Jack Luthy from Willisville, Ill. on Aug. 15, 1954. Janice Marie was born to them on Jan. 13, 1963. Jackie Elaine was born Apr. 29, 1964, David Allen was born Nov. 11, 1965, and Joseph Henry was born Mar. 12, 1974. The three older children are now married and also residents of Perry Co.

Jack and Audrey have farmed in the area of the first Joe Hemmer farm, just west of the McElvain Cemetery, for the past twenty-four years. Audrey grew up attending the Walker one room rural school. Her parents moved into the Walker community when she was three years old. The lights from the mine shovels have shone around the family home in all directions. Its foundation has been shaken by the blasting throughout the years by the United Electric mine, that today is known as Freeman. As the mine machinery worked, the community changed as the family dwellings were vacated one by one.

Joe Hemmer was employed as an under-ground miner and worked many years in the Kathleen mines that tunneled under much of the Walker community. Audrey can remember when the New Kathleen mine was established and the gravel road past her home was widened and transformed to become the New Kathleen mine black top. The day the New Kathleen mine whistle blew for the first time, to announce the start of the shift, the children of the Walker school questioned as to what they had heard.

The years are past now when the dew berries grew as long as your thumb in the fields now stripped into spoils. The familiar old elm, oak and sycamore trees that shaded the dirt and gravel roads were dozed away with the years to allow for progress. A network of huge electric lines took their place to supply power to the mines. The roar of haulage trucks is all too familiar.

With the changing times, a new look comes to this part of Perry Co., and today the family farm (the Luthy home) is nestled in among the ponds and lakes left by the mined out area of Freeman, and the sink holes that developed after New Kathleen abandoned operations. The beauty found here now can be seen in the wild life that refuge here. It is difficult to farm, but the love for the farm will always be very much a part of the lives of the Joe Hemmer family descendants. These are today — Joseph Henry, twelve years old at home. David Allen and Melody Ridgeway Luthy who live on two acres that was originally part of the Hemmer farm. Jackie and Wayne Mills who rent a place near the Sacred Heart Cemetery, and Janice and Stanley Zakinski who have purchased thirty acres just across the county line into Jackson Co. They are still living in Du Quoin until their home is ready for occupancy.

ELILE LUTHY

Elile Luthy, a child born of Swiss ancestors, along with his parents Charles and Elizabeth (Yoho) Luthy, two sisters, Ellen who later became the wife of Millard Underhill, a successful businessman of Percy, Ill., and Mary who married Wm. Snider, also two brothers, Christian and Charles Jr. came from Monroe Co., Oh. to Murphysboro, Ill. soon after the discharge of Charles Sr. from the Union army of the Civil War.

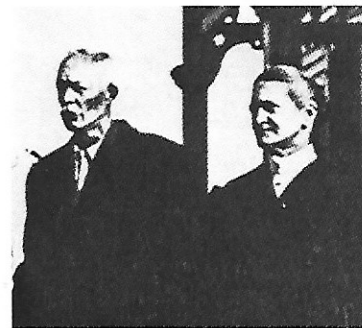

His mother, Elizabeth, died when the children were very young and is buried in the City Cemetery in Murphysboro, in an unmarked grave. The father remarried and moved to Campbell Hill in Jackson Co., where the children grew up with several children of the second marriage.

Charles Sr. and his three sons pursued the carpenter trade and engaged in the construction of many homes and businesses in Campbell Hill and the surrounding area, including the grain elevator and Mercantile Store owned and operated by the Mohlenbrock's, a prosperous family.

In 1885 Elile married Juliet Tangen, daughter of Henry C. and Polly (Green) Tangen, descendants of early settlers of Perry Co., namely Rev. Eli Short, Levi Green and William Threlkel who purchased lot #36, the location of the newly constructed Perry Co. Jail. At the initial sale of lots held in Pinckneyville, Feb. 4, 1828, it sold for the sum of $15.50.

To this union five sons were born, Fredrick W., C. Henry, Edward E., John E., and Joseph A. The family also reared a foster daughter, Violet McKibbin who married Alva Benedict also a native of Perry Co. Violet still resides in Pinckneyville.

In 1901 the family moved from Campbell Hill

to a farm in township 6-4 in Perry Co. where they resided until the children married and made homes for themselves. They were later displaced by strip mining and moved to neighboring communities.

Fredrick W., eldest son of Elile and Juliet, married Elizabeth Stoffel of Jackson Co. One son Howard was born 1912; he married Lorene Edgar, also a descendant of early settlers of Illinois. Eight children were born to this union (Loren D. of Cincinnati, Oh., Jeannine who died at age 16 and is buried in Swanwick Bethel Cemetery, Aldene (Luthy) Anderson of Donovan, Ill., Marilyn of Belleville, Ill., Pauline (Luthy) Spurgeon of Lansing, Mi., Laverne of Red Bud, Ill., Barbara (Luthy) Spurgeon of Pinckneyville, and Joe of Aurora, Co.).

Juliet, her five sons, one daughter, four grandchildren and one great grandchild attended public school Dist. #71, Tangen School, the second Dist. deeded for school purposes in Perry Co. MALAN

In 1893 Louis Malan and his wife, Helena DeMoulin, moved from Madison Co., Il. to Perry Co., and settled on a farm two miles south of Pinckneyville, the county seat of Perry Co. With them they brought their ten children — two girls and eight boys — the youngest of which was two years old.

The ancestral home was in southeastern France, the region known as Provence. The families were devout French Waldensians or Hugenots, driven out of France by the dominant Catholic militant regimes. With the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes in 1685 (which granted amnesty to protestant groups) they sought refuge beyond the Alps in territory then known as the Duchy of Savoy. Here the families lived unmolested for several generations. It was here that Louis Malan was born in 1842.

When Louis was 17, his family group migrated to America — the father, Etienne, the mother, Suzanne Bonnet, and nine children. They landed at New Orleans in May 1859, traveled up the Mississippi River to Madison Co., Il.

As Louis' family grew, the need for territorial expansion became evident. This resulted in a "secondary migration" to Perry Co.

The year was 1893, and Camille Ephraim, Louis' eldest son, was eighteen. On his shoulders rested much of the responsibility for the move and subsequent home building. Camille often talked about how he gathered the stone for the house basement, and how he drove the cattle from Madison Co. to Perry Co.

The family were farmers, all sharing the many duties this occupation demands. As the children reached adulthood, more land was acquired and educational opportunities were enhanced. Individual interests, aptitudes, and skills of the respective family members were respected and encouraged.

On Oct. 24, 1900, Camille married Mary Margaret Templeton. They began farming in the Pyatt community. To their union were born three sons: William Louis Russell Malan (Oct. 29, 1901), Harriss Cleland Malan (Sept. 26, 1907), and Lowell Templeton Malan (May 27, 1911).

After the family moved to Pinckneyville, Camille became a coal mine paymaster and then a rural mail carrier. He died of pneumonia Feb. 26, 1937.

All three of his sons attended Park College, Parkville, Mo. and later did graduate study at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Mi. Russell became a school administrator and served in that capacity in Illinois for 45 years. Harriss was associated with Houghton-Mifflin publishing company and later was a real estate developer and administrator at Southern Illinois University. Lowell was a teacher in Marion and later Chief chemist at the United Electric Corp. in Du Quoin.

Russell married June Rice; Harriss married Fannie Rose; and Lowell married Ruth Bulmer.

Camille and Mary Margaret had five grandchildren. Two were Russell's daughters, Martha Elizabeth Malan and Barbara June Malan. Three were the children of Lowell: Frederick Lowell Malan, Martha Ruth Malan, and John Michael Malan.

MALAN-DEMOULIN

Louis Malan (1842-1914) immigrated to the United States from Southern France as a teenager in 1859. He came with his parents, Etienne and Suzanne (Bonet) Malan, who were French Huguenots. Port of entry was New Orleans; then they traveled up the Mississippi River to St. Louis, Mo., then eastward to Madison Co. near Highland, Il.

On 3-20-1873 he married Helena DeMoulin (1854-1908), who was also a French immigrant.

In the summer of 1893, Louis and Helena Malan moved their family from a farm near Highland, (Sebastopol) Il. to a 320 acre farm one mile south of Pinckneyville. A new house was built on this farm and the family was engaged in general farming including livestock, poultry, orchard and grain.

The family included ten children born in odd numbered calendar years over an eighteen year period: Lenore, 1873; Camille, 1875; Eunice, 1877; Louie, 1879; Rene, 1881; Edward, 1883; Wilfred, 1885; Francis, 1887; Harry, 1889; and Alfred, 1891.

School children in the family walked to and from the Brick School south of Pinckneyville. The number of pupils enrolled was 80 and the number of teachers employed was only one.

Louis appreciated music and was capable of teaching music to his children. Winter evenings were spent in singing. A pitch pipe was used to insure true tones in harmony. The girls learned to play the "pump" organ and the Malan Brothers Quartet was well known in the community. Religious songs were a specialty.

It required a spring wagon, a buggy, a cart, and four horses to transport the family to and from the Galum Church which was attended regularly. Twelve pairs of shoes were shined on Saturday in preparation for Sunday's church service.

In 1911, several members of the family became charter members of the First Presbyterian Church in Pinckneyville. Louis (Sr.) was an elder in this church and Eunice Malan Jones taught the beginners' Sunday school class for over fifty years.

Louis Malan built a house in Pinckneyville at the northwest corner of Douglas Street and St. Louis Avenue in 1910. He and his daughter, Eunice, lived here until his death in 1914. His wife, Helena, died in 1908. They are buried in the Galum Cemetery.

MALAN-PYATT

Edward, sixth child of Louis and Helena De Moulin Malan, was 10 years old in 1893 when this French family moved from the French settlement of Sebastopol in Madison Co., Il. to a 320 acre farm just south of Pinckneyville.

His brothers all moved into other occupations, but Edward stayed on with his father because he like farming. On Aug. 10, 1910 he married Lillian Pyatt, and settled down on the Malan homestead, grandfather Louis having moved into town. Three children were born to them — Oradelle, Florence, and Max Edward.

In 1916 he built a large Jamesway barn and started raising registered Holstein cattle. In 1923 he bought a large dairy herd and for over 30 years delivered bottled milk to homes and stores in Pinckneyville.

He was a charter member of the Perry Co. Farm Bureau and of Country Life Insurance Company, later becoming an agent for the company in his spare time. He also served on the Brick School board.

He and Lillian were charter members of the First Presbyterian Church of Pinckneyville. He served as both trustee and deacon, and sang in the choir for many years. He came from a musical family and was a member of the Malan quartet which sang acapella for public and private functions for fifty years. He was 79 when he last sang in public.

He retired in 1956 and in 1958 he had a near fatal heart attack. He recovered but three years later had another which caused the loss of his left leg. He was fitted with an artificial limb and drove his car until he was 85, after which he spent most of his wakeful hours in a wheel chair. At 88 Lillian could no longer care for him, so together they went to Perry Manor Nursing Home. He died there in Mar. 1973, two months short of 90 years old. —

MALAN-ROACH

Hugh Dorris Malan was the only son of Wilfred and Cora De Vinny Malan. He was born 5/16/14 in Pinckneyville where he attended grade and high school and graduated in the class of 1932.

Hugh attended Park College, Parkville, Mo., from 1932 to 1936 where he earned a Bachelor's Degree in Business Administration and a teachers' certificate for grades 1 - 12. While at Park College he met Ruth Marie Roach (6/14/16) from La-Crosse, Ks., who graduated from Park College in 1938. They were married on 11/24/39 in her home town church.

In 1936-37, Hugh taught grades 5 - 8 in the Winkle School of Perry Co. In 1937-41 he taught mathematics and science in Pinckneyville Community High School. By 1941, he had attended summer school and taken extension courses from the University of Illinois to earn a Masters Degree in Education.

In 1941, Hugh succeeded Elbert E. Harriss as superintendent of Public School District #50 (Grade School) in Pinckneyville. A tenure of 35 years as administrator in this school included numerous changes in public school education.

The original boundaries of School District #50 were approximately the same as those of the city of Pinckneyville. Surrounding rural elementary schools included Nation on the north, Beaucoup on the west, Brick on the south and Holts Prairie on the east.

After World War II (1941-45) rural schools were consolidated into larger districts called Community Consolidated Districts. For example, C. C. #203 in Swanwick area; C. C. #204 east of Pinckneyville; C. C. #205 Lost Prairie area (west, except Beaucoup); C. C. #210 south to County line and C. C. #212 north to County line. Additional consolidations took place in other areas of Perry Co.

Dates of some happenings in School District #50: 1950, first district supported kindergarten; 1953, Pinckneyville Junior High School basketball team won Southern Illinois State Championship; 1957, new grade school building replaced old building and acquired Homer Gruner residence for playground area; 1958, C. C. #210 joined District #50 and first school bus service was provided; 1962, S. D. #49 (Beaucoup) joined District #50; 1971, new Junior High School building replaced old building; 1972, C. C. #205 joined District #50; 1973, C. C. #203 joined District #50.

In 1945, Ruth taught English and biology in P.C.H.S. Subsequently she taught part time kindergarten and did substitute teaching and lunch room supervision in District #50. Hugh retired on 6/30/76.

Hugh and Ruth had two sons: (1) Stephen Hugh Malan born 3/8/43, married Susan Jane Woosley on 9/18/65. They have daughters Natalie Jane and Catherine Marie and a son Douglas Stephen.

(2) Paul Mark Malan born 6/15/47, married Judy Lynn Galloway on 7/25/71.

The Malan Family has always attended the Presbyterian Church and has served it in various offices.

Since 1968, Hugh and Ruth have lived on rural route #1 about a half mile south of Pinckneyville.

LILLIAN (PYATT) MALAN

Lillian (7/13/83) the third daughter of James M. and Harriet Brown Pyatt, was born at Pyatt Station where her father was agent for the Illinois Central Railroad. She went to the Osborn School, followed by a year at Carbondale Teachers College. She taught for two years at the Slawson rural school.

On Aug. 10, 1910 she was married to Edward C. Malan and after a honeymoon in Colorado went to live in the Malan family home at the south edge of Pinckneyville. Three children were born to them — Oradelle, Florence, and Max Edward.

Along with her homemaking, she was an active member of the First Presbyterian Church, President of the Missionary Society, and a member of the Women's Home Extension Group.

Her whole life was centered around her family — children, grandchildren (of which there are seven) and great-grandchildren.

She took care of Edward after his second heart attack caused the loss of his left leg. At age 88 she could no longer give him the care he needed, so on Oct. 1, 1971 they entered Perry Manor Nursing Home together, because they did not want to be separated. She died Sept. 28, 1981 at the age of 98. — Submitted by her daughter, Oradelle Malan Havey

MAX EDWARD MALAN

Max, youngest child of Edward and Lillian Pyatt Malan spent his childhood on the family dairy farm. During high school he became interested in sports (which he still maintains) playing football, basketball, and running distance events on the track team. His stay at Park College (at K.C.) was cut short by World War II after two years. He enlisted in the Navy and became a pilot.

After completing flight training in Apr. 1946 at Pensacola, Fl., he married Emaline Stanton of Pinckneyville. A succession of moves at approximately two-year intervals saw them living in nearly every part of the United States. Since Max spent much time at sea, Emaline was kept busy raising their five children. In addition she devoted many hours to volunteer work at Navy Hospitals wherever they lived.

Max's first squadron duty was at Norfolk, Va., then back to Pensacola as a flight instructor. Next he was sent to a jet fighter squadron at Alameda, Ca., which went aboard the USS Boxer and sailed to Korea for combat missions over the Korean mainland. Emaline and the children went back to the dairy farm at Pinckneyville to await his return.

The next trip for the squadron was on the USS Wasp, again to the Western Pacific Area for nine months.

The next assignment was at the Navy Line School at Monterey, Ca., then to the University of Mississippi for two semesters of work toward a degree. Next Max was assigned to Floyd Bennett Field, N.Y. Then came two years aboard the USS Saratoga followed by a short course at Armed Forces Staff College. Next came assignment to a jet attack squadron as Executive Officer, then Commanding Officer and two eight month deployments to the Mediterranean. A year at the Naval War College, Newport, R.I. followed, then back to a squadron at Jacksonville, Fl. as Commanding Officer and training missions on the USS Roosevelt.

In Jan 1967 Max was ordered to the USS America as Executive Officer of the Navy's newest aircraft carrier bound for the Mediterranean. This (as it turned out) last trip to sea was the most demanding and exhausting two years of a long Navy career. Emaline and the children lived in Italy while the carrier was in the Mediterranean. The America was sent to Vietnam in early 1968 and after nine months came home by way of Australia and New Zealand. Max was ordered to duty in the Pentagon and promoted to Captain. After five and one half years of living in one place, the Malans decided it was a pretty good idea. Max retired from the Navy having completed thirty-one years of service.

They live in Mc Lean, Va. and Max is employed by Information Spectrum, Inc., a consulting firm in Arlington. The children are Robert, Marcia, Edward, Donald, and Tammy, all on their own and living in Northern Virginia. — Submitted by Capt. Max E. Malan US Navy (ret.)

WILFRED C. MALAN

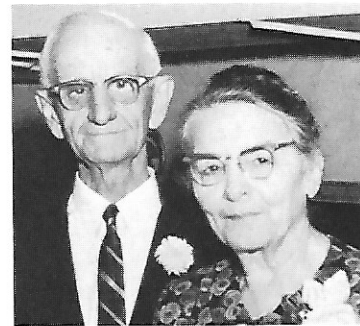

Wilfred Cicero Malan was born 1/9/1885 in Sebastopol near Highland, Il. He was the seventh of ten children in the family of Louis and Helena (DeMoulin) Malan who moved to a farm in Perry Co. in 1893. During childhood he attended the Brick School and the Galum Presbyterian Church. He worked on the family farm until age 18.

His first job away from home was to drive the delivery wagon for the White Walnut Coal Company Store in Pinckneyville. An average work week consisted of six 12-hour days. The pay was $30.00 per month, later increased to $35.00. Other occupations included operation of a grocery store and a partner in Malan Brothers' Square Deal Clothing Store on the south side of the square in Pinckneyville.

On 11/29/11, Wilfred married Cora Beatrice DeVinny (10/20/1885) who had been a school teacher in Pinckneyville Grade School. One daughter, Maurine, died in infancy and one son, Hugh, was born 5/16/14.

In 1911, Wilfred and Cora were charter members of the First Presbyterian Church where they were choir members, Sunday School teachers, and deacons. Wilfred was an elder and active in fund raising for the new church built in 1965.

From 1914-1917 Wilfred engaged in farming. In 1917, he became a full time rural mail carrier. Carrying the mail involved traveling 25-30 miles per day in a horse drawn vehicle. In the winter, roads were muddy or rough and frozen. In sub-freezing weather two bricks, pre-heated in the kitchen oven and wrapped in burlap were the only source of heat in the buggy.

On a certain afternoon during the construction of the "hard road" west of Pinckneyville in 1927, the road crew had removed the old bridge over Galum Creek and had not completed the approach to the new bridge and no detour was provided. Wilfred had to get across the creek to finish his day's mail delivery. The workmen declared the road was closed but Wilfred convinced them that nobody had the right to prevent the U.S. Mail from getting through. The solution was to unhitch the horses from the buggy, Wilfred led the horses down the bank of the creek, across, and to the other side while the workmen laid boards across the water and pushed the buggy by hand. The team was hitched again and the U.S. Mail did go through.

One of Wilfred's faithful horses traveled more than 27,000 miles on the mail route. Model T Fords, Model A Fords, and Chevies also logged thousands of additional miles.

Wilfred retired from U.S. Mail Service in 1944. During the next twenty years he and Cora devoted much time and interest to exhibiting standard bred horses, shetland and hackney ponies in shows and fairs in Illinois, Kentucky, and Missouri.

Wilfred passed away 10/18/78 and Cora passed away 5/28/85. Interment is in Pinckneyville City Cemetery. — Submitted by Hugh D. Malan

BERNARD ALBERT MANN

Bernard Albert Mann, fourth child of Joseph and Julianna Bischoff Mann, was born Oct. 12, 1890, in Pinckneyville, Ill., and married Magdalen Elizabeth Ruppert on May 19, 1921, at St. Bruno's Catholic Church in Pinckneyville.

Magdalen Ruppert (Mann) was born Feb. 26, 1897, to George and Louise Schneider Ruppert of Pinckneyville. Magdalen's brothers and sisters are: Cecelia, Charles, George, Albert, William, Joseph and Margaret.

Bernard Mann homesteaded with his brothers in Montana until about the time of World War I, when he sold out and came back to Perry Co. Father told many stories of the west and of the railroad. He said when he sold his homestead he held the money in the palm of his hand in gold pieces. He talked about the Indians and people carrying side arms and pistols. They lived near Culberson, Mt., a small town that had 13 taverns. When he came home he talked of how settled Perry Co. was in those days.

Father learned to fire steam engines working in the wheat harvest out west. Firing with wheat straw to keep up steam was a stepping stone to his getting a job on the railroad. Dad fired a steam engine on the Illinois Central Railroad.

One of the many things I remembered about dad, was him telling how they laid the ties down for the WC and WRR through Perry Co. and that they just put the ties down on clay ground to begin with and how the cars would come into town all splattered with mud and all the troubles they had. Dad said W.C. and W. R.R. means Wabash Chester & Western Railroad, but all the kids called it the "Wait Charley and Walk Railroad", or "Wobble Crook and Wobble Railroad."

Dad loved railroads all of his life. He became an engineer for the I.C. RR. After 44 years, he retired at age 70. He loved steam engines, but made the transition from steam to diesel locomotives in the early 1950's. He was a forerunner in the 4 and 5 unit trains, pulling perishable fruits down on the cut off. In his day, he wore a white starched hat, with a red handkerchief around his neck, overalls, and big cuff "Goodluck Gloves."

Father was 82 when he died, and was never heard to curse or use foul language. He grew up in Perry Co. and was a credit to our heritage. Father and Mother were excellent gardeners. Bernard and Madgalen had 6 children: Thomas, Cecelia, Mary (Jacinta), Charles, Julia Ann, and Joseph.

Mother's whole life was her family and she ran a tight ship. There was always a big garden with lots to do from early spring to late fall. Mom was busy keeping everyone going in the right direction. — Submitted by Joe Mann

MARLOW

The first Marlows came from England to America about 1654. Their starting point is not known, but there is a town "Marlow" ten miles west of London. The "Mar" is Roman-Celtic for "lake" and "low" is from Anglo-Saxon "leagh", also "lake."

Virginia-Maryland colonial records show many Marlows but so far not enough to trace them. George Marlow first appears in Pittsylvania Co., Va. in 1790. He moved to Wilson Co., Tn. where he died about 1812, leaving his widow Ellender and children Edward, Richard, George, Sarah, Elizabeth, Payton (Patton), Barksdale (Basdal), and Carter.

Richard, Carter and Basdal came to Perry Co. about 1830. James Marlow, probably a cousin, came to Jefferson Co. about 1830 also.

Richard's birth and death dates are not known and no will is in County records. Other records show his wife Tabitha, daughters Eliza (m. Berry Anderson) and Milberry (m. William Jones), and son Joel (1828-1914) who married Delilah Wilson in 1849. Probable children were Martha Ann (m. Hansel Terry 1843) and Alfred (1821-?) (m. Catherine Brides 1847).

Carter Marlow (1795-1861) married Seletta Bryant in 1812. Their son William R. (1820-1878) married Basdal's daughter, Rebecca Angeline (1835-1915). Son James Rufus (1824-?) married Margaret Donaldson (1833-?). Daughters Lydia (1825-?), and Harriet Matilda (1827-1873+), m. Thomas Stother) were followed by Basdel 2nd (1830-1870+ married Talitha Lynch?) and Sophronia (1836-?) m. Thomas Cross. Son Richard, b. 1814, married Mary Yearian. He was wounded at Buena Vista, 1847, during the Mexican War, and died at the Battle of Vicksburg in 1863.

Barksdale (Basdal) (1789-1864), married Nancy Lynch (1793-1864). Their son Samuel Isaac (1815-1904) m. Anna Williamson Bridges (1818-1905). Daughter Louisa Eliza (1818-1864) m. Andrew Robertson in 1846. Matthew (1816-?) married Nancy Wilson in 1837. Milas McCorkle (1828-1896) m. Mary Carolyn Metcalf (1830-1912) in 1847. Mary Jane (1829-?) m. 1846 Benjamin Abernethy. Rebecca Angeline (1835-1915) m. 1st William R. Marlow, and 2nd James A. Marlow of Jefferson Co. Bartly (1833-1912 m. Pernina Lynch. Sterling Coleman, Robert Robison and Alexander Marlow and their cousin Richard enlisted in the Army and fought at the Battle of Buena Vista Feb. 23, 1847 during the War with Mexico. Sterling and Robert were killed. Alexander (b. 1825) survived, but joined the Army after their father died in 1864, and himself died later in the year at Pine Bluff, Ar., leaving his wife Caroline Bridges (1826-?) and five children.

The Marlows settled mostly southwest of Tamaroa, around the Nine Mile and Holts Prairie Baptist churches. Many of the Pioneer families are buried in the Old Campbell Cemetery. Their descendants, of course, are scattered everywhere, but many allied families and a few Marlows are still in the same area. — Submitted by Marion E. Thornsberry

MARLOW-EATON

James Thomas Marlow was born on a farm about five miles west of Pinckneyville, Il. on Aug. 20, 1859, the second of nine children of Joel Marlow (1828-1914), and Delilah Wilson (1832-1892) who had come from Tennessee. His early education was only such as rural schools of that time afforded. His most valuable lessons were learned from "life's hard school" as he helped to earn a living for his family. He was determined to be a physician, though many thought no one in his surroundings could ever qualify for such a profession. Quite determined to press forward regardless of obstacles, at the age of 26, having accumulated a few dollars, he entered Missouri Medical College at St. Louis, Mo., from where he graduated Mar. 2, 1886.

Soon thereafter he began the practice of his chosen profession at Tamaroa, Il., where he continued to practice until his death, a period of nearly forty-eight years.

On Sept. 15, 1887, he was married to Mary Ellen Eaton (b. May 30, 1864), daughter of Enoch C. and Margaret Darraugh Eaton of Pinckneyville, Il. To this union were born one daughter, Edith (July 19, 1890) and one son, Robert Enoch Marlow. (Sept. 15, 1894). Assisted by Mrs. Marlow he operated the village drug store where he also served as Postmaster for a period of four years during President Grover Cleveland's administration. In addition to being licensed to practice medicine and to dispense drugs, Dr. Marlow also had a veterinary license.

In the early days of the telephone industry, seeing the benefit it would be to the community, he organized and practically single-handedly financed the first Tamaroa Telephone Company. A petition was granted Mar. 20, 1899 to James N. Gore and Zebedee Hempleman to construct a telephone system in Perry Co. A document signed by the Secretary of State, dated Apr. 3, 1900, authorized the Tri-County Telephone Company to open books for subscription of stock at $25.00 per share. On Apr. 6, 1906 the Secretary of State authorized The Tamaroa Telephone Company to open subscription to Capital stock with three commissioners named, one of whom was J. T. Marlow.

Believing in education, he served one term as president of the Board of Education and is credited with the building of the Tamaroa school (the corner-stone bears his name) which has through the years been both elementary and high school.

Daughter Edith married Samuel T. Duncan Oct. 27, 1911. At the time, Sam was Sheriff of Perry Co. with his office at the Co. Court House, but they settled in Tamaroa and had a home in the same block and identical to that of her parents. A daughter, Katherine, was born Oct. 14, 1913 and a second daughter, Helen, Mar. 12, 1920.

During the summers as a teenager, Katherine helped clerk in the drug store. She developed an interest in becoming a doctor of medicine which her grandfather was happy to encourage. Dr. Duncan graduated from the University of Illinois Medical School, Chicago, Ill. in June 1937. Unfortunately, Dr. Marlow lived only to know that she had started medical school since he passed away Jan. 12, 1934. Mrs. Marlow lived to be past 90, dying, Dec. 21, 1954.

In 1939 Katherine married a fellow medical schoolmate, Louis Elliott Tebow. To this union were born a son, Duncan Elliott, July 10, 1945, and a daughter, Mary Ellen (named for her great-grandmother Marlow) July 1, 1949. Dr. Tebow died while on active duty in the Navy, Oct. 17, 1958. Katherine, her married son and daughter and her two grandchildren live in the Washington, D.C. area.

Granddaughter Helen graduated in 1941 from Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., with a B.A. in Business Administration. Prior to her graduation she worked part time in the business office where she continued full time until retiring in 1984 as assistant comptroller for grants and contracts. She continues to reside in St. Louis, Mo.

Dr. Marlow's son, Robert Enoch Marlow, served in the army as a technician in World War I. He later pursued a career in insurance, but upon the death of his father came back to Tamaroa to live with his mother. He obtained a pharmacist license and took over management of the drugstore and also served as president of the Tri-County Telephone Company. Robert Marlow passed away in Dec. 1972 and shortly thereafter the drug store was closed. Since his death, Tamaroa has not only been without doctors, but also a drug store. — Submitted by Katherine Duncan Tebow

MARLOW-WHEATLEY

John Samuel Marlow, a native of Perry Co., was born Nov. 19, 1865, the son of Sterling Bartley and Mary Heape Marlow, who died a week after John's birth. He is a direct descendant of George Marlow, whose father came from England to help fight for the American cause during the Revolutionary War. (Via Samuel, Basdal then George.)

John married Jerusha Electa Wheatley on Oct. 25, 1885, and to this union eight children were born: Marion S., Tina E. Pyle, Grace M. McClellan (Roy West, first husband died), Blanche N. Co-naughty, Selma T. McGee, Jennie C. Saak, Rolla S. and Bernice B. Glover.

The Marlows were members of the "Friendship Church of Christ" for seventy-two years. The church was also known as "Little Vine." The church is still active for the Lord.

John was a farmer with a fruit orchard on the East side of the large two-story frame home, which had one huge pine tree near the house which stood as a lone sentinel — a landmark for four generations of family members. One could find him driving his Model T car in later years after the horse and buggy days. He and his wife were avid readers, and their whole lives were devoted to their family. Many good times were had by the family, under a double row of maple trees in the deep front yard, on a warm summer day when the entire family gathered for a family reunion.

John's wife, Jerusha, was born May 24, 1870, and she died July 17, 1954 at Tamaroa. John died Jan. 14, 1959.

CHARLES WILLIAM MARLOW

Charles William Marlow, a native of Perry Co., Ill., was born Sept. 16, 1921, the son of Rolla Seth and Lydia K. (Zoeckler) Marlow, of Tamaroa.

Charles was a life-time resident of this area. He went to the Upper Arm School for his first eight years of school. It was a one-room school house located four miles west of Tamaroa. It has now been converted into a house. He was a farmer in his earlier years, and then was a highway maintenance employee. He was a member of the First Christian Church of Tamaroa. When his father, Rolla Seth, became crippled he had to grow up fast at the age of twelve to help make ends meet.

Charles married Betty Jean Feltmeyer, daughter of William Nelson and Elsie (Stockton) Feltmeyer, on Nov. 13, 1954, and to this union two children were born: Charles Michael (Mike) and Nancy Jo Glander.

Charles William Marlow

On Dec. 30, 1977 Charles died at the age of 56. His wife, Betty, preceded him in death on June 8, 1973, leaving Nancy, age 13, and Mike, age 17.

Nancy lives on the home place of John Samuel Marlow, her great-grandfather, which is located four miles west of Tamaroa, with her husband, Gary Glander.

ROLLA SETH MARLOW

Rolla Seth Marlow, a native of Perry Co., Ill., was born on Nov. 24, 1895, the youngest son of John Sterling Marlow (see separate biography) and Jerusha Elizabeth Wheatley.

Rolla married Lydia Kate Zoeckler on Sept. 24, 1919, and to this union two children were born: Charles W., and Verna M. Gartside.

Rolla was a coal miner in his younger years, and then a farmer. On July 2, 1936 he met with an accident at his home while cleaning out a cistern.

Rolla Seth Marlow and Family

A chain broke on which he was standing, and he fell twenty-two feet, resulting in him being crippled until he died on Sept. 4, 1977. Everyone remembers his sunny personality and strong will to "make the best of a bad situation." His wife, Lydia, was his strongest ally.

His son, Charles, died three months after he did, and Charles' wife preceded Charles in death by four years.

His wife, Lydia, is still living in the home place at the age of ninety years.

MATTHEWS-THOMPSON

Well known in Pinckneyville as "Charley" or "Chas.", William Charles Mathews (b. 1-20-1893, Sparta, Il.) was the fifth of six children born to Thomas White Mathews (b. 1-22-1853, St. Louis, Mo. d. 6-21-1930) and Anna Reid Mathews (b. 9-4-1854, Paisley, Scotland, d. 12-15-1901). Charles was quite young when the family moved to Marissa, Il. where he attended school and learned the Sheet Metal trade from Ed McClaine.

Just prior to WW I, some friends convinced him to go with them to Racine, Wi. where they could earn "big money" at Mitchell Motors Automobile Assembly Plant. However when "Uncle Sam" called, Charley entered the Army and served as a Sergeant with the A.E.F. in France.

After the war, he purchased Charles Varnes' Sheet Metal Shop in Pinckneyville. Sometime later he relocated to the Doerr building at 116 S. Walnut Street where his familiar "Tin and Furnace Shop" remained for approximately forty years.

Charles married Marie Bell 7-22-1919 but the "Great Flu Epidemic" claimed her life 2-10-1920, along with a sister and her mother within two weeks.

Verda Thompson (b. 9-25-1888, DuBois, Il.), one of five children born to Henry and Flora Thompson attended school in Tamaroa, Il. and later moved to Pinckneyville where she and her sister Wilma Thompson (Biby) cared for their mother during her final years. Verda was employed as a Telephone Operator in the old Telephone Building on West Randolph Street until her marriage to Charles Mathews on Nov. 8, 1922.

Charley and Verda were both active in the Methodist Church. Charley belonged to the American Legion and actively served Pinckneyville's Fire Dept. for nearly fifty years. He was a member of Mitchell Lodge #85 and was installed as Worshipful Master in 1937 and 1960. Charley loved music and played the Tuba in the town band for several years.

Verda was a member of the Eastern Star, the American Legion Auxiliary and the Fire Dept. Auxiliary. She enjoyed cooking and helping others so many a sick person found Verda at their door with a hot meal when most needed.

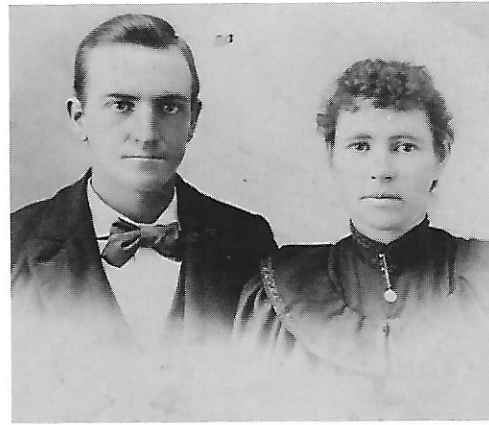

In 1925 Charles and Verda lost their first child, a daughter who was stillborn. Their only other child, Thomas Charles (b. 7-5-1928), grew up in Pinckneyville and learned the Sheet Metal trade from Charley by the time he graduated from PCHS. In 1946 Tom enlisted in the Navy and served as an Electronics Technician. Later, while attending SIU, Tom met Doris Rich (b. 11-18-1925) of Harrisburg, Il. They were married 3-12-1950.

After two years with Chrysler's Engineering Dept. in Evansville, In., Tom accepted a job in Manufacturing Engineering with Boeing so they moved to Seattle, Wa. where Cindy (b. 12-4-1953), Kevin (b. 12-8-1957/d. 7-13-1978) and Darren (b. 8-15-1962/d. 7-13-1978) were born.

Verda died 10-13-1963 so Charley sold the home at 202 N. Walnut St. where they had lived since 1931.

Charley was married to Lillian Dintelman from 12-6-1966 until his death 11-25-1970. He is buried with Marie, Verda and their infant daughter in the I.O.O.F. Cemetery, Pinckneyville —

MAXWELL-RULE

William G. Maxwell (4-23-1871 in Oakdale, Il.), the eldest son of Evan B. and Margaret Ann (McCormick) Maxwell, moved with his family to Bards Grove 4-Mile in about 1872. Early in life William professed his faith in Christ and was never afraid to state his belief. His parents joined the Galum Presbyterian Church in 1873. There were 10 children: Anna, Ida Belle, Elmer, Grover, James, Lena, Delphia, Minnie, Pearle and an infant who died. Proving responsibility, William was his father's right-hand man, he also joined with threshermen, working area farms.

He was united in marriage to Joan Rule, the daughter of S. D. and Hannah (Boyd) Rule on Apr. 12, 1895. Five girls and one boy blessed this home: Pearl (1896), Genevieve (1900), Clementine (1903), Ellis (1907), Hannah (1909), and Wilma (1912-1915). The couple resided in 4-Mile where 3 of the daughters were born. In 1906 Pearl attended boarding school on Mason Street, Pinckneyville.

William did carpentry and was employed by Elias Kane Sr. at Illinois Power Plant, also at Pinckneyville water works and was made Plant Superintendent. He built a house on Belle Ave. where the other children were born.

They transferred from the Galum Church to the First Methodist where William was a Trustee, Joan was in Ladies Aid and the children were in youth activities.

Going into business for himself, renting on South Main, Will wired many homes, sold and fitted lightning rods on farms over the county. A faithful pony, Daisy, was replaced by a Model A truck to carry supplies. About 1917 a site for a new store on South Walnut was started, the business moved next door until new one was finished. G. E., Westinghouse, Norge, fixture, etc. were sold. Will was noted for his friendly manner, won many friends and was respected. He was a staunch supporter of the garment factory. He welcomed Max Hirsh and Rudy Kohlsdorf when they located on the Square and on South Walnut. He tried to help the community grow. In 1930 he was elected to the Pinckneyville Council as Water Commissioner. John Keene was Mayor. This was the year water meters were voted in, with so much dissension concerning this matter, that he decided politics was not for him.

He retired in 1937 and five years later suffered a severe heart attack and passed away Mar. 10, 1942. Burial was in IOOF Cemetery.

The children of Will were left wonderful memories of their home and a kind, understanding father. He left discipline to Joan, supporting her decisions. They had no money to waste but a treat to the Sat. nite movie (10 cents) was enjoyed. They remember the County Fair with the basket dinner (home made pie, fried chicken, etc). The family recalls, during World I when flour was scarce, a train car turned over on west end of the tracks, people with coaster wagons took the flour, cleaned it and baked bread — they all survived. They have fond memories of the J. Bell, Pringle, Anderson and Maxwell family reunions at the fair grounds. There was Dandy, Ellis' pony, that no girl could ride, but one "tomboy" from Chicago known as the Duchess tackled Dandy; before he knew it, she had saddle and bridle on. Oh, yes, hobos were fed too, always enough.

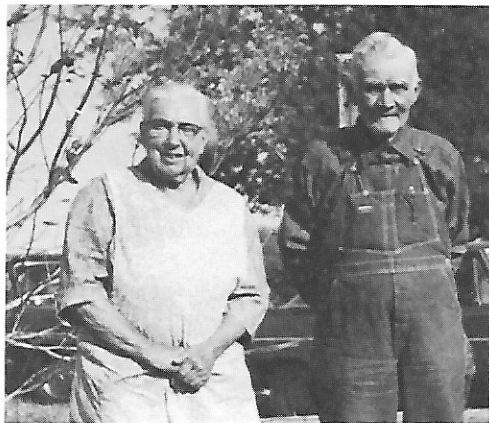

Pearl, a bookkeeper, married Scott Brown and had 4 children. Genevieve went to SIU and taught school. She married George Ulrich and had 3 children. Clementine was a nurse at St. John's. She married Dr. E. J. Javaux. Ellis was Superintendent at Truax. He married Alice Richmond. Hannah worked for Illinois Bell Telephone. She married Virgil Talley and they have 3 children.

Although living in DeSoto, Candace graduated from Carbondale High School in 1975 and began work at S.I.U. in Health Service and later in the Family Practice Center of Carbondale Memorial Hospital.

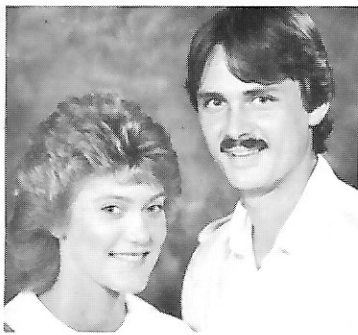

It is an odd coincidence that both John and Candace's paternal grandparents were at one time in the banking business, as John's grandparents, Bernard H. Melvin and Lula E. (Dry) Melvin were both employed at banks in Elkhart and Du Quoin until their deaths.

On Aug. 16, 1983, John and Candace were blessed with their first child, Jason Wesley Melvin. On Dec. 20, 1984, Jennifer Erin Melvin was born and has the distinction of being the first girl born to this branch of the Melvin family in 58 years. — Submitted by John W. Melvin and Candace J. Melvin

MELVIN-GEORGE

Kristine Ray (George) Melvin is the first of 2 children of Thomas H. and Mary Kathryn (Ray) George (m. 10-21-61), and sister of Thomas W. George (b. 6-28-72). Paternal grandparents were Herschel E. and Helen L. (Newborn) George. Great grandparents were Herbert A., son of John M. George, and Lulu B. (Knapp) George, and John T. and Christina (Bauer) Newborn (born in Holland). Maternal grandparents were Frederick A. and Mary E. (Fox) Ray. Great-grandparents were William E. (1870-1909) and Edith L. (McNutt) Ray (b. 5-17-1868 in a covered wagon on the way to Illinois from Pennsylvania and member of Daughters of the American Revolution), and Charles W. (chief of police, Du Quoin, 1920's) and AnnaBelle (Stickels) Ray.

Michael Dean Melvin is the second of 3 sons born to Lt. Col. Bernard D. and Ramona L. (Heisler) Melvin (m. 4-11-53). Michael (b. 11-19-55) and his brother Marc B. (b. 8-29-54) were born at Johnson A.F.B., Iramagawa, Japan, while their father was stationed there with the Air Force. His brother, John W., was born in Duluth, Mn., 7-16-57. Paternal grandparents were Bernard H. and Lulu E. (Dry) Melvin. Great grandparents were Carroll W. and Barbara E. (Coleman) Melvin (daughter of Jacob Coleman), and Frank E. and Martha E. (Revelle) Dry. Maternal grandparents were Godfrey V. and Effie I. (Wark) Heisler. Great-grandparents were Valentine J. (1856-1934) and Wilhelmina J. (Peschke) Heisler (1860-1911, born in Germany), and Douglas D. (was a Gideon missionary to the Indians) and Anna (Nolte) Wark.

Interestingly, the John M. George mentioned in Kristines lineage accidentally killed the Jacob Coleman in Michaels lineage by stabbing him in the leg over a political argument.

Kristine has been a life long resident of Du Quoin, being born at Marshall Browning Hospital, 7-5-63, and graduating from Du Quoin High School in 1981. Thereafter she worked for Krogers where she met her husband, Michael, and now works for Foster Medical Corporation as a patient services coordinator.

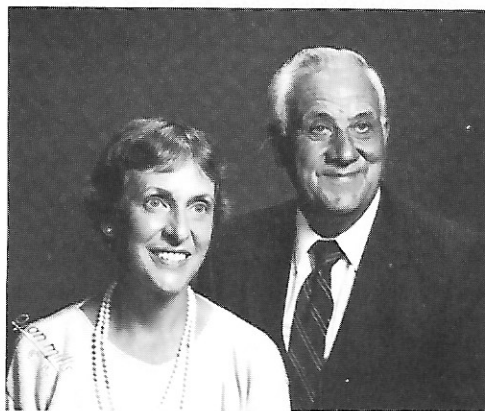

Kris and Mike were married 9-14-84, at Christian Fellowship Church, Du Quoin, and had the honor of being the first couple married in the church.

Michael has not always lived in Perry Co. He got to travel extensively due to his father being in the service and lived overseas in Japan, Turkey, and Thailand, as well as in 7 of the 50 United States. He graduated from Jacksonville High School, Jacksonville, Ar. in 1973, the year his father retired from the Air Force. The family then moved to Old Du Quoin, where they built their own home, and where his parents still live. Michael then went to John A. Logan Jr. College where he received special awards for his artwork, and an Associates degree in Art, and to SIU-Carbondale, to study pre-pharmacy. In 1977 he was accepted into the pharmacy program at the University of Florida, Gainesville, being only 1 of 3 out-of-state students accepted. He graduated in 1980 with a B.S. in Pharmacy and has since become licensed in Florida, Indiana, and Illinois. He has worked both retail and hospital pharmacy, most recently being the Director of Pharmacy at Pinckneyville Community Hospital and currently working at Memorial Hospital of Carbondale.

Kris and Mike live in Du Quoin, as do their brothers and both sets of their parents. —

Ramona graduated from Princeton H.S. in 1950 and worked as secretary for Artists, Inc. in Minneapolis until her marriage. She has three sisters: Dorothy Heisler, Joyce Truchinski, Jeanette Dobs, and one brother, Gerald Heisler.

By coincidence, one of Ramona's ancestors married an Eliza Melvin in Ireland, before moving to New Brunswick, Canada, in 1823.

Bernard Dean Melvin (b. 11-01-1924, Du Quoin) was the only son of Bernard H. and Lulu E. (Dry) Melvin. Paternal grandparents were Carroll W. Melvin and Barbara E. He attended the University of Minnesota, where he received his B.S. in pharmacy. He met his future wife as a result of filling her prescription, and they were married on Apr. 11, 1953 at St. Stephen's Catholic Church in Minneapolis. Dean was recalled to active duty on Apr. 16, 1953. He was assigned to the 11th Fighter Squadron in Duluth, Mn., and in 1954 to the 40th Fighter Squadron in Yakota, Japan. Quoin and built their own home, where they presently live. Dean practices pharmacy part time. He and Mona garden, care for an assortment of pets, and enjoy their children and grandchildren who live nearby.

MELVIN-WINTE

The Melvin family came originally from Ireland or Scotland, settling in North Carolina. Aaron Melvin was born there in 1783, and later married Margarette Sullivan (b. 1803, Tn). They lived for a few years in Sumner Co., Tn., but shortly after 1820 they moved to Parrish, Il., near Benton. A son, John W., was born to them about 1824.

John W. Melvin enlisted in Co. K, 2nd Illinois Volunteers, during the Mexican War, a unit that contained many men from Perry Co. The unit was decimated by disease; John himself suffered terribly from measles and dysentery. He was discharged in July of 1848, and on Oct. 18th married Susan Glover.

In Aug. of 1861 John enlisted in the Union army as a corporal in Captain Dollin's Company of Cavalry, attached to the 31st Regiment of Illinois Volunteers. On Mar. 7, 1862, John died of pneumonia at Fort Donelson, Tn., about a month before the birth of his seventh child. John's unembalmed body was sent to Tamaroa. Susan went to pick it up, taking his body back to Parrish in an ox-drawn wagon. The trip took her three days. After his death, Susan moved to Tamaroa to escape harrassment by her neighbors in Parrish, most of whom were southern sympathizers.

John and Susan's third child, Carroll W. (1853-1916), was a miner. He married Barbara Coleman, who, upon his death, married John C. Neville.

One of Carroll and Barbara's sons, Carroll W., still lives in Du Quoin with his wife Adeline - they have been married almost 72 years. The youngest son, Bernard H., married Lulu E. Dry. He was a banker, both in Elkhville and in Du Quoin, and Lulu was a teller for many years at the National Bank in Du Quoin. Their only child, Bernard D., joined the Army Air Corps in WWII, and retired from the Air Force in 1973. He married Ramona L. Heisler, of Princeton, Mn., and they now live in Old Du Quoin. Bernard (Dean) and Ramona had three sons, Marc (b. 8-29-54), Michael (b. 11-19-55), and John (b. 7-16-57).

Marc and Karen Melvin

Karen K. (Winte) Melvin (b. 6-30-55) is the second child of Loraine E. E. (Reinhardt) and the late Marvin H. T. Winte. Paternal grandparents were Albert and Pauline (Pries) Winte. Maternal grandparents were Emma S. (Holt) and Edwin W. Reinhardt. Edwin served as a sniper on the front lines in WWI, in Co. I, 354th infantry, 89th division.

Karen's father, Marvin, a Navy veteran of WWII, was a salesman. Her mother, Loraine, works for Health Mart in Edwardsville.

Karen graduated from Edwardsville H.S. in 1973. She worked for Olin, Inc. for 3 years before becoming a medical technologist, and lived in Dodge City, Ks., and Beaver, Ok., before moving to Mt. Vernon, Il. She met her husband, Marc B. Melvin, on a blind date, and they were married Jan. 18, 1986, at Trinity Lutheran Church in Edwardsville.

Marc B. Melvin was born at Johnson A.F.B., Iramagawa, Japan, and graduated from the International School, Bangkok, Thailand, in 1972. In 1974 he enlisted in the USN, and served in the engine rooms of four successive ships, USS McKean, USS Bordelon, USS LaSalle, and USS Yosemite. In 1980 he was honorably discharged, and returned to college. He is now a trooper in the Illinois State Police, district 13. He and Karen reside in Old Du Quoin, where they plan to build a home.

HELEN BARBER MELVIN

Helen Claire Barber (born Mar. 2, 1901; Tamaroa), daughter of Cicero and Louetta Barber, married John Melvin (born Apr. 21, 1881) on Apr. 21, 1923. They had no children. It is said that Helen

Helen (Barber) Melvin and Nancy (Barber) Naumer (sisters)

(nicknamed "Heinie") carried the mail in Tamaroa. Her husband passed away some years before her, and she died at her home in an accidental fire (said to have been caused by smoking in bed) on Jan. 2, 1974, in Tamaroa.

MENTEL-TODD

The Mentel family is traced back to Germany in the mid-1770's with the marriage of Gottfried Mentel and Gottlieb Bader. A son, Georg Joseph was born (approximately 1779) in Ruppertsberg, married Magdalena Leidenheimer in 1803, she died in 1812. He then married Margaretha Hick same year and from that marriage came Friedrich Mentel (May 10, 1830) in Diedesheim and eight other children. In the mid-1830's the family arrived in New Orleans where the parents died the next year of yellow fever. Friedrich, the second youngest, went to work at age 10, at age 25 married Mary Ann Bierhorst (born in Hanover, Ger. — died 1902), and moved to Waterloo, Il. In 1858, they moved to Perry Co., built a log cabin and homesteaded 40 acres of virgin forest land. Later he bought an adjacent 120 acres in Township #5 north of Pinckneyville on what is now Il. 127.

Adam Mentel Pioneer Family, 1912

Fred was a farmer and vintner who sold grain and grapes and made and sold wine. He was listed as a founder of St. Bruno's Church in Pinckneyville. All of the Mentel family were of the Catholic faith. Fred's family consisted of three boys and three girls. Adam, the youngest — born Dec. 25, 1866, remained at home to help his father farm until his father's death in 1897. The farm was then deeded over to Adam. Nov. 25, 1895, Adam married Sarah Jane Todd. They lived on this farm the rest of their lives. Adam and Sarah had four girls and one son. Clara (1896-1918), Florence (1904-1960), James (1907-1963), Rose (1899) and Irene (1901). They attended Nation School, later St. Bruno's with the girls going on to Southern Illinois-Normal at Carbondale. The four girls taught in one room schools all over the county. Irene, who lived with her parents until their death, taught school for 43 years. James, a farmer and miner was married to Celeste Hubler. Son-in-law John Phillips and Simon Martin, both farmers and miners at United Electric later built their homes on the Mentel homestead.

Adam's early farming was with horse-drawn implements and was a family affair. At wheat harvest the children would stand up the base shocks. At dusk Adam would go over the field and cap the shocks. As a stock buyer he delivered to the stockyards in East St. Louis for Perry Co. farmers. He kept a herd of 10-15 milk cows, had a separator and sold cream to the Pinckneyville Creamery.

Some of the original Mentel homestead is now the site of the Oak Grove Baptist Church (sold for $25.00 by Fred so his neighbors could have a place to worship), a cemetery, at one time a fire tower, and several homes. Most of the original land is still owned by Adam's heirs — over 138 years under the same name. — Submitted by Mrs. John (Rose Mentel) Phillips

MESNER

John Mesner came over to America from Austria in 1905 when he was only 15 years old. When the ship landed in New York he couldn't speak much English, mostly Slovenian and German. All of the passengers were looking for a job and a place to stay. He followed some of the passengers to Wisconsin. There he found work and stayed at a boarding house, where he met Anna Blazich who had come over on the same boat and worked at the boarding house. John was 19 when he married Anna in West Allis, Wi. By the time they moved to Illinois there were six children, Anna Jennie, Emma, Johnnie, Mary and Rosie. They lived in Winona, Mascoutah, Pana, and finally in Du Quoin in 1920.

John worked at the Majestic mine, the Old Jewel mine, the mines in Buckner and lastly at the New Jewel mine west of the old West Park School. It closed after a month and he never received any pay for his month's work. Things got tougher, there were no steady jobs and John had a lot of mouths to feed. He cleaned outhouses, worked at odd jobs, any job he could get. He studied hard for his citizenship papers and it was a proud day when he got them. Trying to better himself he hopped a freight train to St. Louis and worked in a machine shop there but Du Quoin was his home and he still looked for work there. Finally, Pied Naumer of the Du Quoin Packing Company gave him a job. The Packing House was small and only butchered two or three beefs a day, but it was steady work. Things got better and John opened a little stand at 2 West Park on the corner. He sold candy, soda, ice cream and cigars.

The Mesner family continued to grow. It now included William, Joseph, Lawrence, Cecilia, Anthony and Molley, making a total of 12 children. But things were going too good. There was a flu epidemic and Mary died. The next day Rosie died, and there was a double funeral at the Mesner house. Not too much later, Baby Joey died of a heart murmur. All were buried in Sacred Heart Cemetery. John made a cement stone for them with a heart, cross, and an anchor on it. It's still there in that same spot having withstood the ravages of time.

All the Mesner children attended Sacred Heart School. Some of the older ones left school to get a job. Anna worked at the Maidrite and at Erwin Florist. Emma worked at Healey Poultry in the office. Jennie got married. Anna and Emma left for Chicago to work and married there. John opened Blue Bell Inn at the Du Quoin Packing Company. It was a small restaurant, family owned and operated for six years. When it was Fair time, John had a BBQ stand at the Du Quoin State Fair.

World War II started and Johnnie joined the Army and was sent to Italy. William and Lawrence joined the Navy. William was stationed at San Diego and Lawrence was sent to the Philippines. Lawrence was the first war casualty in Du Quoin. Listed as "Missing in Action" he went down with his ship, the USS Houston which was sunk off the coast of Java. He received the Purple Heart.

John continued to work at the Du Quoin Packing House until he received his 25 year pin. Shortly after, he retired and in 1945 he remodeled the old family place, and opened a small grocery store and called it Johnny's Market. He operated the store for quite some time but since most of his children were away and took no interest in it he finally closed it. John and Anna Mesner had spent more than 50 years in Du Quoin at 2 West Park Street. John died at 78 and Anna at 87. Both are buried next to their children in the Sacred Heart Cemetery. Since their death, Jennie and Emma have also passed away.

The old house and store has been torn down. A new house has been built in the same spot where they stood. Yes, there's a Mesner living there and the Mesner Heritage continues in Du Quoin. As daughter, Mrs. Norman Kessel, built a beautiful home on that same corner lot, sort of a remembrance to the parents.

The children still living are: John Mesner Jr., Chicago, Ill.; Wm. F. Mesner, North Highlands, Ca.; Ann Behrens, Rolling Meadows, Ill.; Cecilia Kessel, Du Quoin, Ill.; Tony Mesner, El Paso, Ill.; Molley Markovich, Du Quoin, Ill.

Molly is the youngest of the family. She is the mother of three children and is a graduate of Sacred Heart School, also of Du Quoin Township High, class of '45. She resides on South Washington Street with her husband, Joseph. They have lived there for the past twelve years. Prior to that they lived in Chicago for twenty five years. She wrote part of this biography and dedicates it to her parents, John and Anna Mesner, both deceased.

"Doc" married Lyda McDonald and to this union were born three children: Ernest, Maggie and Ezra. Ezra served in the Navy and was lost at sea during his last assignment.

After Lyda's death "Doc" married Clara Sprenger (1864-1954), the daughter of Frederick and Marie Sprenger. Marie was a native of Hanover, Germany and met Frederick, also a native of Germany, on the ship coming to the U.S.A. Marie's family settled in Switzerland Co., In. In

Jacob "Doc" and Clara Miller

West Virginia Frederick, an engineer, met a Mr. White, Elizabeth Rountree's grandfather, who engaged him to come to Tamaroa, Il. and help start the Red Onion Mine located on the west side of town. The Sprengers had five sons and two daughters: Henry, Frederick, William, Edward, Augustus, Louise and Clara.

Jacob "Doc" and Clara had four children: Walter (1897-1964), who married Mary Francis. They had three daughters: Mary Ella, Lorraine and JoAnn. Walter was a telephone lineman and repair man in Tamaroa for about 30 years.

Lena Louise (b. 1898), who married Bernice Wilks, a farmer. They had a son and two daughters: James A., Jennie Mae and Mary Louise. Lena moved to an apartment in Taylorville, Il. in 1984.

Aaron (1901-1977), who married Ariah Opp. They had three daughters and two sons: Bertha Fay, Viola Mae, Betty Jean, Aaron Jr. and Richard. Aaron was a carpenter. He operated a chicken farm in northern Illinois for a few years. He operated two small coal mines: one in the Shake-rag area, the other "The Lemmon Mine" just south of Tamaroa. He also worked with his father in the saw mill and with the threshing machine.

Rosamond "Rosebud" (b. 1904), who married Henry Downs, a coal miner. They had one daughter, Majorie, and three sons: Edward, Bill and Bob. Edward was an army paratrooper and was killed in a training accident at Fort Benning, Ga. in 1943.

"Doc" was a man with various occupations. He was a farmer in Township 5-2, a carpenter, operator of a saw mill, and ran a threshing machine.

He was probably the first in the area to own an automobile, a 1913 Case. Was quite an attraction. His admonition was "look but don't touch."

The Miller family was active in the Christian Church. When a minister had to spend the night in the area it was always in the Miller home.

"Doc" passed away in 1945 and was buried in the Tamaroa Cemetery. Clara then lived with her children until her death on May 25, 1954. She was buried beside her husband. — Submitted by Jennie Mae Baxter

MILLIKIN-REIDELBERGER

Charles Ray Millikin (b. July 30, 1909) was the middle son of six children born to Robert (1883-1932) and Luella McKinstry (1881-1970) Millikin both life-long residents of Perry Co.

On Oct. 8, 1927 Charles married Frances E. Reidelberger (b. July 18, 1910) the youngest of twelve children born to Silas (1862-1930) and Frances Lively (1868-1929) Reidelberger. They farmed land near the Perry-Washington Co. border in Illinois.

Charlie and Frances Millikin

Charles and Frances lived in Pinckneyville when their first child was born in 1928. Hulda Hilda-brand now lives in Ocala, Fl. with her two children and granddaughter nearby.

In 1930 their first son, Thomas Ray Millikin, was born. He played basketball on the Pinckneyville High School team that went to State in 1948. He also played basketball during his years at Southern Illinois University. Tom now lives with his wife Joanne in Westchester, Il. where he is the principal at Proviso East High School. They have one grown son.

Like many Perry Co. families, the Millikins overcame many hardships during the Depression. In 1931 Charlie and Frances moved their young family seven miles north of Pinckneyville along what is now Route 127. Here they lived as "squatters" on land owned by Jim Hunter. It was during this time that their third child was born. Thelma Coatney (b. 1933) now lives with her husband Will in Normal, Il. They are both graduates of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. The Coatneys have three daughters and two grandchildren.

The Millikins fourth child, Betty Ferrero (b. 1936) and her husband Dean live in Mt. Vernon, Il. They have three daughters and a son and five grandchildren.

In 1940 the Millikins bought a 30 acre farm in Rice, Il. and welcomed the arrival of their fifth child. Janet Masters and her husband Tod live in Joliet, Il. They have three grown sons.

Charlie Millikin began working for the United Electric Coal Co. in June of 1941 and retired in 1974. His real love however was hunting quail and running a kennel for hunting dogs. At the height of its activity his kennel had as many as 45 dogs. His good friend E. T. Simonds of Carbondale helped build the kennel and also brought many influential people there to hunt with Charlie's dogs including St. Louis Cardinal Enos Slaughter. The Ratkin family of Pepperidge Farm fame and the Rockefeller's also boarded dogs at the small farm in Rice.

The job of feeding these hungry sportsmen (sometimes on short notice) fell to Frances and she handled it in her simple and gracious way. In addition to being a homemaker, Frances has always been active in church, playing the piano or organ and teaching Sunday School. She also enjoys gardening, crocheting and quilting. Almost any winter morning you can find her in the basement at her quilt frame usually joined by a neighbor or two with a pot of homemade soup on the stove. This is perhaps how Charlie and Frances are known best; as good neighbors who are always there willing to share a cup of coffee, to lend a hand or a listening ear. — Submitted by Nancy Hoffarth

MINTON-TEMPLETON

Jane Isabelle Templeton Minton was born 1 Aug. 1946 at Christian Welfare Hospital in St. Clair Co., Il., to Dr. James Scott and Isabella Jane Boheim Templeton. Her birth caused virtual shock waves in the city of Pinckneyville because her father was seventy-five years old, her mother, thirty-eight, and after eight childless years of marriage they had told no one of the impending birth.

On her sixth birthday Jane was stricken with polio, paralyzed from the waist down. She recovered from the disease wearing a brace to her hip until her 9th birthday when numerous surgeries and diligent therapy under her mother's supervision enabled her to walk unaided, with only a slight limp. She soon became a normally active child and progressed through the Pinckneyville school system, a good student, active in all aspects of small town life. Known as "Jane Jane" to most of her classmates and teachers, she was selected "most versatile" in her senior class.

Jane attended Lindenwood College in St. Charles, Mo., for one year and McKendree College in Lebanon, Il., for two. It was at McKendree College that she met her husband-to-be, Walter Jean Minton, of Aruba, Netherlands Antilles, whose family were natives of Union Co., Il. Jane and Walt were married 27 Dec. 1970, in Pinckneyville. Walter had enlisted in the U.S. Army and been chosen a Green Beret the previous summer so life was to change dramatically for Jane.

Though their first home was in Alexandria, Va., Walt and Jane soon moved to Fayetteville, N.C. and then to Okinawa, Japan, in the first six months of their marriage. While stationed in Japan, Jane completed her B.A., majoring in business administration, from the University of Maryland, Far East division. Once back in the states, they lived near Boston, Ma., and then on to Tampa, Fl., in 1973, where both attended the University of South Florida, Walt receiving his B.A. in criminal justice and Jane, her M.A. in aging studies. Divorced in 1975, Jane moved on to Tallahassee, Fl., to complete her internship with the Aging Specialist at the Florida State Department of Education. In early 1976 she moved to Gainesville, Fl., as field programmer for the Alachua Co. Older Americans Council. Among many interesting happenings in Florida, her most favorite was having had film star Marilyn Monroe's mother as a regular client.

Jane remarried Walter in the fall of 1976 and together they moved to Pinckneyville where he became an undercover narcotics agent for the Metropolitan Enforcement Group, based in Carbondale. In June of 1977 Walt was hired as Chief of Police for the city of Du Quoin and they moved to the Boheim home on East North street that Jane's grandfather had built for his bride in 1905. It was Jane's eleventh move in seven years.

On Mar. 13, 1978, a son, James Isaac Templeton Minton, was born to Walt and Jane. He was named for Walt's grandfather, James Isaac Minton, and Jane's father, James Scott Templeton. By 1981 Jane was employed as training director for Shagbark Girl Scout Council serving 26 counties in southern Illinois and Indiana, and in 1982 the military had that Walter come back to active duty. Jane and Walt were again divorced in 1984. Jane continued to work for the Girl Scouts until excessive travel demands required a shift of occupations. She began writing "Harking Back," a daily column in the Du Quoin Evening Call in Dec. of 1984.

Jane is active in community life, having served on various boards including 5 Star Industries, Perry Co. Cancer board, Perry Co. Home Extension Program Board, and United Way. Jane is active in the Presbyterian Church, having served as an elder and a deacon. She belongs to Domestic Science and Service League, both social organizations, and the Perry Co. Historical Society. Some of her hobbies include gardening and genealogy, but her favorite activity is sharing time with her son, "Ike." Ike enjoys soccer, swimming, basketball, baseball and 4-H. Together they camp, bird watch, study rocks, enjoy computers and playing with their dog, Max, and three cats, Pluto, Cassie and Mr. X. — Submitted by Jane Minton

MONTGOMERY-FREDERICK

Wayne Monroe Montgomery (b. 2-08-06, Carbondale, Il.; d. 7-21-85) was the son of Augustine Browning Montgomery (b. 4-1-1877; d. 3-24-48) and Cora Bell Ragland Montgomery (b. 6-7-1880; d. 2-08-1911). Wayne had three brothers:

Paul Vern (b. 11-30-01, Murphysboro, Il.; d. 1-15-87); wife: Geneva Mattix; one child: Laura Jean. Some time after Geneva died, Paul married Muriel Rehbein.

Charles Dean (b. 8-25-03, Carbondale, Il.; d. 5-18-75); wife: Lucille Caroline Lindsey; children: Erma Joan and Robert Hugh.

Lyle Ragland (b. 7-16-09, Du Quoin, Il.); (he was later adopted and named Perry Edwin Bear); wife: Helen Louise Hunter; children: Nancy and twins Jerry and Susan.

Wayne was five years old, and living with his mother and grandmother (Rebecca Ragland), when his mother died of tuberculosis in 1911. Prior to this, Paul and Dean had been taken to a children's home in Du Quoin and Lyle to an orphanage in St. Louis, as their mother knew she would not live long. After his mother's death, Wayne lived with his Aunt Jane Moore (a widow) and her two sons, Ira and Ben, on their farm near Tamaroa. He attended Tamaroa schools and later worked in Chicago and South Bend, In. Once when out of work, he took a trip to the west coast and visited with Les Blanchard (formerly of Tamaroa) who tried to find a job for Wayne, and when none could be found, he got Wayne a job as cook for men who were taking a load of sheep by train to market, and this way he got back to Illinois. He appreciated what Les had done for him.

In 1940, while working for the Blanchard Coal Company in Tamaroa, Wayne was to train the new office girl Iris Almeda Frederick (b. 11-4-18, Martinsville, Il.; parents - see under Bethel and Lucy Frederick). This work association blossomed into a romance and they were married on Dec. 16, 1942 in the Army Chapel at Fort Worden, Wa., where Wayne was assigned to the Coast Artillery. In Nov. 1943, military service over, Wayne and Iris headed for California, living first in Newhall, then Bakersfield; then in Hawthorne where they resided from 1948 to 1968. Wayne was employed by North American Aviation (now known as Rockwell, International), retiring in 1968. Iris enjoyed her work as receptionist for an ophthalmologist and later was stenographer and secretary in civil service positions for the Air Force. They had no children.

While in California, Wayne and Iris became members of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church and were very active in many phases of the church work.

When Wayne retired in 1968, they moved back to Illinois, and Iris transferred to a civil service position at Scott Air Force Base, near Belleville, retiring in 1981. They lived in Centralia from 1968 to 1983, when they moved to Marion, Il. Wayne had a rare form of anemia (Megaloblastic Anemia) and after a lengthy illness, he died on July 21, 1985.

During vacations Wayne and Iris took many auto trips and visited most of the states. They especially enjoyed a trip to Victoria, British Columbia, Canada, where they had gone on their honeymoon years earlier.

Wayne delighted in visiting with friends and talking over old times. He liked young people - he liked animals. He enjoyed meeting new people; no one was ever a stranger long. Iris continues to live in Marion, Il., enjoying her involvement in the Marion Seventh-Day Adventist Church activities and visiting relatives in Du Quoin.

A sad phase of Wayne's life was the separation from his brothers. When grown, Wayne, Paul, and Dean did get together occasionally; but it was

JOHN de LAFAYETTE MORGAN

John de Lafayette Morgan was born Nov. 2, 1874 to John H. and Sarah A. (Hamilton) Morgan of Jackson Co., Il. He was named after his father and his mother's brother, Marcus de Lafayette Hamilton.

John H. Morgan's parents were Cairy and Eliza Caroline Morgan, natives of Tennessee, who lived in Nashville, Washington Co., Il. Cairy was a farmer and a member of the Morgan family there. Cairy Morgan served under Captain James Burn's Company in the Black Hawk Indian War of 1832. In 1855 he and his whole family removed to a farm in the American Bottoms of Venice Township, Madison Co., Il. In 1862, just after the start of the Civil War, they came to Degognia Township of Jackson Co., Il. They lived near a nowaday forgotten town called Cora. They remained there until their deaths.

John H. Morgan (1832-92) the eldest son of Cairy and Eliza Morgan, enlisted in the Civil War Oct. 25, 1861, in Madison Co., Il. He was injured at the Battle of Pittsburg Landing in Tennessee, only to re-enlist as a volunteer for the duration of the war. He was discharged from the service with the rank of Corporal on Sept. 9, 1865 at Paducah, Ky. John H. returned home to find his family had moved. He went to Degognia Township of Jackson Co. and lived near his family. It is here where he met Sarah Ann Hamilton (1854-1889) the daughter of Archibald and Rebecca A. (Wells) Hamilton. They were married Apr. 18, 1872 and in 1873 he bought 160 acres in Kinkaid Township, now remembered as the old Tope Place.

John de Lafayette Morgan, the subject of this writing, received most of his education at the Old Antioch School, that stood near the Ben Roberts place in Degognia Township. The school and most of that section of land was washed away by the flooding Mississippi River. He learned farming from his father and the timber trade from his grandfather, Archibald Hamilton. Not only did he become a timberman but was praised by many for his excellence in carpentry.

In 1894 he moved to Perry Co., Il. It was here

he met his first wife, Abie E. Woodside of Denmark, Il., and married her ca. 1895-1896. She was the daughter of Authur and Ruby Woodside. They had seven children to this marriage. The oldest Robert, died at the age of nine; James (Mutt), Janie Mae, John, William, and the twins. In the late part of 1911, Abie gave birth to the twins. She apparently had trouble and the twins died.

On July 16, 1914 in Ste. Geneveive, Mo., he married Sarah L. (Benson) Wilson (1891-1970). She was the daughter of Hiram D. and Mary A. (Morgan) Benson of Campbell Hill-Ava area. Sarah had a daughter from her previous marriage to Oatis Wilson, her name was Hazel Geraldine. To this marriage they had eight children: Margaret (Eva Lucille), Beulah, Hattie, Dora, Myrtle, Robert, Helen, and Clarence Morgan.

It is not known when John D. Morgan started his life long occupation as coal miner but it is believed by the family and friends that he worked in the mines of Percy, Randolph Co. John and his family lived in a coal miner's shack, in a little mining community called, "Jerryville." This little place was at the southwest edge of Percy. He and his older sons worked at the Jesse Morgan Mines 4 mi. east of Ava. It is believed by the family he worked in several mines in Perry Co. as well, because in those days you lived where you could find work.

John D. was a quiet, earnest man, who took great pride in hard work, as an honest means. He died Jan. 25, 1942 in Ora Township of Jackson Co., Il.

MORRIS-ADAMS (BUCKINGHAM)

Susan Phelps Adams and David A. Morris were married in Du Quoin on May 7, 1902. They had 4 children. (see Raymond Morris) Susan was a member of the Presbyterian Church, Sunday School teacher, and played the piano there for years — also taught a number of Du Quoin children to play. David A. had a dry goods business downtown. He died in 1945.

Susan was the eighth generation from Thomas (1594) and Hanna Buckingham of England. Their son, Rev. Thomas B. was born in 1646 in Milford, Ct. He was a founder and strong supporter of Yale College until he died in Apr. 1709. He had nine children.

Daniel (1672) married Sarah Lee and had 6 children. His son, Steven (1703) married Elizabeth Sherwood and had 7 children. Ebenezer, the 7th son (1748), married Ester Bradley and had 13 children and "settled in a new country on the frontier." His daughter, Sarah (1780) of Greenfield, Ct. married Benjamin Sprage in 1799 and in 1802 "moved to the Far West" — Buffalo, N.Y. Then in 1809 they went all the way to Zanesville, Oh. Ebenezer Jr. went into the wilds, west of the Allegheny Mts. and Ohio River, and by 1799 all but 3 sisters had moved to the western wilderness.

Sarah and Ben had 10 children and apparently moved often: Ebenezer III (1800) was born in Cooperstown, N.Y. Aurilla (1805) was born in north-east N.Y. Ann (1807) was born in Athens, Oh. Julia (1809) was born in Zanesville, Oh. Then six more all born in Chautauqua Co., Oh.: Joseph (1811), Ben Jr. (1813), Sarah (1815), James (1817), Alvah (1822), and Olive (1824).

Benjamin Jr. married Abigail Jackson in 1838 and then Jane Hunt in 1856 in Du Quoin. Sarah married Hiram Hinckley in 1838 and Olive married Joseph Burges and all were still living here in 1892. Alvah married Mary Branch here in 1844. Julia (1809) married Lucius Skinner (1804) in 1827. They moved from Chautauqua, N.Y. to Du Quoin about 1838, where he died in 1851 and she died in 1874. They had 7 children: Juliana born July 17, 1828 married George Spencer Smith, who with E. N. Smith, Lucius B. Skinner (brother-in-law) and G. M. Hinckley ran the first mercantile business that moved here from Old Du Quoin. In 1860 this firm organized the first banking house "The Exchange Bank" of which G. S. Smith was always president. He was also Du Quoin's first Mayor. His son, Lucius S. Smith became publisher of the Du Quoin Evening Call. Julia's sister, Abigail, married Isaac B. Adams — parents of Susan P. Adams Morris.

On Christmas Day 1799 Ebenezer's sons, Steven and Ebenezer, came back from Ohio with such glowing accounts that they moved, with 10 children. They set out with 2 sleds, each drawn by a yoke of oxen. In Pittsburg they waited 6 weeks for ice on the Ohio River to break up. Two sons took the cattle by land "through the wilderness", the rest descended by flatboat. They arrived just above Marietta, in the spring and ascended the Muskingum River and located at the mouth of the Killbuck Creek, forming the first settlement in that region. The nearest white settlements were 30 miles down-river at Zanesville, and at Detroit, far to the north. They stayed here two years then moved on because of much sickness. In 1803 they raised a crop of corn, finally settling in Carthage Township, Athens Co., Oh. Old Ebenezer died here at the age of 76 years and Ester lived to the age of 72.

What courage, strength and desire for a better life the ancestors had — God bless all of them. — Submitted by Vicki Morris

MORRIS-EISENHAUER

Greg Morris, son of Raymond and Sylvia, was born Feb. 26, 1941 in Du Quoin and attended school there, plus a couple of years at S.I.U.

Vicki was born July 4, 1942 in Vergennes, to Leonard and Inez Eisenhauer. She attended school there until 1958, (except 6th and 7th at Sacred Heart) when the family moved to Du Quoin where she finished high school in 1960. In Jan. 1961 she finished a course at the Murphysboro Beauty School, then spent about a year in Springfield working before starting a beauty shop in her parent's home.

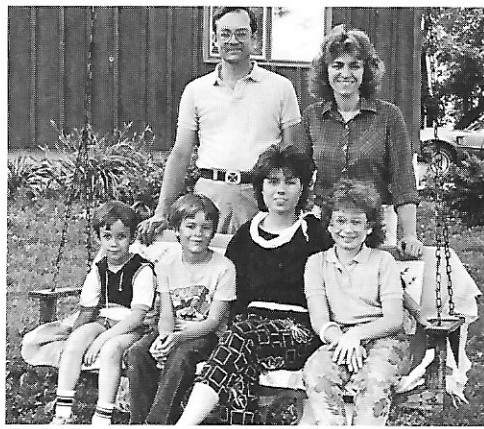

When first married, Greg was busy with 3 jobs: driving a U.P.S. truck mornings, working second shift at Blue Bell Packing Co. and a weekend filling station job.

Within three and a half years, four children were born: Kenneth Gregory and Eric Wayne, a double surprise, and very healthy at 15 lbs. together, arrived on Sept. 11, 1965. Karla Michelle followed on Jan. 24, 1967 and weighed 8 lbs. 2 oz. Jeffery Allen came along on Mar. 15, 1969 and was 9 lbs. 8 oz. worth of boy.

They spent over 3 years in a new mobile home, (next to Eisenhauer's home) a 60' X 12' with a roll-out room, then gained a lot of space by moving to their present home in Tamaroa.

Greg had learned welding and worked at Orient #5 before attending Coyne Electrical Institute in Chicago in 1968. It was rough being separated for weeks at a time; both working, classes, and kids with Jeff on the way. Greg, really had an eager group wait-ing on his train on weekends. In 1969 he went to Peabody's River King coal mine and has worked at (Amax) Arch Mineral's Denmark Mine for 11 years as chief electrician. Next to working, Greg likes all types of music and has quite a large record collection and set-up in the basement that serves as a taping studio for him, the 3 boys and their friends. It is also quite a gym, as they are all into exercise and weight lifting too.

Vicki had also enjoyed good health until 4 years ago when arthritis suddenly attacked - very painful and crippling. As of now Methatrixate has it fairly controlled and gold injections had helped for a couple of years. She hopes her children live without it.

All four children played on ball teams (as their mom did until 40) and the family did a lot of fishing and picnicking and swimming when the kids were younger.

Ken and Eric both attend Rend Lake Jr. College. Ken is studying welding and Industrial Service Technologies and Eric is studying Industrial Service Technologies, Industrial Electronics, and Science Engineering.

Karla married Danny McKinnies in Oct. of 1986, in a beautiful candlelight ceremony. They live on South Washington St. in Du Quoin.

Jeff graduated from Tamaroa High School in June 1987. He played basketball for 5 years. He takes lessons on his "J.B. Player Explorer" guitar and says he wants to be a famous rock and roll star.

Vicki hopes the world is a healthy, happy place for her children and all their descendants. — Submitted by Vicki Morris

SYLVIA (TEEL) MORRIS

Pioneers of this area line both sides of Sylvia Teel Morris' family. Teels came to Paradise Prairie in the early 1830's, maybe from eastern Kentucky, as Frank Teel "ran into a slough of them" while visiting his in-laws. They may have come from W. Virginia and the Carolinas before then. Riley Teel (1804-1874) was the son of Peter Teel and the grandson of Adam Teel. Obviously this is as far back as they can trace. Riley's wife was Susan Young (Oct. 3, 1807 to 5-15-1874). Their son, Franklin (1832-1883) married Elizabeth Jones. Franklin and his father came here on horseback first. Nothing was cultivated, it was just one endless sea of tall prairie grass, half way up the sides of the horses. They found only two families living on this prairie, the H. H. Strait family and the Keelings.

The Riley Teels, Franklin Teels and M. Lycurgus (Kirk) Teels are all buried in the Teel Cemetery on the farm where they settled. Sylvia's father, brothers and sisters were born and grew up here. It is at the north end of the road that goes past the old Blue Bell farm, northeast corner of Du Quoin and is now owned by Norman Morris.

A story is told of an elderly man visiting from Kentucky, and hearing that Rollo had a new baby, asked to see her. He looked at the baby (Sylvia) being held by Maude said, "Now I've seen all the Teels back to Adam."

Franklin's son, Marshall Lycurgus Teel was born Jan. 26, 1854. His wife Evelyn Harrison, was born Aug. 9, 1852 and died Apr. 19, 1926 and 2 days later he died. Rollo Russell Teel was born Oct. 20, 1881 and died Aug. 19, 1966, exactly 40 years after his mother. Maude Teel liked to sew and even made some sleeping gowns for her grandson, Philip G. Morris' twin sons, Kenneth and Eric in 1965.

Maude's parents were Isaac Bilbrey and Rhoda Tula Keller.

The Kellers of German descent, first came into Illinois in the 1850's. Robert T. C. Keller and Eleanor Bramblett came on horseback from Tennessee. John rode behind his father, while infant Sophia came in her mother's arms. They settled in Paradise Prairie and were charter members of the Paradise Baptist Church. Robert hauled the first wagon load of lumber for the church building and was first to mark the road to the church, from the Marlow farm to the south. Robert and Eleanor were Rhoda's parents.

Rollo and Maude Teel

Hiram Strait owned the Marlow farm at that time and once told Robert Keller, "You drive the wagon just as straight as you can from here to where the church will be built on that hill, because that will be the road to the church from now on."

M. L. Teels in-laws were Sarah Humphrey and Pinckney Harrison. He gave the land for the Paradise Church and part of the cemetery. Their home stood on a rise north and west of the church in the corner of a wooded area. Old cedars in the yard may still be there. Sarah's father, Charles Churchill Humphrey, was born in Philadelphia, Pa. in 1781 and died in Kaskaskia, Ill. in 1810's. — Submitted by Vicki Morris

ROBERT J. MOSS

Great-grandfather George Bird (1832-1902) married Margaret Lipe (1837-1895). They had seven children, Jacob, Edward, Louisiana, Henry, William, Elzora and Rosa.

In 1879 they bought forty acres in the Cudgetown vicinity from Edmond and Nancy Dry for $350.00.

Jacob ("Jake") (1863-1949) was the grandfather who married Atta Harvey (1870-1940). They had six children, Della, Faye, Jonas, Eddie, Bertha and Frank.

These grandparents farmed land owned by John Harriss at Denny Station on the railroad southeast of Pinckneyville.

Faye (1895 -) is the mother of Robert J. Moss and has often told of her childhood days at Denny Station.

She attended Lower Holts Prairie School. Her teachers were Freda (Harriss) Turner and O'tella (Harriss) Whitaker.

The family attended Holts Prairie Baptist Church. Neighbors were the Morgenthals and Kennedys.

They sold butter and eggs to the Pinckneyville residents, bought five cent dishes of ice cream at Hepps Variety store and shoes at McCant's store. Their family physician was Dr. Billy McCandless.

About 1913 the family moved to the "Ward farm" northwest of Du Quoin. Faye was then living in Sesser, Ill. where she met and married Roy A. Moss (1894-1974). Robert J. was born in Sesser in 1924 and his family moved to Benton, Ill. in 1926.

The neighbors near the Ward farm were the Mills, Epplins and Farthings. We turned north at Emlings Service station, past the Slawson school, crossed the railroad track to the farm.

The road was surfaced for approximately the first mile. The next two miles was dirt. When the road was impassable for the car, grandfather would meet us with a team of horses and wagon.

If they were at the farm and the roads became impassable, he would hitch the team of horses to the front bumper and pull the car to the surfaced section of the road.

We always had a good appetite and looked forward to meal time. For breakfast there were biscuits, ham, sausage, eggs, fresh milk, butter and sorghum molasses. There were always homemade bread, pies and cakes. Sunday dinner consisted of fried chicken, mashed potatoes, corn on the cob, fresh green beans and tomatoes.

When grandmother knew we were coming, she would save us some "clabbered milk." Today we call it yogurt.

Robert's maternal great-grandmother Melissa (Cavens) Queen (1852-1941) lived with his grandparents. She married Aaron Harvey. They moved to Fannin Co. Texas to homestead, where grandmother Atta was born in 1870.

Aaron died while in Texas. Melissa brought her children back to the Pinckneyville area and later married Andrew Jackson (Jack) Queen. They had one son, Abijah.

Robert's mother, Faye, is 91 and resides in West Frankfort, Ill.

Robert has one sister, Eva (Moss) Enchus. — Submitted by Robert J. Moss

MUCHA-FRANKLIN

The youngest son of seven children of Gottlieb Mucha (1870-1936 Flamburg Germany) and Marie Dignath (1877-1929 Buer Antwerpen Germany). They were married Feb. 11, 1896 in Germany. Not much is known of my father's early life as his parents died when he was a child. He did start working in the coal mines of Germany at a very early age. Gottlieb came to America, alone, in 1905, as there was not enough money for the entire family to come at this time. He arrived in Du Quoin, and started to work in the mines, saving enough to send for his mother, brothers, and sisters. They arrived in the U.S. in 1907. Augusta, Marie, Fred, and Charles were born in Germany, as well as my oldest sister Wilhemenis, who died at the age of 5 before the family came to America. John and Henry were born in Du Quoin. Henry was killed at the Park St. R.R. Crossing. Marie Gallmeister, Fred Mucha, and John still reside in Du Quoin. Brother Charles and sister Augusta have passed away.

On June 2, 1940, John married Dorothy Franklin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Franklin, both being pioneers of the Vergennes area. John and Dorothy were married at the St. John's United Church of Christ, in Du Quoin, they had two children. Son, John David and daughter Janet Gail. John David married the former Betty Bender, and they have four children. David, Betsy, John, and William. They reside in Pinckneyville. Daughter Janet Gail, lives in Du Quoin and is employed by the Kroger Company.

John started working on Main St. in Du Quoin, back in 1932, while still attending high school. The first job at the old Kroger Store, by the R.R. then followed the Midwest Gro. Sanitary Mkt., Midway Gro., and then in 1939 he started to work at The Economy Variety Store. Working there for 43 years, only taking time out during W W II, where he served in the Army in the Philippines. John's wife Dorothy, was a homemaker and had worked at The Fabric Shop, before her short illness and death in 1977. John and Dorothy were always very active in the Sunday School and Church work at the United Church of Christ in which the entire family were members.

JACOB NAUMER

Jacob Naumer was born in Assenheim, Germany, on Oct. 17, 1865. His parents, Fred and Eva (Beyer) Naumer, arrived in Illinois by way of the Mississippi River, having landed in New Orleans in 1867. Fred was by profession a cooper (barrel maker), and eventually settled his family in Lebanon, Il. Jacob had four brothers (one older, Fred, and three younger, Charles, George and John, these last all born in the U.S.) and one younger sister, Teresa.

At the age of 14 he was thought to have tuberculosis and for his health was sent on his own to Socora, NM. He spent ten years in the southwest learning the ice manufacturing business. Upon his return to the Midwest, the N.O. Nelson Ice Machine Manufacturing Co. of St. Louis sent him as a construction engineer to Monterey, Mexico, to erect an ice plant and brewery. After two years in Monterey, he returned to his parents' home in Lebanon, Il. In 1891, he was sent to install new machinery in the Rudolph Stecher Brewery in Murphysboro, Il. Stecher thought well of the young German's mechanical ability and on completion of the job asked him to remain as chief engineer.

On Oct. 3, 1894, in Lebanon, Il., he married Olive White (born Dec. 5, 1867, in Lebanon; died July 2, 1935; parents: James S. White and Sarah Penn White of Lebanon), and they lived for the next three years in Murphysboro, then moved to Du Quoin for two years. They moved back to Murphysboro and remained there until 1900, when they returned to Du Quoin to reside permanently. Olive was an active member of the First Presbyterian Church and was a member of the Presbyterian Mite Society and of the Rebekah Lodge.

Jacob and Olive had six children. Four of these survived infancy. The first of these were twins, Eva Celeste and Jacob Lester, born on Aug. 4, 1897, and both called by their middle names. Lester died tragically in 1915. Their third surviving child was Oliver Vernon, born Nov. 3, 1899, in Murphysboro. The youngest son, born on Aug. 16, 1903, in Du Quoin, was Walter White, Sr.

Jake was known for his enthusiasm and geniality. He knew nearly all of the farming families in the area and was fond of hauling available members of his extended family along with him to his acquaintances' family picnics, family gatherings, birthday celebrations, church services or socials of all persuasions, irregardless of race or creed. He was even known to pick up hitchhikers and invite them to drive his car for him when he was tired of doing so himself on his many trips throughout southern Illinois, and much to the dismay of his family as he was struck over the head once or twice by such passengers. Jake often vacationed in Florida, even moving the entire family there for at least six months at one point. (At any one time the "family" might consist of an assortment of his friends, his children, their spouses and the grandchildren.)

Jake was instrumental in forming the Du Quoin Utility Company, in ca. 1901, initially formed solely for the purpose of manufacturing ice. Jake built his home just a block away from the ice plant on Olive Street so that he could be near his business. His custom was to rise early, go to the plant for two hours, then go home for breakfast. An old settler says she can remember him "peddling his ice around town in a little one horse wagon with a tarpaulin over it to shade the ice. And how the housewives appreciated the ice, but blessed him out for tracking up their kitchen floors."

The utility company not only established the city's water supply, but also its first electric lights, the Naumer home being the first in the city to be lighted electrically (connected with Jake in this enterprise were Harry Ross, Henry Ward, George Croessmann and Robert Lehn). The history of electric service in Du Quoin dates to an ordinance passed on Dec. 17, 1906, granting to Mr. Naumer, his successors and assigns, the right to erect and operate an electric light plant in Du Quoin and to provide for a system of street lighting. The utility company later passed into the hands of the Saline Electric Co., which became the Southern Illinois Light & Power Co., and eventually the Illinois Power Co.

On May 3, 1915, while working on a power pole for this company, Jake's eldest son, Lester, was electrocuted and fell 25 ft., striking his head on the pavement. Later that evening after once recovering consciousness and speaking to his family and the physicians, he died during the operation to alleviate a brain hemorrhage. Olive's grief was so great that Jake moved the entire family to California and then to Deming, N.M. There he built an ice plant and brewery. However, homesick, the family returned to Du Quoin. Equipment purchased for the business in New Mexico was eventually used to set up, in Christopher, the first electric raw water ice plant in this part of the country.

In May 1922 Jake sailed to Europe with Dr. J. J. Boenheim with the intention of looking up what remained of his family in Germany. (His visa, "Passjournal Nr. 770", issued by the German Consulate on June 21, 1922, in Chicago, states: "Staatsangehörigkeit: staarlos. Beruf: fabrikant. Geburtsort: Eisenheim, Deutschland.") He landed in Holland and crossed the border into Germany via Nijmegen on May 22. It is said that he found none of his family, but did find members of the Pflantz family. He made a point of looking up Maurice ("Fizz") Davison, a first cousin of his son-in-law, Lyle Davison Flavell. Mr. and Mrs. Val Pflanz, Sr., were with him, and they spent the evening with "Fizz" at Coblenz where he was stationed with the Army of Occupation on the Rhine River. Jake arrived in Hamburg on July 21, 1922. He received a permit to travel back to the U.S.

(No. 2740), dated July 24th, from the American Consulate General in Hamburg.

On Nov. 18, 1922, Jake and Herman Oldendorph began making sausage in a wood shed behind the Naumer home at 324 E. Olive St. Because the sausage mix froze in the morning they moved operations temporarily to the Naumer basement. Later they operated out of the power and ice plant on Olive St., with which Jake was associated. At that time they made about 400 lbs. a week, all of which was sold to local merchants. This was the earliest beginnings of the Du Quoin Packing Co., located now on East Cole Street Road. (For a more complete history of the Du Quoin Packing Co., see the Business section.)

He was at one time president of the St. Clair Ice Co., Belleville, Ill.; the Salem Ice Co., Salem, Ill.; and the Jacksonville Ice and Cold Storage Co., Jacksonville, Ill. He was a director of the Herrin Ice and Cold Storage Co., Herrin, Ill., and the Benton Ice Cream & Bottling Co., Benton, Ill. He was also one of the first men in Illinois to obtain a Coca Cola franchise.

At the time of his death he was a vice-president of the Du Quoin State Bank (and a member of its board of directors from the time of its founding), and held an interest in various ice plants, as well as having large holdings in the fruit orchards of Southern Illinois. Upon his death the Illinois Association of Ice Industries wrote to its members: "... he was always ready to lend aid and assistance, both personal and financial, to any movement sponsored to improve conditions in the Ice Industry. His advice and judgment were always sound and he was full of practical suggestions which, in the years gone by, have benefited many members of our industry.

"Quiet and unassuming, it was always a pleasure to meet Mr. Naumer, converse with him, and absorb some of the optimism and the enthusiasm which he had for the business in which we are all engaged."

MAYME WHITE NAUMER

Mayme White Naumer (daughter of James S. White and Sarah Penn White of Lebanon, Ill.), sister of Olive White Naumer (Mrs. Jacob Naumer), married Jacob Naumer's brother George. They had no children. Both George and Mayme had come to Du Quoin to live in Jacob's house on Olive Street and due to a shortage of rooms they were asked to get married so that they could share a room. Mayme outlived her husband, and often went to stay with different relatives. She always demanded that a certain large trunk come along with her luggage even though this was often an inconvenience to her relatives. Later, when she ended up in the hospital and demanded her trunk, it was discovered that it contained an enormous sum in cash, thus solving the mystery of why it always had to come along with her.

Mayme White Naumer and Olive White Naumer (sisters)

Mayme's father was James S. White. He was in the Illinois 2nd Division Infantry in the Civil War, and was wounded at Vicksburg. His name is listed to the monument there. He was married in Lebanon on Oct. 3, 1894, to Sara Ann Penn. They had five children: Olive White, Deal White (Mrs. Will Williams), Mayme White, Nellie White, and Walter E. "Bud" White.

NANCY BARBER NAUMER

Nancy Willard Barber (born on Sept. 30, 1902), daughter of Cicero and Louetta Barber, married Walter ("Pied") White Naumer on July 5, 1924. She was a member of the Order of the Eastern Star, Esther Chapter No. 316, Tamaroa, from 1921 to 1939. She was also a member of the Order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem in 1924-25, located in West Frankfort. Nancy was a very active member of the First Presbyterian Church of Du Quoin for many years, and was ordained as an elder on Jan. 8, 1967. She was a member of the D.A.R. During the early and middle years of her marriage, she loved to entertain and travel. One of her fondest memories was of sailing on the R.M.S. "Queen Mary" to take the "Grand Tour" of Europe. She loved music and played the violin, organ, piano, and accordion.

O. VERNON NAUMER

Oliver Vernon Naumer (nicknamed "Nooks"), child of Jacob and Olive Naumer, was born on Nov. 3, 1899, in Murphysboro, Ill., and married Lola Grace Anderson (born Feb. 13, 1902, died

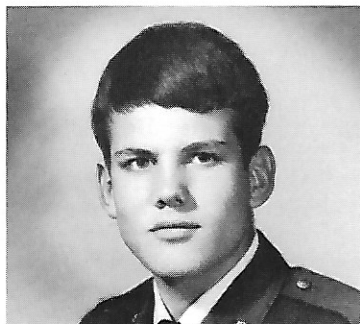

O. Vernon "Nooks" Naumer

Jun 16, 1961). They had no children. On Feb. 26, 1947, Nooks died in an automobile accident on Illinois route 110 two miles east of Fayetteville, on the way back to Du Quoin from a cattle buying trip at the National Stockyards in East St. Louis. He was a secretary and director of the Du Quoin Packing Co., and a director of the Jacksonville Ice and Cold Storage, the Tuscola Ice and Fuel Co., the St. Clair Ice Co., and the Salem Ice Co.

RICHARD JACOB NAUMER, SR.

Richard Jacob Naumer, Sr., was born on Jan. 16, 1954, in Du Quoin. He married Cynthia Renee Chandler (daughter of Donald L. Chandler and Mrs. Robert J. Crawford of Pinckneyville, Ill.) on Nov. 17, 1984, in Pinckneyville. They have one child, Richard Jacob, Jr., born on Jan. 16, 1986,

Richard Jacob Naumer (1969 or 70)

in St. Louis, Mo. They reside at 7 Quailways Drive in St. Louis. Richard (known to his business acquaintances as "Jake") is a vice-president at Stifel, Nicolaus & Co., Inc., in St. Louis, and specializes in municipal, corporate and government bonds. He has a B.S. in finance from Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

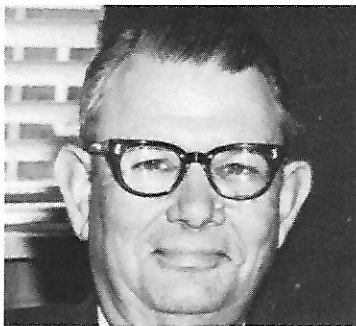

T. SCOTT NAUMER

Thomas Scott Naumer (known as "Scott"), son of Jacob Barber Naumer and Helen Tenney Naumer, was born on June 13, 1962, in Du Quoin. He attended all of the Du Quoin schools: Lincoln (kindergarten), Wheatley (grades 1-3), McKinley (4), J.B. Ward (5-8), and Du Quoin High School (9-12). He attended Denver University (1980; major: political science), and Bradley University in Peoria, Ill. (1982-85; international studies), where he was a member of the Theta Xi fraternity (serving as secretary, House Manager and Treasurer) and the International Affairs Organization, and was the U.S. delegate to Bradley's Model United Nations. He has studied war in all its aspects since the age of eight.

WALTER WHITE NAUMER, SR.

Walter "Pied" White Naumer, Sr., son of Jacob and Olive (White) Naumer, was born on Aug. 16, 1903, in Du Quoin, and passed away on Sept. 29, 1985, at the age of 82. He married Nancy Willard Barber (born Sept. 30, 1902; Tamaroa) of Tamaroa, Ill., on July 5, 1924, in Du Quoin, Ill. They had two children, sons, Jacob Barber Naumer, born on June 10, 1925, and Walter White Naumer, Jr., born on Sept. 11, 1935, both in Du Quoin.

Walter was a graduate of Du Quoin High School; he attended Brown's Business School in Centralia, Ill.; and he was a member of the First United Presbyterian Church. He followed in the footsteps of his father, who founded the Du Quoin Packing Co. in 1922, and served as the company's president for many years. In 1958 he was elected to the newly created office of chairman of the board of directors, and in 1985 he retired as chairman emeritus of the board.

In 1936 and 1937 he served as president of the Du Quoin Chamber of Commerce. In 1953 he served on the National Council of Boy Scouts because of his keen interest in young people. He was appointed to a three-year term on the University of Illinois Citizens' Committee by action of the university's board of trustees. In 1954 and 1955 he served as president of Southern Illinois, Inc. On Feb. 2, 1962, he was honored by Southern Illinois, Inc., for his contributions to the development of the region. Then Gov. Otto Kerner wrote that because of him "words have been turned into action in Greater Egypt."

His contributions to southern Illinois and the Du Quoin Packing Co. were recognized again in 1973 when the Du Quoin Business Association honored him with its Distinguished Citizen Award "for his lifetime devotion to the industrial growth of Du Quoin and of Southern Illinois". In a speech given before the presentation of the award, Paul Hibbs, a past recipient of the award, said, "Though I have known Walter Naumer and deeply respected him ever since I came to Du Quoin long ago, I was surprised on reviewing his extensive activities, at the diversity of his talents and successes in businesses as disparate as ice plants, meat packing, ice cream, soda water, orchards, and motion pictures. But he settled in and expanded the tradition of his father, Jacob Naumer, and built up the Du Quoin Packing Co., noted for its devotion to the excellence of its products.

"His concern for the area to which he has devoted his career is evident from his services to the Egyptian Council of the Boy Scouts of America and its fundraising activities. He is indeed one of those who is making America and particularly this favorite spot we call Du Quoin."

Walter was also active in the State Chamber of Commerce, as noted in the "Southern Illinoisan" at the time of his 50th wedding anniversary in 1974.

He was known for his amiability and sense of humor. After the birth of one of his sons he is said to have arrived at the office with a "baby" wrapped in a blanket to show to the secretaries. The "baby" turned out to be a piglet. Walter was also an avid hunter and golfer. He won the Elks Country Club Class A Golf Championship in 1949.

NEHRING-BARTLET

Wilhemina Bartlet (1835-1908) was born in Pomeranian, Germany. She came to the United States in 1871 with Emelia (1861-1940), two other children and one boy who died aboard ship. He was wrapped in some kind of cloth or tarp and thrown overboard into the ocean. They supposedly came to St. Louis, then moved to Tamaroa. There she met and married Ferdinand Gross (1842-1881). They had only one child, Emma Louise Maria, who was baptized at St. Marks Evangelical Reformed Church of Du Bois (now St. Marks United Church of Christ) in 1876.

ARTHUR VALENTINE NORRIS

Arthur V. Norris, Vallie, was born Jan. 20, 1896, in Winfield, north of Sesser on Engine Creek in a little log cabin. It was northeast of Old Baptist Church, north of where Grandfather and mother, Samuel and Emily Norris, lived and where Inland Steel mine is now. He is the second of five children of John Doyle and Susan Viola Jones Norris. His mother was born in northern Perry Co. past the Primitive Baptist Church on Oct. 29, 1868. She then lived in the Shake Rag community west of Nine Mile church.

Great-grandfather William Mitchell Jones and his brother Ebert married sisters. William married

Leitha Terry and Ebert married Elizabeth. Another brother was Uncle Johnny Jones. Grandma Jones also had some brothers, among them were Uncle Make and Uncle Mac. Grandma and William's children were Henry who moved to Ok., became a rancher, minister and educator, teaching at a small college. There were 5 children, Abbie, Guy and Mitchell were the boys and two girls. Uncle Bill retired in Florida and became an orange grove owner. His children were Herbert, Ira, John Paul and Leitha. Sarah (Aunt Sis) married Bill Waller. The children were Lily, Grace, James, Nina, Beatrice, Willie, Violet and Clarence. Alfred (Uncle Al) died in young adulthood, and Susan, my grandmother.

William Mitchell served in the Civil War, returned safely but died at 38 years on Sept. 24, 1874 while cutting trees in the woods when struck by a falling limb. He is buried in the front row at old Primitive Baptist Church graveyard.

Uncle Ebert's wife Elizabeth Terry, died in childbirth leaving 2 children, Charles and Mary Ellen (Fiss). In due time Ebert and Leitha were married and to this union were born Anna, who married Doc Reagan and moved to Florida. Mahalia (Aunt Haley) married Alva Sronce and lived on E. Main, Du Quoin. The children were Hiley, Lydia and Little Alva. Uncle Walter became Mayor of Dowell also lived in Du Quoin, and Christopher. Three of his 5 children were Little Walter, Burley, and Ralph. Martha (Hamburger) lived in Du Quoin across from Grandma Jones and their 4 children were Deidrick (DEDE), Esther (died), Clifford and Esther. Great-grandmother Leitha raised 10 children and 2 grand-daughters, Bertha (Brock) and Lee (Axely), Mary Ellen's children (Fiss). Grandmother died at a ripe old age as did Grandpappy Jones (called Sonny). Their homeplace was north of Du Quoin the east side of the Packing House road. Dad remembers playing in the old log house attic with his cousins on an old organ after the place was left to Aunt Haley who lived in the newer house. When Dad's folks lived at Tamaroa they visited driving a horse and wagon and stayed all day.

Grandmother Susan met Grandad Norris when crossing a muddy street in Du Quoin and fell hands down in the mud. She had on dove gray gloves. Granddad came to her assistance, helping her up and on across, then wiped off her gloves and dress with his white handkerchief. Grandmother was living with her brothers, Charley and Bill (when they worked at the mines) on N. Division Street (second house from the four-way stop at Line street) and kept house.

Uncle Henry and Uncle Bill Jones moved to Oklahoma near Big Cabin. They homesteaded 160 acres and stayed 5 years to prove it. Then Uncle Bill went to Canada, selling his holdings in Ok. and homesteaded in Ontario, Canada for 5 years. He then sold out and came back to Du Quoin via Texas and was in the Galveston Flood. He owned a little store where Atkins Carpet is now. He then moved to Greenwood Addition where he raised sweet potatoes and ran another little store. Then he retired to Florida.

Uncle Al liked to travel. He was a brakeman on the railroad. He married Josie Stanhouse, and had a boy named Leslie. He died of exposure.

Dad's brother, Uncle Ray was born Jan. 6 1892, southwest half-mile of where Dad was born. Uncle Walter was born west of Tamaroa. Uncle Sam and Aunt Pauline were born at White Oak NW of Sesser.

Some funny incidents Dad remembers or were told to him. One was at a street fair when Albert Jones (Uncle Johnny Jones boy) was on Main Street in the hot summertime. Elephants were coming down the street and Albert's little sister started crying. He was supposed to take care of her so he covered her head with his coat so he wouldn't have to leave the fair.

Dad used to peddle mainly on the east side of Du Quoin weekly. He and his wife, Grace Hill Norris were always used to peddling on Saturday. One day they went on a New Year's Day but when they tried to take the surplus to Daily's Store (on W. Division and Main) it was closed so Dad thought that they went broke. When they got to the Livery Stable (owned by Ed Maclin who sold buggies, binders and all kinds of machinery) Pete Yegal said, "Ye durn fool, don't you know it's New Year's and everything's closed?"

Other stores were Old Man Wells' grocery store on corner of Main and Washington Street and he bought butchered hogs from Dad. Mifflin's clothing and general store was one block west of the RR. Foster's Company Store had general merchandise. Dad also took veal calves to the freight office and tied them up to a post to be sent on the RR to be butchered elsewhere. Dad also worked at the Paradise Mine east of Du Quoin by the RR when Corny Wellington was mine superintendent.

The Old Soldier's Reunion was held on the 4th of July and any whose husbands were soldiers, had tents at the park grounds. Grandma Jones had a tent and Dad and Uncle Ray rode the grain from Tamaroa to Du Quoin Station and walked to the park.

Some things I remember was Bill who worked at Angel's drugstore. Dad had to do some business and left my sister and I in the drugstore with ice cream to eat. Since he was gone so long, we ran out and I told Bill to bring some more. He chuckled and did so. We also visited J. C. Axely's ice cream stand by an alley on Main Street. Another favorite place was the grocery store where Jimmy Riva was butcher because he always gave us a wiener to eat every time we came in. When I was a girl, shopping in Du Quoin on Saturday morning was a weekly ritual for our family. Dad is now 91, and Mom (Laura Swisher) is 86 years old. — Submitted by Caroline Norris Conner

ELIHU ONSTOTT

Elihu walked barefoot into Perry Co. from his birthplace in Southern Indiana. The year was 1832. He worked on the farm of Hawkins Ozburn who lived near Pyatt Station. While there Elihu injured his knee which caused, what at that time, was called "white swelling".

Despite Mrs. Ozburn's excellent care, the injury left him crippled for the rest of his life. From Ozburn's he worked for Phoebe (Taylor) Hickman where he met and married Ann Wells, daughter of Thomas and Sarah Wells. Elihu owned a twenty acre tract of land in the Vancil Settlement, Section 3-1-6-RIW. On this farm Elihu built a log cabin complete with necessary furniture for his bride. In the early 50's when Du Quoin was moved near the I.C. Railroad, he purchased the land and built a hardware store on the S.W. corner of Main and Mulberry Streets. About the same time he constructed a second family home on East South Street between Washington and Division Streets. Later he erected the two story brick house on the same place. That structure still stands and is occupied (1987). Elihu was thrifty and ambitious. Besides being a carpenter and merchant, he traded in livestock, was a land developer and served as Justice of the Peace for some time. To him and Ann were born five children: William K. (1840) died of yellow fever in the Civil War; Isabella (1843) wife of Jacob Van Keuren and after Mr. Van Keuren's death she married Capt. Sample Parks; Ellen never married; Don M. OZBURN-STALLCUP

The Ozburn family came to America from Wales with Lord Baltimore. They settled in Virginia. One son, James Ozburn, moved to Tennessee where he married a Miss Hawkins. They had several children. One son, William, was our great-great-grandfather.

His route was from Shawneetown to Ft. Kaskaskia, the capitol of Illinois at that time. This area was largely inhabited by Indians, and Hawkins had many "hair raising" experiences. As he rode through Perry Co. he fell in love with an area of land which is south of Pinckneyville and east of Pyatt Station. It was his dream to own this farming land. His dream later became a reality and this area is known today as the Ozburn Hill of Four Mile Prairie.

Hawkins was married to Hahala Reese. Five children were born to this union. Hawkins was a successful farmer who was known as a breeder of fine horses. He also served in the Illinois Legislature. In later life he gave land for the Perry Co. Fairgrounds. After spending some time in South America (perhaps with Joe Cuccatti and Barney Frassato) Joe Rova's family put him in an empty barrel and put him on a ship bound for the United States. Martin married Katherine DeGnath, the daughter of William and Eva (Komp) DeGnath. There were three children born: Bethine, who died shortly after birth; Valentine, who was killed in an auto accident in Apr., 1945; and Eric, also known as Dixie.

Martin started working for his father in 1912 when a salesman convention, called the Egyptian Hustlers, came to town. It ended 44 years later when he retired. When prohibition came and Val retired, Martin and George bought out their father and opened Pflanz Brothers Cafe. That ended when Martin bought out George in 1935 and the business became known as the Pflanz Tavern.

Upon retirement, the bar was sold to Lyle Foster, who continued the business until he sold out in June, 1973. Charles Petry and wife have remodeled the building and opened Petry's House of Fashion.

Martin was known for his chili recipe that he had gotten from Nip Bowlin who started the Southern Barbecue, another well-known cafe in Du Quoin from the 20's through the 50's. The Tavern was in business for 67 years. When Martin retired, a friend since childhood, Stanley Hestand who was employed by the Du Quoin Evening Call and who wrote a column for many years for the call entitled "Feed Box Chatter", wrote a poem for Martin's retirement and in honor of Martin:

OUR OLD FRIEND 'DRY MARTINI' PFLANZ RETIRES

Our old friend "Dry Martini" from business has retired

Eric, Katherine, Martin and Valentine Pflanz (1943 or 44)

But with his new job of loafing he's getting very tired.

With half a century behind the bar, except the time he went to war,

He's fed ten million people, and wet their whistles at his bar!

All the guys like Dry Martini; he's been our friend thru thick and thin,

And now that he can take things easy, we'll lend a helping hand to him.

He'll have to forget about a word called "WORK"

And learn the meaning of a word called "SHIRK".

It's our wish that he reaches the coveted "century mark,"

And when he bids us all farewell he'll fly to Heaven like a lark!

After fifty years of labor, he can now take off the yoke,

For he made himself a fortune off of guys who were "broke".

So take it easy, Dry Martini, learn to loaf a bit and play-

For when you aint't a-workin' each tomorrow's a new today!

All the "suds" that you have jerked, all the food that you have sold,

Have trickled into your coffers like a steady stream of gold.

Now enjoy it, you old rascal, kick your heels up in the air-

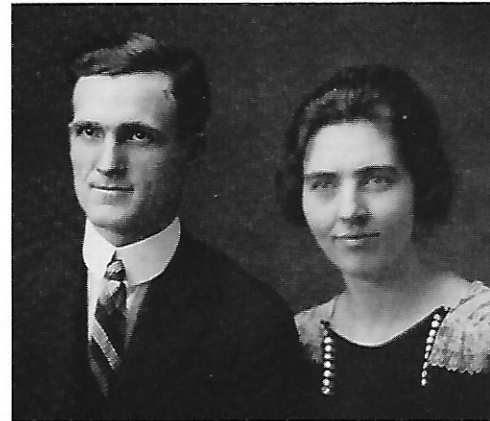

For every time you made a deal it was on the up-and-up and fair! — Stanislaus Hestandovich

Charles Pflanz settled in Du Quoin and owned and operated a tavern on the southwest corner of Main and South Walnut Streets across from the Catholic Church. It was operated by his wife, Bertha, after his death until the 1940's. Martin lived in St. Louis, Mo., and he, too, owned and operated a tavern on South Broadway until the early 1950's. Joseph owned and operated a hotel and bar in Weatherford, Tx. Pete settled in New York State.

Val was instrumental in Jacob Naumer moving to Du Quoin from Murphysboro in 1897. Val had bought the used ice plant against the advice of Mr. Naumer. The old worn out plant soon broke Val, and he lost his meat market and the ice plant.

On July 6, 1906, Val opened the National Bar having bought it from Fred Ilhart, who had opened it in 1905 as the Mecca Bar. He had 50¢ in the register the day he opened up. It was called the National Bar after the National Bank, then operating at the corner of Main and Mulberry Streets and the bar being just two doors east at 208 East Main. Val ran the bar until prohibition came, at which time he retired and sold.

There were twelve children born to Val and Marie: George A., Valentine, Jr. Mrs. Marie Theobald, Charles C., Mrs. Kate Bryant, John, Lena, Martin, Mrs. Edith Reynolds, William, Mrs. Pauline Hall (see Hall-Pflanz) and Huldah Pflanz. John, Lena and William died in infancy.

Val, Jr. managed ice plants in Christopher and Salem until retiring. Mrs. Theobald's husband, Frank, owned Theobald's Bakery in Du Quoin. Charles was a butcher and owned a shop in Du Quoin and he and Herman Oldendorph helped butcher the first beef for Jacob Naumer under an oak tree when he started the Du Quoin Packing Company. PITCHFORD-ADELMAN

On Feb. 23, 1929, in Tamaroa, Ill., Paul Arthur and Anne Elizabeth Zoekler Pitchford gave birth to their son. The lad was named Paul Pitchford, Jr.

In 1935, Paul Jr., who later was known in Tamaroa as "PI", attended Tamaroa Grade School. Paul Jr. did not like going in school. In fact the teachers at the school had to lock the screen door to keep him at school or he would go back home. In the Fall of 1936, Paul, Ann, and Paul Jr., moved to Sparta, Ill., as Paul had a job with Gutters buying metal. Paul Jr. had to attend school in Sparta until they moved back to Tamaroa in 1939.

About 1948, Paul Jr. "PI" went to work at the Du Quoin Packing Company. PI worked there until the age of 21 when he was offered a better job at the Illinois State Fairgrounds in Springfield, Ill.

Knowing hardly anyone when he moved to Springfield, Paul Jr. rented a room from an elderly lady who lived just a block and a half from the fairgrounds.

After Paul Jr. got all situated in his new town, he started getting acquainted in the neighborhood. That is where Paul Jr. met Marilyn June Adelman.

Marilyn and Paul Pitchford

John and Frances Adelman

Marilyn was the daughter of John Joseph and Frances Irene Bunting Adelman. Paul Jr. and Marilyn dated until Marilyn became 18 on Aug. 7, 1953. Then Paul Pitchford, Jr. and Marilyn June Adelman were married on Oct. 3, 1953, in a very small ceremony at the Clemetine Memorial Church in Springfield, Ill.

On Nov. 24, 1954, Marilyn lost her mother, Frances Irene Adelman (born July 30, 1899) to a hard battle of cancer. Marilyn's Mother was buried at Roselawn Cemetery in Springfield, Ill.

Then on Dec. 6, 1954, Paul Jr. was called to serve in the United States Army. During Paul Jr.'s stay in the United States Army, he was sent overseas to Germany in Apr. 1955. Since wives were allowed to go with their husbands, in Sept. 1955 Marilyn packed her luggage and made her first airplane trip. While Paul Jr. and Marilyn Pitchford were in Germany they rented an apartment in Hana, from a Marie Warner. Paul Jr. and Marilyn soon realized that customs were sure different in Germany than Illinois.

While in Germany, Paul Jr. and Marilyn became the parents of a daughter, Priscilla Irene Pitchford who was born on July 30, 1956, in Frankfurt, Germany.

Paul Jr.'s 2 years for the United States Army was over in Dec. 1956, so Paul, Marilyn and Priscilla came home from Germany on the Maurice Rose ship.

After returning to Tamaroa, Paul, Marilyn, and Priscilla moved into the small house located next door to Paul's parents. Paul then got a job with Decca Records as that was a new factory just opening in Perry Co. In 1960, Marilyn went to work at Decca Records too.

In Nov. 1960, Paul and Marilyn made a BIG step. They purchased their home where they are now living. Their home is located just one-half of a mile further West from Paul's parents home place on the old Tamaroa-Pinckneyville road.

In the Fall of 1962, Priscilla started school at Community Consolidated School District #204 from which she graduated in May 1970.

Paul and Marilyn continued to work at Decca Records until 1967 at which time they both quit and started driving a school bus for Community Consolidated School District #204. After several years of driving, Paul and Marilyn decided to get into the school bus business for themselves. The business was known as "P & M BUS SERVICE". Paul and Marilyn each drove their own busses which were contracted out to the Tamaroa School Districts.

In the Fall of 1970, Priscilla started attending Pinckneyville Community High School #101 from which she graduated in May 1974. Then on Oct. 7, 1974, Priscilla started working as a secretary for State Farm Insurance Company (Russell Jackson/Frank Deaton Agents) in Du Quoin, where she is at present.

On Feb. 21, 1977, Marilyn lost her father, John Joseph Adelman (born Dec. 17, 1900). He was buried on Feb. 24, 1977, at the Roselawn Cemetery in Springfield, next to Marilyn's mother.

On Oct. 3, 1978, Paul and Marilyn Pitchford celebrated their 25th Wedding Anniversary with a small family gathering.

In Mar. 1982, Priscilla decided to start making a home of her own. First she rented and found out that was no fun. So in Aug. 1983 she purchased a home at 524 North Division Street, Du Quoin, where she is now living.

On July 25, 1982, Paul Jr., lost his father, Paul Arthur Pitchford at the Pinckneyville Community Hospital. Paul Arthur was buried on July 28, 1982, at the Tamaroa Town Cemetery.

To this date, Paul Jr. is busy doing carpentry work, and Marilyn is busy taking care of the house. In their spare time, they both enjoy going to flea markets and looking for their antique clocks.

PITCHFORD-STOWERS

In Jefferson Co., Ill., on Jan. 11, 1869, Robert Andrew Pitchford was born to David and Linda Pitchford. As the lad grew up, he was known as "Andy" to his family and friends.

Also, in Jefferson County, on Jan. 25, 1877, Andy's new friend and later on in life his bride was born to John and Rebecca Jane Coffel Stowers. The new little miss was named Minnie Catherine Stowers.

Robert Andrew "Andy" Pitchford and Minnie Catherine Stowers were united in marriage on Oct. 3, 1894, in Perry Co., Ill.

Andy and Minnie decided to settle in Tamaroa and to this couple were born nine children: Floyd, Johnny, William, Jesse "Scotty", Roy, Goldie, Paul, Esther, and Enoch.

At the birth of Paul Arthur on Sept. 6, 1909, Andy and Minnie did not have a name in mind so on Paul's birth certificate his name was recorded as "Baby Boy Pitchford". Later on in life, Paul had to have his birth certificate changed. Paul and his whole family grew up in Tamaroa.

On May 10, 1909, in Perry Co., William Henry and Mary Catherine Leckel Zoeckler gave birth to Anne Elizabeth Zoeckler.

Paul Pitchford and Anne Zoeckler grew up and attended school together in Tamaroa. They were then married by James Blythe in Tamaroa on July 23, 1927.

Paul and Ann Pitchford stayed in Tamaroa, and to this couple was born one child on Feb. 23, 1929. The new lad was named Paul Pitchford, Jr.

In the Fall of 1936, Paul, Ann, and Paul Jr., moved to Sparta, Ill., as Paul had a job with Gutters buying metal and then hauling it by truck to East St. Louis to sell.

Then in 1939, they moved back to Tamaroa, as Paul got a job at the local strip mines in Southern Illinois. In fact Paul was working at the strip mines in Centralia, Ill. — when they had their big explosion. He was not hurt except for the small cut on his left shoulder.

On Sept. 28, 1942, Ann lost her father, William Henry Zoeckler (born May 27, 1859), and then just 6 months later, on Mar. 2 1943, Paul Arthur lost his father, Robert Andrew "Andy" Pitchford. William Henry was buried at Sunset Cemetery, and Robert Andrew was buried at Antioch Cemetery. After Ann's father passed away, her Mother then moved from the Home Place which was located 2½ miles west of Tamaroa on the Old Tamaroa-Pinckneyville road. Mary Catherine thought that a place in town would be an easier home for her to take care of instead of the farm. Then in 1947, Paul, Ann, and Paul Jr. moved to Ann's parents farm.

On Jan. 19, 1959, Paul Arthur, lost his mother, Minnie Catherine Pitchford. She was buried at Antioch Cemetery next to Robert Andrew "Andy" Pitchford.

Then on June 16, 1963, Ann Pitchford, lost her mother, Mary Catherine Zoeckler. Mary Catherine was buried at Sunset Cemetery next to Ann's father, William Henry Zoeckler.

In the meantime, Paul got a job with the Community Consolidated School District #204 as a custodian. Paul worked there until his retirement in 1972.

On July 23, 1977, Paul and Ann Pitchford said their marriage vows again in a celebration of their 50th Wedding Anniversary with family and friends. The ceremony and reception was held in Du Quoin.

On July 25, 1982, Paul passed away at the Pinckneyville Community Hospital.

Paul was buried on July 28, 1982, at the Tamaroa Town Cemetery close to his brother, Jesse "Scotty" Pitchford.

Ann is still living on the home place. She keeps busy by going to lodge and playing bingo.

PHILLIP COCKLE PROVART

Philip Cockle Provart was born in Leicester-shire, England, Sept. 22, 1817; the son of Philip Coyte and Mary A. Cockle Provart. He emigrated to America at the age of eighteen years, landing in St. Louis, with just seventy-five cents in his pocket.

He managed to get a conveyance to Holts Prairie, where he taught a "subscription" school the two winters following and worked on a farm in the summer. He taught in different schools, in the county, for 18 more years. The articles under which he taught were; a term of sixty days at the rate of two dollars per pupil. Mr. Provart agreed to take young cattle, mink skins, etc. in payment, and not to charge widows anything in addition to their share of school funds. Most of what was due him from one of the subscribers was paid in fence rails, delivered to a farm he had bought with what he had received from teaching school.

At the end of his second term he married, Mary, the daughter of Thomas Jones; he then decided to farm on his own account. Claims were becoming scarce and he could find only 40 acres of unclaimed land. He learned to his dismay that another man would start the following day to file on the same claim, he saddled a horse and rode to Kaskaskia that night to file on the claim. When he entered his land he had but ten cents left.

Within a year after his marriage, his wife and her infant died. He later married Missouri, the daughter of John Haggard. Eight children were born to them; Josiah, Zephaniah, Azariah, Mary (died young), Sarah (Mrs. Tom Martin), Delilah (Mrs. Johnson Cook), Emily (Mrs. John Pierce Harriss) and Charles. Missouri died in the year 1854.

In 1855 he married Catherine Robinson. To this union 10 children were born seven of them living to adulthood; Ephriam, Jeminma (Ms. Joe Dunn), Lily (Mrs. Andrew Hill), Hosea, Edgar, George and Ora (Mrs. Snyder Ward). Catherine died Jan. 12, 1886.

Two years later he married Miss Lizzie Graham, unto them one child was born; Hazel (Mrs. Neil McMillan).

Mr. Provart was a remarkably industrious man, having taught school twenty consecutive winters, and worked hard at the farm all summer. At his death he owned over seven hundred acres of land in addition to a large amount of personal property. He had given each of his eight sons a farm at their marriage.

Politically he was a "War Democrat" and sent two of his sons to the Union Army, each of them serving three years. In 1878 he was elected to the Legislature and was an active member during the session of 1879. He was a Justice of the Peace for several years, but during that period he tried only two cases, having in every other instance, dissuaded the parties from entering litigation. He was one of the organizers of Perry Co. Fair and served on the board of directors.

Some of the Provarts presently living in Perry Co. are the families of: Bernis, Gerald, Gordon,

Harold, Harry, Jeffery, Kirk, Lyle, Philip A., Philip R., and Robert. — Submitted by Gerald Provart

Luckily, that first summer was a good growing season! Clarence's mother, Kathryn Porter (Kate) from Ohio (b. 1825) attended Monticello Seminary "college" by horse and wagon and staying two years in the early 1840's before returning to Vergennes. She also traveled by stage, probably, to visit her sister Sophie in California in late 40's.

PYATT-WHAM

The first Pyatt to settle in Perry Co. was Samuel Pyatt (1793-1875) son of Ebenezer (1755-1836), a Revolutionary War soldier who settled in Jackson Co. Samuel came with two young men, nephews by marriage, from Jackson Co. in 1829. Samuel Pyatt, Hawkins S. Ozburn and William Ozburn came to an area near the location of the former Ozburn School, now the junction of Illinois State Highway 13-127 and 152. There were three hills within a quarter of a mile of each other. Samuel Pyatt chose the west hill. Hawkins Ozburn located on the hill to the north and William Ozburn occupied the east hill.

Soon after moving to Perry Co., Samuel Pyatt became active in County affairs. He married Mary Phelps and they were parents of eight children; the 6th child was Izri J. Pyatt who married Mary Jane Craig in 1850 and became the parents of George Washington (1869-1939), the 7th of 8 children. In 1851 Izri Pyatt gave the right of way to Illinois Central Railroad for the building of their railroad. A station was built there, named Pyatts, and served as a flag station for many years. The I. J. Pyatt family lived in a log and frame house, one fourth mile west of the Station. Izri built a new house, a few yards to the east and moved his family into it in 1872. One of George's early memories was of carrying his little chair to the new house which is now the home of his daughter Gladys M. Pyatt.

George W. Pyatt with his brother Robert and sister Mary attended Southern Illinois Normal at Carbondale. George W. lived on and farmed the homeplace after his brothers and sisters left to make homes elsewhere. George W. was married in 1897 to Olive Josephine Wham (1871-1953) of Marion Co., a sister of Mrs. John L. Pyatt. Like her sister, Olive J. Wham was a Perry Co. teacher. George W. served as a township trustee for years and was a member of the Pinckneyville Community High School Board of Education for several years preceding and following the erection of the present high school building.

George W. and Olive were the parents of six children. Their eldest child was Lucian Wham (1900-1976) who attended Southern Illinois Normal, Carbondale. He taught school at Swanwick and Jamestown briefly. Lucian was a mechanic and had a garage east of the railroad on the Pyatt curve when he married Lillian Gass (1907-1982). They lived above the garage and later moved to a house east of his father's home. Lucian later worked at Coal Strip and Pyramid Mine. Lucian and Lillian raised three children. RENNISON-JENNINGS

Henry (Harry) Rennison was born Nov. 7, 1855 in Yorkshire, England, the son of Mathew and Mary Duning (or Dunning). He died Mar. 9, 1914 at Herrin, Il. Interment in IOOF Cemetery, Du Quoin, Il.

As a young man in England, Henry worked in underground mines where the tunnels often extended out under the sea; during storms the miners could hear the boulders crashing around on the sea floor above them.

On Nov. 1, 1873, at Kirkthorpe Church, near Wakefield, Yorkshire, Henry married Eliza Jennings, the daughter of John and Elizabeth Holt Jennings. Eliza was born in Rothwell, Yorkshire, Mar. 28, 1856 and died in Pinckneyville Feb. 4, 1928. Interment in IOOF Cemetery, Pinckneyville.

Six children were born to this union in England: Alfred, George, Mary, one not listed in the family Bible, and John and Mathew (twins).

Henry decided to come to the United States. He sailed from Liverpool Aug. 24, 1881 aboard the "City of Berlin", Inman Line, and landed in New York. He settled in St. Johns, (Perry Co.) where many English miners worked in the local shaft mines. Eagle Town, another mining settlement, was nearby. He then sent for Eliza and the family to join him.

For Eliza, with twins born after Henry left England, the crossing was long, rough, and sad. Two children died before the trip was completed. Two more children were born at St. Johns: Elizabeth (Mrs. John Quinn Charlton), and Emma (Mrs. John Schoch).

Henry, a serious fossil hunter, amassed a large collection during his years in the mines.

American miners knew very little about the dangerous gases which showed up in the new mines around St. Johns. Henry, with years of experience in the old mines of England, was an authority on gases; his knowledge led to his appointment as the first Mine Examiner in the State of Illinois. He was transferred to Pinckneyville, and later to the big Herrin mines where he encountered the gas which caused his death. The family suffered three mine tragedies: Alfred, killed by a slate fall; Henry died from gas, and grandson Wilson Rennison died from a cave-in at a slope mine. — Submitted by Dorothy Schoch Shaw

RICE-GUNN

Beginning with Joshua Morris Rice, born in Caswell Co. in Tn. in 1787, who came to Three Mile Prairie in the northern part of Perry Co. in 1830. He taught school, was active in politics, served as Assessor in Perry Co., and he and his wife, Susan Gunn Rice, reared a family of eight children.

One of these children, a representative of Generation II, was named Abner Stires Rice. He was born in Tennessee on Feb. 23, 1810, and died in Perry Co. on Dec. 3, 1884. He was buried in the old Concord Cemetery in Washington Co., which is on the north side of the Perry-Washington Co. boundary line and east of today's Highway 127. He married Lucinda Hull in 1833 and they resided in Three Mile Prairie. He served as Deacon in the Concord Church, and they were the parents of seven children — four boys and three girls.

These seven children represent Generation III, and three of the four boys served in the Union Army to help preserve the unity of the Thirteen States of America. The oldest son, Alexander, a Pastor, served in Concord's Baptist Church, which was on the east side of the Concord cemetery plot. He also held services in Mud Prairie in the Turkey Bend Schoolhouse after a church was organized on Jan. 8, 1870 with twenty members.

A daughter, Nancy Jane Rice, married Dr. T. A. Holman, who was born in 1844 and died in 1921. He served the community of the Rice Village and the surrounding area as a home visiting physician. The family lived west of today's Highway 127 in the Village of Rice, which had a country store, a blacksmith shop, and later had a telephone exchange.

One of the three soldier boys mentioned above, Richard Morris Rice, born on Oct. 11, 1836 and died Feb. 13, 1913, is buried in the old Concord Cemetery. His soldier record is three years of service in the 80th Il. Infantry. He married Amanda Malvina Philbrick from Galena, Oh., who came to Illinois after the war to visit her sister, Phoebe Philbrick Page and her husband Fred Page, who had settled in Illinois after the war on a farm west of Ashley, Il. Grandmother Malvina, called Vina, was born on Sept. 14, 1840 and died on Apr. 9, 1922. She was buried in the Old Concord Cemetery. They were the parents of two daughters, Lucy Myrtle, 1870-1943, and Nellie Leaf Rice, who married Alva Eater of the Tamaroa-Scheller area. They were the parents of five children: Idene Stockton, Edna Casper, Lora Rusch, and Noel and Dey Eater. The two oldest taught school for a number of years. Idene taught school in Tamaroa Grade School.

Lucy Myrtle Rice married James Newton Bowlers, and they were the parents of eleven children — four boys and seven girls. One boy, Harry Ellis, died at the age of four. The boys were tillers of the soil with their father and all seven girls carried on the tradition of teaching school for a span of 66 years, 1913-1979.

Iva Vione, the oldest in the family, taught in the one-room rural school "High Bank" south of Du Quoin in the early 1920's, and lived in the home of the late Louis and Viola Bowlin in that district. She retired in 1963 from the Centralia City School system with honors granted her for 50 years of teaching in the public school system of Illinois.

Doris Bowers, born the third child later in Mar. 1898, taught first through fourth grades in the two-room school building all on one floor, called the "Duncan School". It was located about one mile west from Hunter's Store at the Rice Village. This was the school year 1919-1920.

Doris also taught one year in the one-room country school northeast of Tamaroa, called the "West Lynn School". In the years 1922-1926, she taught fourth through eighth grades in the two story building in St. Johns, north of Du Quoin. The remaining years of her teaching experiences were spent in the Intermediate level of the Grade School Program in the Belleville City School District, No. 118, in Belleville, Il. She retired from teaching in 1961 with an accumulation of 43 happy years at attempting to teach boys and girls the values of living in the areas mentioned.

The sixth generation representation of the descendants of Joshua Morris Rice and Susan Gunn Rice is Annalee Bowers Gates, who lives with her husband, Silas Jerome "Jerry" Gates, in their farm owned home about 2 miles northeast of Tamaroa. She is the daughter of the late Raymond Bowers and the late Bertha (Schwind) Bowers formerly of rural Du Bois.

Annalee and Jerry Gates are the parents of four children, namely: Douglas Jerome, Brian Kendall, Pamela and Stacey.

The marriage of Brian Gates to Cindy Krone, the daughter of Herman and Betty Krone of Du Quoin, was on Sept. 1, 1979. — Submitted by Doris Bowers started housekeeping on Ara Jean's parents farm.

The farm has been in Ara Jean's family since the early 1850's and was settled by her great grandfather, Edwin Burbank. Tax records show that Edwin Burbank paid taxes in 1850. Edwin's daughter Eva (1858-1907) and her husband Charles Peter Hartsock (1853-1935) lived on the farm until their death.

Eva and Charles Hartsock's youngest son, Peter, returned from World War I and married Mabel (Pittman) Mar. 3, 1920. Peter started in the dairy business around 1930 on the family farm. He and Mabel along with children, Charles (1921) and Ara Jean, delivered milk to homes between the years 1930 to 1949. A law was passed in 1949 that unpasturized milk could no longer be sold to individuals or neighborhood groceries, but could be sold to dairy cooperatives so pasturization could be done.

Presently (1987) Harold and two sons, Rudy and Charles, run the farming and dairy operations, milking more than 80 cows. The milk is sold through Prairie Farms Cooperative. The farm is around 600 acres and has sustained five generations.

RIEAD-GREGORY

John Wesley Riead was born on the family farm a mile Northwest of Tamaroa on June 9, 1892. He was the youngest child of John W. Riead and Margaret Burlison Riead and grandson of John and Minerva Riead. Grandfather John was born in Virginia, and father John, who was born in Washington Co., subsequently moved his family to Perry Co. in the mid 1880's.

John Wesley Riead was reared in the work ethic which was common in rural Mid-America at the turn of the century. He and his two older brothers, Herbert and Harry, were expected to work long hours on the farm to help make ends meet. Nevertheless, there was always food on the table and a warm and loving mother insured that it was in plentiful supply to start the long days. One sister, Bertha, completed the roster of children at the Riead farm.

John Riead left home to pursue a livelihood which ultimately led him on many diverse paths. Fortunately, he soon met and married Evalyn (Gregory) Riead of rural Pinckneyville. The wedding took place on a bitterly cold Dec. 8, 1917. To this union were born two sons, David Wesley Riead, now of Colorado Springs, Co. and Timothy Gregory Riead, now of Dallas, Tx. John and Evalyn were faithful members of the Community Church of Tamaroa, and although John's career many times took him and Evalyn away from Perry Co., they always returned, having kept their home in Tamaroa.

During his working life John held positions which varied greatly in nature and demanded a variety of skills. Among other things he was a railroad signalman, a prison guard, a clothing store manager, a Perry Co. Road Maintenance Supervisor, a steam fitter, an auctioneer, Postmaster of Tamaroa, Justice of the Peace in Tamaroa, and Police Magistrate in Du Quoin. Finally, long after initial retirement and well into his eighties, he kept the Perry Co. Courthouse spotless in a part-time custodial job.

After 44 years of marriage, John's beloved Evalyn met an untimely death in an auto accident in 1962. He eventually met and married Bertha (Bird) Riead, who was known to her new family as Suzie. John and Suzie moved to Pinckneyville where they spent 20 happy years and were active members of the Roe's Dale Baptist Church. Suzie Riead passed away in 1983 and John subsequently moved to an apartment in Colorado Springs, Co., near his elder son David. As of this writing, he remains there enjoying his family and in reasonably good health as he approaches his 95th birthday.

He served in the Civil War in the Eighteenth Infantry and died in Shawneetown from a illness contracted while in the army. Four young children were born by this union and all later lived in Pinckneyville. The children were: Viola Teoria who married Joseph Choisser, John Curtis married Florabelle Baxter, William Thomas married Dora Viola Baxter, Samuel Sherman married Mary Young.

The subject William Thomas Ritchey, was born Sept. 25, 1863 in Shadsville, White Co., Il. In his youth he worked on the farm and odd jobs. He came to Pinckneyville 1886 as a railroad man under W. S. Wilson. He entered the mercantile business with his brother Sherman in 1897. In 1900 he was connected with the White Walnut Mine. In 1908 the Ritchey coal company of which he was a member opened number 5 mine. This was operated by S. S. Ritchey, W. S. Wilson and Thomas, for many years. Thomas also operated a merchantile store.

On Jan. 1, 1891 he married Dora Baxter, a long time resident of Perry Co. Her father was William Baxter (1821-1880) of Clark Co., Ky. Her grand-father was George Baxter (1791-1867) born in George Ritter was born on a farm in the Todds Mill Community June 13, 1860. His parents were Christian Ritter (1833-1910) and Caroline Beck Ritter (1835-1921) both of German ancestry. Christian was buried in the Todds Mill Cemetery and Caroline in the Lost Prairie Lutheran Cemetery. George attended school very little, and as a young man moved to Pinckneyville where he worked with his uncle, William Schneider, a carpenter. Soon George became skilled in the carpenter trade.

On Nov. 6, 1883, he married Susanna Blum, born Dec. 10, 1863, daughter of George Blum (1820-1881) and Henrietta Jaimet Blum (1822-1883), who are buried in the Galum Presbyterian Cemetery. They had moved from near Freeburg, Ill., and settled south of Pinckneyville near the Brick School, which Susanna attended. This was then a wooded area, and one of her chores, as a child, was keeping the deer chased out of the garden.

George and Susanna first lived on St. Louis Ave. in Pinckneyville. Several years later they bought the Duckworth home located on a large tract on County Road. George divided the tract into lots and began building houses and selling them. When this became part of an addition to Pinckneyville, he gave Ritter Street the family name and named Elizabeth Street for his daughter.

In the early 1900's George started a concrete business. He developed and patented a high quality concrete block and a machine for their manufacture. Ritter Concrete Blocks were widely used in buildings in Pinckneyville and the surrounding area. The block wall in front of the City Cemetery was built by him. Many prominent buildings and houses still standing in Pinckneyville were built by George Ritter. He also manufactured patented cast granite grave monuments, concrete tiles, coping, and well curbs. He held several other patents,

He and his wife Sarah Russell Robb, a native of Milford, Co. Donegal, Ireland homesteaded land in Township 5-4 in Perry Co.

The family worshipped at the Bethel Reformed Presbyterian Church in Eden until the formation of the Grand Cote Reformed Presbyterian Church in the James Robb home in 1850.

Most of his farming years he lived near Coulterville in Perry Co.

His first son George Robb was born in Randolph Co. Sept. 27, 1838 approximately one month after James and Sarah Robb with two year old Eliza arrived in Illinois. One month after his birth, after a home was erected, they moved to Lost Prairie in the Western part of Perry Co.

George was skilled in many tasks of farm life on the frontier. He discovered a special fondness for raising, training, driving and riding horses.

On Nov. 12, 1863 George married Mary Agnes McMillan. They began their married life living on forty acres of prairie land she inherited. As their family grew so did their need for more farm land and the enlargement of their home. In the succeeding years they accumulated four hundred seven acres of land before they retired from farming.

RODELY-KOENIG

George Alfred Rodely born, May 29, 1889, was the oldest son of seven children of William Rodely (1863-1922) and Alice Webster (1867-1936) in Derbyshire, England. He attended a boys school until 1901, when he accompanied his father to America and the Will Jackson farm at the southwest corner of Sunfield, where he worked on the farm.

George's father, a coal miner, took him into the Hardscrabble Mine at age 14 to learn the trade. He worked in the mine almost a year when the child labor law forced him out of the mine and back to farming on the Jackson and Kimmel farms, until he was 16, and could go back to the mine. George worked in many of the shaft mines around Du Quoin over the next 30 years. An active union member, he served as president and delegate to several U.M.W. national conventions for his local in the 1920's. Sept. 6, 1916, he married Clara M. Koenig, daughter of Edward Koenig (1867-1901) and Mary Seibert (1877-1966) of the Brickyard area east of Du Quoin. They purchased and re-

Mining, farming, and milking cows, George and Clara worked diligently and raised their family: Three sons, William Edward, George F., and Eugene Alfred, who all live in Du Quoin today; and one daughter, Freda M. (Robinson), of Ottawa, Il.

George was active in the Republican Party, and was Paradise Precinct Committeeman for several years. His patriotism and political banner continues to be carried by his children.

In 1942, George purchased the Oliver Farm Equipment dealership in Pinckneyville from Francis Hagene and moved it to its current location on North Chestnut Street in Du Quoin in 1943. The business is continued and operated to this day by his sons.

George died Apr. 29, 1974. Clara died Oct. 3, 1982. Both are interred at Sunset Memorial Park, which was part of the old Jackson Farm, where George had his beginnings in Du Quoin. It is also about a mile from where they lived and worked most of their lives.

RODELY-LUTZ

The second son of George A. and Clara Rodely arrived the 5th of Sept. 1919. George Frederick Rodely attended Elm School in Paradise Prairie for eight years then to DTHS in Du Quoin graduating in 1939. He played varsity football 3 years, was captain of the team and all-state back in 1937, and ran the 440 dash and the varsity relay in track.

Inducted in the Cavalry at Ft. Riley, Ks. in 1942, he transferred into Air Cadets for pilot training July 1942 which he completed in June 1943. He joined the 4th Ferrying Group Flying Bombers to Europe, N. Africa and the Middle East. In Oct. of 1944 George became a hump pilot flying supplies from India to Burma and China over the highest mountains in the world under very adverse weather conditions.

The China, Burma, India Theater of W.W. II was different from most theaters of operation. The Assam Valley, where most of the bases were located, had in excess of 400 inches of rain a year and living conditions were quite primitive. It was the only war theater where a soldier could be felled by a Jap sniper, bitten by a poisonous serpent, trampled by a rogue elephant, decapitated by a head hunter and devoured by a man eating tiger just on the way back from the latrine. He returned to the States in Oct. of 1945 and was released from active duty as a reserve captain in Jan. of 1947.

George married Vivian O. Woodside, daughter of Cecil and Alta Woodside of Swanwick, Aug. 19, 1949. From this marriage he had 3 children; Steve, July 8th, 1950, (with Carla Kirgan has one daughter Kirstin Lynn, 3/21/86 - living in Sandoval, Il.), Gary, Nov. 4, 1953, (with Sally Burris has one son, Casey Lee, 6/7/74 - living in Swanwick, Il.) and Pamela Lynn, Nov. 26th, 1955 (with Jerry Howell has two sons; Jesse Wade, 9/8/76, and Travis, 8/8/79 - living in Sayre, Ok.). George was recalled to active duty the 1st of May 1951 for the Korean War. He served in the Philippines from 1957 to 1960 as command pilot and operations officer.

Denise, Linda, Bruce, George and Brian Rodely

Divorced in 1961, George remained in the Air Force retiring the 1st of May 1966 as a Lt. Colonel with over 10,000 hours of flying time and had flown 46 different type aircraft in the U.S.A.F. Inventory.

George married Linda Lou Lutz, daughter of Roy H. and Grace Maines Lutz of Clearfield, Pa., in Reno, Nv. on the 20th of Aug. 1966. Linda, oldest of 2 children, was born May 18, 1942 and after graduating from Clearfield Area High School completed nurses training at Indiana Hospital School of Nursing, Indiana, Pa. in 1963. She worked 1 year in Pittsburg Allegheny General Hospital before entering the Air Force as a nurse (1964-1966), coming out as a 1st Lt. They moved back to Du Quoin in Oct. of 1966. They had three children; Bruce Douglas, Sept. 16th, 1969, Brian Edward, Sept. 3rd, 1970, and Denise Lynn, May 12th, 1974. Both boys have been active in Khoury League and high school football including the final game for state championship at Bloomington, Il. Nov., 1986. Bruce, an Illinois Scholar, Southwest Egyptian Conference 1st team defense and elected most inspirational player of the football team, has been accepted at Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University, Daytona Beach, Fl. Brian was elected co-captain of the 1987 football team and is interested in farming, hunting, fishing and most outdoor activities. Denise is active in school athletics and loves swimming and horses. George and Linda now live on the farm his grandfather had bought after coming to the United States from England, actively participating in many civic organizations, George is a board member and coach of the Khoury League, member of Boys Booster Club, Hump Pilots Association, V.F.W., and the Elks. He oversees the farming operation and helps out at Rodely's Farm Equipment Store. Linda is a member of the Registered Nurses Educational League, Du Quoin Garden Club, assists with Red Cross Blood Bank, and is active in the First United Methodist Church. She is currently managing a Diet Center in Sparta, Il. and owns other Diet Center franchises.

RODELY-MILLS

William Edward Rodely born Sept. 2, 1917, the oldest of four children of George A. Rodely (1889-1974) and Clara M. Koenig (1899-1982), Bill walked to Elm School, Dist. 16 in Paradise Prairie. He graduated to catching rides into town to attend DTHS, then located along the north side of Poplar Street between Washington and Mulberry Streets. Bill played football in '34 and '35 and graduated in 1936.

Bill worked for the Du Quoin Iron and Supply Company as a warehouseman and truck driver, delivering mine and mill supplies throughout Southern Il., for over five years.

Bill enlisted in the Army Air Corps in Dec. of 1941, and served four years before his honorable discharge. During his military career, he served in England, North Africa, Corsica and Italy. He received the Bronze Star, Unit Citation with silver cluster, and the Europe-Mediterranean Ribbon with eight stars. He graduated with honors from both Airplane and Engine Mechanics training school and B-25 Specialist School at North American Aviation.

Still in the service, and en route to California, he married Mary Lou Mills June 9, 1945. Mary Lou is the daughter of Harmon B. Mills (1891) and Hazel Black (1898-1976) of Benton, Il. After their return to Du Quoin in 1945, they had two daughters: Beverly Jo (1949) and Billie Lou (1953). Bill joined Rodely Farm Equipment, and Mary worked for the Morris Supply Company in the former Red Star Mill building, and subsequently as a secretary for Wyman's Style Shop.

About six years passed, and Bill went to work for DeLaval Separator Company as a sales and service representative. A promotion to lead a new company division meant a move to Chicago in 1961. Bill continued with De Laval, and Mary worked as an executive secretary for the following fifteen years.

Ultimately, Bill and Mary "retired" back to Du Quoin in 1978. Bill returned to work with brother Gene at Rodely Farm Equipment, and renewed activity in his community. Bill served a term as president of the Du Quoin Rotary club, representing the organization at the international convention in 1985. In 1986, Bill not only helped organize his 50-year high school reunion, but also helped arrange for the 50 year celebration of the DTHS football field, bringing back over half the original team and the coach to stand again in VanMeter field. That night, as their predecessors had done 50 years prior, the DTHS football team beat Sparta. Bill and Mary Lou belong to the First Christian Church and the Perry Co. Country Club. He has served on the board of both, continuing the Rodely family tradition of service and dedication to community.

ROE

The Roe lineage is from Welsh descent. Daniel Roe was born in Oyster Bay, N.Y. in 1780, the son of a Revolutionary War soldier. As a minister, he eventually moved West and helped to lay out the city of Dayton, Oh. His son, Thomas Roe, was born and educated in Dayton and became a physician. Thomas was married to Maria Boyer and they had three children - Edward R. died at birth; Robert C. was killed in the battle of Fort Donaldson during the Civil War; Frank finally settled in St. Louis. Charles Henry Roe, born Feb. 4, 1842, moved with his parents to Shawneetown in 1843. After a short time, they settled for a while in Mt. Vernon, Nashville and Chester. In 1857, the Roe's moved to Pinckneyville where Thomas practiced medicine until his death.

At the outbreak of the Civil War, Charles H. Roe enlisted for service in Co. "G" of the 12th Il. Infantry, entering the army on July 4th, 1861 and serving during the duration of the conflict. Much of his service was with the army of General Sherman, participating in all of the engagements of his Company with that army up to and including Sherman's memorable "March to the Sea". In the latter part of his service he was detailed to various adjutants offices, being finally advanced to the Quartermaster's office of the 15th Army Corps, where he remained until the expiration of his service time.

Returning to Pinckneyville in 1865, he entered the office of the Circuit Clerk of Perry Co. as a deputy. On Aug. 12, 1867, Mr. Roe was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the Circuit Clerk. He was successively re-elected to this office until Nov. 1892, when his services were terminated by the voters. Mr. Roe had served in the office of Circuit Clerk and Recorder for a period of 27 years.

On Sept. 16, 1866 Charles Henry Roe married Harriet Vashti Jones, youngest daughter of Dr. Humphrey B. and Harriet Dobbins Jones. Humphrey B. Jones was the first person to hold the office of Circuit Clerk. He and Thomas Roe were two of the founding fathers of the Pinckneyville Methodist Church. Ten children were born to Charles and Harriet. One son, John D. Roe, also served as Circuit Clerk of Perry Co. Another son, Charles Henry Roe, Jr., was a dentist in Pinckneyville. He was married to Sarah Deane Wilson, whose father was a highly decorated Colonel in the Confederate Army and whose family moved to Pinckneyville after the war. Their son, W. S. Wilson Roe, was born in and lived in Pinckneyville where he was associated with the coal industry. Herman Roethe, born in 1847 in Seegerehna, Germany (near the famous town of Wittenburg) came to America as a stowaway on a ship to avoid compulsory draft in the army. He was put to work firing the boilers on the vessel coming across the ocean. After arriving here he married Wilhelmina Louise Pannier who lived on a farm near Belleville in an area called Shiloh. She was born Sept. 25, 1857 in Germany and came to America at age six. The couple resided around Belleville and had 9 children. (Some of the children's birth records are there.)

According to church records, it seems the couple moved to Perry Co. near Conant in the mid 1890's on a farm. Wilhelmina died Feb. 18, 1899 and Herman later remarried to a widow Emelia Meyer who came from the St. Louis area to Conant in Aug. 1900. Emelia took care of children to earn money and was eventually left with Edward whose mother deserted him, and he joined the Roethe family and was always accepted as a blood relative.

B. G. ROOTS

Benajah Guernsey Roots was a pioneer educator and abolitionist who came to Perry Co. early in 1839. He had spent some time in Shawneetown awaiting subsidence of swollen streams and drier weather as he picked his way along the old Shawneetown to St. Louis trail. The Connecticut native was looking for a spot where he could locate and build a home.

B.G., as he was known, found that spot, a total of 1200 acres, about a mile south of the present village of Tamaroa. He built a log cabin and went back to Connecticut for his family.

His log cabin provided room for a student that first winter. College level courses were taught and the log cabin was the site of the first institution of higher learning in Southern Illinois.

A later clapboard home had an L-shaped addition which housed a classroom and boarding services for several students. Finally, between 1854 and 1856, Locust Hill Academy was built, a home that is still standing south of Tamaroa. It is now the Calvin Ibendahl home. The house, a one-room (Roots) school and a log cabin are open for tours by appointment. John A. Logan was a student at the academy.

Roots was an avid abolitionist and aided many

run-away slaves as they escaped to the North. His "underground railway" station was probably in his basement. There was a secret passageway discovered in the back kitchen wall when the house was remodeled in 1956. There was a fake cistern in the basement beneath the wall. There was never any water in the cistern and earthen seats were carved inside the brick wall.

When the Illinois Central Railroad came to Southern Illinois, it was B. G. Roots who did the surveying from Centralia to Carbondale. The story is told that B. G. put the curve in the railroad north of Du Quoin so the tracks would cross his property and he would have train service, which was provided free of charge by the Illinois Central because Roots did not charge for the use of his land.

Roots was known as "Father Roots" in the early years of the Illinois educational system. He was a pioneer in using the graded school system. Prior to his time, students progressed from "reader to reader" as their ability increased. Roots was also on the Board of Higher Education and helped J. B. Turner establish the University of Illinois. He rode horseback to attend meetings in Chicago and Springfield.

Roots is credited with taking six teachers from Du Quoin to Arkansas where they established the first public school system for that state. He also taught at the Sparta Seminary from 1846 to 1851. He lobbied for the passage of the Normal School Act which brought the Normal School, now Southern Illinois University, to Carbondale. The school was planned for Tamaroa, but lost by one vote in the General Assembly.

Locust Hill was a stock farm where purebred horses and mules, registered cattle and hogs were raised. Wheat, corn and hay were the main crops. There were lots of fruit trees. The yard was landscaped with 40 kinds of trees, all native to Southern Illinois. Peacocks strutted in the four-acre yard.

After the Civil War, some of the run-away slaves returned to the Roots farm where they lived and worked until they died. Many of them are buried in the woods on the farm. A hired hand named Goode was given employment in Springfield after the farm was sold in 1905.

Mr. Roots passed away in 1887. He is buried in Tamaroa with the rest of his family. It is a fitting location since Mrs. Roots and her sister named the village of Tamaroa.

Remaining family members are Frances Roots Hadden and her brother, John Logan Roots of Mackinac Island, Mi. Other distant relatives live in the state of Oregon. — Submitted by Jean Ibendahl

ROZNOWSKI-ZIELINSKI

The Roznowski home place is located on North West Street Road in Du Quoin - directly across from what was the Bohemian Hall. The family had a peach and apple orchard for many years, as well as a truck garden, faithfully tended by Mike after his wife's death in 1954. His garden provided many a meal for families who lived in his area, and this practice continued with son, Jerome, and his family. Mike, a well known strawberry producer, would daily ride his "wheel" into town for church in all kinds of weather.

Michael A. Roznowski (b. 7-21-1893 d. 3-10-1978) married Marie Zielinski (b. 11-17-1895 d. 5-26-1954). Their ancestors were from Poland, but Marie was raised in German settlements in St. Louis and Dubois, Il. She cared for the sick in Du Quoin, and was known for her good heart, and good chicken noodle soup!

Mike and Marie raised 5 children. Their first-born, Frank E. (b. 2-6-1915 d. 8-6-1986) married Louise Williams of Du Quoin in 1938. Frank was a baker at Theobald's Bakery on Division Street in Du Quoin in his younger days, and the glazed donuts he'd bring home are still the subject of tasty memories. Frank was manager of Falstaff Distributing Co. in Du Quoin for many years and, after residing in northern Illinois for 10 years where they were employed at St. Charles School for Boys, they retired to Du Quoin in 1975. They have 2 children, Gail Kay, married to Gerald L. George, and Edward Lee, married to June Baker. They have 2 grandchildren and 2 great-grandchildren.

Norbert (b. 6-6-1917) and his wife, Minnie (Harsy) Roznowski, are now retired and reside in Portland, Or., where they've made their home for many years.

Jerome (b. 12-1-1922 d. 3-2-1987) and Martha (Lee) Roznowski, have raised their family in Du Quoin. Jerome was a trucking contractor who delivered meat, and later clothing, between Du Quoin and St. Louis until retirement. Jerome was also a City Commissioner, and former Director of the Perry Co. Housing Authority. Jerome and Martha's children are Tom, and his wife Janice of Austin, Tx., Steven, Mark, Terrence, and Charles of Du Quoin, and Mary Ann of Champaign. One son, Richard, is deceased. The family has two grandchildren.

Father Thomas Roznowski (b. 5-9-1924), a Benedictine priest, has a parish in Belcourt, N.D., where he also works among the native Americans.

Delores (b. 10-23-1926), the only daughter, and her husband Jack Zumpano, reside in Sunnyvale, Ca., where they have raised 4 children, Debra, David, Diane, and Danny and are enjoying their 7 grandchildren.

In case anyone ever looks, the Roznowski boys left their mark carved on top of the north cabinet in the sacristy of Sacred Heart Church in Du Quoin, where they were altar boys.

Blacksmithing and farming was their trade and they were members of the Masonic Order. The potato famine and dwindling finances made immigration necessary.

Robert, oldest son born 1830 wed his cousin Margaret Young in 1857. She too, at age 15, came from Donegal Co. in 1850 thru New Orleans, La. during the Yellow Fever Epidemic. They settled in Jordan's Grove, somewhere near Chester, Ill., with a church the only known landmark.

Eventually the 1st and 2nd generations became prosperous and influential residents on a 4 Mile Prairie farm in Perry Co. Affiliated membership with Galum Presbyterian Church and cemetery burial there-in. Jared died 1875 and Jane 1883. Robert died 1875 and Margaret 1911.

Georgiann, born 1867, 6th child of Robert and Margaret, wed James Alexander Crain (born 1867) in Aug. 1896. James always said he was an orphan and assumed the name of people he last lived with. By trade he was a lathe plasterer. James was born in Jackson Co. and Georgiann was born and reared in 4 Mile Prairie area. Seven children were born, 4 dying in infancy. RULE-BOYD Jared Rule (b. 1797 Donegal County Ireland) and wife Jane Ewing (1800) came on a sailing vessel with his family in 1847. Samuel Dill (6-16-1831), Donegal Ireland) was one of six children: Robert, Elizabeth, Matthew, Jared, and William Thomas. They settled first in Randolph Co. then at Bairds Grove, 4 mile, Perry Co.

S. D. Rule was a blacksmith by trade in Randolph Co. before 1853; he went to California during the gold rush, returning in 1861 and served in the Civil War (1861-65). He was married to Hannah Boyd (b 6-26-1842 in Donegal Ireland) by John B. Davis. They had 13 children, 3 dying young. Surviving many years were: Samuel J. (1880), Eliza Joan (1872), Jennie (1876), Isabelle (1878), Lonnie (1879), Margaret (1880), Kathryn (1883), Mary (1886) and William C. (1887).

S. D. joined Galum Presbyterian Church in 1873, and served as a trustee when Rev. G. B. McComb was the pastor.

Ruling his family with a stern hand, S. D. was strict with his daughters and only when brothers accompanied them did they attend parties held about the countryside. There were daily devotions each evening, conducted by the father.

Joan, the eldest girl, did most of the sewing for the family. The mother taught all the girls cooking, sewing and quilting. S. D. did blacksmith work as well as farming.

The eldest son, Samuel J., was his right-hand man with the farming.

Isabelle married Alva Johnson, I. C. Conductor, had three girls.

Jennie married Matthew C. Herndon in St. Louis, street-car conductor.

Margaret taught school and married Dr. F. B. Hiller.

Katie worked in knitting mill and married John

Cockrum, and moved to Stockton, Ca. She had no children.

Mary married John Roland and worked at Veterans Hospital in Stockton.

William C. was employed at a Ford plant in Michigan for 30 years, was married but had no children.

Health failing, S. D. and Hannah moved to a house on Belle Ave. in Pinckneyville. In 1911 he was taken to a St. Louis hospital where he died on Mar. 4th. Hannah (Boyd) Rule resided at home until her death on Jan. 3, 1917. The large two-story home setting on a large lawn with shade trees, had rooms made for comfort (floors kept warm with straw for rug padding and parlors used only for special occasions). Grandchildren remember playing about the rambling farm; later, Samuel J. and wife, Ella, moved in to retain the old home place, when the parents located in town. With Aunt and Uncle on the place the cookie jar was just like Grandma's. Turkeys, geese, and guineas were all interesting for children from town. Progress came, the old homeplace is gone, (bought by Pyramid Coal Co.) and roads through Four Mile Bairds Grove section are closed.

SAWYER-CHRISTIAN

Charles Sawyer came to Pinckneyville from Waltonville in 1899 because he thought it "afforded more opportunities for himself and his family". His family consisted of Minta Christian Sawyer, his wife - three daughters, Mamie (who later became Mrs. Walter Pinkard), Ina Elizabeth (who later became Mrs. Elvis Bartle), and Mable (who later became Mrs. Frank Edwards) - and one son Charles Roscoe Sawyer (who married Laura Tessier).

Charles and Minta were highly regarded in the community, as were all of their children. Mamie, who had been a teacher, developed an interest in photography and eventually owned and operated her own studio in Pinckneyville.

The ancestors of Charles Sawyer came to America from Scotland in the late 1600's. His Great Great Grandfather, Wilson Moore, fought in the Revolutionary War. The family originally settled in Virginia, but, they were among the early Pioneers who forged farther West into Kentucky. In 1815, David Sawyer preempted land at "Sawyer Point" - located about four miles west of Nashville Il. The second generation removed from there to Nashville.

Charles was educated in the schools of Nashville and then went to St. Louis, where he attended Barnes Business College to prepare for the position of Bookkeeper in the Sawyer-McCrocken Milling Co. After keeping the books in his father's business for several years, he formed a partnership in a Mercantile Business with one Pihle Garvin - which lasted six years - until Garvin moved to Chanute, Ks. Charles then went to Waltonville, a small community just beginning to grow. He owned and

He retired in 1918 - died in 1927. At the time of his death, the newspaper said "He served as a member of the School Board and a number of civic committees. In his demise, the church loses one who stood stalwartly for the advancement of Christian Progress; the community loses one who helped blast the trail for the future development of the best civic issues; and the family loses a loving husband, father and grandfather. He was happiest when his entire family was gathered around his hearth."

His descendants, all born in Pinckneyville - and several still residing there are:

Roscoe Sawyer's Family: Dorothy Sawyer Graskewicz (deceased); Kenneth Sawyer (deceased).

Mamie Sawyer Pinkard's Family: 4 Stepchildren, Howard Pinkard being the one raised in Pinckneyville - now residing in Arizona.

Ina Sawyer Bartle's Family: Minta Jean Bartle (married to Charles Hemphill - living in Potomac, Md.); Wilma (Billy) Bartle Berg (married to Bob Berg - living in Park Ridge, Il.); Robert Elvis Bartle (married to Virginia Morgenstern Bartle - living in Pinckneyville).

DAVID JOHN SCHAEFER

David J. Schaefer came to Perry Co. in Oct. 1985 as an employee of WDQN AM-FM radio in St. Johns. David is a 1985 graduate of Southern Il. University of Carbondale, where he received a B.A. in Radio and Television and a minor in Cinema and Photography. While in school at Carbondale from 1982 to 1985, he worked part-time at a local fast-food establishment, did news and music announcing for the college-run WIDB-FM, and was head-writer and actor for the Jo Jo and Joyce children's TV program at WSIU-TV. David graduated from Charleston High School in 1980 with honors — he was inducted into the National Honor Society and National Spanish Honor Society. Throughout high school he was an active film writer and maker and was involved in many high school clubs — yearbook, CHS Press newspaper, orchestra, chorus, performing arts, and American Field Service (AFS). David spent his junior year living and studying in England with his family on a Hayes-Fullbright teacher-exchange scholarship that had been awarded to his father. Before living in Charleston, Il. (1969-1982), David lived with his family in Oshkosh, Wi. (1966-1969) and Glenn Ellyn, Il. (birth — 1962-1966).

David is one of four children of John Emil and Janet Francis (Marlett) Schaefer of Charleston. John Schaefer is the son of Emil John Schaefer, a Swiss immigrant who became a naturalized U.S. citizen in the early 1900's. His mother, Bessie (Wiedmann), taught professional piano for many years and is currently retired. John has one brother — George of Madison, Wi. — and two sisters — Bernina McGee of Greenbelt, Md. and Charlene Kurth of Springfield, Va. John currently teaches physical activity courses at Eastern Il. University of Charleston — he received his M.A. in Physical Education from the University of Wi. at Madison. He has taught collegiate and high school level gymnastics; in 1972 his "Panthers" team at Eastern won the NAIA Division II Gymnastics title — he was named "Coach of the Year" by the writers of International Gymnastics magazine. He currently teaches age-group gymnastics classes. He was born in Madison, Wi. in 1930.

David's mother, Janet, is a 1972 High Honor graduate from Eastern Il. University, receiving her B.A. in Physical Education at age 38. She was born in Aberdeen, S.D. in 1934 and is the daughter of Roland Marlett (died 1956 of a heart attack) and Norma (Francis) Marlett, who currently resides in Madison, Wi. Her father was a train dispatcher in Madison when Janet was in her teens. She has one sister — Lois Steury of Seattle, Wa. — and two brothers — Paul, formerly of Madison (died in 1972 of cancer), and Greg of South China, Me., currently employed as a vocational counselor for the Veterans Administration. Janet is an avid walker and nature lover — she has hiked in countryside spanning the globe, including a 230-mile, coast-to-coast, 2-week walk through the heart of England. In the late 60's and early 70's, Janet helped develop and coordinate various urban-rural children exchange programs between Chicago and rural Oshkosh, Wi. and Charleston, Il. Inner-city children were brought out to country homes for 1-week visits to learn more about "rural America." These programs were coordinated through the Presbyterian Church.

Dave's eldest sibling is his sister Diane Schaefer, born in Virginia in 1954 while the family was stationed at an Army base in the East. She received her B.S. in Plant and Soil Sciences from Southern Il. University at Carbondale in 1976 and went to work a year later as a catalogue copywriter for Burpee Seed Company in Pennsylvania. She currently is a freelance writer and publisher in Portsmouth, N.H.

Dave's other sister is Nancy Schaefer, born 1957. Nancy received her B.A. in History at Il. State University at Normal and is currently working towards her M.A. She has one son from her first marriage - Edmond Schaefer-Draper, born 1984.

Dave's brother is John Bang Schaefer, born 1960 in Seoul, South Korea. John was adopted by John and Janet Schaefer in 1965; he became a naturalized American citizen shortly thereafter. He graduated from Charleston High School in 1979 and is currently employed at a foundry in Charleston. He is married. SCHNEIDER-BECK

Matthew (b.12-31-1842; d.11-26-1911) and Elizabeth (b.06-23-1850; d.06-01-1912) emigrated from Europe to the United States of America in 1865/1866. He, from the Tyrol, an Alpine region in Austria and northern Italy. She, from Germany. On Aug. 27, 1867, Elizabeth Beck and Matthew Schneider were married in the Geiser house, which was at that time, on the southwest corner of Douglas Street and St. Louis Street in Pinckneyville. They resided all of their married life in residence on West St. Louis Street, first door west of the Joe Schilling residence which was on the southwest corner of Mill and St. Louis streets. A long period of asthma caused the death of Matthew Schneider. Elizabeth Beck Schneider died of tetanus (lockjaw) resulting from her stepping on a nail which penetrated her shoe sole while she was attending her cows in the cow lot. Both Matthew and Elizabeth are buried in St. Bruno Catholic Cemetery west of Pinckneyville.

Elizabeth was the daughter of George and Elizabeth Beck. Upon arrival from Germany they settled west of Pinckneyville in what was known as Eaton's Prairie. Elizabeth was three years of age. Matthew Schneider's father's name was Gebhardt. Insofar as we know, Matthew was the only member of his immediate family who emigrated from his home in Europe to the United States. Matthew was a building contractor, farmer/landowner, and had been an Alpine singer/yodler. His land was west of Pinckneyville in the Hammack area. Matthew Schneider's name is among the names of the founders of St. Bruno Catholic Church of Pinckneyville. Elizabeth Beck Schneider was a member of the Zion Lutheran Church of Pinckneyville.

Matthew and Elizabeth were the parents of: Magdalen Elizabeth who married Joseph Hagler; Joseph G. who married Frances Mary Berg; Emma Louise who married George Ruppert; William C. who married Ida Berg (parents of Charles, William, Irene, and Lucille), Benjamin who married Daisy Bowyer, Rose who married George Mann, Elizabeth who remained a maiden lady, John who died in childhood, Twins; one died in infancy and one died in childhood.

The Matthew and Elizabeth Schneider descendants are all buried in St. Bruno Cemetery, but not all of their graves are marked. — Written by Cecelia Ruppert (granddaughter of Matthew and Elizabeth).

SCHNEIDER-BERG

John William Schneider, one of eight children born to Matthew (Mathias) Schneider (1842-1911, Austria/Germany) and Elizabeth Beck (1850-1912; Germany) was born on Dec. 24, 1879 in Pinckneyville, Il., on St. Louis Street across from the Baptist Church. He had four sisters—Lena, Mary, Louise, and Rose—and three brothers—Joseph, Ben, and Charles (died in infancy).

John (J.W.) worked as a coal miner at the East mine near Coulterville, Il., as a farmer, as a fruit-grower, and as the custodian for the Perry Co. Court House during his lifetime.

J.W. met Ida Sophia Berg at her mother's remarriage and later married her on Oct. 25, 1899. They had five children—Charles Joseph (1900-1970), William Benedict (01-02-06-05-05-70), Lucille Annette (12-29-15), Irene Elizabeth ((07-08-09-06-07-14—died from complications from whooping cough), and Milton Loe (09-01-02-06 22-03—died from pneumonia).

J. W. and Ida made their first home on Grant Street in Pinckneyville. They then moved to the part of Pinckneyville referred to as "Oklahoma" and then purchased a farm southeast of Pinckneyville behind "Cripple Creek". They later "traded" their Pinckneyville farm for a fruit farm in Coulterville (plus $1000) where they raised pears, apples, and peaches. They were able to pay off the $1000 with the first year's pear crop.

J. W. and Ida purchased a house on Randolph Street in Pinckneyville after the sale of their farms. They lived there until their deaths. They are interred at St. Bruno Cemetery west of Pinckneyville. — Written by Lucille Schneider Vuichard

SCHNEIDER-WALKER

George Alfred Schneider was born 7-29-1888 to George John Schneider (b.2-27-1856 d.3-14-1943) and Elizabeth Mary (Schwartz) Schneider (b.8-15-1859) and was raised on a farm 4 mi. north of Vergennes, Il. About 1908, his family moved south about a mile to another farm. Alfred was a hard-working man and suffered much from arthritis. He and his brothers were very knowledgeable about farming. He just couldn't drive down a road without looking at crops as he went and figuring how much of a crop there'd be. He and his brother Adolph Eugene (1887-1980) worked together a great deal.

When he married, Alfred contracted Adolph in Hardin, Montana to come look after Pa and the farm till he brought his wife to her new home. It wasn't a new house, in fact the family had lived there a good many years. They grew wheat, soybeans, corn, lots of potatoes, and cows. They very seldom missed mass at Sacred Heart Church in Du Quoin and sometimes went to Murphysboro. Alfred married Catherine Theodosea Walker (b.8-24-1902) from Connersville, In. at St. Gabriel's Church there on 1-7-1928. Alfred's brother Adolph and father George lived with them for awhile then those two moved to 21 N. Linden St. in Du Quoin. Alfred and Catherine were both used to hard work and kept things up at the farm. Alfred rented from his father, and eventually bought the farm.

Alfred and Catherine had ten children: Adolph Valentine Schneider (b.4-16-1929) married Dolores Hollhaus and had one daughter. Mary Theresa Schneider (b.6-4-1936) married Olen Crow and had nine children. Rose Anna Schneider (b.7-12-1931) married Carl James Szczeblewski and bore sixteen children. Philip Joseph Schneider (b.12-19-1932) and his brother Alfred Theodore Schneider (b.8-4-1934) remained bachelors and live in Beckemeyer, Il. Catherine Aurelia Schneider (b.2-21-1939) married John Alvey and had four children. Josephine Elizabeth (b.4-1-1940) married Monroe White from Troy, Il. and had two children. Agnes Gertrude (12-30-1941) married John Henry White of Centralia, Il. Edith Lucy

F: Ignatius Walter ("Walter"), Louisa ("Lulu") and Bernard Emil "Ben" Schneider. B: Adolph E., John T., George Edward ("Ed") and George "Alfred" Schneider (1901 or 1902)

Schneider (b.12-25-1943) became a nun, Sister Edith P.H.S.C., and works in missions in Central America. And Clara Margaret (b.7-21-1945) married Roger Locher and is Major Clara Locher in the Air Force.

Alfred and Catherine bought a dairy farm north of Beckemeyer, which his son, Adolph V., now owns but recently closed the dairy. After the dairy farm was going okay, Alfred built a house in Beckemeyer in which parts of the family still lives. Catherine likes to quilt and crochet. She takes part in church activities. She still lives in the home built in 1955. Sons, Philip and Alfred, live at home. George Alfred Schneider died Aug. 31, 1962 and is buried in Beckmeyer, Il.

ADOLPH EUGENE SCHNEIDER

Adolph was born north of Vergennes on 5-28-1887 to George John Schneider and Elizabeth Mary (Schwartz) Schneider. He worked on the family farm from early childhood and worked for neighbors if needed and if his parents could spare him. When Adolph was about 18, his dad gave him $10 to start out and look for work in the harvest fields of Iowa, the Dakotas, and Montana. Adolph later came back home and worked with his five brothers. Adolph took pride in his horses. He and brother Alfred worked to earn money to pay for a farm they bought in the Texas Panhandle, near Groom, in 1916. When it was paid for, they were going to take horses and equipment there by train, but Alfred became ill and could not go. Adolph went on to Texas and a friend Everett Owens wanted to go along, so Adolph fixed a place for him to sleep among the equipment. When they got to St. Louis, Adolph had to take all four horses out of the car and exercise them. Railroad detectives came to see if there were any tramps in the car. Adolph didn't consider his friend a tramp so he said no. They didn't believe him and were going to search. Adolph told them he wouldn't be responsible if they got hurt hunting around the horses so they looked scared and backed down. Friends met him and helped haul his things 8 miles to the farm. He and Alfred sold their farm in 1943.

In 1926 and until 1928, Adolph worked around Hardin, Montana where his sister Louisa lived, but came back to look after his dad when his brother Alfred got married. Adolph helped his brother Ed get started farming in Texas earlier and went out to Texas each year to help him with the harvest.

In 1929, Adolph started working for United Electric Coal Co. west of Du Quoin. He and his dad had moved to 21 N. Linden. He met Hilda Walker when she came out from Indiana to help with the work before Adolph's brother Alfred's first child was born. Hilda was only there three weeks and got sick and homesick and went back to Plainfield to her Aunt's. Later, Hilda came back to Illinois and stayed. Adolph took Hilda to the Du Quoin State Fair in September and they were married the next year on Oct. 3, 1933 at Sacred Heart Church with Rev. Cyril N. Haffner officiating. They lived in a house that Adolph, Alfred and Louisa owned together at 524 W. Main St. in Du Quoin. They stayed there till Adolph's death at age 93 on 6-20-1980. Whenever Adolph would boss her too much, Hilda had a little paper which she waved at him. It was her 8th grade exam grades, and the only time she got 100 in arithmetic, and written up in one corner also said tied for sixth highest in the county with 92.5. She was also the smartest girl in her senior high school class of 1926 (because there were four boys and one girl—Hilda!)

CATHERINE T. SCHNEIDER

Catherine Theodosia Walker was born 8-24-1902 in Danville, Ind. Her parents were Anne Ellen (Wagner) Walker (2-3-1877 - 6-27-1931) and Silas Walker (7-8-1875 - 11-26-1905). Her father died when she was three and the family was split up and the children lived with relatives and in homes. Catherine was raised by her Grandmother whom she lived with and eventually took care of when the elderly lady became an invalid. Her Grandmother died when Catherine was 21, then she worked in homes and hospitals until she was married. She met Alfred Schneider of Vergennes, Ill., in the summer of 1927. She married him in 1928 and they moved to Vergennes. There they raised ten children.

The ancestry of Catherine's mother is known for several prior generations. Anne Ellen Wagner is the daughter of Matthias Wagner (1846-1925) and Anne Grace McDonald (1859-1923). Anne Wagner had the following siblings: Clara, Margaret, Catherine, John, Martin, Matthias, Cecilia, and Joseph. Anne's mother, Anne Grace McDonald is the daughter of Alexander McDonald of Ireland (son of Alexander McDonnell and Anna Moran) and Mary Anne Ready (daughter of Henry and Mary Kelcayne Ready). Anne Grace had three siblings: Martin, Mary Ellen, and John Henry. Anne Grace left England at age nine with her family. She met and married Matthias Wagner in Laurel, In. He had helped build the Catholic Church there and they were the first to be married in it on Jan. 17, 1876. Matthias is the son of Niklos Wagner and Mary Elizabeth Matthews of French/German descent. Their other children were Kate, Elizabeth, Frank, Jake, and Conrad. Matthias Wagner was injured while still a young man. Something fell from a church steeple and hit him in the head, which caused him much suffering. It was told that a silver plate was inserted to protect him. Eventually his mind went bad and he was taken to an asylum. He was there several years but he finally came home. He raised garden crops and did carpenter work and lived alone after the death of his wife in 1923.

HILDA SCHNEIDER

Hilda Antonia Aloysia Walker was born at her grandma's home near Laurel, In. on May 23, 1906. On Nov. 26, 1905, her father, Silas Walker (b.7-8-1875), was accidentally killed at work on a temporary trestle for Big Four Railroad, working in the construction gang for Thomas McNally Co. Hilda never knew her father but she had 3 brothers and 3 sisters waiting for her when she got here: Catherine (b.8-24-02), Gay Esther (b.2-17-01), Mary, Joseph, Silas Arthur, and Michael. Hilda's mother, Anne Ellen Wagner Walker (b.2-3-1877 d.1937), stayed with her parents until able to try to get work. The seven children had to stay with different relatives and the three boys were taken to the Catholic Orphans Home in Vincennes, Ind.

When Hilda was two, her mother married Joseph Lafayette Hughey who had ten children, four at home, one in the Philippines, and the other married. His first wife and two infant sons had died in a fire. His children (last name Hughey) from his first marriage were: Edward W., Joseph Lawrence, John B., Carl, Iela, George, Clara, Leonard, Basil, and Helen. Besides the seventeen they had before they married, Anne and Joseph Hughey had eight more children together: Matthew Marshal (1909-1983), James Paschal (1911-1967), Veronica Margaret (1912-1914), twins Anthony Ambrose and Meinard Andrew who died in infancy in 1914, Charles Rudolph Vincent (b. 1915), Wilfred Omer (b. 1916), and Anton Francis (1919-1984). . . all born in Ind.

Raising such a large family would be trouble enough, but many hardships were suffered by Hil-da's family. They suffered through the flood in March of 1913 when many of their possessions were destroyed. Several of the young children contracted diseases and three infants died. Work was hard to find for the brothers and some of them joined the army during World War I. Mr. Hughey had been a cabinetmaker who built walk in refrigerators, but work was slow and food was scarce. Again children had to be split up with relatives and sent to guardian homes. Hilda did not see some of her siblings for many years. Hilda and brother Michael were together in the same foster homes for several years and they were able to attend and graduate high school. Michael eventually married Larene Schumacher of Woodburn, In. and have three children: Michael Ross, Patricia, and Jerry.

Hilda lived four years with her Aunt Clara Alexander in Plainfield, In. then came to Vergennes, Ill. to help out her sister Catherine Walker Schneider before her baby was born. Hilda went back to Indiana but returned later to the area to stay. She met and married Adolph Schneider, the brother of the husband of her sister. Adolph passed away in 1980 and Hilda still resides in their home in Du Quoin where she is active in Sacred Heart Catholic Church and the Perry County Historical Society.

IDA SOPHIA BERG SCHNEIDER

Ida Sophia was born in Cudgetown, Ill., (south-east of Pinckneyville) on Feb. 19, 1881 to Valentine and Mary (Ficker) Berg. Valentine died when Ida was two years old. Ida talked to her daughter Lucille of remembering the days after her father's death when money was very scarce and she and her brother, Emil, would walk to Pyatt's wye to get kerosene. Her mother would pack her and her brother a sandwich and starting early in the morning they would walk to the wye; this would take them all day.

After her mother remarried (Mr. Wasserman) they moved to Pinckneyville north of St. Paul Evangelical Church.

Ida first met J. W. Schneider when he served at her mother's and step-father's marriage ceremony. Ida and J. W. were married on Oct. 25, 1899. Ida passed away in 1964 and is interred at St. Bruno Cemetery west of Pinckneyville. John William (J. W.) passed away in May of 1974 and is also interred at St. Bruno Cemetery. —

SCHOCH-KEIDEL

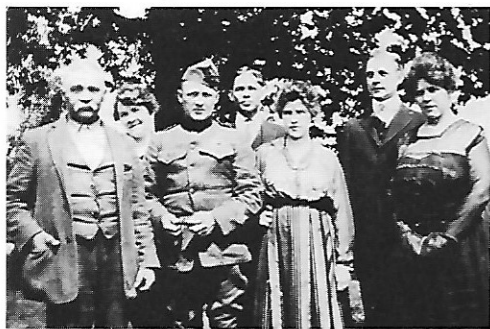

Christian Michael Schoch was born Feb. 8, 1850 in Maiefels, Wurttemberg, Germany, the son of Conrad Michael and Rosine (Schmidt) Schoch. He came to the United States in 1854 and lived in Old Du Quoin. His family later purchased a farm near Vergennes.

Christian married Mary Keidel on June 7, 1876, daughter of Andrew and Catharine Dorothy Rethingsiever Keidel (born Bavaria, Germany, March 12, 1830) of Carbondale. Andrew, of the 15th Ill. Cavalry, Union Army, was a war-time casualty; he died Apr. 12, 1864. His widow worked as a nurse and midwife to provide for her four small children.

Children of Christian and Mary were: Margaret (Mrs. Walter White), Christina (Mrs. Thomas E. Clergy), John, Frank (later a WW I soldier), Jennie (Mrs. A. O. Bartley), and August. Two died in early childhood.

In 1894 Christian bought a farm about one-half mile north of the Pinckneyville Court House on the west side of the old Nashville Road. There he built a new house plus other buildings and brought his family from the farm near Vergennes.

Christian was a dedicated, enterprising farmer.

F. Christian Schoch, Frank Schoch, Jennie S. Bartley and Christina S. Clergy. B: Margaret S. White, John and August Schoch, 1917

He spent much time in soil conservation, and drained all of the creek bottom land by installing clay tile in ditches dug by hand with spades. Possum Branch, a part of the farm, was a favorite picnic ground before the dam was built above it.

Mary died in 1899, when August was about 5 years old. Grandmothers-Rosine Schoch and Catharine Keidel Kindorf often helped out with the younger children.

After the children left home, Christian decided the farm was too much for him to handle. He persuaded son John and his wife to move to the farm and assist with the operation and management.

Effie Engelke, age 8, Christian's orphaned niece, soon joined the family on the farm. After finishing the eighth grade, she went to live with her aunt Henrietta S. Hrabik in Murphysboro.

When Christian retired from farming, he spent some time with his other children, but his last years were spent with his daughter, Mrs. Christina Clergy of Pinckneyville.

Christian died Mar. 1, 1934. Funeral services were at the Methodist Church, Pinckneyville, with burial beside his wife in Oakland Cemetery, Carbondale, Ill. — Submitted by Dorothy Schoch Shaw

SCHOCH-RENNISON

John Schoch was born in Murphysboro Feb. 14, 1883, the son of Christian Michael and Mary Keidel Schoch; his parents later moved to a farm near Vergennes where John attended school. In 1894 the family moved to a farm just north of Pinckneyville; John finished his schooling in the old Pinckneyville Grade School with the high bell tower. School drinking water, in buckets, came from a local well.

John was the oldest son and worked hard on the farm. His mother died young, leaving small children, so, much was required of the older ones. He was attracted to carpentry, earned a journeyman's rating, and was a member of the Carpenters Union for over 50 years. A skilled finish carpenter, he had no fear of height; he worked on church steeples, wooden coal mine tipples and wooden oil well derricks.

John went to Indian Territory in 1906 and marched in the big parade with all other carpenters in Tulsa when Oklahoma was admitted to the union as the 46th state on Nov. 16, 1907.

He returned to Pinckneyville and married Emma Rennison (born July 27, 1889 at St. Johns;

F: Lennetta and Martha Schoch and Rosemary Shaw. B: John D., Harry B. and Dorothy Schoch Shaw, John and Emma Schoch, Maurice C. Schoch, David Schoch, Viola Owens Schoch and Barbara Schoch

Perry Co.), the youngest child of Henry and Eliza Jennings Rennison. Emma was a talented pianist and an accomplished ice skater. She was employed by the A.W. McCants Store until her marriage, which took place in the Methodist Parsonage, Belleville, Ill. on June 7, 1911. They set up housekeeping in their new home on Schoch land a short distance north of Pinckneyville.

A year or so later Chris Schoch asked them to move to the farm which he could no longer handle alone. This they did; John was a competent farmer, bought a Fordson tractor, and developed a prize winning herd of registered Guernsey cattle which was widely known for high milk production.

A daughter, Dorothy Virginia (Mrs. Harry B. Shaw) was born on the farm December 30, 1913. A son, Maurice Christian, was born Aug. 13, 1916.

During WW II John and Emma moved to Granite City, Ill., where he worked in the Army Engineer Depot. They returned to their home on N. Walnut Street in Pinckneyville a few years after the war ended.

John died Oct. 21, 1962. Emma died Oct. 19, 1973. Both are buried in Mueller Hill Cemetery. — Submitted by Dorothy Schoch Shaw

SCHOCH-SCHAFER

William Schoch, along with his brother Christian, settled in Pinckneyville, Perry Co., in the 1880's. They came to Perry Co. from the family farm in Jackson Co. William Schoch established a plow shop which shortly became a full fledged blacksmith shop.

He also married Miss Mary Schafer from Washington Co. The children of this marriage were: William H. Schoch, Edward, & Blaine, and Rosina, Ruth, & Lenora. Of these, Ruth and Rosina both passed away while quite young; Lenora married and moved away from Perry Co. in 1925; Ed and Blaine remained bachelors; William H. married the former Clara Golden of Du Quoin in 1925. They had two sons; William A. and James H. Schoch.

William H. Schoch, called Harrison or Harry, grew up in the family business. He acquired the affectionate nickname of "COP" along the way. He took over the blacksmith shop when his father, William, passed away at age 72 in 1925. About this time, the shop was moved from one block east of the square to its final location two blocks east of the square on E. Water Street. It was here to become a fixture in the community for the next 25 years.

Neither son (Jim or Bill) took an active part in the shop. Bill moved away from Perry Co. as a result of World War II. Jim, except for military duty during the Korean War, remained a lifelong resident of Perry Co. He died quite suddenly in 1977.

The era of the Schoch blacksmith shop in Pinckneyville came to a sudden end in Feb. 1950 with the sudden passing of Harry at age 61. His wife Clara sold the shop shortly thereafter and she was to pass on in Dec. of 1951. Both, as well as Jim, are buried in Mueller Hill.

The familiar sights and sounds of the blacksmith shop are now but an affectionate memory for those of us who knew them. Who could forget the roar of the forge, the white-hot coals, the striking of steel upon hot steel, the ring of an anvil . . . we mourn its passing, history shall determine its place in Perry Co. — Submitted by William A. Schoch

SCHOCH-SCHMIDTGALL

Konrad Michael Schoch, (born 1822, Wurttemberg, Germany), came to the United States (via sailing ship) in 1853, settling in Old Du Quoin. In 1854 his wife, Rosine (Schmidtgall Schoch, also via sailing ship, arrived in New Orleans with their four children: Effie, Frederick, Christian, and Gottlieb, plus her young brother Frederick Schmidtgall. Penniless, Effie, age 10, was "bound out" as an indentured servant and with the money thus obtained, Rosine and family continued up the Mississippi River on a wood-burning cattle boat. At some point where the boat tied up for fuel, Rosine went ashore to buy food, only to find the boat gone when she returned to the dock. Frantic, because the children were still aboard, she finally found a German speaking citizen who rushed her to the next boat stop, where she was reunited with her family. Konrad met them at Grand Tower with a team and wagon and brought them to their new home in Perry Co. Other children were William, Henrietta (Mrs. Frank Hrabik), Amelia (Mrs. Fred Engelke) and Henry. The family later bought a farm near Vergennes.

During the Civil War, Frederick Schoch volunteered for service in the Union Army. Taken prisoner, he was sent to Andersonville Prison where food and shelter were almost unknown. Very ill when the war ended in 1865, he returned home where he died four months later, at age nineteen.

Frederick Schmidtgall, Rosine's brother, enlisted in the Union Army at Du Quoin, Co. B, 7th Ill. Infantry. After the war, he settled in Jackson Co. and was the "Last Man" of Worthen Post, GAR. When asked to comment on the movie "Gone With the Wind"—his reply: "That's the way it was. I saw Atlanta burned from a mile away."

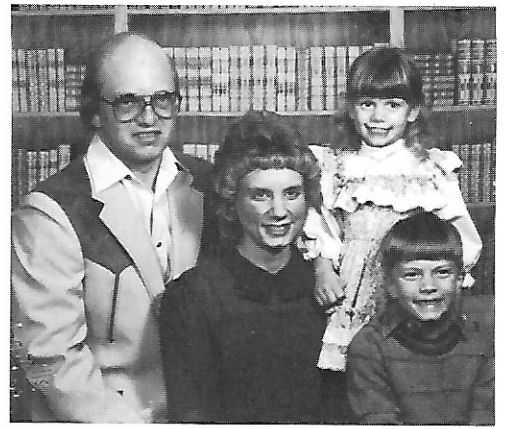

Effie, "bound out", was eventually located and returned to the family. She became Mrs. Jacob Weis, and lived in Murphysboro. She survived the 1925 tornado safely although only the floor of her house was left. She was found still seated in her rocking chair, holding a board over her face.

Christian and William Schoch remained in Pinckneyville. — Submitted by Dorothy Schoch Shaw

SHAW-BOWLES

James Allen Shaw was born on the family farm north of Cutler on Nov. 30, 1915, the youngest child of Samuel Taylor and Amelia (Bird) Shaw. He attended the old North Six Mile School and PCHS but at an early age turned his attention of farming — with soil conservation and registered livestock (Duroc hogs and Guernsey cattle) uppermost in his mind. In 1942 he enlisted in the US Army (WW II) (555th ordnance Co (HM) Tks) and was in the European Theatre until the shooting stopped in 1944, and was wounded in action. Returned to the USA, he was being retrained for Pacific duty when the war ended in 1945.

On July 24, 1945, he was married to Thelma Bowles of Dyersburg, Tennessee at Cutler, Il., They built a new house across the road from the home place, where their four children were reared: James Robert, Dorothy Marie (Mrs. Leroy Mitchell), Alice Jean (Mrs. Robert Hohgreffe), and Fred Samuel.

"Jim" and Thelma bought the family farm from Samuel and Amelia. "Jim" took over the management of the farm with enthusiasm and vigor. The farm was electrified and horses and mules were replaced with tractors and the most modern of farm machines. A deep well was developed, several silos, and a huge, ultra-modern dairy barn, complete with pipe line milker and milk cooling equipment was built. Hybrid corn, soybeans, and new varieties of legumes were planted. He joined DHIA, and developed a herd of 100 registered and grade guernseys.

Milk production zoomed and was shipped to St. Louis by refrigerated truck. Poultry and pork projects were phased out.

"Jim" sustained a severe heart attack in 1967, and the family ran the farm for over a year. Jim recovered and returned to farming, but dispersed his dairy herd in 1975. Part of the farm machinery was auctioned off in 1981, and in 1973, the land (200 acers) was sold to Southwestern Coal Co.; he was to give them possession in mid-1983.

By late 1982 his health began to deteriorate, and he died Jan. 3, 1983; he did not live to move off his beloved land or see it stripped for coal.

James Allen was an Elder of the Reformed Presbyterian Church in Cutler. He is buried in Cutler Cemetery, near the graves of his great-grandparents, grandparents, and parents. — Submitted by Thelma Shaw

George William Short (b. Aug. 25, 1887) of Shakerag married Georgia Miller (b. Oct. 26, 1893) of Cudgetown. They were married by John Roe, Police Magistrate, in Pinckneyville on Oct. 1, 1913. Their witnesses were Vernon and Lizzie Miller — brother and sister-in-law of Georgia. George and Georgia Short lived all their married life in Shakerag — which was a community northwest of Du Quoin. The old road called "Pinckneyville - Du Quoin Road" went through Shakerag and the Shakerag School was on that road. At this school is where the romance of George and Georgia began, at a pie supper.

George and Georgia had two sons: Lester (b. Sept. 25, 1914) and Loren (b. Dec. 8, 1918) and two daughters: Gladys (b. July 28, 1922) and Lois (b. Apr. 25, 1928). All four children were born at home as was the custom and Dr. Templeton from Pinckneyville was the attending doctor.

George loved home-made ice cream and several times he and Gladys carried ice on a "toe sack" from Jake Bird's house (a neighbor that lived by the railroad track in the area) and that is as far as the rock road went. It was about a mile — a long way to carry ice on a sack! But was worth it especially when you love home-made ice cream.

Georgia figured up one time that she had helped deliver about 30 babies in the Shakerag area. One time she had helped butcher all day at the home of a niece, Eva Walker. Then at 11 PM that night Georgia was called to come back and help deliver a baby. George walked with her part way through the mud and then went back home so their kids wouldn't be alone. Georgia went on alone (and was probably scared to death — but duty called). After she got to her niece's house, Dr. Templeton came in his car, but it was so muddy he had had to drive in low-gear for a long way and since the exhaust had gotten to him Georgia had to work to revive him so he could deliver the baby. The good old days ??

Lester married Iva Heape from the Paradise community. Lester is deceased — Feb. 7, 1987 Loren has lived in this area all his life. Gladys married Lyle Stanley and Lois married Louis Hirsch.

The Shorts have a big Christmas Party every year. The first year after George died there were 10 people around the Christmas dinner table. Now there are 58 family members who attend the Christmas Party.

George died in Aug. of 1944 and Georgia is still living and is 93 years of age. They had a lot of hard times, but also many happy times in their 31 years of marriage. — Submitted by Lois Hirsch

SMITH-KEENE

Clara Klementine Keene was born Oct. 14, 1868, the daughter of Nancy Burdine Smith Keene and John C. Keene, near the town of Pinckneyville, Perry Co., Ill., her parents being farmers. At her age of seven the family moved two and one-half miles east on the farm. She lived there until she was nineteen years old. She attended public school until the age of seventeen at which time she received a certificate to teach. She attended special school three to five months each year for the next three years. She began teaching at the age of eighteen.

She was married when she was nineteen to Creed Parson Smith but continued teaching for another year after her marriage. She joined the Baptist church when she was seventeen years old. Born of this union were seven children, six boys and one girl, the girl and one boy being twins. The eldest son died at the age of two and one-half years. The children were as follows: Vallie, Frank, Minnie Alphus (Bill), Earl and Pearl (twins), Johnny, and Paul. Vallie and Johnny are buried in Pinckneyville.

Klem, as she was called, with her husband and children lived on a farm three and one-half miles north of Pinckneyville for twelve years. They moved into town in the year 1900 because of her health. They lived in Pinckneyville until 1917.

Two of the older sons went to Montana to take up a "homestead" of 640 acres each, then being let by the federal government. The following year, Klem, affectionately known as Aunt Klem, with her husband and one young son, Paul, also moved to Montana and homesteaded on a section of land joining to two sons. They lived part time on the homestead and in the winter they moved into Monarch, Wy., for work and to be near school. It was there Klem and her husband separated. He, being discontented, went back to Pinckneyville, while she stayed in the West near her children.

In 1926 she moved to Roundup, Mt., and there she owned and operated a rooming and boarding house for seventeen years. Two unmarried sons lived with her, also a grandson. One son, Earl, died. The youngest son, Paul, went into the service during World War II. She later became ill and being unable to do the work or live alone, sold the apartment house and went to live with her daughter in Utah. Later when Paul returned from the service and she being anxious to make a home for him, she returned to Roundup.

In 1946 Paul was married to Wanda Bolin and moved into a house next door to his mother. A year later the couple was blessed with a baby daughter. As young Paula grew up she was a great joy to her grandmother. Her only other grandchildren belonged to her daughter living in Utah.

Paula Jean Smith, daughter of Paul Smith and Wanda Bolin Smith, married Edwin Iverson in 1968. To this union two children: Isaac Keene Iverson and Nancy Louise Iverson. They reside in Idaho, and both are teachers.

Clara Klementine, known now as Clara K. Smith, lived alone now in her own little house next door to her son until she was ninety three years old. She did not see well and her hearing was very poor. She disliked living with her children, so they persuaded her to go to the Vicar's home for the aged.

Clara made peace with the Lord and became a Christian when she was seventeen years old. She taught Sunday School for years and had memorized many chapters of Scripture. She proclaimed that she was ready and willing to go when the Master called.

She has one son and one daughter living. There are six grandchildren, fifteen great-grandchildren, and four great-great-grandchildren.

May she live in their hearts for many, many years. Written with love by Pearl (daughter, who passed away in 1987) and Wanda (daughter-in-law) — Submitted by Wanda Bolin Smith

Francis traveled on horseback in the company of a family migrating by covered wagon from South Carolina to Randolph Co., Ill. when he was seventeen. When he arrived he had a change of clothing and seventy-five cents. He spent part of his money for hay for his horse. He had hoped to homestead land, but it was all taken. He worked until he could buy land from a first owner, and establish a home for his bride, Jennet, who was born in Scotland. Their son Thomas became a farmer, and spent his entire life in the Cutler area. He was a beekeeper, raised sheep, cattle, hogs, turkeys, and grain.

On May 14, 1874, Thomas married Elizabeth Ann Stevenson and they established their home in the Bigham School District in Township 6-3. CARL SMITH

Carl Anton Smith was a resident of Du Quoin in his latter years. He was a retired bank examiner for the Federal Reserve who moved to Du Quoin from Cotter, Ar., after the death of his wife, Maryann (Henderson) Smith. Mr. Smith bought a cabin at Du Quoin City Lake where he became active in the Lake Association. He worked to establish park areas around the lake and following the example of his distant relative, Johnny Appleseed, he planted trees with the conservation groups.

Carl's daughter, Dr. Kathleen Smith, is also a recent resident of Du Quoin. She was born in Fayetteville, Ar., 10-9-1922. She graduated from the University of Arkansas in 1944 and from medical school and Washington University in St. Louis. She was a practicing psychiatrist for three years then joined the staff of Malcolm Bliss Mental Health Center where she worked for twenty years. She was on staff for a number of years and achieved the position of superintendent until her retirement in 1984. Kathleen "Kay" recently moved to Du Quoin and with partner Nancy Flavell, bought the old Armstrong home in the Arcadia subdivision in Old Du Quoin.

FRANK HOXIE SMITH

During a historic Rocky Mountain blizzard on Dec. 2, 1921, Frank Hoxie Smith was comfortably born in medical facilities at North Platte, Ne. He is the youngest child of Lucius and Georgie Smith, Jr. (See their biographies for more details.)

Hoxie enjoyed a lively childhood in Du Quoin, attending John B. Ward School as his father before him.

He completed his freshman year at the local high school and completed high school at Santa Ana Senior Polytechnic High in California. After high school he first attended the University of Illinois and then Northwestern University at Evanston where he joined Sigma Nu fraternity.

World War II interrupted Hoxie's college education and he enlisted in the armed services. After training at Ft. Riley, Ks., Colorado State University in Ft. Collins, Co., where he received specialized training, Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., and Camp San Luis Obispo, Ca., he sailed from Boston to England aboard the Matsonia, the flag ship of the Matson line.

Only briefly at Warminster Barracks in England, he sailed on the Empire Cutlass, a British sub-chaser, out of Southampton for the shores of Omaha Beach. Hoxie was assigned to the third platoon of Company I, third battalion of the 16th Regiment of the famous First Infantry Division, popularly known as the "Big Red One." He was a combat machine gunner carrying an air-cooled 30-calibre gun and fought with the front lines and outposts of the American advances from the beach of Karlsbad, Czechoslovakia, miraculously avoiding serious injury. He and his troops were awarded many battle citations and he proudly wears the Combat Infantry Badge.

In the spring of 1946 he married Irena (Zolkiewicz) Zeigler, a refugee of the holocaust who lost her entire family to the German murderers. This union produced a son, George David Smith, born Dec. 31, 1946 in Du Quoin, Ill. Hoxie and Rena, as she was more popularly known, moved to New York City in 1947 and shortly thereafter separated. They divorced in 1949 with Rena re-locating to Providence, RI, and Hoxie residing in Laramie, WY. While at Laramie he met Virginia Witt and they married in 1950 at Denver, Co. Soon thereafter they re-located to Du Quoin where Hoxie entered the employment of the Du Quoin Evening Call.

Three children were born to this couple who made their home at 233 East North Street: Daniel Witt Smith, Suzanne Elizabeth Smith (Reade), Walter Hoxie Smith.

This family enjoyed the social life and church activities of the community until 1960 at which time Virginia moved with the three children to Carbondale and accepted employment with Southern Illinois University, where she is still actively employed in the telephone operations. Hoxie re-located to California and the couple divorced in 1968. Hoxie had entered the title insurance business and in 1967 joined the staff of First American Title Insurance Company of Arizona, Phoenix, Az. as a corporate officer and retired from their employment Mar. 1, 1987 as a vice-president in the Trust Department of that company.

After retirement Hoxie continued as an independent consultant in Phoenix while re-locating to the family home in Du Quoin. He had launched a new business in Du Quoin on Feb. 1, 1987, known as Cricket Press, and engaged in the printing industry. He commutes between his home in Du Quoin and his home in Scottsdale, a suburb of Phoenix, to look after his varied business interests.

At the present time he is living with his aged mother in the Du Quoin home and his daughter, Suzie, maintains the Arizona home.

In 1978 Hoxie married Loretta M. Johnston of Branch, Mi., then living in Newport Beach, Ca., and employed with First American's home office in Santa Ana. They enjoyed a few years together in Phoenix until her death in Jan. 1981. The following year he attended his high school class reunion and renewed a relationship with his high school sweetheart, Katherine (Hambright) Baker of San Jose, Ca. They were married in Aug. 1983 but Katherine soon became disenchanted with her new life in the desert of Arizona and the following year she returned to her friends and family in San Jose. A divorce followed in 1985.

In Jan., 1982, Hoxie took over the responsibilities of the office of Publisher of the Du Quoin Evening Call due to litigation brought by Attorney F. Mark Miller and his brother Lucius Smith, III, against his father. The venerable gentleman passed away before the litigation was resolved in the courts and Hoxie continued to publish the newspaper until it sold to American Publishing Company, Dec. 31, 1986. The litigation has subsequently been resolved in favor of the defendants, L. S. Smith, Jr. and the Smith Family Trust, but this litigation between family members was primarily responsible for the divestiture of the newspaper.

Hoxie and his sister, Mary Smith Otto, of San Diego, as co-trustees of the Smith Family Trust, will maintain the family home at 218 N. Washington for the enjoyment of their mother and other family members for years hence.

GEORGE SPENCER SMITH

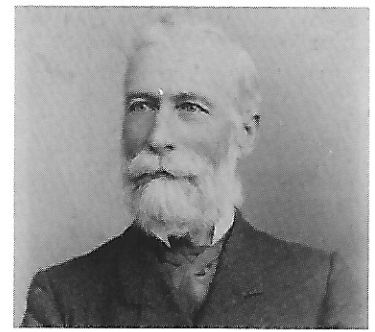

If we were to select any one of our pioneer citizens to fill the role to "Father of the City of Du Quoin" certainly one of the foremost candidates would be George Spencer Smith. His business, known as G. S. Smith & Co., was the first commercial enterprise in the new city. He was Du Quoin's first mayor and a charter member of the First Presbyterian Church. From the very beginning of the present town until his death Jan. 8, 1908 he served each day in the civic, business, social and church life of Du Quoin.

G. S. Smith was born in Hatfield, Mass., May 26, 1823. He was born into the eighth generation of his American family, his ancestor, Lt. Samuel Smith having migrated from Ipswich, England to this country in the spring of 1634. When he was a youth in his teen years he sought a new life for himself in the western frontier and traveled by trails, streams and rivers from Massachusetts to St. Charles, Mo. After a short time he relocated to the settlement of Old Du Quoin, arriving about 1840.

He depended upon the labor of head and hands to survive those difficult pioneer days. At various times he was employed as a school teacher, clerk, accountant and teamster. His first business adventure was total disaster. He put his all into a linseed oil factory and lost it. Soon thereafter he was able to open a mercantile business with another pioneer neighbor, Mr. G. M. Hinckley and together they formed the firm of Smith & Hinckley to serve the community of Old Du Quoin.

Early in the 1850's the Illinois Central Rail Road established its right of way through the prairies a few miles west of Old Du Quoin and G. S. Smith made immediate plans to relocate to the site of the activity. With twenty yoke of oxen and many helping hands his store building was moved through the tall prairie grass to what is now the southwest corner of Main and Division Streets. At that time he had the whole townsite from which to choose a location. The firm was re-named G. S. Smith & Co. His brother, E. N. Smith and brother-in-law L. B. Skinner, were partners in the firm.

In 1856 he helped organize the Presbyterian Church and became its first and only elder. He served as Ruling Elder until his death. In 1860 he organized the Exchange Bank, Du Quoin's first.

George Spencer Smith

He was always president of the bank until his demise. Although his efforts in industry and business were varied during his early productive years he settled into the banking business and prospered as Du Quoin's leading banker for nearly fifty years.

Oct. 7, 1844, at the age of 21, G. S. Smith married Miss Juliana Skinner in Old Du Quoin. At that time he had a five dollar gold piece in his pocket, being the total sum of his wealth, and he gave it to the minister of his marriage. The new couple started life together without a cent. (A short biography of Juliana appears elsewhere in this history.) George and Juliana raised seven children: Harriette Elizabeth Smith (Linzee); Lucius Skinner Smith; George Spencer Smith, Jr.; Julia Norton Smith; Flora Estella Smith; Lucy Catherine Smith (Prentice); Sarah Little Smith (died at age 6). George Spencer Smith and Juliana Skinner Smith are both interred in the family lot at the I.O.O.F. cemetery at Du Quoin.

GEORGIE (HOXIE) SMITH

The youngest child of a prominent western Nebraska ranching family, Georgie Elizabeth was born June 21, 1897 at Ogallala, Ne. Two sisters, Beatrice (Metcalfe) and Helen (Hammond), and a brother, Walter Hixon Hoxie, preceded her.

Her childhood was spent on a large cattle ranch, attending grade school at Ogallala and high school at North Platte, Ne. Her college training at Rockford, Ill., brought her in contact with Marion Smith, a sister of her future husband. Her college education was interrupted by World War I when it became necessary to return to her family when her brother left on naval service.

Her college friend introduced her to Lucius S. Smith, Jr. and on July 28, 1918 they were married at North Platte. (See the biography of Lucius Skinner Smith, Jr. for more information regarding this union). Georgie was a very attractive and fun-loving young lady who made a joyful home for her young children on a ranch near Limon, Co., during the first six years of her marriage.

She re-located to Du Quoin in 1924 and immediately joined into the social and church life of this community. Until 1937 she made the family home at 114 N. Washington Street, just north of the Baptist Church. That year she and her three children journeyed to Santa Ana, Ca., where her oldest son entered college and the two younger children completed high school.

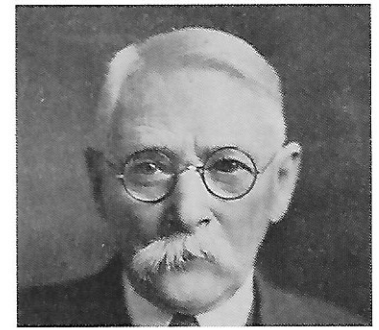

In 1940 she returned to Du Quoin and made her home with her husband at 218 N. Washington Street, where she resides today. The following thirty years she aided in the daily publication of the local newspaper. Her major contribution was proof-reading. In addition she maintained the family home and handled the kitchen and household responsibilities.

During all of her adult life she has been a pet lover and a series of various breeds of dogs and cats, as well as the children's pony, have benefited from her tender care. In her younger married years she enjoyed dancing and became an avid bridge player. Later years she became a crossword puzzle buff and attended to various handicrafts.

Georgie enjoyed traveling and took her children throughout the west and on summer vacations to the shores of Lake Michigan near the city of Holland. She and her children spent several summers living on the family yacht. They boated on Lake Michigan, down the full length of the Illinois river to the Mississippi with a stay at Lake Peoria, down the Mississippi as far as Cairo, up the Kaskaskia as far as Okawville, and docked for lengthy stays at Chautauqua, a resort area just south of Grafton, Ill.

During these years she taught her children to swim, to ride horseback and to have first-aid skills. There were many trips to zoos and museums, and of course, the Chicago World Fair.

Georgie will enjoy her 90th birthday June 21, 1987, with family members. Her health is good and her mind is alert, being able to enjoy reading, letter writing and her television shows.

JULIANA SKINNER SMITH

Juliana Skinner was born in Chatauqua Co., N.Y. on July 17, 1828, the daughter of Lucius and Julia Ann (Sprague) Skinner. She was the oldest of seven children. At age ten she moved with her parents to Old Du Quoin. She first met her husband when he came to her home to teach the Skinner children. She married her tutor, George Spencer Smith at age sixteen, Oct. 7, 1844.

As a teenager she attended school at the Tamarra Seminary. Each weekend she would walk the established trail from Tamarra to Old Du Quoin to visit her family. Her only complaint seems to be of bed bugs at the seminary dormitory.

Her life with Mr. Smith over the next fifty seven years was full and rewarding. Her family and her church were her daily concern and she devoted herself to both with great enthusiasm and good humor.

In 1876 she helped organize the Ladies Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church and became its second vice president. There are many accounts of her devotion to her church work and to the charity activities of the Du Quoin community. In the days before the government's concerns with welfare and unemployment benefits it was these ladies of the church organizations in Du Quoin that sought to the needs of the less fortunate citizens. Juliana's kitchen door was always open to the hungry, being a neighbor or a stranger.

After suffering a debilitating illness during her last three years she died Apr. 17, 1901. She was survived by four daughters and two sons. Honorary pall bearers at her funeral were: Mr. E. T. Blakeslee, Judge G. W. Wall, J. B. Ward, W. E. Kingsbury, J. W. Winters and T. J. Eddleman. The remains were tenderly borne to her final resting place at the I.O.O.F. cemetery by the following relatives: C. F. Linzee, Fred S. Prentice, Lucius D. Skinner, Fred N. Linzee, R. S. Linzee and Eugene Prentice. The services were conducted by Reverend T. E. Spilman.

LUCIUS SKINNER SMITH

Following in his illustrious father's footsteps Lucius Skinner Smith made a lifetime contribution to the development and prosperity of the City of Du Quoin. He served as the principal banker of the city for fifty-six years. He was Ruling Elder of the Presbyterian Church from 1908 until his death and served the church as superintendent of the Sunday School for forty five continuous years. He was treasurer and trustee of the Marshall Browning Hospital Association, state director of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society, treasurer of the Township School District, and president of the Citizens Building and Loan Association. His service in many other civic, social, charitable and business associations are too numerous to mention here.

Lucius S. Smith was born at Old Du Quoin on Dec. 22, 1848 and at the age of five joined his family move to the present site of Du Quoin. His father built the family home on the southeast corner of Park and Mulberry Streets (now the site of the General Telephone Company building). He and his brothers and sisters attended the Du Quoin schools and by the end of the Civil War he entered college at Wabash University, Crawfordsville, Ind. He was a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

Upon completion of his college education he returned to Du Quoin and embarked on a brief adventure into the frontier lands of Kansas with his brother George and two other young men from Du Quoin. Their escapades in the vicinity of Wichita where they homesteaded 460 acres of Kansas prairie are recounted in letters written home and published in the Du Quoin Tribune (1871 editions). They describe the sickness prevalent in the area due to poor diet of many who pioneered in the homestead rush and the poor condition of livestock. Someone stole their mules and the Kansas flies swarmed so thickly they could hardly sleep.

After a few months they became discouraged and returned to Du Quoin.

Lucius Smith joined the family in the banking business, the Du Quoin Exchange Bank, in 1873, and became cashier of the bank. He held this office until his father's death in 1908 at which time he succeeded his father as president and held that office for more than twenty years. He was active in the design, planning and construction of the new bank building to replace the original building which had been dragged across the prairie from Du Quoin. This new building was a monument to the main business district of Du Quoin and housed the First Bank and Trust Company until replaced by the present building now located on the southwest corner of Main and Division Streets.

Several years later Lucius Smith undertook another construction endeavor in contemplation of marriage. In 1896 he engaged Charles Voight to build his home at 218 N. Washington Street. The house was designed by New York City architects and utilized several of the fine hardwoods of southern Illinois. It cost about $8,000 and the owner paid cash. Upon completion he married Mary Martha Neely, Oct. 27, 1886.

In the years that followed the marriage five children were born: Juliana Winifred Smith; Helen Raymond Smith; Lucius Skinner Smith, Jr.; Marion Louise Smith (Steel); Carolyn Neely Smith (Quayle).

During the remainder of his life Lucius served his community and church with devotion and leadership. In 1926 he undertook the replacement of his bank building with the present structure which houses the Du Quoin State Bank. The new building was of the finest and most modern in design of the country's smaller bank institutions. The Humes-Deal Company of St. Louis was the contractor and L. D. Lacy Company of St. Louis was the architect.

In 1929 a merger of the two leading banks of Du Quoin was structured by Lucius Smith and Harry Miller. The newly organized business was the First National Bank of Du Quoin. Lucius S. Smith, Sr. was chairman of the board, Harry Miller served as president and Lucius S. Smith, Jr. was elected vice-president and cashier. The following spring, May 23, 1930 Lucius Skinner Smith succumbed after a brief illness, age 82.

Funeral services held at the First Presbyterian Church were conducted by Reverend William M. Maxton. Pallbearers were: R. J. Milligan, J. Ward Blakeslee, Harry Lancaster, A. J. Guerrettaz, Walter J. Forester, Clarence E. Kimmel, Walter W. Naumer and Charles Rogers, Jr. The body was interred at I.O.O.F. cemetery, Du Quoin, Ill.

LUCIUS SKINNER SMITH, JR.

Representing the third generation of the Smith Family to be of service to Du Quoin, Lucius Skinner Smith, Jr. was born Jan. 30, 1896, the only son of L. S. Smith, Sr. and Mary Martha. He was delivered at the family home, 218 N. Washington Street, a home he occupied during most of his life and the scene of his passing 88 years later. He was preceded by two sisters and later enjoyed two younger sisters.

He lived a happy childhood life with his dog King and the many neighborhood children. After grade school and a year of high school in Du Quoin he attended Tome Preparatory School in Baltimore, Md. This was followed by education at the University of Illinois where he joined Phi Delta Theta fraternity. Later he matriculated at the famous Wharton School of Business, University of Pennsylvania.

It was while he was at the Pennsylvania school that he was stricken with a respiratory illness that required him to relocate to western Nebraska and Colorado for recovery. The illness also forbid him the opportunity to serve his country in the armed forces during World War I. This he regretted deeply but the circumstances were unavoidable.

His first venture in North Platte, Nebraska, was to lease and farm 1280 acres adjacent to the University of Nebraska experimental farm. He was successful with a bumper wheat crop. At this time he was operating a brand new Stutz Bearcat roadster and attracted the eye of Georgie Elizabeth Hoxie, the attractive daughter of Frank Gardiner and Harriette (Allen) Hoxie. They were married in North Platte July 28, 1918.

Shortly thereafter Lu, as he was popularly known, joined with his brother-in-law, Walter A. Hoxie, in forming the Smith & Hoxie Ranch near Limon, Co. There they farmed six sections of wheat and beans, introducing dry-farming techniques to that area. Their ventures were quite successful and they acquired the most modern farming machinery of those days.

During these years three children were born to the family: Lucius Skinner Smith, III, born at Boulder, Co.; Mary Elizabeth Smith (Otto), born at Limon, Co.; Frank Hoxie Smith, born at North Platte, Ne.

In the year 1924 Lu's father, L. S. Smith, Sr., the venerable banker, employed him to return to Du Quoin to assist in the family's substantial business interests. Lu Smith relocated to Illinois and soon took up residence at 114 N. Washington Street (now the parking lot of the First Baptist Church). The children enrolled in the local schools.

In 1926 he supervised the construction of the new bank building which still stands at the southwest corner of Main and Division Streets. Lu Smith selected the contractor, architect, the building materials, including the beautiful Bedford granite brought from quarries in Indiana, and the wonderful brass fittings and grill work. No town of comparable size in all of America could boast of a finer bank building in its community and today it complements the Brookings building in anchoring the heart of downtown Du Quoin. His father having passed away in the spring of 1932, Lu Smith undertook the completion of the merger of the Smith family bank and the Du Quoin National Bank. The Smith family had controlled 100% interest of the First Bank and Trust Company and now controlled 82% interest of the newly merged bank.

It was during these years that Lu Smith enjoyed his two favorite recreational pastimes, golfing and yachting. He played an excellent game of golf having been instructed in his youth at Tome and he owned a beautiful 40 foot cabin cruiser which he maintained at a St. Louis marina and aboard which his family enjoyed summer vacations traveling the Mississippi and Illinois rivers.

The bank prospered until 1934 when it closed with the bank holiday proclaimed by President Roosevelt. The bank being solvent and indeed one of the strongest in Southern Illinois was expected to reopen immediately following the closing. This was not the case however. As time passed it was evident that political mischief was being practiced by the federal bank examiners from St. Louis, appointed by the politicians newly swept into office and bent upon redistributing the nation's wealth. The bank was permanently closed and a receiver, Mr. Albert Ring, was sent to Du Quoin to liquidate its assets through forced sales.

Under these hard conditions Lu Smith and Harry Miller struggled frantically to reopen or reorganize the bank. They failed and shortly thereafter Mr. Miller died of heart failure. Lu Smith stood by helplessly and watched the bank building sell at auction to the present owners at less than the cost of the vault alone. In spite of the horrid conditions under which Albert Ring forced all assets of the bank upon the market the bank ultimately paid every nickel it owed to every depositor and a final dividend. The bank's management was vindicated and proof of the bank's solvency was apparent but the damage rendered by the inept bureaucrats of Roosevelt's new regime was irreversible.

Lu Smith had in the meantime acquired the controlling interest of the Du Quoin Evening Call. He purchased the assets of the Du Quoin Daily News and closed his only competitor. Several of his bank employees joined the staff of the newspaper and it slowly began to prosper. He introduced new modern machinery and equipment to the mechanical department and produced a fine, readable product.

From the year 1936 until his death Lu Smith published a daily newspaper for Du Quoin and surrounding communities without missing a single issue. His reputation as a publisher grew and he gained the respect of newsmen throughout the nation. He served as president of the Inland Press Association and was active in several other journalistic organizations. He was recognized as an outstanding press photographer and his work won many acclaims.

Among the several awards bestowed upon Lucius Skinner Smith by his community and state and federal organizations some of the most notable are:

1972 Distinguished Citizens Award presented by the Du Quoin Business Association in recognition of his journalistic contributions to the community.

A handsome brass engraved plaque awarded to him by the Du Quoin State Fair, Inc. and the Perry Co. Shrine Club in recognition of his creation of the annual Hambletonian Edition of the Du Quoin Evening Call during the years of racing that famous event in Du Quoin.

A handsome plaque presented by the Illinois Hospital and Health Service in recognition of his thirty years of service on the Board of Directors of the Illinois Blue Cross Association (Rockford, Illinois Plan).

A man of immense personal drive and energy he developed a newspaper staff that is still active today and who attest to his great abilities. On Mar. 13, 1984 he died in the home in which he was born after suffering the ravages of age. He was 88 years old. Memorial services were held at the First Presbyterian Church. His son, Frank Hoxie introduced the following speakers at the service: Mayor Robert Armstrong, A. T. Atwood, John Croessman, Jane Minton and Daniel W. Smith. The obituary was published the day of his death in the Du Quoin Evening Call and his remains were cremated, the ashes being contained in a handsome urn at the home of the family and will ultimately be interred at I.O.O.F. Cemetery in Du Quoin.

MARY MARTHA (NEELY) SMITH

Mary Martha Neeley was a young lady of 25 when she entered into her marriage to Lucius S. Smith Oct. 27, 1886 in North Platte, Ne. Mattie, as she was affectionately called, was visiting relatives in the west at that time of her life. She had been born on Feb. 12, 1861 at Hamlettsburg, Pope Co., Il., the youngest child of Benager and Mary Ann (Moore) Neely. Her mother, Mary Ann was the widow of A. H. Sisk before marriage to Benager Neely a grandson of early settlers of Virginia.

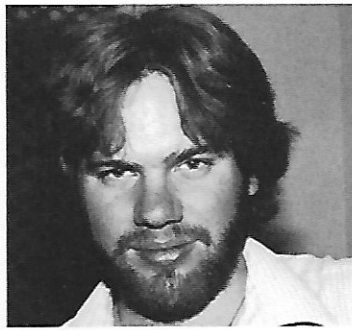

The Neely family migrated into southern Illinois at Shawneetown and explored to the central part of the state. They found the prairie grass grew so tall that a man on horseback was hardly visible at a little distance. These explorers felt the need of timber in the making of a home in the wilderness and returned from the plains to the wooded area of the banks of the Ohio and there settled in Pope Co.

Mattie's father died when she was three and her mother moved the family to a comfortable home in Metropolis. At age six she lost her mother and her older sister, Caroline, took charge of the family. It was at this time that an uncle, Captain Kelly, sold his home in St. Louis and purchased a home in Du Quoin near the northwest corner of Washington and North Streets. (The house which has since been razed was situated on land bordering the west boundary of the homes presently owned by the Weinberg and Morris families on North Washington Street.)

The Neely children relocated to the Du Quoin home and were cared for by a loving aunt and uncle. Mattie attended the local schools until she departed for college at the Female Academy (now Rockford College) in Rockford, Illinois. After college she traveled a bit, visiting family members and was living with her older sister Carrie (Caroline) and husband Henry Plant at their ranch in North Platte, Ne., at the time of her marriage. A new generation of the Smith family was then born at the family home on North Washington Street (see biography of Lucius Skinner Smith, Sr.).

Mattie was a very busy housewife with raising her five children, attending to her many church responsibilities and her varied hobbies. She was a respectable artist, using pencil and oils. In spite of these activities she did a great deal of traveling considering conditions in those times. She took the children with her on her many sojourns and visited San Diego and Covina, Ca., Bozeman, Mont., North Platte, Ne., with several summer vacations on the shores of Lake Michigan and Winona Lake, In. There were other visits to Los Angeles, Yellowstone National Park, and to San Francisco just after the great earthquake and fire which nearly destroyed that city.

It was a few years after the death of her husband that she relocated to the suburbs of New York City. Dec. 4, 1953 she died in the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Marion and Rowe S. Steel, and her daughter Carolyn S. Quayle, all then residing in Bronxville, N.Y. She was 93 years of age.

ROY A. SMITH, JR.

Roy Allen Smith, Jr. was born Jan. 21, 1963, is the second child and only son of Roy, Sr. and Carolyn Smith. Roy's sister, Christi, is married to Doug Mathis and lives in Pinckneyville with her husband and sons Blayne and Shyler. Roy's grandparents, Tom and Edna Davison, live in Du Quoin. Roy's dad's parents, Herbert and Lillian Smith of Old Du Quoin are deceased. Roy has several aunts and uncles living in Perry Co.

Except for a brief period of his life when he lived in Michigan, Roy has lived in Perry Co. all of his life, attending elementary and high school in Du Quoin and John A. Logan College in Carterville. In 1984, he graduated from Southern Illinois U. at Carbondale with an Associate's Degree in Electronics Technology.

Recently he moved to the Centralia area where he now resides. His present employment is with Woolford-Marsh Appliance Company with stores in Centralia and Salem. He is responsible for the maintenance and repair of VCR's, TV's, and microwave ovens which are serviced through their stores.

He enjoys hunting, fishing and physical conditioning. He belongs to a racquet ball club in Centralia where he regularly works out and lifts weights at home and frequently jogs. He participated in track and football in high school and one of the high points in athletics occurred when the mile relay team (of which Roy was a member in his junior year) placed 6th in the state meet.

Two things Roy always wanted while growing up were a water bed and a boa constrictor. After getting out on his own, these were the first two purchases of any consequence which he made. Roy's pet boa (Sceva) is approximately five feet in length and nearly four inches in diameter. Sceva is quite a conversation piece when Roy is in public with him wrapped around his neck. — Submitted by Roy A. Smith, Jr.

WILLIAM EUGENE SMITH

The Smith family roots can be traced to South Carolina starting with William Smith and wife Eliza both Scot-Irish. They moved to McLean Co., Ky. where their son, Willis Smith, was born and married (Phoebe Taylor dau. of Henry Taylor an Irish farmer of Ky.) In 1839 Willis served as Justice of the Peace in Pinckneyville. His son, William Henry Smith, born in Ky. was about four years old when his parents moved to Perry Co. He married his life long companion, Margaret Juliet Davis, in 1857, dau. of Wm. Davis and Sarah Muench born in West Virginia of German and Welsh descendants. Eleven children graced this union. William Henry served as County Commissioner, Mayor 2 years, Deacon of Oak Grove Church. He also owned and operated the first farm implement store in the area located at 9 N. Walnut and lived at 11 N. Walnut in Pinckneyville.

Their son, Charles Edgar Smith, worked as a coal miner and was a partner in his fathers implement business. He married Mary Elizabeth Stein (German) dau. of F. E. Stein and Wilhelmine Bayer. Charles and Mary were blessed with three children Wm. Eugene, Harry Edward, Irene (Boquillon).

William Eugene, the oldest, was an electrician. He married Clara Bernice Dry on Mar. 4, 1925. Clara was the dau. of Roxolis Dry and Anna Marie Bounert. Wm. showed a great interest in electricity even as a young boy. He wired a bell from the family home to the implement shop to save his grandmother from having to run back and forth when the phone rang. Later he wired the electricity in the family home making it one of the first in the city to have electric. Another of his achievements was to build the first Television Set in Pinckneyville located in Everret Rice's Tavern.

William and Clara had six children; Ruby Lee married John J. Kellerman who had one son, Charles. Vincent m. Kimberly J. Huth. John J. Jr. Deceased, 1953. Doris Gene m. Clarence Carl Chapman and had one son, Samuel Carl Chapman. Charles Olis m. Barbara Atwell and had five

SNYDER-MUELLER

Charles R. Snyder was born (1896) in Pittsford, N.Y., the eldest son of Charles F. and Julia (Lord) Snyder. He served in the army during World War I. After working in a Cambria, Il. coal mine, he came to Pinckneyville when the Binkley Coal Co. started its Pyramid Mine. He was an oiler on a shovel. He lived at the Windsor Motel (corner Mill & Parker Sts.), owned and operated by E. W. Fisher. Peacock's restaurant was next door. That area of town was commonly called "the levee" and it included the Illinois Central Depot and the American Express office. Trains were numerous, for practically everything was shipped by rail-freight, express, and mail. It was a booming and busy part of Pinckneyville.

Mary Mueller, daughter of Fred and Josephine Mueller of De Soto, Il., worked in the office of Pinckneyville Milling Co., owned and operated by the Mueller's friends, Henry Zacher and his three sons. Mary's sister Edna was married to Harry Zacher, the eldest Zacher son.

Charles Snyder and Mary Mueller were married (1934). Mary wanted to be a nurse, but due to the "depression" years, further formal education was out of the question. Being an avid reader, she studied nursing at home, took Red Cross nursing courses and a course from the Chicago School of Nursing. She volunteered to work at the Hiller Hospital for the experience and without pay. Finally, Mary went to work for Dr. J. S. Templeton in his office. The doctor was a kind man, an excellent teacher, and a great humanitarian. Mary went to Chicago, took the state board, and received her practical nurse license (LPN).

Charles R. Snyder

Both Charles and Mary were members of St. Paul United Church of Christ.

Charles loved electric trains. And airplanes. He had electric trains everywhere and was a "model railroader" long before the hobby was popular. He was also an aviation enthusiast, took flying lessons at the old Du Quoin airport, and received his private pilots license in 1945. He took many people — young and old — for their first airplane ride.

In 1948 a niece, Helen Van Voorhis, from Pittsford, N.Y., came to live with the Snyders. She attended P.C.H.S. and later Deaconess School of Nursing where she graduated. She was always a great source of pleasure to them. (Still is—to Mary). Helen married William E. Timpner in 1954.

Charles Snyder died on Palm Sunday, Apr. 11, 1965. He was buried in Sunset Memorial Park, Du Quoin. After Charles' death, Mary worked as Ward Clerk at the Pinckneyville Community Hospital, for 10 years, and is now retired. — Submitted by Mary Snyder

STANLEY-MOSS

On a farm in Little Wabash bottoms near Carmi, George Washington Stanley was born Sept. 14, 1856. He was a son of a farmer and cooper, Steve Stanley, but Steve is a mystery. G. W. rarely talked about his father.

In 1886 G. W. married Mary Luretta (Molly) Moss.

Part Irish, part Cherokee, part English, eleven years younger than her husband, Molly was born in Franklin Co., Aug. 21, 1867, but the Mosses came from East Tennessee. She said that her father lived on top of Cumberland Mountain, her mother lived in the valley, and they got together on the hillside.

There was opposition to G. W.'s marriage to a Tennessee hillbilly but Molly was the girl he wanted and Molly was the girl he married.

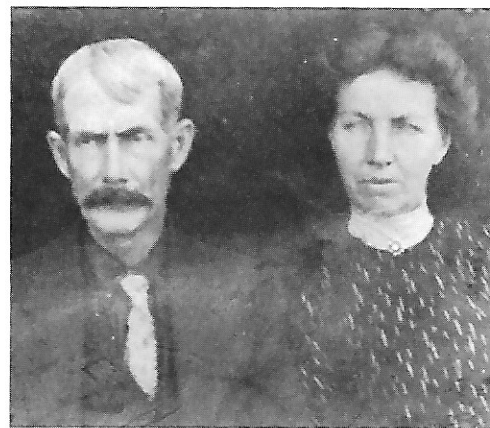

Molly's friends asked her, "How many children will you have?" "I want a long table," she said, "with George at one end, me at the other, six boys on one side, six girls on the other."

She didn't make it; she only had eleven. Six of her children outlived her; one, Amanda, died at twenty-three; the other four died in childhood.

Of those who grew up, these were born in White Co.: Ella Mae (Phillips, Prenon), born May 5, 1887 (died Sept. 26, 1956).

Martin Edward (Ed), born Dec. 30, 1888 (died May 4, 1964). Ed was the father of Cliff.

Matilda Jane (Neville), born Sept. 10, 1891 (died Apr. 9, 1978).

George and Mary Stanley

These were born at Macedonia in Franklin Co.; Robert Earl, (Oct. 30, 1894-Aug. 16, 1974); Amanda Belle (Webb), (June 26, 1898-Apr. 13, 1922); Nellie Bligh (Satterfield), (Nov. 1, 1900-Apr. 27, 1980). George, the only one still alive, was born at Du Quoin, Apr. 7, 1907.

In 1903 G. W. and his family lived at Macedonia, and some of Molly's hillbilly kinfolk lived there too. A rumor came into town about a new town somewhere past Pinckneyville on the road to St. Louis. So Stanley hitched up the team, took his eldest son, Ed, on the wagon and went looking for a new town to work in. They got as far as Du Quoin; nobody there had heard of a new town but there was plenty of work in Du Quoin. So they stopped and went to work and sent for the family, built a log cabin east of town — but the Mosses stayed in Franklin Co. and became teachers.

G. W. built a house in Du Quoin. He bought half a dozen lots on Ballentine Ave. and built a two-room frame house, a smokehouse, a barn, a chickenhouse and an outhouse.

He planted a small orchard and a grape arbor, grew the finest hotbed plants in town and put the rest of his lots in vegetables for his table. He had a horse and a hack with which he hauled trash. At one time he was janitor of the Wheatley School.

G. W.'s favorite child was Amanda. When she joined a Pentecostal Church he said, "If it's good enough for Mandy, it's good enough for me." He and Molly joined the church which had no building to worship in. They joined the church and they joined in the building of a church — solicited funds and material, labored with their hands. They built themselves into the good will and respect of the membership. the church has been expanded since but still stands on Leonard at Main.

Ed was heard to say, "My dad was an old man as long as I knew him." In the spring of 1941 G. W. slipped on glazed ice and broke his hip. He died on June 25 at the age of eighty-four. Molly wanted to finish out her life in the two-room house that was home; when vandals burned down the barn she changed her mind and went to live with her daughter and son-in-law, Nellie and Raymond Sutterfield. She died Mar. 25, 1955, at the age of eighty-seven. One hundred seven of her descendants outlived her. — Submitted by Cliff Stanley

STANLEY-SHORT

Lyle Dean Stanley (July 4, 1922), was the only son of Robert Earl Stanley and Lillian Coulter Stanley. He had five sisters, Geneva, Beulah, Ruth, Inez, and Dottie. They lived in the Paradise community and later moved to St. Johns.

Lyle attended St. John's Grade School and Du Quoin Township High School in Du Quoin. Lyle really believed Uncle Sam needed him, so he quit high school before graduating and enlisted in the Army. He spent 23 months in Iceland and then was sent to Europe to help win World War II, was a prisoner of war in Germany - but finally came home safe and sound in the summer of 1945. A few months after his discharge from the Army, he met Gladys Short.

Gladys (July 28, 1922), was the daughter of George Short and Georgia Miller Short. She had two brothers, Lester and Loren, and one sister, Lois (Short) Hirsch. All four children were born and reared in the Shakerag community.

Gladys attended the Shakerag Grade School and Du Quoin Township High School in Du Quoin. Since there was not a rural school bus - the roads were too muddy for a bus had there been one - Gladys boarded in Du Quoin during the week.

She worked as a telephone operator in Du Quoin for six years. Then she met Lyle. They were married July 25, 1946, at the Methodist Parsonage on East Main Street in Du Quoin by Reverend Sweetzer. The first ballpoint pen Gladys ever used was the one she used to sign her wedding certificate.

Lyle and Gladys lived in St. Johns a few years and later moved to the Paradise community.

They have four children:

Linda Ann (May 18, 1947), married Marvin Cowley. They have four sons: Kevin, Bradley, Aaron, and Jonathan.

Darla Lee (Feb. 11, 1951), married Stephen Iubelt. They have one son, Michael. Steve has a son, Frank, and a daughter, Kerry, from a previous marriage.

Jill Elaine (Sept. 8, 1954), married Kenneth DeMent. They have one daughter, Jennifer Scotty Lyle (June 5, 1959), married Cindy Pursell. They have three children: Matthew, Carrie Lou, and Joshua.

Lyle and Gladys, their children, and families have been active and interested in many things - their churches, auctions, antiques, nursing homes, airplanes, trees, landscaping, police work, trucking, plumbing, picnicking, swimming, music - and the list goes on.

They thank the Lord Jesus for His love and watch care over them through all the years. —

Edward's fifth marriage in 1901 was to Sophia Kraft, whose family resided in Pinckneyville. In 1903 Julius married Wilhelminna Walthers. To this union were born five surviving children. In 1907 Edward's son Sigmund died from an accident while working for the railroad. One by one his children evidently not wanting to live the farm life all set out for lives of their own. Phillip, Edward Jr. and Emma all moved to St. Louis. Julius stayed in the Pinckneyville area until after his father's death, then moved to East St. Louis. Augusta and Louise married and lived in Tilden until their deaths. His son Ernst purchased a farm outside of Marissa.

Edward was a member and trustee of St. Pauls U.C.C. for many years. At the time of his death he was residing with the Kraft family in Pinckneyville with his wife Sophia.

The Stein burial plot is at the Galum Cemetery. Although there are still distant relatives still residing in Pinckneyville, his direct descendants are scattered throughout this country, living in the states of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, S. Carolina, Washington State, Missouri and Illinois.

His name is still carried on. — Submitted by James L. Stein (great-grandson)

Both born and raised in French Lick, In., Orange Co. They came to Du Quoin in 1898, as newlyweds.

She was raised in and around the Du Quoin area, attending the grade schools. In 1939 her parents moved to a farm in the Shakerag district, where she attended a one room school with all classes being taught by one teacher. Two of them being Vera and Ruby Keith, wife and daughter of the late Frank Keith (Perry Co. clerk). She has many pleasant memories of this time. Having two miles to walk to school, one cool fall day her mother decided to hitch the old mare up to the buggy and take brother Arthur, a few neighbor children and herself to school. It was over hills and through pastures. As mother had never hitched up a buggy before the harness was on all wrong. Every time they went down a hill the poor mare got hit in the rear. Laughter rang across the countryside.

She graduated DTHS in 1946, days of World War II, when there was ration stamps for sugar and gas, and she took her weekly allowance of 25¢ to purchase war stamps for defense.

Two months before graduation, Easter Sunday, Apr. 21, she married Robert Louis Struck. The ceremony was performed in the old Methodist parsonage by Rev. O. H. Sweitzer. Attendants were her brother Arthur and aunt Patricia Moore. Robert was serving in the army. The son of Otto Louis and Maude Eleanor (Miller) Struck. They lived on a farm southwest of Du Quoin.

She is presently employed as loan officer for the USA Financial Services, Inc. Robert is married to the former Sheila Pulke of Pinckneyville, and lives on a farm west of Tamaroa, Ill. with their two sons, Timothy Shane (b. 5-1-1971) and Richard James (b. 12-2-1972). He is employed at the Peabody, Freeburg mine. He also engages in raising hogs.

In 1963 she went to work for the Du Quoin Packing Co. (Blue Bell). She was divorced in 1968.

On Mar. 7, 1970 she married Gary Dale Rowan in the St. John Evangelical church, with Rev. Fred Feiker performing the double ring ceremony. Attending them were his half-sister Mary Lou (Rowan) and Bruce Jones.

Gary was born on Aug. 4, 1942 in Du Quoin. He is the only child of Cecil Orlanda Rowan of Makanda, Ill. (3-1-1904-1971) and Florence (Kimbrell) Gilliam of Walker Co. Alabama. (b. 5-14-1916). His father was a barber and mother was a seamstress for the Forrest Manufacturing Co. until retirement.

His grandparents were McFarland and Ada (Chadwich) Rowan, of Makanda, Ill. His great-great grandfather was Robert Rowan, who came here from Ireland (b. 1800-1879). All are buried in the Rowan cemetery in Makanda. His maternal grandparents were Boyd Kimbrell (1890-1950) and Susie Thompson (1892-1975) of Alabama.

He was reared in Du Quoin, attending J. B. Ward, and graduating from DHS in 1960. He went to work for the Du Quoin Packing Co. until 1971. He is presently employed by the Peabody Coal Co. at Marissa, as a mobile equipment operator.

In 1974 Phyllis left the packing co. to resume her duties as a housewife. They reside in the family home on E. Main St., which they remodeled. It was purchased from the Mullins family in 1957.

They both enjoy traveling across country on their H.D. Dresser motorcycle. She also likes playing the piano, organ, reading, gardening, and he likes leather work and tending his large yard. — Submitted by Phyllis Rowan

SUCHOMSKI

The original settler in north Perry Co., of a now five generation family was Mathius Suchomski. Mr. Suchomski immigrated to the United States in the late 1860's at the age of about twenty. He was born and raised in a disputed border area of Poland and Germany. A short review of Poland's history shows that the country's borders changed many times between 1795 and 1946. At the time of Mathius's immigration, Germany had gained control of his home area and he was conscripted to serve in the Germany army. He eventually decided to leave his home area and deserted the army to come to the United States. Supposedly his brother settled in Ohio.

Typical of most immigrants, Mathius Suchomski arrived in the United States with little to his name but hopes and ambitions to do better in the New World. He acquired forty acres of land along the Beaucoup creek and actually lived in a cave at first. He eventually was joined by his fiancée Anna, who later became his wife. Together they worked and farmed the land in township 4-2 of Perry Co. near Todd's Mill. Later they acquired the John Hutching's homestead which is still in the Suchomski family. Mathius and Anna had eight children, most of whom remained in the Perry-Washington Co. area throughout their lives. Mathius Suchomski died in 1936 at the age of 88. Both he and Anna Suchomski are buried in St. Mary Magdalen's Cemetery at Todd's Mill.

Mathius's two surviving sons continued to reside on the Todd's Mill area throughout their lives. John, the eldest son was born in 1878 and married Stella Lukasik. Michael, the youngest son was born in 1893 and married Mary Werniewski. Both sons were involved in commerce and farming. John ran a blacksmith shop and general store until the "Great Depression" and Mike ran a saw mill and threshing machine unit. John and Stella had four children. Their eldest son, Louis, was born in 1911, and he would eventually follow his father's footsteps by operating a business in the local community. Both John and Stella died in the early 1950's and are buried in St. Mary Magdalen's Cemetery in Todd's Mill.

Mike and Mary had six children. Their middle son, David, and family now reside on the original family farm. He continues to farm and operates the sawmill. (Mike is deceased and is buried in St. Mary Magdalen's Cemetery.) Mary resides with her children.

John's son, Louis started his business in 1934 in one room of a two-room house that he shared with his new wife, Hattie Ochap. With a car that had been converted to a truck, Louis bought cream and hauled it to a creamery in Nashville. Later he expanded his trucking business by hauling livestock to St. Louis and milk to Carbondale. His mercantile business grew to include groceries, clothing and hardware. Pre World War II, he acquired a Hudson dealership and operated a garage. In the early 1950's, Louis entered into the tavern business and later the farm machinery and farming businesses. Louis and Hattie have five sons and a daughter. Both the grocery and package liquor store and farm machinery business are still in operation today. The farm machinery business is located on Highway 127 between Pinckneyville and Nashville and is operated by Louis's son Sylvester and Sylvester's son Jeff. Louis and Hattie's other children live in Illinois or nearby states. Three of their sons served as commissioned officers in the United States Armed Forces. Loyalty to the democratic system and freedom in the United States remains strong in this Polish immigrant family.

Five generations of Mathius Suchomski and his descendants have lived and worked and continue to live and work in north Perry Co. North Perry Co. as joined by contiguous areas of Washington and Jefferson counties remains a stronghold of Polish-German heritage in Southern Illinois. — Submitted by Larry Suchomski and Sandra Suchomski, great-grandson and great-great-granddaughter of Mathius Suchomski, residents of Knoxville and Johnson City, Tn.

in the Lower Holts School area near Denny Railroad Station in Perry Co. They were still living there at the time of Herschel's death in 1971.

Herschel did a number of things to earn a living for his family including farm work, dairy work for Huskey's Dairy in Pinckneyville, and coal mining. He worked at the Conant Mine and at the #5 Mine near Pinckneyville, both underground mines. While at the #5 mine he earned his certificate for mine inspector and mine manager and held both of these positions at the mine for a period of time. He went to work for Truax Traer Coal Company (now Consol #2 Mine) in 1950 and continued there until his health forced him to retire in 1967.

He was of the Baptist Faith and was ordained by the Nine Mile Baptist Church, Tamaroa, Il. as a deacon and was a Sunday School teacher for many years. Even through difficulties his faith was strong. He could say with the Apostle Paul, "I have learned in whatsoever state I am therewith to be content" (Phillipians 4:11).

His interest in young people was always evident. He helped with 4-H clubs and organized a baseball team in the community for the young men. A ball diamond was constructed on his farm for their use.

Inez Mae (Bird) Tanner was the daughter of Jacob C. Bird (12-4-1888)-(8-26-1968) and Gertrude Mae (Wolfe) Bird (3-5-1895)-(11-4-1977). She has always diligently worked to help provide a comfortable home for her family by housekeeping, gardening, canning, quilting, and other handiwork. She still enjoys doing all these things at her home in Pinckneyville where she moved in 1976. —

TELKEMEYER-KUTEMANN

Christian Friedrich Telkemeyer born May 18, 1862, in Lubbecke, Germany, and Karoline Wilhelmmina Kutemann, born May 15, 1871, in Isenstern, Germany, came to America by boat in late fall of 1895.

When they arrived at New York they were met by an Immigration Official who took care of their luggage, tickets, etc. In the immigration house devotions were held each morning and evening with all the immigrants participating. After 4½ days they left by train via Chicago to St. Louis.

On the first day of their trip they saw so many rocks, stones, crags and much barren land they thought they would turn back. But on the second day they began to see a nicer area - vegetable and fruit gardens, two-story houses built of wood and nicely painted, and nice barns. This began to change their minds.

From St. Louis they came to Du Quoin where Karl Drumann met and brought them by wagon to his home north of Sunfield, Il. They lived with the Drumanns until the summer of 1896.

On Aug. 6, 1896, they were married at St. Johannes Evangelischen Kirche in Du Quoin. They bought a small farm with a new 3-room house, barn, and outbuildings across the road, from Drumanns where they lived most of their life.

The Telkemeyers were prompted to settle in this area because of German families who had already settled near. (The Krones, Daubendiecks, and Drumanns). The Illinois Central Railroad lay just 1/4 mile west of their farm. This was very important in their lives because Sunfield, just 10 minutes away, had a station where they could board a train to Du Quoin, ship farm products, etc.

On July 18, 1897, a baby girl, Marie, was born. Dec. 21, 1898, brought another baby girl, Wilhelmmina. As these two girls grew up they helped to do the farming. Anna was born Feb. 11, 1900, and Lena was born Jan. 28, 1901. It was later the duty of these two girls to help with the housework. Next was the arrival of a boy, William, born Mar. 5, 1903, and then another boy, Henry, born Jan. 12, 1905.

All six of the children were christened as babies and later confirmed in the St. Johannes Church in Du Quoin. They all attended the Roots School which is now a historical landmark at the Ibendahl home near Tamaroa.

Likewise they each married a Perry Co. resident. Marie married George H. Keiner on July 9, 1916. George is deceased. Minnie married Herman Walters on June 12, 1924. Both are deceased. Anna married Philip Kunkel Sept. 7, 1919. Philip is deceased. Lena married Arthur Morgenstern Sept. 7, 1921. Lena died after a short illness at the age of 25 years. William married Wilma Eator July 16, 1927. Both are deceased. Henry married Hazel Heape Apr. 28, 1934. They now live at Geneseo, Il.

The entire family worked hard on their farm. They also raised turkeys.

As money became available they bought parcels of land until they had acquired 275 acres. He died at the age of 90 in July, 1952 and she died at the age of 90 in Dec. 1961. Interment for the couple was in Sunset Memorial Park.

TEMPLETON-GELTZ

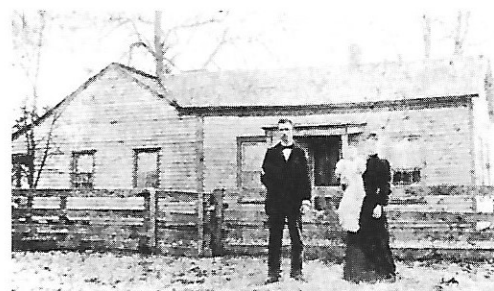

John Flavel Templeton (1869-1953), the third child and second son of Rev. William Harris Templeton (1824-1910) and Margaret Eliza Craig (1841-1913), was born in a log cabin across the road from Galum Church. His father was a Presbyterian Circuit Rider and Galum minister who came to Illinois in 1859.

John Flavel's mother was the daughter of John M. Craig (1811-1891) and Jennet C. Wilson (1812-1890). The Craig's came to Perry Co. from Princeton, Ky., in 1851. They purchased an 80 acre homestead by a Land Grant Deed from the U.S. Government when Millard Fillmore was president. John Flavel bought the Craig homestead from his grandfather Craig in 1890.

On Oct. 13, 1893, John Flavel married Emma Geltz (1868-1948) at the Timpner home. They were married by John Flavel's father, Rev. William Templeton.

Emma's father was John Geltz (1842-1870) and her mother was Elizabeth Timpner (1842-1937). Elizabeth came to America in 1851 from Zurich, Switzerland, and to Perry Co. in 1864.

After the wedding, Emma and John went to live in the Craig log cabin that they had remodeled.

John, Ruth and Emma Templeton (1895)

They added the three room cabin built by his Uncle William A. Craig (1843-1920) after he was discharged from the Private Army, Company D13 of the Civil War. He was the son of John M. Craig and Jennet C. Wilson Craig. In 1913, the original two room cabin was replaced by a two story, five room addition. In the early 1930's, the eight-room home was modernized. Electricity, central heating, plumbing, and a bath room were installed. In this home, John and Emma's six children grew up. They are: Ruth Elizabeth (1896-1974); William Geltz (1898-1986); Floride Eliza, 1901; Mae Jean (1903-1934); John Craig, 1904; and Clara Emma, 1906.

John Flavel Templeton was a teacher, progressive farmer, rural mail carrier for fifteen years, a Presbyterian Elder, served on the Brick School Board, and was president of the Pinckneyville High School Board.

Emma Geltz Templeton lived with zest the life of a farm wife. She was a good mother, expert seamstress, good housekeeper, gardener, and an excellent cook. She helped build for a better future.

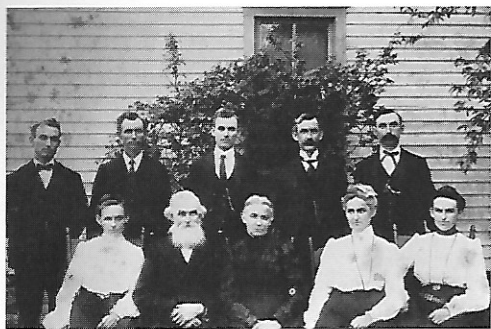

They increased their farmland to 260 acres and paid all debt when they sold wheat during World War I for $2.50 a bushel.

TEMPLETON-HUTTON

William Craig Templeton, the eldest child of the Rev. William Harris Templeton and Margaret Eliza (Craig) Templeton, was born on Aug. 15, 1863. His early years were spent in the Galum countryside near Pinckneyville, Ill., where his father was pastor of the Presbyterian Church. After attending Perry Co. public schools, he received the Bachelor of Arts degree from Park College (Parkville, Mo.); the Master of Arts degree from Princeton University (where he also received his theological training), and the Ph.D. from McKendree College. He was awarded an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree by Park College, on whose board of directors he served for thirty-five years.

As a young man, Dr. Templeton carried ties for the Illinois Central Railroad for $1.00 a day, and during his tenure at Park College, he once (on a dare) swam the Missouri River at floodtide!

In 1892, William Craig Templeton was married to Helen Cordelia Hutton of New Albany, Ind. Together the couple served nine pastorates in Kansas and two in Missouri. To their marriage were born three children: William Hutton Templeton (b. Apr. 13, 1894; d. Apr. 15, 1894); Sarah Margaret Templeton (b. July 24, 1895; d. Jan. 8, 1978), and Samuel Hart Templeton (b. Sept. 9, 1902; d. May 22, 1983).

F: Margaret and Rev. William Harris, Margaret E., Jean and Emma Templeton. B: Robert, John, Thomas, William C. and James S. Templeton

In addition to his pastoral duties, Dr. Templeton worked as Field Secretary for Emporia and Park Colleges (1936-1938) and served as moderator of the Synods of both Missouri and Kansas and President of the Westminster Foundation of Kansas. He was elected Synodical Superintendent for the state of Texas and also for the state of Florida, but he preferred to remain in pastoral work.

Dr. Templeton loved people and found his greatest pleasure in helping them, not only spiritually, but also in practical matters. He was a fighter for the "underdog" as well as being a champion of animals' rights (once snatching the whip from the hand of a man who was beating his horse). He once took on the Ku Klux Klan in a parishioner's field near Winfield, Ks; was threatened by the Klansmen, and remaining firm in his opposition, lived on to prove that he indeed "would be there when they were gone"!

Dr. Templeton tried to retire several times but was called back to travel for a Presbyterian college or to pastor a church. At age eighty-two, he was still serving two Kansas churches, Effingham and Lancaster, when he died at noon on Palm Sunday, Apr. 14, 1946.

His survivors are his only grandchild, Margaret Templeton (Davis) Kew, and two great-grandsons, James Austin Kew and Craig William Kew, all of Atchison, Ks.

TEMPLETON-MALAN

Thomas Long Templeton and Lenore Adeline Malan were married in the country home of the bride's parents south of Pinckneyville on Aug. 22, 1899. The groom's brother, Reverend William C. Templeton, performed the ceremony. Lenore, born Dec. 12, 1873, was the elder daughter of Louis Malan (1842-1914) and Helena DeMoulin (1855-1908) who moved with their family to Perry Co. in 1893. Louis Malan, a French Huguenot, had settled originally in Madison Co., Ill. in 1858 when he arrived from the French-Italian Alps region. Tom, son of the Reverend William Harris Templeton and Eliza Craig, was born May 23, 1875. Tom and Lenore had two children, Helena Templeton Jones and Thomas Louis Templeton.

Shortly after their marriage Tom and Lenore began housekeeping in a large white frame home located on their farm one mile south of Pinckneyville. (The site is now owned by Ed Pursell). They remained until Aug. of 1920, when they moved temporarily to what was known as the "Templeton" house on the southeast corner of Mill and St. Louis Streets in Pinckneyville. In May of 1922, the family returned to their home in the country and remained until the fall of 1927 when they moved back to town to live with Lenore's sister, Eunice Malan, at 303 St. Louis Street. In Apr. of 1932, the family's farm house was destroyed by fire. The following summer Tom had a new brick house built 1/4 mile east of the original homestead on Illinois route 127. Tom and Lenore lived there continuously for the next 33 years.

Lenore, Tom, Louis, Helena Templeton. The original farm house of Tom and Lenore was destroyed by fire in 1932.

Tom enjoyed two careers, divided according to the seasons. He taught school in the fall and winter and he farmed in spring and summer. Country school terms generally ended in mid-Apr. so that students were available to work on their family's farm. Tom taught in many Perry Co. one-room schools, including Nation, Bigham, Winkle, St. John, Walkenhorst, Kimsey, Brick, and Lower Holts. He either walked to and from school each day, rode horseback, took the train, or in later years, when the roads were passable, drove his Model-T Ford. One year he taught in Washington Co. and lived there during the week since in those days, such a distance was too far for daily commuting. Tom retired from teaching in 1932.

Tom and Lenore were members of the Presbyterian Church where he served as elder for over 50 years. For more than 45 years he held the offices of director and secretary of the Pinckneyville Mutual County Fire Insurance Company. He was an officer in the Perry Co. Horse and Mule Anti-Theft Association and also helped organize the local Farmers' Union. As a couple, Tom and Lenore worked to establish and promote the Pinckneyville Community High School District, the Rural Fire Protection District, the Community Hospital District, and the Farm and Home Bureaus.

After 66 years of marriage, Lenore and Tom both died in 1965, he in Apr. and she in Nov.. They are buried in Galum Cemetery. Refer to Thomas Louis Templeton and Helena Templeton.

TEMPLETON-TALBERT

Thomas Louis Templeton and Myrtle Eleanor Talbert were married June 19, 1938, at her parents' home near Wayne City, Il. Louis, as he is known, is the son of Thomas Long Templeton (1875-1965) and Lenore Adeline Malan (1873-1965). Louis was born Sept. 7, 1912, on the family farm south of Pinckneyville where he and Myrtle now live. Myrtle was born near Wayne City on Jan. 8, 1915, to Joseph Campbell Talbert and Mamie Yates.

Myrtle is a graduate of SIU-C and began her teaching career in a country school in Wayne Co., Il. Louis also attended SIU-C (1930-32) but finished his degree in June, 1934 at the University of Illinois in Champaign-Urbana. Louis and Myrtle also earned Master's degrees: his from the U of I in 1944, and hers from SIU-C in 1956. After graduation, Louis worked for one year in the Perry Co. office of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission, and in Sept. of 1935 he was hired to teach in Cobden High School. Myrtle joined the faculty the following Feb., but their marriage 2½ years later forced her into temporary "retirement" since married women were not then permitted to teach. Louis and Myrtle began their married life in Barry, Il., where Louis taught vocational agriculture. In 1939 they moved to Pinckneyville where he spent the following 34 years teaching in the high school. In 1944, Myrtle resumed her career, first at the Pinckneyville grade school and later at the high school where she was the librarian and also taught Latin until her retirement in 1980.

Louis and Myrtle have always been active in the church and community. Both are ordained elders in the Presbyterian Church, now located on the northeast corner of the family farm on land given by the family to the church. Louis has sung in the choir and taught Sunday School there for many years. Myrtle has served as President of the Pinckneyville Women's Club and the AAUW and was also a member of the Pinckneyville Library Board. She is a member of Delta Kappa Gamma, an organization of women involved with education, and also serves on the Board of Directors of WSIU-TV.

For many years, Louis was treasurer of the Perry Co. Fair, a member of the Perry Co. Soil & Water Conservation District Board and the Extension Service Council. Beginning in 1944, Louis began operating the family farm.

Their three daughter's teaching experience totals 50 years, and if the two teaching sons-in-law's service to education is included, the family's total years in teaching exceeds 170. The commitment to education begun by Myrtle and Louis in 1934 lives on in the next generation. Refer to Thomas Long Templeton.

JAMES S. TEMPLETON, M.D.

James Scott Templeton was born in the log house on Four Mile Prairie on Mar. 23, 1871. He was the son of Rev. William Harris Templeton, a circuit riding Presbyterian minister and pastor of Galum Church, and Margaret Eliza Craig, daughter of John M. Craig, whose family came to Perry Co. in 1827. Scott attended school at first in a frame building there which later came to be known as the Brick School. For a nickel a week, paid by the teacher, he swept and dusted and lit the fire there each morning. At 18 he went to Southern Illinois Normal University at Carbondale. Then, to get money for his medical education, he taught school for four years at Four Mile Prairie for $38 a month, later raised to $40, spending summers farming with his brothers. He taught at the Baird, Bigham and Thompson schools. Scott attended the St. Louis College of Physicians, now part of Washington University Medical School. He was graduated M.D. there in 1898. Dr. Templeton first settled down to practice in Cutler and on Nov. 30,

Dr. James Scott Templeton

1899, he married Anna Jane Galloway, a daughter of John R. Galloway, a retired farmer and Civil War veteran. A daughter, Elizabeth Jane, known as "Bess" was born in 1901. Dr. Templeton left Cutler to become the official physician at the Illinois Penitentiary at Chester for $100 a month, but remained there only one year. He then spent a year in post-graduate work at Rush Medical College in Chicago, and in hospital work in the Cook Co. Hospital. He came to Pinckneyville in 1905. Dr. Templeton's office remained at 15 N. Main, on the west side of the square, where he practiced for the next fifty-four years.

The early days of his medical career were as rugged as those of other country practitioners of the time. There were no good roads, no automobiles, no telephones and the six Pinckneyville physicians worked extremely hard to keep up with the demand for their services. During his first 15 years, Dr. Templeton kept three horses, a team for country driving and a single for use in town. In 1913 he got his first car - a Ford roadster - but he could use it only in the summer and kept his animals for winter travel. His favorite horse was Robin, a rat-tailed bay gelding 17 hands high which he drove for 15 years or more. Bred as a trotter, he was sold to Dr. Templeton because he would break into a gallop when other horses neared him. He was fiery, fast and affectionate.

Obstetrics bulked large in Dr. Templeton's practice. He recorded more than 3,000 home births, with 300 or more in hospitals, a total close to the population of Pinckneyville. Dr. Templeton served as director of the First National Bank in Pinckneyville for many years and a director of the Pinckneyville Telephone Company. He served as mayor of Pinckneyville in 1914 and was instrumental installing the first sewer system in that city. He was a member of the school board and a trustee of the Presbyterian Church for forty years. He was a member of the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary Club, Mitchell Lodge A.F. & A.M. and the Elks Club in Du Quoin. Active in politics, Dr. Templeton was for years chairman of the Perry Co. Republican central committee. Bess Templeton attended the public schools in Pinckneyville and then Southern Illinois Normal University. She taught for a short time following graduation and died unexpectedly in 1922 at the age of twenty-one. Her mother, Anna Jane, died in 1923. During the twenties and thirties Dr. Templeton's sister, Jean, a retired missionary to the Indians, kept house for him. It was not until 1938 when he was sixty-seven that Dr. Templeton would marry again. On Sept. 3, 1938, he married Isabella Jane Boheim, daughter of a friend and colleague in Du Quoin. To this union was born one daughter, Jane Isabelle on 1 Aug. 1946.

Dr. Templeton's medical career was long and illustrious. He served as a delegate to the Illinois State Medical Society for many years. From 1926 to 1939 he sat in the Council of the State Society. He served as president of that organization in 1941-42. In 1952 he was named "Outstanding General Practitioner" for the state of Illinois and nominated for the national honor in 1953. The city of Pinckneyville set apart by proclamation the period from Nov. 16 to 22, 1952, as "Dr. Templeton Week." The high point was a huge rally in the high school gymnasium at which people of the community expressed their gratitude.

Dr. Templeton died 4 Mar. 1962, in Pinckneyville. He is buried in Galum Cemetery on Four Mile Prairie.

Isabella Boeheim Templeton was active in many aspects of community life. She was a member of the Women's Club and B.&P.W. She served on the library board for many years. She was very active in the P.T.A. and Girl Scouts, and was also known for having an excellent sense of humor. Isabella was an excellent cook, especially known for her pecan pie. Isabella died 19 Aug. 1969. She is buried at Galum Cemetery.

THORNSBERRY-CASEY

The Thornsberry family traces its roots into the very early history of England. The earliest ancestors of the family came to America in 1585 and returned to England a few years later. Then in 1620 the immigrant Thomas Thornborough came to America. He married Alice Lane who was the daughter of the man that had been in America in 1585. Descendants of this emigrant served in the Revolutionary War and were granted land as pension. One of the descendants, Frances Thornbury (Thornsberry), a veteran of the Revolutionary War, came to Illinois and settled at the forks of the Beaucoup and Big Muddy River in Jackson Co. as early as 1811. He died in 1825 on the above mentioned land. His sons Jefferson and Francis Jr. were probably born on this land in Jackson Co. Jefferson came to Perry Co. and married Mrs. Sarah Godwin, the daughter of John Dry. They were wealthy farmers and lived between Du Quoin and Pinckneyville. They lost all of their children to illness and therefore no one survives. The other son, Francis Thornsberry Jr., married Laura Mahala Corzine of Union Co. They moved to Belleville where he practiced the trade of a master wagon maker. After the Civil War they moved to Perry Co. near Denny. There, they remained until their death. Francis Jr., some of his family, his brother and all of his family are buried at the Dry Cemetery, in Perry Co., near Denny. Francis and Jefferson had other brothers and sisters but, were from other marriages of their father. Born to Francis Jr. and Laura M. were Charles Wesley, 1843-1904; Mary Jane, 1845-1867; Francis Cleon, 1847-1849; Edward Jefferson, 1851-1900; Emma Cornelia, 1854-1928, who was married to Melville Cassius Kennedy; and Andrew Walter, 1856-1880.

Edward Jefferson Thornsberry, Onecia Casey Thornsberry

The subject of this article, Edward Jefferson Thornsberry, was born, in Belleville, Ill., on May 16, 1851 and married Mar. 21, 1871 to Onecia Casey, ca 1854-1890?, the daughter of Hiram Casey and Mary Jane Woolley. (see Hiram Casey) To them were born Harry Clifford, 1876-1942; Hiram Arthur, 1877-1914; (see Hiram Thornsberry) Laura Estella, 1879-1960; who was married to Everett Gladson.

Edward Jefferson Thornsberry was a wagon maker by trade in his early years and after moving to Perry Co. became a carpenter. He helped to build several of the houses in Du Quoin. Onecia, suffering from tuberculosis, died and Edward then remarried, to Mrs. Carlia Biby in 1894. Edward died, also of TB, on Feb. 8, 1900. —

THORNSBERRY-MARLOW

Edward Arthur Thornsberry was born in St. Johns on 24 Jan. 1904. He was named after his grandfather, who built the small house he was born in, and who shortly moved the house to East Park Street, where, much expanded, it still stands in 1987. His father was killed at the Majestic Mine when he was 12, and a prolonged illness of his mother impoverished the family, which now included sister Laura. Edward felt he had to work to support the family, so went to work also in the Majestic Mine at the age of 16.

Flossie Marie Marlow was born 8 May 1904 in the rural community of Shakerag, southeast of Pinckneyville. Her parents were Millard Weldon and Lillie Mae (Kennedy) Marlow. She attended the Carbondale Teachers College for two years and taught school. In spite of a crippling injury to her right hand when she was 18 months old, she played the violin and piano - and later typed.

Edward and Flossie were married on 4 Apr. 1926 in the First Baptist Church in Du Quoin. They went to California, but returned soon, and lived on North Washington Street. Edward became a Mason about this time.

Their first child, Marion Edward, a son, (now living in San Antonio, Tx.) was born 24 Aug. 1927 and their second child, a daughter, was Ruby Carolyn, born 16 Sept. 1928 (now Mrs. Robert Cheek of Hawthorne, Ca.). Marion married Edna Taylor of San Angelo, Tx. in 1959, and they have one son, Stephen, living in Chicago. Carolyn had three children, Mark, living in Georgia, Jan Ellen, married to Mike Barrick with three daughters in Hawthorne, Ca., and Dan living in Los Angeles.

They moved to Christopher in 1930 and Edward worked in Bell and Zoller #1 as Chief Electrician until 1945, when they returned to Du Quoin. In 1950 they moved to Benton, where Edward worked in the Waltonville mine until 1955 when they decided to move to California. Edward was a traffic manager for an industrial concern until his retirement in 1971. Flossie was the office manager for a business machines firm.

They returned often to Du Quoin, and their children regard Du Quoin as the family hometown. Edward visited the local lodges often, and Flossie was active in the church and the P.E.O.

Flossie passed away after a mercifully short illness on 23 Dec. 1974, and Edward followed on 27 Dec. 1977. They lie in the Rose Hills Cemetery in Whittier, Ca. The fondest memories of them are cherished by their children and many friends. —

TIMPNER-BAHRE

The youngest son of the seven children of William Christian Timpner (1833-1921 Hohenstadt, Germany) and Katherine Weingarth (1828-1883,

Timpner Family - Mary Timpner Greer, Ed, William, Elizabeth and Ed Timpner

Bladesbach, Germany - near Kusel) was born Apr. 21, 1872 on the family farm 4 miles south of Pinckneyville, Il. which Edwards parents acquired in 1868 after moving from Waterloo, Il. During his youth Edward attended Galum Presbyterian Church. His parents were buried at Galum Cemetery later.

On Jan. 1, 1903 he married Elizabeth M. Bahre (11-15-1886) daughter of Charles and Mary Ross Bahre from nearby Cudgetown. After the wedding at St. John Evangelical Church (now St. John U.C.C., Du Quoin) they were unable to visit her parents for several days because of the flooded Beaucoup Creek that made Woodside Ford impossible to cross.

Nov. 17, 1903 their son William Bahre was born and on Apr. 3, 1906 a daughter Mary Catherine joined the family. She later attended Oakwood Institute for several years. In 1935 she married William J. Greer (1912-1982) and moved to a farm at Marissa, Il.

The Timpner family moved to Pinckneyville on Belle Avenue where Edward managed his insurance business and later joined W. O. Edwards in the sale of real estate. He traveled over much of Perry Co. by horse and buggy. On Aug. 8, 1912, Edward Charles was born and later attended SIU, became involved in the business world and ultimately became a full time farmer.

A two story home was built in 1912 on the Timpner homestead as Edward and Elizabeth became involved in a farming operation that led to building a large round-roofed dairy barn in 1918 and 1919 able to accommodate 28 stanchions, four calf pens, leaving the north end for the work horses. Mr. Timpner purchased a Delco light system, one of the first in Perry Co., to operate the lights and milking machines which was a big help in keeping with his strict milking schedule.

As a progressive farmer he purchased limestone and phosphate, delivered to Pyatt Station by railroad, that was spread by hand shovel. Eventually the rail fences were replaced with woven and barb wire. One of the first to own a Fordson tractor for plowing and pulling the McCormick grain binder, he also enjoyed a Ford touring car with brass radiator and side curtains.

In 1927 when Edward C. was confirmed at Pinckneyville's St. Paul Evangelical Church (now United Church of Christ) Edward Sr. also became a member.

Later that year they moved to a new home west of the homestead when son William married Laura Frederking (5-31-1906) of nearby Nashville and continued the dairy and farming operations.

In 1938, the youngest son, Edward Charles and Margaret Schickedanz (10-25-1914 from Du Quoin) were married and moved to the farm. Edward Sr. and wife moved to Murphy Road (now 511 Virginia Court) in Pinckneyville where he continued his insurance and real estate interests and Elizabeth enjoyed making quilts.

Edward died Feb. 2, 1962 and his wife on Dec. 30, 1969 with interment at Mueller Hill Cemetery, Pinckneyville. — Submitted by Edward C. Timpner

In Sept. of 1950, Bill began employment with Truax Traer Coal Co., (Shakerag - Burning Star #2) as electricians helper on to haulage-truck driver and operator of bull dozers and drag lines over the next 37 years. After returning to mining and farming, he married Helen Dorothy Van Voorhis (Feb. 19, 1932) of Pittsford, NY, on Oct. 9, 1954. He served on St. Paul U.C.C. Consistory, Perry Co. Soil and Water Conservation District 10 years and many years as chairman of FFA Section 24. An interest in family ancestry brought him to the Perry Co. Historical Society as an active member.

Helen, niece of Charles and Mary Snyder, came to live with them in 1947, was confirmed at St. Paul U.C.C., graduated from PCHS in 1949 and

Lorraine and Louis Walkenhorst and Patricia Ann Parmer (daughter)

They are the parents of a daughter, Patricia Ann Walkenhorst, born May 8, 1939.

Patricia married Robert Lee Parmer, born May 6, 1938, and they have three children, Pamela Jane, Robert Mark and John Daniel, all married.

To the marriage of John Henry and wife Carolina four children were born, Anna Walkenhorst, (never married), Mrs. Louis (Mary) Winters, two sons, John Thomas and Henry. Also four stepchildren (Carolina was John Henry's second wife), Mrs. Mary Ahlers, Mrs. Donnie Hoffmann and Louis and John Bishop.

The Walkenhorst homeplace remained intact until the early 1940's when most of it was sold to the John Weatherford family. The last remaining part of the land was sold to Don Hicks, Aug. 26, 1977.

Louis and Lorraine then retired to their farm home in Alabama after 61 years in Perry Co., District 55.

The Walkenhorst school was located on the Walkenhorst farm until the late 1940's when it was sold. It is now being used as a barn on an adjoining farm.

All of the family with the direct name of Walkenhorst, except Henry and his wife, are buried in the Galum Cemetery. Henry is buried at Mueller Hill Cemetery. Henry and his wife, Mary, had two daughters, Emma and Laura.

Only Louis and Lorraine carry the direct name of Walkenhorst, as there were no male children born since 1916.

Louis was in the Navy Seabees in World War II serving in the Southwestern Pacific area, spending his birthday on Okinawa in 1945, then again in 1951 when recalled from the reserves during the Korean conflict.

Louis retired from the carpenter trade after 37 years, having worked mostly for Dunn Bros. during those years as a truck driver and carpenter. Lorraine worked several years at Decca and Witter's Meat Market. Both now enjoy gardening, growing flowers, crafts and traveling during their retirement years in Alabama. — *Submitted by Louis J. HENRY CLAY WALKER Great-grandma was an Albertson, born at Amsterdam, Holland and was a "Lady in Waiting" to the Queen. She married a Portis, probably in North Carolina. Their children were: Silas, who invented coupling pins for trains; George; Elizabeth and Martha Luticia (1841-1915).

Grandmother Martha married a Gurley, who died in the Civil War. They had a daughter, Louisa Jane, who was three when he went to war, and a son, who died in infancy.

Martha's sister, Elizabeth, also married a Gurley, who never came back from the war and they had a daughter, Lou and a son. Elizabeth died in childbirth while delivering her son. Martha L. took the two children and raised them with her own. At the end of the war she made hot rolls and doughnuts and the two little girls sold them to the returning soldiers in the vicinity of High Point, N.C.

She met Henry "Charley" Clay Walker (b. 1844) who had joined the Northern Army when he was 14. He was wounded three times and a mule had stepped on his stomach "which bothered him all his life". Henry and Martha were married, bought a horse and wagon and with his mother-in-law on the seat holding the baby boy, and Henry, Martha and the two little girls (both named Lou) walking, went from North Carolina to Hendricks Co. (Pittsboro), In. to his parents home. He was a very good artist, in pictures, scrolls, and signs, and probably earned enough that way to get them back to Indiana. The trip took a very long time. Their first child, Marietta (1866), was born soon after their arrival. Henry's father was a Christian - his mother had been a theater woman. Marietta married Ed Wooten and they had 5 girls and 2 boys. Other children were; Levi, who had one son, Ora; Gulia, who married John Gulley and had 3 sons; Elwood married Margaret Goodson and had 9 children; Silas Sylvester (1875-1905) married Minnie Humphreys who died within a year. He married his second wife, Anne Ellen Wagner (1877-1931) on Nov. 7, 1896 at Indianapolis. Their children were: Mary Ann (1897-1980), Joseph Edward (1899-1960), Gay Esther (1901), Catherine Theodosia (1902), Silas Arthur (1904-1974), Tobias Michael (1905) and Hilda Antonia Aloysia (1906). Catherine and Hilda married brothers, Alfred and Adolph; Gertrude first married Oscar Baugh and next a Mr. Bressler and had one son; Sadie married James A. Owen and they adopted a daughter, Martha.

Mary Ann Walker, when 9 years old, was taken, from the Catholic Orphans Home, by her Aunt Sadie Owen, to Los Angeles, Ca. in 1907. This did not work out so she was sent back to Indianapolis where she lived and worked among relatives. She married Theopheus Warner about 1915. They had two children: Roy Sylvester; and Ellen Adeline, Mary Ann later married Roy Fields and had two children, Doris and Omer. They came to Jackson Co., Il. to Alfred Schneider's home in 1938 to help out. Ellen came to the home of Adolph and Hilda Schneider in Feb. 1938 and attended Du Quoin High School. Her step-father had gotten work and was able to make a go of it. She had become home-sick for her family so she was permitted to go home for good in Sept. 1940. She graduated from high school in the Greensburg, In. area.

CHARLES STEPHEN WARREN

Charles Stephen Warren was born Mar. 6, 1951, the son of Charles Edward (9-5-23-9-23-83) and Opal (Ditter) b. 12-23-27, in Vandalia, Il. He was born premature and his weight dropped to 3 lb. 10 oz. at one point and he spent one month in a St. Louis hospital. Because of complications, Steve lost his sight at infancy and it took many months of very special care at home to keep him alive.

Steve was not treated any differently at home than his sister Sherry. Sherry, born 2-9-46, married Lowell Tullin, born 7-7-44. Sherry and Lowell have two children, Stephen and Angela.

Steve and his older sister Sherry, were treated as equals and the fact that Steve was blind did not give him any special privileges or more leniency in discipline.

Steve accomplished much while growing up, he learned to ride a bike, roller skate and do most things his friends could do. He went to school at the Illinois Braille and Sightsaving School in Jacksonville, Il. In 1969 his family moved to Colorado and he went to the Colorado School for the Blind. At both schools, Steve played slide trombone, which he enjoyed very much. Steve attended college at Olney Central College in the fall of 1972 and later at St. Louis Christian College in Florissant, Mo.

After college, Steve took jobs in nursing homes helping the residents with activities, taking them to and from their rooms, helping with their exercises and much more.

Steve has given speeches at different clubs and organizations on what his life is like and stresses that just because you have an inconvenience does not mean you are helpless and can't do anything you want to.

In Aug. of 1984, Steve went to work at the Boy's Club in Du Quoin as assistant director. He enjoyed his work there and enjoyed working with the kids. He would shoot basketball with them and was quite good at it because he had done this at home when he was growing up. He remembers one time making 28 shots in a row while his father was counting. Steve worked at the Boy's Club until June of 1986 when he was laid off. As of this writing he does not have a job although he is still looking.

Steve is an individual who believes many of us don't reach our full potential, in fact, we have no idea of what our potential is. He does not want people to feel sorry for him because he is blind, but to admire him for what he is able to do and what he has accomplished.

He hopes that all young adults will learn the values of good, clean, drug-free living and the respect that they should show their parents. He hopes one day he can go into a restaurant and socialize with people and the fact that he can't see will become secondary to those around him so they won't feel uncomfortable or feel sorry for him. — Submitted by Steve Warren

Elihu had the first hardware store in Du Quoin at the corner of Main and Mulberry which was kept in the family for over 90 years. Their youngest daughter, Harriet Alifair (1854-1923) married Edward Kimmel (1850-1925) from Elkhville. They lived with her parents until Ed built a home (still standing) next door where they raised their 5 children; William

In the fall of 1940, William met Alice Dean "Pat" Morris at the Tip Top restaurant in Sunfield. She was born on Sept. 9, 1919 to Lester and Fleta (Terry) Morris in Sunfield. Bill and Pat began dating, but were soon interrupted by William's induction into the U.S. Army in Feb. 1941. Their romance continued in spite of their separation and they were married in Sunfield on Oct. 2, 1942. William remained in the Army until Oct. 1945. They lived in various states as he was transferred from one post to another. He continued his carpentry work in the army. His only assignment outside the U.S. was in the Aleutian Islands.

After William's discharge from service, he and Pat returned to the Du Quoin area. He became a carpenter at the Majestic Mine where he worked for five years, until the mine closed. His carpentry work continued as their main source of income. William, also, taught himself how to reupholster furniture. His upholstery shop was in the garage of their home at 338 N. Division St. in Du Quoin.

Pat was a busy housewife raising two children: Janet Marie born June 13, 1947 and Joe Gene born Aug. 19, 1948. Besides keeping busy with her own family's needs she sometimes made some extra money by baking pies. After her children left home, she began her own career as a part-time clerk in her brothers' drug store, Bianco Drugs.

Bill and Pat have kept busy through the years with many activities: fishing, gardening, shopping and helping at their church, The First Methodist Church of Du Quoin. They are also super grandparents always ready to help with their four grandchildren: Sarah and Amanda Kirk, daughters of Danny and Janet (Wilks) Kirk and B. J. and Jonathan, sons of Joe Gene and Darla (Wilson) Wilks. — Submitted by Janet (Wilks) Kirk

WILKS-OPP

Harley B. Wilks (1892-1971), the oldest son of Albert and Harriet (Miller) Wilks was born Sept. 9, 1892 in Holts Prairie. When he was 9 years old his parents moved to the Friendship area southwest of Tamaroa. Harley's family resided on the farm previously owned by his grandfather, Henry Miller.

After Harley and Grace's marriage they rented the Crawford place, east of the Friendship Church. They lived there approximately two years while their new house was being built. The site of their new home was the timbered tract of land just west of the Friendship Church. The timber that was cleared was used in the construction of their home and first barn.

They were the parents of two children, William A. born on Mar. 29, 1919 and Nina Verdelle (Kenneth Stockton) born on Apr. 18, 1925.

Harley and Grace remained in their first home throughout their lives. Harley died May 27, 1971 and Grace on Jan. 18, 1976. They were buried in the Campbell Cemetery.

After their deaths the home was sold to the Friendship Church. The farm land remains in the possession of their children. — Submitted by Janet (Wilks) Kirk

JAMES A. WILKS

James Alexander (1839-1929), the son of Peter (1810-1865) and Martha Brown Wilks (1805-1867) and grandson of William (b. 1789) and Phoebe Winn Wilks was born Mar. 7, 1839, in Holts Prairie near Denny Station. He married Mary Staton (1840-1880), the daughter of William Staton, Jan. 20, 1859. The Statons lived on a farm in Township 5-1 about 3 miles southwest of Tamaroa. Both families were farmers and were involved with establishing the Baptist Church in Nine Mile, Holts Prairie and Tamaroa.

Mary had five sisters and two brothers. James had one sister, Adeline (1834-1867) who married John Harriss and lived in the area near Denny where she was born. He also had five brothers; William (1830-1848), John Winn (1832-1835), Turner Jones (1837-1840), Peter (1841-1904), and Richard (1843-1865).

James and his brothers enlisted in the Union Forces of the Civil War. Richard was captured at Guntown, Ms. June 11, 1864 and died in the Andersonville Prison Hospital Feb. 18, 1865 and was buried in the military cemetery in grave number 12671. Due to illness while in service James lost most of his hearing.

James and Mary had eleven children, four of whom died in infancy. The others were: Leonard Madison (Alice Campbell), Ida Grace (Grant Keith), Albert (Harriet Miller), Clarence (Margaret Davis), Clara (Henry Sanders and Frank Coats), Allie Belle (Edgar Marlow), and Minnie W. (Albert Davis).

After returning from military service James acquired more acreage in Twp 5-2 Section 22, becoming a prosperous farmer, using his 3 sons and a hired hand to cultivate the ground with "horse power". As the children married he gave each a tract of land consisting of 40 or more acres. Finally, selling the last of his farm land to what became the Perry Co. Country Club. On Jan. 29, 1880

Mary died and was buried in Nine Mile Baptist Cemetery.

On Mar. 16, 1881 he married Jeannette Olive Primm (1854-1934), the daughter of James L. and Elizabeth (Ballard) Primm. The Primms came from France and England to Virginia and settled in St. Clair Co. near Belleville, Il. in 1802, where Elizabeth Olive was born Oct. 20, 1854. When Olive was 4 years old the Primm family moved to the area east of Pinckneyville, Il. Mr. Primm was a farmer, also a Justice of the Peace, thus was known as Judge Primm.

James and Olive had two daughters - Florence (Arthur Dunn) (1890-1949) and Eleanor (b. Oct. 27, 1892), who never married, staying at home caring for her parents until their deaths.

Eleanor kept herself busy with many special interest. One of her first endeavors was the raising of Boston Terriers, which gave her father much enjoyment. She became quite a "turkey lady", selling the baby turkeys (poults) right out of the incubator, shipping to all parts of the country. The old incubator is still in her basement. Her next project was raising German Shepherd show dogs. She had several ribbons and trophies. Just as an oddity she had peacocks which drew much attention from passers-by. She loves a pretty lawn and at the age of 94 was mowing the grass.

James was a staunch Republican. When his son-in-law, Albert Davis, ran for Perry Co. Sheriff on the Democrat ticket the question arose as to how grandpa would vote - it is still a mystery.

They were members of the Holts Prairie Baptist Church, attending regularly even though James could hear almost nothing that was said.

James died Nov. 4, 1929 and was buried in Holts Prairie Baptist Cemetery. Olive died Apr. 24, 1934 and was buried beside her husband. — Submitted by Bessie Mae Pyle

RICHARD HORATIO WILLIAMS

The Williams name is Welsh. Tradition says that the first Williams immigrants to come to America from Wales, in the early colonial period, were related.

Williams families are difficult to trace because they are mobile, have large families, and "carry down" family given names.

One Williams family is that of Richard Horatio Williams (1814-1891). He came to Perry Co. in 1840 from Allen (Warren) Co., Ky. He probably came at the time that his sister Rebecca (Williams) Ragland, (wife of Joseph T. Ragland) and family came. Both settled in Grand Cote Prairie. Later Richard H. Williams made his home in Four Mile Prairie.

Richard's parents were Langston (1772-1840) and Ruth McElroy Williams of Allen Co., Ky.

Langston Williams had migrated from Spartanburg Co., S.C., to Allen Co., Ky., in 1795, where he had established his home.

Richard's grandparents were Thomas and Rebecca (Langston) Williams. Research shows that they came from Orange or Granville Co., N.C. (ca)1777, and located in Spartanburg Co., S.C. Thomas Williams died in Spartanburg Co. in 1806.

While still living in Allen Co., Ky. Richard married Nancy Thompson (Mar. 28, 1838). To this union, one son, John (1838-1910) was born. Nancy Williams died (ca) 1839-40. It was after Nancy's death, that Richard located in Perry Co.

Richard's second marriage was to Eliza Abigail Gillespie (1828-1889), a daughter of William and Betty (Hale) Gillespie, from Tennessee. They were married Nov. 18, 1841, in Perry Co.

The children of Richard H. and Eliza A. Williams were: James Langston, Ralph Gillespie, Elizabeth Williams Rogers, William, Newton, Richard, Thomas, and Franklin.

Three of these children remained in Perry Co. and reared families. They were James Langston, Ralph Gillespie, and William Williams. Their half-brother, John, practiced medicine in Perry Co. until moving to Albion, Il.

James Langston married Frances Campbell. Their children were: Enos, Richard, Edward, Betty, and Celeste.

Ralph Gillespie married Emily Tirzah Baldridge. Their children were: Anna, Eliza Marlow, Alta Irene Duckworth, Viola Amanda Hincke, Florence Beatrice Kane, Lizzie Clementine McCants, Iantha Florida (unmarried), Bessie May Winthrop, and Ralph (1891-1892).

Their grandchildren as listed are: Howard, Fay, Ralph and Erma Marlow, Irene, Harry and Eugene Duckworth, Elias, Ralph, Beatrice, Tirzah and Ruth Kane; and Harold McCants.

William M. Williams married Georgianne Campbell. Their children were: Richard Horatio, Lily Walthrop, and Dempsey. Two of their grandchildren were Ernest, and Mabel West Ritter.

Besides the descendants of Richard Horatio Williams, that have already been named, there are three younger generations, some now living in Perry Co. They are the children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren of Ralph Kane and Ernest (Ernie) Williams. — Submitted by Irene Williams Duckworth

Once in St. Johns, Tom worked for several years in the local mines. On June 3, 1884 at St. Johns, Tom married Mrs. Julia A. Stacy, a widow with grown children. It was truly an extended family where the girls were happily raised to adulthood. All were quite musically inclined and the family was well known for their proficiency with stringed instruments. Tom was a member of the Odd Fellows for more than fifty years and very proud of his membership.

In Nov. of 1920 Tom sold his store and he and Julia moved to Poplar Street in Du Quoin. Thomas Wilson died in St. Louis on Mar. 3, 1922. Julia died in 1937. Both are buried in the IOOF Cemetery in Du Quoin.

WINTHROP

The first Winthrop to come to Illinois was Charles Edward Rogers Winthrop of New York City and Stamford, Ct. His father, John Still Winthrop, was a descendent of the Puritan Winthrops of Massachusetts and Connecticut, and the founder of Winthrop Pharmaceutical Corporation which still operates today.

Charles rebelled against his father's plans that he take a degree at Yale and then enter the pharmaceutical business, and in 1834 at age 16, he ran away from home. He worked for a time as a laborer along the Erie Barge Canal, then ran a grindstone quarry at Saginaw Bay, Mi., and finally, in 1839 acquired land on Paradise Prairie east of Tamaroa. In 1842 he married Delilah Lipe, daughter of Pennsylvania Dutch settlers who had come to Illinois from North Carolina. Reinforced with funds from his father, he built a two-story colonial mansion on Paradise Prairie while most of his neighbors were living in log cabins. He gave land for the Winthrop School and was a leader in founding the Paradise Baptist Church. Back in New York the Winthrops had been Episcopalians, but there were none in Southern Illinois.

He dabbled in politics, first Whig, and later Republican. He was elected County Superintendent of Schools of Perry Co., then Sheriff, and finally County Judge. For the rest of his life he used the title "Judge Winthrop". He was an active leader in Masonic circles, assisted in founding the Tamaroa Masonic Lodge, and became Knight Commander of the Knights Templar of the State of Illinois.

Succeeding generations of Winthrops were active leaders in Republican politics. John Still Winthrop, the Judge's eldest son, coming home from service in the Union Army following the Civil War, led in the formation of the local chapter of the Grand Army of the Republic (GAR). He was elected Sheriff and died in office before the expiration of his term. His brother Henry was also elected Sheriff, as was Henry's son Dempsy Winthrop. Dempsy later became a State Senator, making his home in Pinckneyville.

The Judge's sons, and most of his grandsons were Perry Co. farmers in the Paradise Prairie area, including John Still Winthrop's sons Charles and Elza, and Henry's son Hanlin. John Still's son, John C. was a deputy Sheriff, and then for many years a postal employee in Du Quoin.

The first three generations of Winthrops are nearly all buried in Paradise Cemetery. By coincidence, the first John Still Winthrop, father of the Judge and founder of Winthrop Pharmaceutical, is also buried there. In his old age he came out to visit his son and died while on the visit.

Today the Winthrop name has dwindled in the county. Robert Winthrop of Du Quoin, and his brother Alan Eugene of Elkhart are dragline operators for a strip mine. An older brother, Jack, is a retired Braniff pilot living in Dallas, Tx. Two great-great-grandsons of the Judge, Julian Winthrop of Greensboro, N.C. and Alan Winthrop of Lake Forest, Il. are retired advertising executives. They were both reared in Tamaroa. Arline Winthrop Teabeau, a retired teacher and great-granddaughter of the Judge, lives in Du Quoin, as does her daughter, Lois Craven, and family. Emmett Cockrum, a retired Air Force Officer and University Professor, also a great-grandson of the Judge, lives on Lake of Egypt. His daughter, Carol Walker, lives at Carbondale.

A son, David Cockrum, is a cartoonist and writer in New York. Another son, Douglas, is an Air Force Major in South Dakota. — Submitted by Emmett E. Cockrum Great-grandson of Judge Winthrop

GEORGE YEARIAN

A veteran of the War of 1812, and entitled to claim bounty land, George Yearian came west around 1838 and settled in the southern part of Perry Co. — about 6 miles west of Du Quoin. With him were his wife and eleven children. Frederick, the eldest, was a millwright and married Julia Frost of Perry Co.; Robert brought his wife, Sarah Thompson, with him from Ohio — as did John with his first wife, Rebecca Gaugh. Mary married, in Perry Co., Richard Marlow, who was killed in the battle of Vicksburg in 1863. Thomas M. returned to Bellville, Oh., married and raised a family there; George W. married, in Perry Co., first, Abigail Lawler and second, Elizabeth Stroud; Sarah married first, Lloyd Reddington, second William Fannin and third, William Tucker; Jacob married Mary Jane Purcell of Perry Co.; Nancy wed Abraham Lipe of Perry Co.; Joseph Bell was appointed Du Quoin's Postmaster in 1858 and married Catherine Winters in 1862. The youngest son, William, was single when he left for California in 1866.

George Yearian was born Feb. 18, 1785 in Mt. Pleasant Township, Westmorland, Penn. He was the eldest son of Frederick Yearian (born Jan. 17, 1762 in Northampton, Penn.; died October 1840 Manchester Township, Morgan Co., Ohio) and his wife, Anna Marie Dorn (or Thorn). George was married in Ohio to Elizabeth Bell, the daughter of Robert Bell (1753-1837) and his wife, Mary. Robert Bell was the founder of Bellville, Richland Co., Ohio. He and Mary are buried in the Bellville Cemetery.

George's wife, Elizabeth, died in 1847 and was buried in McElvain Cemetery near their Perry Co. farm. A tree growing at the head of her grave has enclosed part of the tombstone, leaving legible only part of her name and her death date, 1847. In 1851 George married Sarah E. Irvin and moved to Galatia, Saline Co., Il. By this marriage, he had three children: Henry W., Theodocia and Sophrona Lilly. George died Mar. 31, 1867 and is buried in Saline Co.

Gold and adventure lured several of George Yearian's children and their families westward. So many Yearians settled in the Lemhi Valley of Idaho that the area was named "Yearianville", and most of them are buried in the Yearian Cemetery near Leadore. John, George W., Jacob, Nancy Lipe, Joseph B. and Henry W. gave up the search for gold and became cattle ranchers in the Lemhi Valley. Robert was a merchant in Jordon, Minn. — later joined his brothers and sister in Idaho. William had a men's clothing store in Salt Lake City, Utah. Sarah died in Ava, Jackson Co., Ill. Frederick and his sister, Mary, stayed in Perry Co. and are buried in the McElvain Cemetery near their mother.

George's Grandfather, John George Yearian was born in Oley, Northampton, Penn. in 1733, and his Great-grandfather, Mathias Jurian, was born in Germany in 1702. Other early spellings of the Yearian name were: Jargon, Jergon, and Jurgon. — Submitted by Genevieve J. Rainey
